Calls a Spade a Spade.

Mr. DuVernet maintained that the evidence of the Crown was conclusive. "I submit it proves a clear, flagrant violation of the act," continued Mr. DuVernet, growing warmer. "After their organization was perfected they grew bolder and certain classes of men were unable to buy goods in this province with which to conduct their business.

"The plumbers undertook to do things which were utterly illegal. Look at the oath of obligation which all took on becoming members. It is aping the oath taken in the courts of justice. The sole object of the combination was disregarding the public interests and the law. It was not until the Minister of Customs had threatened to take off the protection that they allowed the public to have the advantage of a few cents, and they kept the dollars to themselves. It just took a bar or two down to the public. They took advantage of the tariff to crush out competition. There was no such thing as an honest tender. And yet the tenders were put in by a large class of respectable merchants and business men, as my learned friend Mr. Watson calls them.

Hoodwinked and Defrauded.

"They absolutely hoodwinked and defrauded the public; they were not content with 20 and 25 per cent. gain; they must get 26 1-2 and an additional 5 per cent. They had the dishonest percentage paid into the supply houses distributed by these honest individuals who sat around a table and divided other people's money without the slightest compunction. There was not such a thing as honest competition in the town. When a man was called for tenders, large sums of money were put on to be divided among the tenderers. Mr. Riddell, for the Master Plumbers, freely admits that such a proceeding was disreputable, and says he has advised the money to be paid back.

"Every person had to pay these commissions, bonuses, rake-offs or whatever they are called. Even in the case of the Government we see that $2,000 is added for the association. The entry was made in the book and the secretary made an attempt to get it. The combination was a splendidly organized attempt to extort unreasonable, unfair, and dishonest prices from the public. When a Hamilton man tendered in Toronto, what did he have to do? He had to pay 15 per cent. to his association for tendering so much lower than the Toronto plumbers. In addition to that, he had supplies cut off, a punishment that could not be worse, preventing a man as it did from earning his living at the trade at which he has been working all his life.

Driven Out of Business.

"In the records of Toronto we find that man after man was driven out of business. A man had no rights in this free country, and yet the defendants do not come forward and offer any justification for their course. Out of all the tenders during the past two years only one honest one was submitted, and that was the one on E. and S. Currie's. Think of the tremendous difference in that one case, nearly $6,000. Is that an honest difference? I don't think it could be so called.

"What was the result of having the absolute wall around Toronto? What was the result of this breaking down of competition? The supply men began to grumble. It was found out by the public that they would have to pay double for any building that they wished to erect, and so they did not erect it. As a result the call on supplies began to decrease. It was absolute tyranny. Thorne, who took a man into partnership, was expelled from the association. Reeves, when he went out, wrote them that they were corruptionists and little better than a band of pirates. So they were, too, cutting their own and the public's throat. Threats were made to call Reeves' men out and have his supplies stopped unless he went back. It was no idle bluff, and the men left and the supplies were cut off.

Guilty Then and Now.

"I ask your lordship to find that the agreement entered into by the two defendants in November, 1902, continued up to the present time. The changes were a matter of form, not of substance. The same common design runs all the way through. If the defendants were guilty in the early part of this year they are just as guilty now. The last directory published in July, has never been withdrawn. The agreement was never cancelled. The statement that the agreement we have, does not go into force until the Crashley case is disposed of is a mere evasion of the law.

"Even Mann, the witness, who so glibly answered leading questions put by my friend Mr. Watson, and then turned around and admitted that his answers were absolutely untrue, spoke the truth when he said he still exercised discrimination. It is idle to talk that there is no evidence before the court. The truth was dragged out of that witness—truth was flowing at that minute.

When City Was Open.

"The one moment when Toronto was an open town was when there was a dispute between the supply men and the plumbers, after the Minister of Customs had delivered his ultimatum. Then the master plumbers thought they had the Supply Association, and told them that they would submit to no reduction, but break their association.

"B. J. Morris, to whom this was said, answered, 'I don't want any vulgar threats.' Then he sent two messages in which he gloried, because they closed the supply houses of the United States against the Ontario plumbers. Mr. Armstrong, who went to the other side, was forced to return with a miserable carload of bankrupt baths.

"Then the two conspirators, who fell out by the wayside came together again and joined in brotherly love—acting side by side. Those few days between the fall out and the make up, was the only interval in the two years of the combines, was the only break in the equanimity and tranquility with which the public was robbed."

At this juncture Justice Clute interrupted to point out that it was adjournment time. Mr. DuVernet will finish his argument to-day.

For the Defence.

George H. Watson, K. C., for the defence, said in part:

"There is no evidence before this court to prove that the final agreement between the two defendants, was in force. It is fortunate that in this case there are written records of the policy and course pursued by the defendant corporation, and so we are not totally dependent on oral testimony. More than that, it is shown that such an agreement is contrary to the bylaws of the association. Mr. Morris states clearly and emphatically that the basis of the corporation was no agreement should be made. It is also proved that this policy has been preserved.

The Judge Interrupts.

Mr. Watson may as well come to the gist of this at once," said Justice Clute. "What is the meaning of this 7 1-2 per cent. in this last agreement, if not to evade that? The Master Pumbers' Association was anxious to prevent the Supply Association dealing with anyone not a member of their association. Your association was anxious to get their patronage at as cheap a price as possible, and the result was the agreement of September, 1905."

"I would like to come at this in the regular course of my argument," said Mr. Watson. "Following on that resolution of September, 1905, the master plumbers were informed of the cancellation of the agreement and the determination of the supply men to sell to any master plumber. This is contained in the documentary evidence submitted at this trial. We find after that the same course was pursued. We find that the complaint against the Canada Brass Co. of it selling to all was investigated thoroughly by the secretary. There is not a tittle of evidence after July 25, of any refusal."

"I think there is," said Justice Clute.

"There was evidence of a complaint," said the counsel, "but no evidence of discrimination. In fact, the statement of the secretary shows that the agreement was not in force."

Doesn't Fancy the Evidence.

"I didn't fancy his evidence," said Justice Clute. "Mr. Morris appeared to give his evidence in the earlier part of the trial frankly, but when he was recalled I didn't like it."

"I am sorry to hear you say it," said Mr. Watson.

"Where did the 7 1-2 per cent. come from?" asked the bench.

"From the shareholders of the Central Supply Co." answered Mr. Watson.

"Had it not the same effect as the former agreement giving to members of the association a reduction not received by non-members?" asked Justice Clute.

"But there is the agreement," urged Mr. Watson.

"Did you expect to find an agreement like that in black and white?" asked the judge, sarcastically. "Something which is in a direct violation of statute?"

Mr. Watson remarked on the correctability of his clients, and after reviewing his objection about there being no evidence took his seat.

Mr. Riddell's Brief Address.

Mr. Riddell for the master plumbers, made a very brief address. He opened it by stating:

"The whole objection and function of these rules was to get a reasonable percentage of profit for their work. This profit of 5 per cent. is nothing out of the way.

"The method adopted by these men was, no doubt, a foolish one. At least two-thirds of the contracts came from architects, who saw nothing wrong; there was no complaint either, from the Government.

"I have advised the members to pay the amount of these I. O. U.'s to those from whom they were received on the contracts. If there was wrong in the practice, it must be charged to the individuals, and not to the society as a whole. The law in its wisdom has seen fit to exempt from this statute gentlemen in the position of those composing Local Union No. 46. Therefore, an agreement with them is to a certain extent legal."

When life's autumn comes, women, worn out by the burdens of motherhood, yet shrink from that second "change of life" which will banish these burdens forever. They fear a change in form, in feature, in personal attractiveness. Such fears are largely warranted by the effects which this change produces in many women. But no woman need let these fears fret her.

Those who have used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription do not suffer from the change of life either in face, form or feelings as do other women. This fact is due to the intimate connection of the general health with the health of the organs peculiarly feminine. By preserving the health of these organs, and relieving the system from the debilitating drains, ulcers and inflammations which sap its health, "Favorite Prescription" paves the way for this natural change to come in Nature's way, without the loss of capacity to please others or personal inability to enjoy life.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' brought me safely through that difficult period, called 'change of life,'" writes Mrs. Mary Ensminger, of 344 E. Ankeny St., Portland, Oregon. "This change made a very unpleasant disturbance through my entire system. I had hot and cold flashes, sick headaches, became excited, flustrated, nervous and irritable. My appetite was fitful and for days I was unable to eat a fair meal. My aunt recommended me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it made a great change for the better. Within two weeks the unpleasant feelings had disappeared. I have a husband and eight children so have the care of a large family but was able to attend to my household duties without any difficulty and passed the period without any more trouble. I can recommend your 'Favorite Prescription' as a grand medicine for women."

You may be willing that somebody else shall say that their baby is "just as good" as yours, but you don't want that baby substituted for yours. Let dealers say what they like about other medicines being "just as good" but don't let them substitute anything for "Favorite Prescription." It is absolutely unequaled.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Purity of The Blood

THE BEST PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE — OBTAINED BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

If you enquire into the cause of sickness, pain and suffering, you will find that fully nine-tenth of it result from derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

This was the truth arrived at by Dr. Chase when he began experiments which led to the discovery of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver and kidneys are intimately related as filterers of the blood, and the regularity of the bowels depends on the healthful action of the liver.

Hence it happens that when the liver and kidneys are made healthy and vigorous by the influence of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, such diseases as biliousness, liver complaint, kidney disease, indigestion and constipation soon entirely disappear.

With the liver and kidneys in healthful working order, the purity of the blood is ensured and you are protected against colds, fevers and contagious and infectious diseases.

As a family medicine to promptly cure the most common ills of life, there is no preparation that can be compared with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In every neighbourhood there are people who have proven merits of this great medicine. Ask them.

Mr. Jos. Lutton, Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled very much with kidney disease for a long time and was unable to obtain relief. A friend advised me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they have proven of very great benefit to me. I have used a number of boxes of this excellent medicine and feel it a duty to recommend it to other sufferers. My mother thinks that there is no better tonic than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and others of my friends have used this food cure with splendid results."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. Pain cannot exist where Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster is applied. 10

Improvements at McCollum Bros.

Interior of Livery Office is Bright and Comfortable.

The symphony in green and white are the new decorations at McCollum Bros. livery office, which has just been thoroughly overhauled and renovated.

The new arrangements are designed principally for the comfort and convenience of ladies. The interior is now bright and attractive, and scrupulously clean. The walls have been painted white, while a green burlap wainscotting has been installed. Plate glass windows, a handsome new gold-leaf sign on the door and new linoleum will also be new features. A room further back has been fitted up for splashes of the barn. New pictures have been placed upon the walls, and add greatly to the attractiveness of the interior.

A Good Booth Tarkington Book

The receipt is acknowledged from the Poole Publishing Company, of Toronto, of a copy of a notable new novel, "The Conquest of Canaan," by Booth Tarkington, who is a good writer in the highest sense of the word. In diction, fluent and original, he possesses the extractive quality, so to speak, being able to evolve a story of strong dramatic interest, from commonplace surroundings, and to treat commonplace persons and incidents in a way to constitute a story of deep human interest. "The Conquest of Canaan" is a good story, admirable in the telling. It is the story of the winning of a woman, and the achievement of an honourable place under discouraging conditions. In the relation of this story, in spite of its quiet locale, a stirring drama is enacted, full of scenes and incidents, not mere stagecraft effects, but touches of human nature, which put the reader kin with the writer, and his work, and the world.

In Ariel Tabor, Mr. Tarkington has created an unconventional heroine, but wholesome and charming, and the hero, Joe Loudin, is a splendid character, who wins the fight with adversity and untoward conditions, with a persistency and skill which constitute a fine example of innate manhood and nobility of character asserting themselves nobly. The book is well made in all respects, and is published, in boards, at $1.50.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The concert given under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. in the Grand Opera Opera House last night was, in every respect, numerical, social and artistic, a very gratifying success. A large, cultured and appreciative audience was present, and was well pleased with the splendid programme presented, even if the soprano of the Grand English Concert Company, Miss Hope Morgan, was prevented from singing by illness. The other artists of the company, by a little duplication of work, admirably filled the gap. The programme was well selected, being a happy combination of classic and popular music, the former predominating, but so well was it presented that it was popularly well received.

The first number was a duet for violin and piano—andante rostenuto and allegretto scherzando— by the Danish composer, Sjogren. The violinists admirably interpreted the tender spirit of the first, while the playful movement was splendidly presented. Madame Beatrice Langley, the violinists, scored a distinct triumph. To an admirable and comprehensive technical equipment, she adds a rich tone, smooth, crisp and clear, and her eminently satisfying performance is marked by a virility and fire which few male artists have ever exceeded in Peterborough. Her power, her clever bowing, and her generally artistic finish of work were well brought out in her first solo number — The Tschaikowsky group—suite op. 42. The soul she put into the "Meditation" and "Melody" were artistically complementary to the infinite spirit and dash with which she performed the scherzo. With the pearly evenness and smoothness of her staccatto they were quite charming. As to her Bazzani number, the "Witches' Dance," nothing can describe the daintiness of the rollicking spirit of this florid, but charming, composition, as given by Madame Langley. Her double stopping, thrilling trills, and exquisite harmonics, were brilliantly given. Resistlessly recalled, she performed a Scotch air, with sympathetic perfection of interpretation and execution. Mr. Stanley Adams, baritone, sings with excellent enunciation, using a full-toned, rich, baritone voice of good range. He opened with a fine presentation of Pinsuti's "Queen of the Earth," taking the number of Miss Hope Morgan. His first programme number was double — Leoncavallo and Tosti. The Tosti song, "Vorrei," was especially well sung, the tenderness and pathos of the refrain being finely treated. His pair of Irish songs, showing his versatility, won for him a recall, and he sang, "I'm Wearin' Away," with fine feeling. Later on he gave a splendid interpretation of Faure's "The Palms," and added another Irish song. He made a strong place in the hearts of his hearers. To Miss Myrtle Meggy, the youthful pianiste, fell a large share of the work, and she acquitted herself brilliantly. She opened with a Chaminade composition, followed by a piece by grand old Scarlatti. Her playing was strong and brilliant and marked with fine interpretative instinct. Her double Liatz number was a triumph of dainty technique and sympathetic spirit. The works of the three composers she read, lost none of their individuality at her clever little hands.

The concert by the English Grand Opera Company last night was a good one.

The committee in charge of the concert wish to express the regret of the Ladies' Auxiliary at the disappointment the audience must have experienced at the failure of Miss Hope Morgan to appear owing to illness, her physician having positively forbidden her to sing. The Auxiliary also feel grateful to the audience for having accepted the disappointment so gracefully. The committee did not know, till the evening, of the singer's illness and were unable to announce the fact through the press.

THE PEOPLE TO VOTE ON LICENSE REDUCTION

City Council, by Vote of 6-4, Decided Last Night to Submit the Matter to the Electors at the Municipal Elections--Joint Meeting of the Council, License Commissioners, Ministerial Association and License Holders--Ministers Again Submit Their Case--Refuse to Make Direct Request to Council to Submit Question to the People.

The electors will vote on the question of the reduction of liquor licenses in the city at the next municipal elections. This was decided at the special meeting of the council held last night, when the conference with the Ministerial Association, the License Commissioners and the License Holders' Protective Association was held. It will be remembered that on Monday night the Ministerial Association waited on the council and presented a resolution which had been passed by that body at a meeting held previously, in which the Council was asked to "take what action may seem to them advisable to effect the improvements asked for in paragraph No. 1, on the lines outlined above, whether by ascertaining the opinion of the ratepayers at the forthcoming municipal elections or by other practical means." The paragraph No. 1 referred to is: "That the present condition of our city calls for some reduction in the number of liquor licenses issued."

In response to this resolution the council decided to call a meeting last night at which the whole matter could be discussed with the parties interested, and, as a result of the invitation there were a large number of representatives from the three bodies mentioned, as well as citizens present, and the deepest interest was manifested in the deliberations. The net result of the meeting was that Ald. Johnston's amendment to an amendment to the effect, "that the question of whether there should be a reduction in the number of liquor licenses in the city of Peterborough be submitted to the electors at the next municipal elections on January 1st," was passed by the Council, on the following division:—

Yea,—Ald. Johnson,
Ald. Begley,
Ald. Crowe,
Ald. Tovey,
Ald. McIntyre,
Ald. Batten.

Nay,—Ald. Adams,
Ald. Scott,
Ald. Mason,
Ald. Hicks,

Many Motions.

There were motions and amendments flying thick and fast. Ald. Hicks first moving "that if the Commissioners will advise the council as to the number of licenses to be cut off (if any) that this council take action in the matter in the event of reduction being advised." To this Ald. Adams moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. Scott, "That this council is of the opinion that it is not advisable to submit the question of license reduction to a vote of the ratepayers at the coming municipal election, but that if a satisfactory reduction be not made next May that the question be submitted to the people at the first favourable opportunity." The motion was supported only by the mover and the seconder, Ald. Mason, and the same with the amendment.

The meeting was a most interesting one from a number of standpoints and some remarkable positions were taken by the different speakers during the course of the proceedings.

The Case Presented.

In the first place the Mayor asked the President of the Ministerial Association to present his case, which he did, and, after Rev. Dr. Crothers had supported the position of his leader in this movement, the Commissioners were heard, Dr. Morrison, the chairman, speaking for that body. The License Holders were represented by Messrs. J. M. Brooks, President, and Mr. Alex. Elliott.

No request was made to the council from any body, officially, to submit the question to the ratepayers at the coming election, and this action was taken by the council of its free will, the Mayor's request to the Ministerial Association that they pass a resolution asking the council to submit the matter to the people finding no official response, though a motion was made by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, seconded by Rev. J. G. Potter, to the effect that the Association ask the council to take this action. This motion was not voted on by the members of the Association, and was allowed to drop without any action being taken on it.

Some Plain Talk.

There was some plain talk on both sides and the license holders were told some things by the Chairman of the Commissioners. He informed them that if they did not observe the law they might expect that if they did not observe the law they might expect that their licenses would be taken away, and it such were the case they had no one to blame but themselves.

The majority of the speakers spoke in commendatory terms of the present license law, and Rev. Dr. Crothers stated that we had, in Ontario, the best license law that can be found on any statute book. Ald Adams was not, however, so enthusiastic in its praise. He admitted, with Rev. Dr. Crothers that it was a marvellous piece of legislation, but said that its sting was in its tail, which provided that licenses could be issued or withheld at the discretion of the Commissioners.

Those present at the meeting last night were:—Mayor Best, who presided; Aldermen Johnston, Begley, Hicks, Mason, Crowe, Tovey, McIntyre, Batten, Scott and Adams, Rev. Canon Davidson, President of the Ministerial Association, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. W. J. Jolliffee, Rev. Dr. Crothers, Rev. F. J. Scott, Rev. Dr. Torrance and Rev. A. H. Brace, Dr. Morrison, chairman of the License Commissioners; Commissioner H. LeBrun, and License Inspector Cochrane, Mr. J. M. Brooks, President of the Peterborough License Holders Protective Association, Messrs. A. Reuntree, M. C. Tooley, P. Cluxton, Jas. O'Shea, W. Head, M. Connors, R. H. Jackson, T. Cavanagh, Stephen Holland, Alex. Elliott, H. Neil, H. Phelan, J. A. Cunningham, D. D. C. Dawe, Dawson Kennedy, H. Morgan, T. Hooper, W. M. Matchett, P. Hogan, and a number of other citizens.

An Unpleasant Duty.

The Mayor, in opening the meeting invited Rev. Canon Davidson to submit the case, as he had done at the Council meeting on Monday night, and in response the reverend gentleman stated that after the meeting referred to he had communicated with the Mayor and had suggested that the license holders be invited to this meeting to discuss the matter with the other bodies, and it was a satisfaction to meet them in a gathering such as this, the first time he had ever had such an experience. He again submitted the resolution which he had read at the meeting on Monday night, passed by the Ministerial Association. He wished to repeat in the presence of the License Commissioners that it was at their suggestion that the Association had made the request to the council contained in the resolution, after having been referred to the council by the Commissioners in the spring when they had met them. He remarked that it was unpleasant for him to make the request which he did, because he counted among the license holders many warm friends, and he did not look upon them as being beneath him.

The Ministerial Association was absolutely agreed on the resolution which he had read, but they were not all of the same opinion on the question of temperance. Some, he remarked, were total abstainers, while others, himself among the number were not. He defended the action of the Association in passing the resolution, and said that it was not passed in a complaining spirit, but they could not shut their eyes to conditions which prevail, and, in order to protect those who were weak they had felt that they must take some action. Personally he had been graciously treated by the Victuallers, and he, and the other members of the Ministerial Association would never consent to become informers.

Felt the Responsibility.

They felt that they must do something to benefit the city, but in so doing they did not wish to assume the role of persecutors. They observed 3 things to which they objected, and these they wished remedied. They objected to the License Law being broken. If properly observed it was a splendid law, he remarked. In the

Graduates Want to Elect One Member

The Peterborough Branch of the Toronto Alumni Association met last night in the Y.M.C.A. There were present Messrs. D. W. Dumble, B.A., President; A. Stevenson, B. A., Secretary; C. Fessenden, M.A., E. B. Edwards, B.A., LL.B., R. F. McWilliams, B. A., LL.B., D. Walker, B.A., J. A. Fife, B.A., and J. Jefferies, B.A., Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, B.A., and Miss Weir, B.A. The report of the recommendation of the Toronto Branch Association to the University Association was read as well as the recommendation of the executive committee of the Association. These recommendations will be made to the general meeting of the Association being held this afternoon. The most important of these was that the graduates of the University should be allowed to elect a member of the Legislature. This recommendation was endorsed. The others were, some of them amended and others not entertained.

Were Married in Michigan Sault

George N. Emlaw, of Webbwood and Miss Mary Louise McKelvey, of this city, were married this morning by the Rev. Fr. Gagnieur, of St. Mary's Catholic church, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The Maritime Provinces Hold Good Stock Show

Hon. Mr. Stratton Attends the Annual Fat Stock Fair at Amherst, N.S.—Joint Show Was a Success—Maritime Provinces Follow Ontario's Lead—Banquet and Public Meeting in Connection With Show—Eastern Stock Fair Quality.

RETURN FROM TRIP TO NOVA SCOTIA

Hon. J. R. Stratton returned from Nova Scotia last evening. While in the Province Mr. Stratton remained over a day at Amherst, to attend the Fifth Annual Winter Fair of the Maritime Provinces—the equivalent of the Ontario Fat Stock Show. Mr. Stratton attended the banquet and the public meeting afterwards. The exhibition was declared formally opened by the Lieut.-Governor of Prince Edward Island, and addresses given by Hon. Sidney Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Mr. Justice Longley, the Minister of Agriculture for New Brunswick, Premier Murray, of Nova Scotia, and Hon. Mr. Stratton. Mr. Stratton says the Maritime Provinces are making great advances in stock-raising and dairying. The building, which will soon fall far short of its intended purpose in the matter of size, cost in the neighbourhood of $20,000, and has an excellent auditorium, in addition to the requisite conveniences, for its special purposes. The exhibition of sheep was very good. Much of the horned cattle was fairly good, and those who have been attending the exhibition from its beginning say that it is improving from year to year. The hogs were of the most approved breeds for bacon purposes. There could be considerable improvement made in the matter of milch cows as represented at the exhibition, which, while it was not a large one, contained several excellent animals. There was a splendid exhibition of nearly all varieties of poultry. The apple exhibit, collected from all the Maritime Provinces, was splendid and could hardly be surpassed anywhere. The leading ladies of the town had charge of the banquet and dining-room. They provided excellently for the luncheon, and personally waited upon the hundred and fifty guests present. The winter fair is becoming better and more popular, the farmers are taking increased concern in the interests it stands for, substantial Government assistance and encouragement are forthcoming, and the advanced example of Ontario is being as well lived up to as circumstances will permit.

Amherst is a growing town, and has a fair number of excellent manufacturing establishments, nice shops and beautiful homes in residential sections.

WHO ARE THESE GENTLEMEN?

To-day the Examiner introduces an innovation in its series of prominent citizens' pictures. In the illustration above, are four prominent gentlemen now living in Peterborough. The picture was taken twenty-eight years ago, and, as will be seen, it represents an aquatic club which, at that time, was very popular in Peterborough.

Four of the five young men in this picture, are still living in the city, and all of them are most highly respected. The majority of them have occupied, or at present, do occupy, positions of public trust, in the community. As soon as the names are announced, everyone in the city will know them, for they are four of the best known men in Peterborough.

The picture in last Saturday's paper represented Mr. H. C. Winch. It was an easy one, and the telephone was kept busy all the evening sending in answers to the question, "Who is it?" There is a chance to do some guessing to-day, though.

Death Beneath The Car Wheels Was Imminent

M. W. Mitchell and H. Nesbitt While Driving on George Street Last Night Struck by a Street Car—Mr. Mitchell Was Dragged Almost Half a Block With Foot Caught in the Fender—Escape From Instant Death Was Marvellous.

BRONCHO "BUCKED" BEFORE THE CAR

To be hurled to instant death, beneath the wheels of a George street car appeared, for a few moments last night, to be the inevitable, fate of Mr. M. W. Mitchell and Mr. H. Nesbitt. Driving south on George street at about 7.30 o'clock in a buggy to which was attached a pony of broncho extraction, these two gentlemen, while opposite Mr. R. Fair's store, met an Auburn car which was rushing northward at a high rate of speed. The pony, becoming affrighted at the bright glare of the headlight, commenced the characteristic "bucking" operations peculiar to its breed, and in the space scarcely longer than the twinkling of an eye, backed directly across the track immediately in front of the car.

The many pedestrians passing along the street who beheld the incident, held their breaths as they watched the car crash into the vehicle. A double fatality seemed imminent and unavoidable. It appeared, from the position of the vehicle, as if nothing could prevent drivers, buggy and horse from being crushed in less than a moment's time.

What followed was a most marvellous combination of circumstances. Mr. Mitchell, perceiving the imminence of his peril, jumped from the buggy, one foot catching, as he fell, in the fender. Mr. Nesbitt was thrown violently. Mr. Mitchell was dragged for a considerable distance before the car was brought to a stop, and how he escaped death will remain a matter of conjecture. Thrown violently from one position to another as the car whirled along, he found it impossible to extricate the foot, but by some means he escaped from being thrown beneath the wheels. An illustration of this plight may be given in the fact that the sole of one shoe was scraped completely off.

But even more remarkable was the position of the horse and buggy. The wheels of the vehicle were struck by the car and, of course, shattered, but a portion of the gearing catching in the fender, the entire outfit was pushed forward. The pony, in some manner, wholly unaccountable, became twisted directly around in the shafts. Of the harness, the collar with its attachments alone remained intact, and by this the poor beast was dragged the full distance till the car stopped. With the usual perverseness of bronchos, however, it absolutely refused to be put hors de combat after the mix-up, and was driven home by its owner.

Neither Mr. Mitchell nor Mr. Nesbitt sustained any permanent or serious injury, though the former is today nursing a somewhat severe gash in his right leg.

Presentation to Rev. Langfeldt

Members of Mothers' Guild Give Silver Communion Service.

Last night a very pleasing event occurred at the week night service of St. Luke's church. After the regular meeting Mrs. H. Bonnett president of the Mothers' Guild, requested the rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt to remain, and on behalf of the Guild presented him with a handsome private silver communion service as a Christmas gift from the Guild, a number of the members of which were present. The service, which includes a paten, chalice and flagon, was enclosed in a beautiful leather case, and the inscription, "Presented to Rev. E. A. Langfeldt by St. Luke's Mothers' Guild, December, 1905."

In acknowledging the gift Rev. Mr. Langfeldt expressed his great pleasure and deep appreciation of the beautiful gift. He was very deeply touched by this act of kindness on the part of the ladies, for which he thanked them most heartily.

Investigation To Commence Here Monday

A despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe says: — "Criticism having appeared from time to time concerning the lift lock at Peterborough, and it being alleged that the work was of faulty construction, the superintending engineer has asked for an inquiry, and his request has been acceeded to. Mr. Henry Holgate, C. E., of Montreal has been instructed to thoroughly inquire into the construction of the Peterborough lift lock, and also the one going up at Kirkfield. Mr. Holgate is empowered to summon witnesses and examine them under oath. He will proceed to Peterborough on Monday and begin the investigation there.

New Premier Announces His New Cabinet

Mr. E. S. Clarry Assumes Reins of Office in the Mock Parliament—Has Gathered a Strong Set of Members—The Speech From the Throne—Extension of the Franchise to Women—The License Act Will be Amended.

INCORPORATION OF CHEMONG VILLAGE

The defeat of the McWilliams administration in the mock parliament in connection with St. Paul's Young Men's Guild on Tuesday evening last has been followed by the resignation of the Premier and his Cabinet.

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. E. S. Clarry, has been entrusted with the formation of a Government, and he has announced the following cabinet:

Premier and President of the Council, E. S. Clarry.

Attorney-General, W. S. Davidson.

Provincial Secretary, G. B. Van Haricom.

Provincial Treasurer, C. Ross Cameron.

Minister of Education, Dr. J. M. McCullough.

Minister of Agriculture, D. H. Downie.

Minister of Land and Mines, E. V. Moore.

Minister of Public Works, Jas. Connel.

The next sitting of the House will take place on Tuesday night, when the new Government will face the House.

The new Premier announces that he intends having the sitting of the House commence at 8 o'clock sharp, no matter how few of the members are in attendance. He takes strong grounds upon the manner in which the opening of the House has been delayed until late in the evening at the previous sittings of the House.

The Speech from the Throne has been prepared, and it is said will be presented in the following form:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I have great pleasure in welcoming you to your duties under conditions which I hope will make for the best interests of the country.

I am sure you will all join me in congratulations upon the bountiful harvest which has been vouchsafed us by a benignant Providence.

Among the pleasures which will be presented by my new Advisers for your consideration will be a Bill providing for the extension of the franchise to women. Though this is a new departure, it will doubtless be regarded as a natural sequence of the extensions of the franchise that have been made from time to time.

The measure to amend the Liquor License Act will also be submitted for your most serious consideration, in view of the evils resulting from unrestrained indulgence in intoxicating drinks.

In view of the disturbances created in church by crying babies, thus distracting the attention of the congregation from their worship, and that of the lady worshippers from enjoying criticism of their neighbours' headgear and clothing, a Bill will be introduced to regulate the attendance of infants in such a way that this crying nuisance will be abated. My Government is anxious and determined that equal rights shall be extended to all, and that infant industries shall not be permitted to thrive at the expense of the comfort and convenience of any section of the country.

The dictates of humanity demand that the cruel practice of hounding deer with dogs shall be ended if by no other means than curtailing the tail of the dog in the immediate vicinity of the vertebrae joining the neck to the head. To this end your consideration will be invited to a Bill prohibiting the use of dogs for the purpose of hunting deer.

I am pleased to inform you that the progress of our beloved Dominion and the growth of its population of centres, demand the extension of municipal civil privileges to some of our thriving villages. A Bill will therefore be introduced to incorporate the village of Chemong. My Government deems this such an important matter that it adopts the unusual course of making itself responsible for this Bill, instead of, as is usually the case, permitting it to be made the subject of private legislation. Other matters covering whatever should engage the solicitude of a wise and progressive Government will be submitted to you and dealt with.

I trust the outcome of your deliberations will result in the effectuation of legislation, which, while making for the personal pleasure of the members may at the same time incidentally result in some benefit to the country which we love so much that we all want a piece of it ourselves.

THISTLES AND DANDRUFF

An Interesting Parallel and a Valuable Deduction Therefrom.

Cutting down thistles no more relieves the land of thistles than does scouring the scalp cure dandruff. In each case permanent relief can only come from eradicating permanently the cause. A germ that plows up the scalp in searching for the hair root, where it saps the vitality, causes dandruff, falling hair and baldness. If you kill that germ you'll have no dandruff, but a luxuriant suit of hair. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation in the world that cures dandruff and falling hair by killing the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Turnbull's Japanese Christmas Carnival

An Enchanting Scene—Striking Christmas Decorations and Fascinating Effects—A Regular Midway Plaisance of Artistic Japanese Art Goods and Holiday Novelties.

Make way for Santa Claus! The holiday enthusiasm is on. If any doubts exist in the imagination of old or young, a visit to the enchanting store of Messrs. Turnbull Company, Limited, would dispel them.

The store has already become a Mecca for Christmas shoppers. Its attrative double front, and commodious interior, with public entrances on George and Simcoe streets, its central situation, and attractive window displays, gives it a leading position in the heart of the city. That, in itself, is inviting, but hardly prepares one for the superb assortment of holiday novelties carried this year, in addition to the high class stock of imported drygood, house furnishings, ready-to-wear garments, carpets, rugs, etc.

It Takes the Palm.

But it is the striking interior store decorations which "takes the palm," and impresses the visitor most vividly, especially when the electric light is turned on. The fascinating scene, brilliant with bright colours, gay drapings and hangings, as seen by the soft amber light, depicts a striking Japanese concept. Every department of the large store is touched with the Japanese idea. Myriads of fancy coloured Japanese lanterns are suspended from every available point, and the electroliers and lamps are decorated with shades and colourings in harmony with the Japanese conception. Overhanging the central row of counters and cases, mammoth Japanese umbrellas, quaintly embellished with Japanese figures, are spread out, each one covering an area of fifteen feet. Underneath these are displayed unique samples of genuine Japanese kimonas, hand-painted fire screens, filmy dress patterns, ladies' and gentlemen's gold and silver-headed umbrellas, with individual handles, no two alike, and numerous dainty and appropriate gifts for Christmas shoppers. Circles of fine Japanese handkerchiefs are formed from the outspreading ribs of the umbrellas, while bewitching articles are seen floating in mid-air, like a fairy picture.

Tempting Display.

The handsome glass front counter reveals a tempting display of Irish table linens, sideboard centre pieces, scarfs, and many samples of dainty drawn work on Irish linen. Some of the most exquisite of these samples are made from Irish linen, taken to Japan and drawn into immitable designs by the patient expert natives, and afterwards find their way into Turnbull's.

Rare arts also displayed lovely Japanese opera scarfs in silk and crepe de chine. Holiday neckwear in chiffon silk and embroidery, silk blouses, white shawls, wool golfers in ladies and misses sizes. Children's touques, tams, hoods, gaiters and overalls; also children's white bearskin coats, hoods and wool jackets.

The display of eiderdown comforters, priced at $4.50 to $7.50, is one of the surprises this season, the price being much below what they have been sold for years. Great piles of wool blankets and comforters are seen, flanked with cosy bedroom furnishings for winter comfort. The display of cushion covers is very attractive, principally Dutch tops with taking designs. Some of the catchiest tops are shown with local designs, such as the Peterborough Hockey Club, the Lift Lock, etc. The prices run from 25c. to 50c each for tops and from $1.00 and $1.25 each for the complete cushions.

Illuminated silent salesmen are filled with a profusion of holiday articles, such as fancy leather goods, wrist bags, open bags made of Japanese silk, shopping bags, handsatchels, purses, card cases, etc. Fancy handkerchief boxes, photo holders, whisk holders, tray cloths in drawn work, Persian neck ribbons, ladies' embroidered silk hose, gloves combs and many other new lines of goods of an allied nature. There is also a handsome display of hardanger centre pieces, table covers, dresser scarfs, and smaller designs which are in special favour just now.

Along the north and south sides of the store, the spaces over the regular goods are trimmed with fancy and ornamental effects, interspersed with artificial palms, bamboo lattice work and Japanese panels with floral decorations and well-delineated Japanese lettering.

An interesting Japanese booth contains a collection of unique bric-a-brac and pink ware, imported direct from Japan. They are bright, attractive and rapid selling novelties. Many articles for children are shown, which makes easy work for the gift-seeker who comes here for ideas.

Besides the big display of carpets, linoleums, mats, curtains and portieres, there is a special display of reversible Japanese rugs, in various sizes, varying in price from 50c. to $12. These are worth special attention on account of their novel patterns and low prices.

Ready-to-Wear and Dress-making Department.

On the second floor, stocks are large and carefully selected. Everything is of the highest quality. Among the best selling lines are silk waists, purchased specially for Christmas gifts, prices run from $2.50 to $7.50; ten styles at $5.00, in Japanese and chiffon taffeta, in black, cream, cardinal, myrtle, sky and paids. Also all the latest ideas in ladies' coats, $10.00 to $15.00. Separte skirts, spring styles, Venetians, cheviots and tweeds, $3.50 to $8.00.

Miss Burch, the new head of the dressmaking department is proving her abilities as a successful modiste, her American experience and her exceptional ability on high-class work, enables Turnbull's to turn out a class of garments which heretofore could only be procured from the large cities.

e Windows.

The skillfully dressed store windows are admired by all passers. In the present trim is show a fine display of blue Japanese willow ware, which has excited much comment. Constant changes will be made in the windows up till Christmas, which will be interesting to watch.

"People are evidently appreciating this year the advantages of early shopping," said Mr. Might, to-day. "They are coming to swarms."

The People to Vote on License Reduction

second place they objected to men being given licenses who do not recognize their responsibility, and in the third place they observed a great difference in hotels. Some were well kept, and others were not, they were pointed.

He did not feel competent to say how many hotels there were which were not being conducted properly. Neither did he feel competent to say that there were too many hotels. If there were men holding licenses who should not hold them, then, he said, let them all keep their licenses. The ministerial Association took the position that there were more hotels than there was a need for, and they asked that the council take what action they deem advisable. He made this request in the full assurance that they would deal in justice with all interests.

Shirking Responsibility.

The Mayor complimented the former speaker on his eloquent address, but said that he evidently wished to throw the responsibility on the council. They had not the courage of their convictions to specify the number of licenses they wished taken off, nor the objectionable license holders. He pointed out that even if the people decided in favour of a reduction the number of licenses the Commissioners would still have it in their power to cut off whom they pleased, and they might cut off licensees from men who were observing the law.

Commissioners' View.

Dr. Morrison was the next to address the meeting, and corroborated the statements of Rev. Canon Davidson in the main. At the time that the Ministerial Association had asked the Commissioners to reduce the number of licenses the latter felt that they had only been in office a short time, and consequently knew the license holders only as citizens, and did not feel that they could, with the knowledge at their command then, cut off any licenses. They had warned the hotel-keepers to keep the law. He believed that a great many of them do, but they had been informed that some do not. He warned the licenseholders that the Commissioners would not stand for infractions of the law, and, while they might be unable to secure convictions, if they were morally certain that there were men who broke the law they need not complain if their licenses are withheld.

The position he took was that since the council were directly responsible to the people it should be for them to say first if there should be a reduction. In this position they were supported by the action of other boards, and he referred to the old Toronto Board, which had asked the city council to submit a bylaw to the people providing for a reduction. He believed that the people should have the say in the matter.

Hotels Enough.

The Mayor asked Dr. Morrison if he was of the opinion that there were too many hotels, and he replied that his inspector had reported to him that the hotel accommodation is all taken up. Mr. Crosbourne, however, then informed Dr. Morrison that he had found that he was mistaken in that report, and that there was sufficient accommodation. He did not think that on Saturday, say, there was too much accommodation, and from his own point of view he could not say that there were too many Hotels. He thought that there were some places that could be done without. If they had to cut any off they would make the man and the house into consideration, and he stated that it would not make any difference to them what a man's politics were.

Dr. H. LeBrun added a few words corroborative of the position taken by his confrere. They would, he said, cut off those licenses in the houses where the law was not kept.

A Legitimate Business.

Rev. Dr. Crothers recognized that hotelkeeping was just as much a legitimate business as anything else. Hotels are a necessity, but he deplored the unfortunate matter which is usually associated with it. Ministers of the gospel, he said, had opportunities of seeing the effects of the liquor business, which perhaps others did not, and while they were not there to abuse anyone, the reason was the difficulty and wanted to remedy it.

The License Law was a marvel, but piece of legislation, and was the best that could be found on any statute book. If it were observed a corporal's guard could not be found to ask for license reduction.

The Mayor, referring to Rev. Dr. Crothers' statement that the law was good, questioned if it would be any better carried out if the licenses were reduced.

Rev. Dr. Torrance was asked to speak, and remarked that there could be little doubt that a reduction in the number of licenses would mean that there would be a diminution in drinking.

The License Holders.

Mr. J. M. Brooks, the president of the Licenseholders' Protective Association, addressed the meeting briefly, stating the views of that body. He stated that if the licenseholders knew the law, and the Commissioners had also written to them pointing out that if they did not observe it they would lose their licenses. He did not know of any hotelkeeper who is breaking the law, and if the association did know they would try and reform him. They were anxious that the members of their association should live up to the law. All they wanted, he asserted, was justice.

Mr. Alex. Elliott also spoke from that standpoint. He thought that the hotelkeepers of Peterborough were as respectable a lot of men as could be found in any town in the country. As far as he knew they were keeping the law. During the last ten years, although the population had increased by 25 per cent., the number of licenses remained the same. He know some of the local hotels which had to turn away guests, and, in view of this fact, did not think it wise to submit this proposal to reduce the number, to the people. In his opinion there were not enough hotels in the city.

No Dodging Now.

Inspector Cochrane was next called upon, and stated that he did not see that suspicious dodging when he went into hotels which he had seen in the past, and on Saturday nights he saw very few men around the hotels, which, to him, meant that there was not much drinking done. He believed that there was an honest effort being made to enforce the law. As a magagnor, he would like to see the number of licenses reduced, but as an official he was not expressing any opinion.

Rev. A. H. Brace supported the position taken by his ministerial brethren, and wanted to state, he said, that he was in favour of a reduction of licenses. If the ministers had the power, he said, they would gladly assume the responsibility, and they would make short work of it. Personally he believed that no licenses were necessary.

Ask the People.

Rev. J. G. Potter advocated the submission of the question to the people, in which event the License Commissioners would have authority for their action. He felt that all parties would be dealt fairly with by adopting this course. In answer to the suggestion that the Ministerial Association should name the number to which they would like the licenses reduced, Mr. Potter said that they did not want to dictate to the council. If, however, the council would say that there might be a reduction of, say five, that would be entirely satisfactory to the association, he felt sure.

Mr. Brooks asked the Ministerial Association if they could name any man in the hall who had broken the law, and in reply Mr. Davidson stated that he could not.

Almost Passed It.

In answer to the suggestion of the Mayor that the association should pass a resolution asking the council to introduce a by-law providing for taking the vote of the electors on the question of a reduction, without specifying the number of licenses to be cut off, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe moved that the association make this request. It was seconded by Rev. J. G. Potter, but after some discussion among the members of the association it was allowed to drop and was not voted on. The president of the association took the ground that they could not ask for anything further than had been asked for in the resolution presented at the former meeting.

The aldermen then took a hand in the discussion, and it was evident from the remarks of some of them that they appreciated the fact that the election was approaching. In fact, a number referred to it, but assured the meeting that the positions taken by them respectively was not influenced by that fact. Ald. Mason inquired for information as to what effect the proposed reduction would have on the business of the city.

An Inopportune Time.

Ald. Adams was of the opinion that it would be better not to deal with the matter now. It was too late, he thought, for the Ministerial Association to organize a campaign, and it might be better for them to leave it until after the new year, when they would be better prepared, he thought. The Province was under a new regime. The Premier has declared in favour of a strict enforcement of the License Law, and the License Commissioners say the same. He was very pleased to hear the latter say that they would cut off the the licenses of those men who break the law, and if their threat was carried out the licenseholders would only have themselves to blame. The Commissioners might, however, take the license away from one man and grant it to another man for the same house, which, of course, would be no reduction. His opinion was that the thing had better be left to the License Commissioners and the licenseholders, and if the latter lose their licenses they would have no one to blame for it. If the law was being observed there would be no request to reduce the number of licenses. Even if the people voted in favour of a reduction, there was no assurance that the men they wanted to deprive of their licenses would be the ones to lose them. That was a matter entirely in the hands of the License Commissioners.

Request From Commissioners.

Ald. Hicks was of the opinion that since the Toronto License Commissioners, according to Dr. Morrison, had requested the City Council to submit the question of a reduction to the people, the Peterborough Commissioners might do the same, and he was sure that if they did the council would not hesitate to grant their request. The Commissioners were more in touch with the situation than the council, and should have a better idea as to whether any reduction was required.

A strong temperance speech was made by Ald. Begley, who remarked that they all knew where he stood. In the present license law they had almost as perfect a measure as could be found, but he was firmly convinced that it was not being observed in Peterborough. It was not the small hotels, either, which were the greatest offenders, but it was the large ones which catered to the high class trade. He scored the hotels for their alleged infractions of the law.

Some Dodging Alleged.

Ald. Johnston wondered if there was not considerable beating about the bush, and suggested that Ald. Begley's determination not to be a candidate for re-election had not something to do with his strong position. He did not want the whole blame laid on the poor council, which, he said, had been criticised pretty severely during the past year. He believed that the request of the Ministerial Association should be given careful consideration by the council. If the licenseholders did not break the law it would not be necessary to come to the council and ask for this reduction. There is no question about it, said Ald. Johnston, the law is being broken, and the licenseholders know it. He declared his willingness to support a resolution to submit it to the people.

Too Much Bad Whisky.

Ald. Crowe has his own views on this question, and has no hesitation about expressing them. He declared he was sick of this temperance talk, and nothing being done. What he believed in was real temperance, not total abstinence. He liked a little himself, and so did others. What was needed, in his opinion, was an inspector who would see that good liquor was sold. It might be bad to sell good liquor, but surely it was worse to sell bad liquor. He himself had known one gallon of whisky watered until it made four gallons.

In this question under discussion he thought the people should have the say.

Ald. Hicks made his motion, which was seconded by Ald. Mason. An amendment was made by Ald. Adams as quoted above, and an amendment to the amendment by Ald. Johnston, the latter being carried on the division stated above.

AGAINST CROUP AND COLDS BY ALWAYS KEEPING AT HAND

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

There are some reasons why Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is the most suitable treatment obtainable for children.

It is pleasant to the taste, and children like to take it.

It is composed of simple ingredients of proven value in the cure of throat and lung troubles.

It is positively free from anything of an injurious nature, and can be used with perfect safety with the smallest child, so long as directions are followed.

It is wonderfully successful in the prevention and cure of croup.

It promptly relieves even the most severe chest colds and brings about a thorough cure.

You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, for it is the standby in thousands of homes, where time and again it has proven its exceptional worth.

When you make up your mind to safeguard your children by keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, do not allow your dealer to persuade you into taking something on which he has a larger profit.

Mrs. (Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont., writes:—"I can recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine most heartily for all forms of colds, and I think if every family would use it for their little ones it would save lots of worry and expense and find it prompt and lasting in its effects.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until we sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

In the hour of emergency, when croup or colds seize your child; the cheap substitutes will fail you, but Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine never disappoints. 25 cts a bottle, at all dealers.

Was Wedded in Rochester

Nuptials of Miss Nellie Sike and Mr. Howard VanVoorhis.

The Rochester Post of Wednesday, December 6, contains the following reference to the wedding in that city of Miss Nellie Sike. She will be remembered by many summer residents of Stony Lake, to which she has for some years paid an annual visit. Her many friends will unite in extending heartiest congratulations and best wishes upon the occasion of the happy event. Howard Van Voorhis and Miss Nellie Augusta Sike were married last night at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Catherine Sike, 817 Main street east, by Rev. S. Bowles Nelson, of St. Peter's church. A dinner followed the ceremony.

The English were taught the uses of hops by a native of Artois, who introduced them into England in 1524.

Peruna is recommended by fifty members of Congress, by Governors, Consuls, Generals, Majors, Captains, Admirals, Eminent Physicians, Clergymen, many Hospitals and public institutions, and thousands upon thousands of those in the humbler walks of life.

Distribution of Free Seeds

Dominion Department of Agriculture Decides to Give Pure Seed.

By instruction of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture another distribution will be made this season of samples of the most productive sorts of grain to Canadian farmers for the improvement of seed. The stock for distribution is of the very best, and has been secured mainly from the excellent crops recently had at the branch Experimental Farms at Indian Head, Sask., and at Brandon, Man. The distribution this spring will consist of samples of oats, spring wheat, barley, Indian corn (for ensilage only) and potatoes. The quantity of oats to be sent this year will be 4 lbs., and of wheat or barley 5 lbs., sufficient in each case to sow one-twentieth of an acre. The samples of Indian corn and potatoes will weigh 3 lbs. as heretofore. A quantity of each of the following varieties has been secured for this distribution:

Oats—Banner, Wide-Awake, Abundance, Thousand Dollar, Improved Ligowo, Goldfinder and Waverley.

Wheat—Preston, Red Fife, Percy, Stanley, Huron, Laurel, and White Fife.

Barley—Six-rowed — Mensury, Odessa, Mansfield, Claude and Royal. Two-rowed — Standwell, Invincible, Canadian Thorpe and Sidney.

Indian Corn (for ensilage) — Early sorts, Angel of Midnight, Compton's Early and Longfellow; later varieties, Selected Leaming, Early Mastodon and White Cap Yellow Dent.

Potatoes—Carman No. 1, Early White Prize, Rochester Rose, Uncle Sam, American Wonder, Bovee, Early Andes and Late Puritan.

Every farmer may apply, but only one sample can be sent to each applicant, hence if an individual receives a sample of oats he cannot also receive one of wheat, barley or potatoes. Lists of names from one individual, or applications for more than one sample for one household cannot be entertained. These samples will be sent free of charge through the mail.

Applications should be addressed to the Director of Experimental Farms, Ottawa, and may be sent in any time before the 1st of March, after which the lists will be closed, so that all the samples asked for may be sent out in good time for sowing. Parties writing should mention the sort of variety they would prefer, with a second sort as an alternative, and should the available stock of both these varieties be exhausted, some other good sort will be sent instead. Those applying for Indian corn or potatoes will please bear in mind that the corn is not available for distribution until March or April, and that potatoes cannot be mailed from here until danger from frost in transit is over. No postage is required on mail matter addressed to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Croup Absolutely Cured.

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup absolutely in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure." — Mr. William McGee, 49 Wright avenue, Toronto, Ont.

A syndicate of which Sir West Ridgeway is chairman, has offered to lease the pearl fisheries of Ceylon for $100,000 a year on condition that a twenty year lease is granted.

The Habit of Health

Many people have a habit of ailing. How much better it would be to learn to keep well. For health, after all, is largely a matter of habit, which all may acquire with a little practise.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

teach good habits to Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels. If you are subject to Bilious Attacks, suffer from Constipation or are troubled with Indigestion, Nervousness or Headache, Beecham's Pills will reform all these bad habits and set an example of good health, which the body will quickly follow. You can break up all sickly habits by occasionally using the health suggestions transmitted by Beecham's Pills.

Prepared only by Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, England.
Sold by all Druggists in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

SCAVENGING

A MAN WITHOUT A COAT.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, is having quite a time with his coat. It would seem that he has changed it so often that its identity is difficult to preserve, even in the worse, where he is something of a stranger. Only a few weeks ago it got mixed up with one belonging to the Hon. W. R. Motherwell, and even though it had been returned, Mr. J. Lockie Wilson shrieked a charge of theft into the startled ear of an Albertan night. The gravamen of the charge was not so much the theft of the overcoat as the theft of the campaign argument and eloquence with which he hoped to make the welkin ring and the prairie chickens flock to the side of Mr. Bennett.

To be sure the coat came back, but it had acquired an evil habit. There is no record of its other adventures until yesterday's despatch from Melfort, Sask., which reported that "while travelling west of here yesterday Mr. J. Lockie Wilson lost his overcoat." He first accused the train porter. "No, sah!" protested Sambo, his distended eyes showing their white disks; "No, sah; I doan tech yo' coat, nohow. No, sah!" The porter proved an alibi Senator Davis was on the train. J. Lockie Wilson's eagle eye looked him through and through. But the coat was not on him. The despatch leaves the imagination to torture itself with the spectacle of an Ontario citizen roaming the plains of those Saskatchewan constituencies coatless and forlorn, with the thermometer dipping downwards, and sure to strike bottom on December 13th.

Reflection on this spectacle almost makes one wish Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, had captured one of those Government offices he sought so long in Ontario, and mourned because he found it not. Had he got that eight-thousand dollar commissionership he would never have changed his coat, and the blizzards of the plains would never have caught him unawares. Failing to touch Laurier, he tried Whitney, and, when nothing was left in Alberta but a Russian Mennonite, as a last chance he is getting close to Haultain. But a man without a coat, dependent on Haultain for a Government office, has many a cold day before him. Mr. J. Lockie Wilson should strike the Tariff Commission now in the west, and get woollens put on the free list, so that he may buy a guernsey and sleep in it, for it is plain that he was never designed by Nature to fill either an overcoat or a Government office.

RESIGNATION.

Fain would I make my path, Lord,
If thou'dst have it so,
Where pastures green expand, Lord,
Where waters softly flow.
Should the way grow steep, Lord,
Thorny, too, and rough,
If but thou with me be, Lord,
For me, 'tis enough.

Tho' through vale and shade of Death my way decline
No ill shall I fear then
Thy strength, Lord, is mine;
I would not choose my path, Lord—
Just let mine be Thine.
Soon through vale and shade will Light of Heaven shine.

BEYOND THE CROSS ROADS.

The Weekly Sun is another of the independent newspapers which shares the general opinion that the Whitney government has lost public confidence by having weakened to the spoilsmen. It says:

"Mr. Whitney has gone too far already. He should have stood firmly for no dismissals without public inquiry; he has not done so. If he yields to the pressure now being applied, and permits a slaughter in the higher positions such as have occurred in the lower ones, he will do more harm thereby than the wholesale breaking away from the party lines in the eletion of January last has done good. Reformers, who voted for him then, will be taunted by their fellows with having been used by a lot of Conservative office-seekers for the basest of purposes, and will, in many cases, return to their own party, and become more fixed in their prejudices than ever before. Many even in the independent element will become discouraged and consider the struggle for better government hopeless. If there is a general application of the spoils system in Ontario, an equally general application of the same system will follow in the Dominion, and the first result will be a sort of social war all over the country, followed by a permanent inauguration of a state of things in which every general election will become a scramble for spoils.

"Mr. Whitney has even yet a great opportunity. He may introduce a general civil service reform which will give us a permanent and capable service, wholly disconnected with election contests. He may on the other hand, reduce our politics below the level of that prevailing in the worst-governed state across the line. He is not yet beyond the cross-roads. Which path will he choose?"

The Sun thinks Mr. Whitney has not yet gone so far that he cannot retrace his steps. The removal of the registrar of Dufferin, the Brantford Expositor thinks, even since the Toronto license inspector episode, does not justify any such conclusion. There is little doubt that at the outset he held aloft high ideals, but the party pressure became increasingly strong, and finally compelled submission. The spoilsmen are now on top and they will not release their hold.

TWO STORIES.

The electors of London and North Oxford the (Brantford Expositor, points out, heard from Mr. Haultain a story very different from the one he has been telling the electors of Saskatchewan during the present campaign. Here is an extract from Mr. Haultain's address on November 15th at the Blumenfield schoolhouse, in the heart of a German Catholic district:

"Who created the present school system for you? It was I. Are you satisfied with it? Who gave you power to erect this district as it is? It was I. I suppose that you are teaching religion in this school, and German, too. Who gave you the power to do these things? It was I. And do you suppose for one moment that, if elected, I should turn around and destroy all that I have devoted the best years of my life to public affairs, and do you think that I would now destroy what I have done? It would be ridiculous. Why, it would be like a man erecting a beautiful house, and, after finishing it, taking an axe and knocking it down. You know that I gave you these privileges, and it would not be my place after being elected to go against them, and take them from you. I SHALL NEVER DO IT."

Two weeks ago Mr. Haultain pledged himself never to destroy his own work, but now he says that he will wipe it out if given a chance. The ex-premier evidently places no value on consistency as an element in his political career.

Bazaar And Sale of Work

A Successful Enterprise at the George Street Schoolroom.

A most successful bazaar and sale of work was held by the Mission Band of the George street Methodist church in the school room yesterday afternoon, commencing at three o'clock.

The proceeds will be devoted to the support of a Chinese orphan girl, as the result of an appeal from the Jennie Ford Orphanage, Chentu, China. The success of the affair was most gratifying, and a handsome sum was realized. At the conclusion an auction sale was conducted, and a considerable amount of money obtained. During the evening Professor Milner and Misses Ruby Maire, Grace Court, L. Edwards, Alma Knapman, Marjorie Mann and Edna Pratt presided at the piano, the music lending great charm and vivacity to the gathering.

There were a large number of tastily arranged tables, at which the goods were offered for sale, and the room was fittingly decorated for the occasion. Those who were in charge and to whom the credit, to a great extent, for the success of the bazar is due, were the officers of the Mission Band: Mrs. R. Mann, hon. president; Miss Aggie Davis, president; and Miss Butcher, secretary-treasurer. These officers formed the committee in charge, and are to be congratulated on the encouraging success of their efforts.

The Mission Band wish to thank the firms of Christie-Brown, Woodward and Cowans for their kindness in providing biscuits and cocoa for the occasion.

Those in charge of the various tables were: Art table, Mrs. Rupert McClennan; candy table, Misses Elliott and Morrow; doll table, Miss Ethel Goodfellow; fancy work table, Miss Arleigh Stewart; apron table, Mrs. H. P. Lindsay; biscuits, Miss Davis and Miss McClennan.

Mrs. Claude Fox was the hostess of a most pleasant afternoon bridge party yesterday in honour of Mrs. James R. Stratton, Peterborough, at her residence in Brunswick avenue. The bright rooms were full of flowers, and six tables made the game a most interesting one. Mrs. Fox wore a pretty white embroidered chiffon over silk, a large cluster of holly berries making a charming bit of colour on the white dress. Mrs. Stratton was in turquoise blue crepe de chene, with pearl and diamond ornaments. The prizes were carried off by Mrs. E. S. Cox, Mrs. Burgess, and Mrs. Whitney. Later on a number of friends came in for tea, the table being quite one of the prettiest this season. Huge scarlet pointsettias were arranged in an artistic basket on the polished table, the finest of worked centre-pieces throwing the beautiful scalet out in bold relief. All about, in and out, were tiny electric lights, with shades of red and white; the diningroom was hung with Christmas wreathing and holly, with the pretty twinkling lights showing amidst them. Mrs. F. Davidson, Mrs. E. H. Duggan, Miss Falconbridge and Miss Rolland Hills were in charge of the tea table. Some of those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. Teetzel, Mrs. George Foster Mrs. Bohme, Mrs. H. C. McLeod, Mrs. C. D. Warren, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Dobie, Mrs. J. C. Cooper, Mrs. P. Murray, Mrs. Aikins, Mrs. Dow, Mrs. Glackmeyer, Miss Mair, Miss Foy, Mrs. and Miss Cox, Mrs. Warrington, Mrs. Bouchette Anderson and others.—Toronto Globe.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"Sherlock Holmes" in the "Sign of the Four," that will be seen at the Grand Opera House, on Tuesday next, December 12th, is the greatest character part ever written. The character, while it thrills and is exciting, is never boisterous or ranting, but gentle and artistic; his marvellous gift of observation and deduction are masterly, quick and to the point, and seldom erring in his judgment. The "Sign of the Four" deals with more thrilling episodes, and little is toned down, occurred to the earlier adventures of the famous deductionist, as previously set forth on the stage. These are the times when the most ardent lover of the extreme in melodrama may revel in his thrills, and there are times when the most blaze playgoer will sit up and take notice that something is going on. Audiences like sensations and they certainly have it to their hearts' content in the "Sign of the Four." It is one of the best things written, and so intense that you can hear a pin drop at any time during these great scenes and those who witness the performance will enjoy every moment of the time.

"The Sign of the Four."

A dramatization of Dr. Conan Doyle's story, "The Sign of the Four," in which Sherlock Holmes is the central figure, will be produced at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, Dec. 12th. Goldwin Patton, of the original New York caste, plays the part of the famous detective. On account of the holiday season being so near at hand, the prices have been fixed at 25c., 35c., 50c.; gallery 15c.

Wednesday night, Dec. 13th, Rice's New York Company will present to ou theatre goers Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, at the same prices as Tuesday night. Box plan opens for both attractions on Monday morning at 10.

New Species of Owl Was Shot

Mr. Chas. McAllister, of Otonabee, was in the city to-day with what he states is a great novelty. It is a white owl shot in South Monaghan, and he is of the opinion that there has never been another of its kind seen in this vicinity. He wil ihave it mounted.

Ald. Crowe is Asked to Stand

On Thursday night the members of the Moulders' Union held their regular meeting, when they requested Ald. Crowe to stand for re-election. Ald. Crowe was present at the meeting and stated that while he was not in a position to state definitely at the present time, he would take the matter into his consideration, and would give them a reply in the course of a few days.

"Marcelle" an Excellent Work

In the Book Review in the Toronto Mail and Empire to-day, Mr. Page says of a local author's work:—

"In the mad rush of new books demanding attention for the Christmas trade, there is none more deserving than one of the early fall books—"Marcelle," by Hampden Burnham. Not only is this fascinatromance, about a French Canadian maid and her Indian lover, sufficient to hold and charm the seeker after diversion, but Mr. Burnham is such a faithful and accurate historian, that the student has no fault to find. Moreover this author writes excellent English.—(Briggs.)

The Best There Is

In these days of cheap substitutes there is a great inclination to buy something "just as good" in place of the genuine article.

In Gold Watches

this is particularly true. You can have two Watches side by side and one will look as well as the other and yet there may be a difference of $25.00 or $50.00 in the cost. The average purchaser finds out the difference either when told by the seller or after wearing his watch a while. When you buy your Watch there is no doubt about it. You know you get just what you are buying and there's no guess work about it. Isn't that comfortable buying.

Latest News Of Fall And Winter Sports

Joshua and Timotheous

And There Lived in Those Days an Old Man of Much Wisdom.

The Review again publishes a somewhat lengthy and tedious article concerning the challenge of the Examiner's hockey team to the elusive seven of the Examiner's back door contemporary. Its old sporting man accuses this journal of wandering from the original subject of discussion, but as he himself was the first to bring up the topic of the matter he is to be blamed for the accused wandering. Ah! now he again "butts in" with carpet "balls" something with which he is as unfamiliar as of topics of the turf. He has still snowshoeing to break out on. He says that to prepare for meeting the Examiner is risky as the Review has learned from bitter experience. If the experience during the preparation has been bitter, that of the games themselves must have been actually "acidy". And about the Grecian table wand ad. That is rather too direct an insinuation as the man referred to did not wish the general public to know that he would stoop to whisking after hours. No that was a cruel thrust when one remembers that he's a veritable "pillar" in Grecian pool circles but by no means a "shining" light.

The sage advice of the "silvery haired" sporting scribe of the Review will ever be remembered and revered by the "youthful" and "wise old owl" sporting men of the Examiner.

Note—The "yellow" fever still rages.

Latest turf, carpet "balls" (isn't it "singular" that "plural" form) and general sporting news will be published when unbridled liberty of the press is conceded the Examiner Mange monger by the "silver locked" King Dodds, of Peterborough. But might not this Solomon be asked if he characterizes local horses as "skates" because of their ability to go on the ice.

All of which is respectfully submitted to the wise sporting man, who, considering the fact that he sees much of the Grecian world, is not so much to be marvelled at for publishing in his worthy sporting column so much ancient history.

HOCKEY

The West End Hockey Club will meet at 8 o'clock to-night in the T.A.S. rooms for the purpose of organizing for the season. All interested are asked to be present. The West Ends had a splendid team last year and their players [illegible] good fast men. A number of last year's men are available although the loss of Moritz, the fast left wing man of last year's seven, who left for Kemptville some time ago to accept a position on the Bank of Ottawa will be greatly felt.

• • • •

The Bankers are practising regularly on the lake and river and are fast rounding into shape for the game with the financial seven of Lindsay on New Year's Day. They will also play a game with the Bankers team of Belleville. The Peterborough Bankers seven should be as fast, if not faster, than the majority of intermediate sevens, and any aggregation that beats them will have to travel some.

• • • •

Last Wednesday night the Victors were given their uniforms at the residence of Mr. W. Pratt, George street, by Elmer Faux, Captain of the team. The uniforms of the Victors which have before been described in these columns are very neat, the colours being purple and white and upon the sweater is a large V enclosed in a circle. A Junior City League composed of the Victors, Nationals, Intermediate Y.M.C.A. team, the Arrows, and other eligible teams whose age does not exceed fifteen years. The matter is worth consideration and should be taken up at once.

The Victors have made arrangements by which they have secured the Y.M.C.A. rink for practice purposes every Monday and Thursday during the coming winter. Any games in this league should one be formed and a schedule drawn up, might be played on those days.

RUGBY.

Under a frood cut of A. W. McPherson, the former well-known Peterborough rugbyist, the News of last night says:—

It is not often that a man who shines at Association football is equally capable at Rugby, but that is the reputation which Mr. A. W. McPherson will leave behind him when he forsakes the gridiron. During his Arts course at Varsity, from which he graduated in 1898, Mr. McPherson was a star halfback in Association, and it was not until, having put in a year at the Normal College in Hamilton, he went to Peterborough to teach, that he seriously commenced the practice of Rugby. Under his direction the youths of that town became very effective players, winning the intermediate championship of the Ontario Union on at least two occasions. Returning to Varsity to study medicine, Mr. McPherson at once made the senior team, and has now completed his third year in that aggregation. For the most of the past season he was captain, in the room of Casey Baldwin, who had been injured, and not a little of the success that attended the team was due to his intelligent advice and sympathetic encouragement. It would have been impossible for any of the men under him, however, to have acquired what is colloquially termed the swelled head, because, no matter how his instructions were carried out, he invariably wound up with the feeling comment: "Oh, it's rotten". That exclamation, it is perhaps unnecessary to add, was not invariably wholly applicable, but it had the effect—as it was perhaps intended to have—of making the members of the team keener and more alert.

• • • •

The Peterborough Rugby Team, Intermediate Champions, will be tendered a dinner by Mr. Holtzhead, President of the club on Thursday evening next at McCallum's.

EUCHRE.

An interesting euchre contest took place last night when Messrs. Jas. Hickey and Wm. Logan played a series of eleven games with Messrs. John Thornbock and Thos. Turcotte, the latter winning by 6-5.

Large Market and Prices Good

Poultry Was Much in Evidence To-day.

The market was thronged this morning with vendors and buyers of farm produce. The supply was large in nearly every reasonable line of produce, sales being brisk and upon the whole, at fair prices.

Potatoes were offered in large quantities at 90 cents per bag. Apples varied in price according to variety, Northern spies being offered at $3.00 per barrel. The supply of beef was large. The price was 4 cents and 5 cents, though in some cases choice selections brought 4 1-2 and 5 1-2 cents. Pork was 9 and 10 cents.

Chickens were piled up in large numbers upon the inside market and sold at 50 and 60 cents per pair. Butter was 22 cents, considerable being offered. Eggs were rare, relatively speaking, scarce and brought 25 cents per dozen. Turkeys were quite plentiful at prices ranging from $1.20 to $1.75. Geese were offered at from 85 cents to $1.05. The hay supply was not large, though a number of loads were disposed of at from $9 to $10 per ton.

Belleville Man Reaps Reward

Insurance Agent Ordered to be Shot in Mexico.

About three years ago a dapper young man made his appearance in the city of Belleville from nobody knew where. He appeared to be of gentle birth and good manners, and he secured a situation as a district agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. He was not long before ugly rumors began to float about and finally Richardson was brought before Magistrate Flint on the charge of fraud preferred by a blacksmith named Gadsby, of Tweed. The evidence was strongly against the prisoner and he was given a suspended sentence. He was not heard from again, but he must have gone directly on the downward path, for he has just been sentenced, with two of his pals, to be shot at Chihuahua, Mexico. They were convicted of murdering two men there for life insurance money. Richardson being the insurance agent, a man named Mason, his brother-in-law the assistant agent, and a man named Harle, the examining physician. They murdered a man named Devers, decoyed from El Paso and another man, named Mitchell, said to be a half-brother of Mason. The case has been in Mexican courts three years, the arrests having taken place in El Paso and the men extradited from there. Harle was formerly an El Paso physician.—Campbellford Despatch.

Rev. Jacob Schaeffer, of Deerfield, Portage county, Ohio, has just celebrated his one hundredth birthday, and is said to be the oldest living preacher in the world. He began as a Lutheran, but is at present a disciple of the Church of Christ.

Types of Bacon Hogs Discussed By a Packer

Mr. T. F. Matthews and Farmers at Judging Class Talk Over the Best Breeds of Bacon Hogs—Farmers Believe That Difference Should be Made in Price—Yorkshire and Berkshire Cross the Most Desirable Animals.

AN IMPROVEMENT IS BEING MADE

The bacon hog was pretty thoroughly discussed yesterday afternoon at the judging class in connection with the winter meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough. This class was held at the Munro House stables, and was attended by a large number of the most prominent breeders in the county, who were deeply interested, as was evidenced by the fact that they entered into the discussion heartily.

This was an innovation for the West Peterborough Institute, and it is a feature which could be made very profitable. The greatest interest was centred in the judging of the bacon hogs, five animals having been procured from the Geo. Matthews' Co., for this purpose. Mr. T. F. Matthews was also present, and gave the breeders some valuable information incidental to the discussion.

Mr. W. C. Shearer, a practical farmer, engaged in hog raising and dairying, conducted the judging, and explained the features in the hogs which commended them to farmers who were anxious to breed animals to suit the demand. Some good advice was given by the delegate, and by Mr. Matthews. Six hogs were brought for the purpose of judging, four Yorkshires, and one each of Tamworths and Berkshires. One of each breed was selected, and, starting with a basis of 100 points for the perfect hog, they were judged by three farmers, Messrs. J. L. Telford, W. D. Johnston and J. H. Garbutt, and also by Mr. Matthews. The result of the judging demonstrated the fact that the Yorkshire and Tamworth hogs were considered the most valuable animals for the bacon trade.

The standard, and the results of the judging by Mr. Matthews, were as follows:

Standard — Head, 10; constitution, 25; type, 30; condition, 30; total, 100.

No. 1 Yorkshire — Head, 8; constitution, 28; type, 36; condition, 30 —93.

No. 3 Tamworth — Head, 8; constitution, 25; type, 30; condition, 30 —93.

No. 3 Berkshire — Head, 5; constitution, 28; type, 15, condition, 30. —68.

Mr. Matthews and Mr. Shearer discussed the features of the hogs which commended them to the trade and also those which made animals undesirable. It developed that a cross between a Yorkshire sire and a Berkshire sow made the ideal bacon hog; with a cross between a Yorkshire and a Tamworth a close second.

Mr. Matthews informed the farmers that he found a great improvement in the class of hogs received now and in those of a few years ago. The breeders were evidently taking greater pains to make their hogs as nearly perfect as possible.

The farmers at the meeting yesterday were of the opinion that the buyers should make at least 50c. a cwt. difference in the price between a perfect hog, or one nearly so, and the undesirable fats or leans, which some farmers still offered. This, it was believed, would give the farmers the best illustration of the value of breeding good hogs.

This heart-to-heart talk, between the packer and the farmers will doubtless result in a material profit to each.

That Mr. Matthews is anxious to assist the farmers in producing the right class of hogs, is evident from the fact that he offered to allow any farmer to come into his pens and select any females for breeding purposes at the same price as they cost the company.

The judging of dairy cattle was most instructive too, and the dairymen present learned a number of interesting facts about the best breeds of dairy cattle.

Those who acted as judges were George F. Mann, W. A. Anderson, R. O. Gibbs, Wm. Hanbidge.

A TWO-FOR-ONE-SHOT.

When you use Chase use "Celery King" with it. Whatever kind of Ozone you buy you will need to use "Celery King" which is a companion remedy to Ozone.

The purest form of Ozone is "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind.)" Each bottle contains about twice as much for your money as other brands, besides which each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free. This is a great advantage as you save money on the Ozone and also get the "Celery King" which you would otherwise have to buy.

No other brand of Ozone contains these coupons. 'Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)' is fifty cents and one dollar at your drug store including the coupon for the package of "Celery King." Take no other kind and if your druggist does not carry it write to the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 11

The Fleetwood Factory Meeting

Most Successful Season Brought to a Close.

The annual meeting of the patrons of Fleetwood Cheese Factory was held on Friday, December 1st.

The gathering was the largest in the history of the factory, nearly every patron being present. Mr. G. H. Shea, secretary, gave a full report of the season's business, showing that after paying all expenses the patrons received $24.38 per standard, with an average of 10.83 lbs. of milk per lb. of cheese. Mr. William Hanna, President and salesman, also gave an account of the season's work after which he called on Instructor D. J. Cameron for an address on the care of milk.

Mr. Cameron opened his remarks by saying that the most important part of cheese making was in the care of the milk from the time it was drawn from the cow till it was received at the factory. He said "do not have milk pens at or near hog pens or any other foul-smelling place. Strain and cool milk as quickly as possible after milking to 60 degrees, by setting the pails in cold water, or a better plan is to have a small long can, filled with ice to set in the milk after it is put in the can.

"The worst milk we have to handle is over-ripe milk. It takes more to make a pound of cheese and is of a poorer quality. Therefore, Mr. President, I would advise every patron of Fleetwood factory to send clean, cool milk in a clean well kept can and by so doing your cheese-maker will be able to get a better quality of cheese and more of it."

For the season of 1906 the old officers were all re-elected.

On motion duly carried unanimously it was agreed that Messrs. Ryan and Renwick receive 21-2 cents per lb. for making.

The meeting closed with the distribution of cheques causing a pleasant smile to appear on the countenance of the receiver which seemed to say "I'll come again, next year."

Messrs. Ryan and Renwick, the new proprietors of the Fleetwood factory are assured of success by the business-like way they have conducted the factory was owned and operated for fourteen years by Mr. J. A. Wood, and the Patrons are assured of as good service by the new proprietors and appreciate his by voting them an advance of 1-8 of a cent per lb. for the season of 1906.

Mr. Renwick, the cheesemaker, was the recipient of numerous complimentary references on the quality of the cheese made by him during the season.

THE LATEST NEWS OF GENERAL INTEREST

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, Dec. 4th. — The house warming in the new parsonage on Friday evening was a success in every way. A large number were present and the Ladies' Aid Society, under whose auspices the at home was held, did well financially.

Mrs. E. P. Cuffe is visiting with friends in Toronto.

Rev. H. Spence of Tamworth, who was in town for a few days last week, returned to his home on Saturday. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. George Taylor, who will spend the winter with him.

Mr. H. L. Walker spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Port Hope.

Mr. Duffield was in Toronto for a few days last week on business.

Mr. Arthur Wigmore, who has been working in Kirkpatrick & Buck's store for the last five years, left on Wednesday night for Chatham, where he has secured a position in Northway's branch store. The evening before he left a number of his companions met at the Union Bank and presented him with a gold locket on which was a raised emblem of the Oddfellows, with very pretty settings. They also gave him an Oddfellow's pin. Mr. Wigmore was a popular young gentleman, and will be much missed by the young people of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham of Westwood, were in town on Wednesday.

Mr. E. H. Rountree has returned to his home in Woodbridge, having spent several weeks in visiting with friends here.

Mr. J. C. Brown, L.P.S., visited the Model School on Thursday.

Miss Mildred Wasson left on Wednesday for the West. She will visit her brothers for the winter. She was accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Wasson of Cranbrook, B. C., who has been visiting friends in Toronto and Norwood since last September.

A bus load of young people drove down to Campbellford on Friday evening and spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Miss Elsie Ashton.

Miss Gray of Toronto, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. C. W. Waters.

Mr. D. A. Fraser was in Peterborough on Friday.

Mr. William Gray of Lakefield, has accepted a position in Buck & Buck's store.

Mr. John McMillen spent Friday in Peterborough.

The Elgin Sunday school will hold its annual tea on Friday evening, December 8th.

The young people of Norwood are much elated over the prospect of having an open air rink this winter. Mr. Fleming will utilize the vacant lot behind the bank by fitting it up for skating and curling.

Mr. Chas. Pearce of Havelock, spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. Duncan Anderson left on Tuesday morning for Hamilton, where he has accepted a position in Hennessey's drug store.

Mrs. Vars, Mr. Harry Vars and son, Addison, were the guests of Mrs. Hutterfield last week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Swain of Havelock, visited friends in Norwood on Sunday.

Mr. C. W. Waters spent a few days in Toronto last week.

Miss Ella Andrews is visiting in Lakefield with her sister, Mrs. F. Richardson.

Mrs. (Dr.) J. C. Moffatt, and daughter, Annie, who have been spending the past few weeks in Peterborough, returned on Monday, and will visit friends here for a short time before leaving for Toronto, where they will in future reside.

The following shipments were made last week from the C.P.R. station:—J. M. Clare, one car thoroughbred Holstein cattle to Belmont; J. H. Bellinger, one car cattle to Toronto; Buck & Walsh, one car cattle to Toronto, and one to Agincourt; W. Coulter, four cars of ties to Bolton, Ont.; W. E. Roxburgh, one car wheat to Montreal; Finlay & Son, one car carriage goods to Pictou, N.S.

Mr. D. N. King is spending a few days in Port Perry.

Mr. T. J. Drain is in Marmora on business.

Mr. J. Blackwell, who has been away with a surveying party in Quebec province for several months has returned to his home here.

Mr. Thos. Miller had a cool dip in the pond last week while skating.

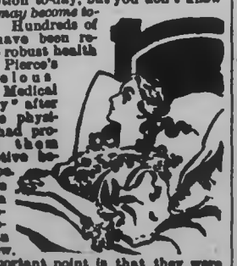
THE REAL QUESTION.

The real question of disease is "Can I be cured?" If you or anyone dear to you is losing strength, flesh, energy and vitality, if you are wise you will not spend time trying to figure out just what name to call the disease by.

It is almost impossible to draw the line where debility and weakness merge into consumption. Your trouble may not be consumption to-day, but you don't know what it may become to-morrow. Hundreds of people have been restored to robust health by Dr. Pierce's marvelous "Golden Medical Discovery" after reputable physicians had pronounced them consumptive beyond hope.



Were they in consumption? Nobody can ever know.

The important point is that they were hopelessly ill but this matchless "Discovery" restored and saved them.

"I was not able to do hardly any work at all," says Mrs. Jennie Dingmas, of Vanburen, Kalkaska Co., Mich., in a most interesting letter to Dr. Pierce. "I had pain in my left side and back, and had headache all the time. I tried your medicine and it helped me. Last spring I had a bad cough; I got so bad I had to be in bed all the time.

"My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but I told him if it was consumption they could not help me. We thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken one bottle the cough was stopped and I have had no more of it returning. Your medicine is the best I have taken."

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good, fatherly, professional advice, in a plain sealed envelope, absolutely free. His nearly 40 years experience as chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., has made him an expert in chronic diseases.

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

At a public meeting at Bulawayo resolutions were passed protesting against the lack of adequate police protection in the town and district and against the "criminal folly" of the authorities in training the natives of Southern Rhodesia in the use of firearms, which was declared to constitute a danger to the whole of South Africa.

Fishermen of Cornwall and Devon, England, suffer great losses from dogfish, which destroy their nets. Damages to the outfits of the Cornish fishermen alone are estimated at $200,000 last year. It has been proposed to kill the dogfish by means of dynamite.

Historical or Hysterical Novels, Which?

An Excellent Paper on "Literature" Read Last Night at Ladies' Literary Association of the T.A.S.—Different Phases of the Subject Intelligently Dealt With—Two Classes of Literature Says Essayist, Historical and Hysterical.

A SUCCESSFUL LITERARY PARTY

The regular fortnightly meeting of the Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held last night, and was one of the most successful of the season. Miss E. M. Power read an excellent paper on "Literature," to the large and appreciative audience. The subject was dealt with in a most praiseworthy manner, showing much careful preparation and literary skill.

Miss Power gave Longfellow's and DeQuincy's definition of literature, and those who are possessed of a literary faculty.

One of the attributes of good literature is the communication of power which makes "the reader feel vividly, and with a vital consciousness, emotions which ordinary life rarely or never supplies occasions for exciting, and which had previously lain unawakened and hardly within the dawn of consciousness." Reasoning from analogy the essayist compared the decline of works of genius and learning to the varied and beautiful tribes of vegetables which spring up and flourish for a time, then fade into dust to make way for their successors, thus making the fecundity of nature a blessing instead of a grievance. In like manner literary works decline to make way for subsequent productions, and if this were so, "the creative power of genius would overstock the world and the mind would be completely bewildered in the endless maze of literature." In the old days, when words had to be transcribed by hand there was some restraint placed upon literary productions; but now with the invention of paper and the press there is none, and the stream of literature has become a torrent, augumented into a river—expanded into a sea. A well-read person is not necessarily one who has read a large number of books; but one who reads intelligently, even a few good books. Miss Power then quoted Bishop Spalding who has said, "that one may carry a whole library in his head, yet remain ignorant of literature." The influence of literature on us cannot be estimated. It may make us a womanly woman, a manly man, or it may be the kind of literature "which saps our intellect, lowers our standard of character, and ruins our ideas of morality." Time did not permit the literature of the various nations to be commented on, but a momentary glance was cast into Ireland's treasury, each department of literature, from the fairy tale to the drama, from the epic to the novel, is not only represented, but boasts many illustrious names.

The modern novel may perhaps be said to be of two types—historical and hysterical. In the historical novel history is generally inaccurately depicted, while the hysterical novel seems to have as its object, the production, at any cost, of some stormy or even coarse sensation. The consideration of the different varieties of literature, which cannot be classed either as serious or light, would take too long, but in conclusion Miss Power urged her hearers to cultivate the habit of examining and even cross-examining the books they read; comparing them with the standard of sound sense, especially, now when literature covers such a vast area, that even "he who confines himself to the very best, can never find his healthy appetite suited."

Miss Nora Fitzgerald occupied the chair. A piano solo by Miss Ruby Fitzgerald was much enjoyed, and little Miss Kathleen Conroy, in a most charming manner, sang "It's Not the House That Makes the Home."

At the next meeting on Dec. 22nd, Miss Mary Connor will read a paper on "John Keats."

Baraca Bible Class Literary

A Delightful Evening Was Spen Last Night.

Last night the Baraca Bible Class Literary Society of Murray street Baptist church held a most enjoyable entertainment in the schoolroom of the church. Mr. Shiner, president of the society, occupied the chair. There was a good attendance present, and the evening was much enjoyed. Miss Muriel Martin gave a talk on "My Favourite Poem," choosing Sir Walter Scott's "Lady of the Lake."

Favourite hymns were discussed by Mr. Stevens, Miss Rae, Miss Hardwick and Mr. Ellis, and this feature of the evening's programme was a most interesting one.

Mrs. Scott's vocal solo was much appreciated, and was rendered in excellent voice.

Three meetings of the society are increasing in interest, and the society is growing.

To-Morrow at Mark St. Church

The anniversary services of Mark street Methodist Sabbath School will be held to-morrow. Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B., of Pickering, a former pastor, will preach both morning and evening, and will address the school in the afternoon at 2.45. In the morning the Sunday school teacher and officers and scholars will occupy the centre seats of the church. At all three services there will be a free-will offering by special envelopes in aid of the school. All the services, especially that in the evening, will be evangelistic in character. A cordial invitation is given to the public.

WAS SENT HOME AS INCURABLE

Then Jos. Boone Found Health in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He was Unable to Work for Seven Years Before he Used the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Cottel's Cove, Nfld., Dec. 8—(Special)—The days of miracles are past, but the cure of Joseph Boone, of this place almost ranks with the sensational cures of the earlier ages.

Mr. Boone had been ailing for eight years, seven of which he was unable to work from the effects of Backache and Kidney Complaint. He was all aches and pains.

He was treated by several doctors, and after seven months in the hospital was sent home as incurable. It was there that reading of cures in the newspapers led him to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. It took twenty-one boxes to cure him, but to-day he is strong and hard at work lobster fishing.

People here have learned that if the disease is of the Kidneys or from the Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it.

A Chicago tailor has started the practice of charging by weight. The customer is led to a machine, where he is weighed, and the figure shown on the dial is the figure that he has to pay for his clothes.

The body of a dog found in the ice at the foot of the Rochefort glacier has been identified by an old Alpine guide named Bapoli as that of an animal which he lost on the summit of the glacier forty-seven years ago.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Haseldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

There's a New Stove Out

IT'S WELL NAMED THE

"PERFECT IDEA"

If you see it you won't forget it. It possesses new and pleasing features that is making it "sell like hot cakes." Besides being a handsome looking Range and easy on fuel, it has these five valuable points:

1—All Nickle-plating is removable, and can be easily lifted off without turning a screw or bolt.

2—It is fitted for a gas attachment at the back so that it can be used as a Gas Range in summer.

3—Gas connection can also be made under the oven so as to bake with gas in summer.

4—It has the Patent Duplex Grate.

5—Made for coal and wood in all sizes.

"A TRUE TALE OF AN INDIAN."

BY MISS AGNES HOLLAND.

Miss Agnes Holland, the author of the story published below, is fifteen years of age, and is a daughter of Mr. Daniel Holland, of this city. She is in the Second Form in the Institute, to which she passed from St. Mary's Convent. She is preparing herself to teach.

In the north-west corner of the Township of Methuen, and about eight miles north-east of Stony Lake is a lake properly known as Jack's Lake, but it is sometimes called White Lake. It is connected with Stony Lake by Jack's Creek.

This lake derived its name from Handsome Jack, an Indian Chief, who claimed all the streams and land about that region as his fishing and hunting grounds. He was considered the most handsome man among the Chippewas, who were then commanded by Captain Paudash, of Rice Lake. Handsome Jack was of robust physique, being about six feet four inches tall and weighing about two hundred and fifty pounds. He belonged to the Cow family and he was known among the white men as Jack Cow. He claimed all the land south of the Long Lake in Chandos as his inherited property. He was exacting about his rights and it was not unusual for the white men to find the traps they had set on his property, destroyed. But he would sometimes relent and become gracious, and allow the white man to hunt as long as they took no furs.

He lived in a birch bark wig-wam which he carried from place to place, and he would often surprise the white men when they least expected him. In spite of all this he was very friendly to those who were kind to him, and he would order his squaw to prepare a good meal of rice, beaver, and partridge boiled with a little pounded corn. This was known as "Te Pake" a mixture of something like an Irish stew. Then as his guests sat around the fire, enjoying the meal, he would sit by and apparently enjoy seeing them ... as of his good cheer. When supper was over he would light his pipe and relate to his guests thrilling stories of his adventures while hunting the wolf, bear, deer and other wild animals with which the place abounded.

Handsome Jack was the father of two beautiful daughters, who were known as Baby Cow and Polly Cow. Both were very beautiful maidens, having inherited their father's symmetry of form. Polly grew to be a very handsome girl with long, black hair reaching nearly to the ground. She possessed a sweet, rich, voice, and often would the pine-crowned islands of Stony Lake resho with the strains of her weird native songs, as she paddled her canoe up the lake within the ring of shadow or out on the open water in the glory of the full moon.

Great was the anxiety therefore of Polly's many friends when at the age of sixteen she was stricken with a fever. The best efforts of the medicine man were put forth but to no avail.

At last one autumn evening as the setting sun shot shafts of golden light through the falling leaves, the beautiful Polly Cow bade good-bye to her father, and breathed her last.

When she felt that she was dying, she called her father to her side, and taking his hand in hers, said to him:—"Good-bye, father, do not grieve for me, for remember that we shall soon meet again in the happy hunting grounds."

Poor handsome Jack was inconsolable. How could he give up his beloved daughter who was the joy of his heart and the light of his home?

He repaired to one of the most southern islands of a group near to Young's Point and there dug his daughter's grave, about ten feet from the shore, and lined it up with stones with his own hands.

He placed the body in a birch bark coffin and he rowed it down the lake in his own canoe, just as the golden sun sent its first rays over the horizon, and the birds which she had loved so well began to sing their morning hymns. He lowered the coffin into the grave and then sorrowfully shovelled back the clay on top of it. He then cleared away all the brushwood between the grave and the shore that the spirit of his beloved and beautiful daughter might roam there for water as was the Indian belief.

Handsome Jack never recovered his usual cheerfulness and good spirits after the death of his daughter. He would often be observed roaming through the woods near the grave looking very sorrowful or singing some of his sad native songs. He took no more interest in the sports he used to love, and he gradually wasted away. Every night he would watch by the grave of his daughter. One morning he did not return as usual, and a party went in search of him. They found him lying by Polly's grave, but his spirit had fled to join hers in the Happy Hunting Grounds. They buried the aged chief by the side of his daughter (as was his wish.)

The island where Polly Cow and her father are buried is about a quarter of a mile below the village of Young's Point. The group of islands of which it is one, is called the Polly Cow Islands.

The large beech tree under which the graves are situated is still standing and many tourists visit the island and stand under the large spreading branches which shade the graves, and there muse over the fate of the beautiful Indian maiden and her father.

Some time ago some English tourists formed a plan to steal away the body of the beautiful Polly Cow, and send it to England as a curiosity together with the story of her wondrous beauty and her death. Happily the plan was found out in time and the act of vandalism was frustrated, and the body of the Indian maiden was left to rest undisturbed in her native land.

"THE DUTY OF DONALD MacNAB."

BY G. STANLEY FIFE.

Mr. Fife, the author of the story published below, is a son of Mr. J. A. Fife, B.A., Science Master of the Collegiate Institute. He is sixteen years of age, and has lived in Peterborough all his life, attending the Public Schools here until his entrance to the Collegiate Institute five years ago.

It was a warm, bright afternoon in June, 1832. The leaves were thick upon the trees, and the clearings were covered with a thick mantle of green grass relieved here and there by a charred stump, rearing its blackened head above its verdant surroundings. In the woods, a few belated spring flowers remained; above them chirped the robin; while the chattering of the squirrel, the drumming of the partridge, the brush of the rabbit as he whisked through the bushes, made the woods alive with sound. The tink-tank-tonk of a cow-bell, and the lowing of the patient beast which bore it, came from a neighbouring clearing. All Nature seemed to be joyful in the beautiful June sunshine.

But Donald MacNab was dejected, as he marched along the trail through the woods. Utterly oblivious of the beauties around him, he thought of that bright summer afternoon five years ago, when he, a raw graduate of the medical school in Edinburgh, had looked for the last time on his native Scottish hills, and said farewell to Bella MacDougall, the playmate of his childhood, his companion in many youthful joys and sorrows, and the subject which had inspired innumerable verses during the long years at college. In short, she was Donald's sweetheart.

"Aye, she was a braw lassie," thought he "an' it was a grun' efternune—I wumner where Bella is noo?—aye, she was a guid lass, an' she was true—an' it gar'd her greet to say, 'Guid-bye Donald,' I can see her there on the pier, waving her bit kerchief, an' she said, 'God be guid til ye, Donald, and Hope'—pur Bella."

There were tears in Donald's own eyes as memory brought back to him one reminiscence after another of that eventful day. He had heard of the great need for doctors in that distant "Land of Promise," to which so many of his countrymen had journeyed, and his ardent desire, to use his profession for the benefit of his fellow-creatures, coupled with the love of adventure, had led him to leave sweetheart and fatherland. He would have liked to bring Bella with him, but they did not know what hardships there would be to undergo, and besides, Bella had duties at home, so he came alone, full of hope, and looking forward to the day when he might return to claim her.

But five years had passed since then, and Donald had never been able to gather enough money to take him back to Scotland, so he had lived a lonely life in his cabin by the lake. Several times he had written letters to his friends at home, and twice he had received long epistles from Bella. But though these were valued as great treasures they served only to increase his loneliness.

So he lived on, the idol of the children for miles around, and most thoroughly respected by their parents. For he was ever ready to follow the path of duty. If there was any illness Dr. Donald was always on hand to sympathize and to cure, if that were possible. Many a mile through the woods he had tramped, when the snow was deep and the wolves were howling, to the aid of some sick child, and he had spent many nights in teh woods, hastening to the bedside of some sturdy settler hurt by the falling of a tree, or some other accident.

But in spite of the temporary joy he found in his work, he was not happy, for his heart was in Scotland. Still dreaming of Bella, he approached his cabin. It was a low, square building, constructed of cedar logs, and thatched after the manner of the shacks of the early settlers. It was almost covered with creepers, for the logs had looked bare to the doctor, when the cottage was completed for him by the good-hearted settlers, and he had planted vines about it.

It was a comfortable looking cottage, and it was very comfortable, indeed. There were two rooms, the larger a kitchen and living room. At one end of this apartment, was the wide, stone fire place, and near-by, was a pile of logs, chopped to the correct length. The furniture consisted of a table made from boards, sawn at the mill far up the river, a bench, and, in one corner, a large, home-made cupboard, which contained a couple of dozen books, and also his stock of groceries, now very low, since he had not visited a store since the previous autumn. The remainder of the house was used as a sleeping room. It contained a chest of medicines, and a case in which were a few instruments. Here and there, upon the interior of the walls, and also upon the partition, were Scottish scenes and a few branches of evergreens. Such was the place of abode of Donald MacNab.

He ate his solitary supper, and then walked slowly down between the stumps, towards the lake. He strolled down the gentle slope, and soon reached the edge, where a canoe was drawn up upon the pebbles. Beneath it lay a small sail, and a pair of paddles. The doctor seated himself upon the up-turned boat, and contemplated his surroundings. Beyond the tops of the pines, on the opposite side of the bay, near which his cabin was situated, the sky, glowing in the sunset, gave the water a ruddy hue. From the pines his gaze wandered till he saw nothing but the long, rolling waves of the lake and heavily wooded shore, three miles away.

Here sat the doctor, pensive and silent. "It would be bad for us, indeed, if the plague should cross the lake," he mused, "very bad." For the cholera was raging along the front. Men, women and children were dying daily. The father would visit the settlement to get provisions, do his business with the greatest possible speed, and return to his clearing, carrying the news of the dread disease, which was making such ravages among the settlers. The next day he would sicken, and probably die; then, perhaps, one of the children, or even the mother, and at the end of a week, only one or two, or even none of the family would be left.

So Donald sat until the glimmer had become darkness, and the darkness had given place to the soft, grey light of the moon, as she rose beyond the distant hills, and threw a wide avenue of moon beams across the rippling waters. But all at once he started. "What!" he exclaimed,—"already!" For far across the moon-lit waters, there appeared a single black speck, bobbing up and down upon the shining waves. And

Heavy Fines Were Levied On Plumbers

Street Robbery Less Offensive Than Plumbers' Bonuses.

SO DECLARES JUSTICE CLUTE

Finds That Agreements Between the Master Plumbers and the Supply Associations Were Contrary to the Criminal Code—Convictions Recorded In Conspiracy Cases—Individual Members To-day.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—Central Supply Association of Canada, Limited; guilty of conspiracy; fined $5,000.

Master Plumbers' Association; guilty of conspiracy; fined $5,000.

These plead guilty of breaking the law individually, and will be sentenced this morning, Justice Clute wishing to consider over night what fines he would impose upon them:

Fred Armstrong, 277 West Queen street.

William Mansell, 46 West Adelaide street.

Robert W. Harrison, 889 Spadina avenue.

Robert Ross, 1,349 West Queen street.

P. J. Hays, 15 East Queen street.

G. H. Cooper, 151 Berkley street.

James McKittrick, all members of the Master Plumbers' Association; and William Bush, 93 Palmerston avenue.

John Priestley, 102 Scollard street.

James Richards, 92 Hazleton avenue.

Peter McCann and Al. McBain, all members of the Journeymen Plumbers' and Steamfitters' Co-operative Association.

The Judge's Reasons.

It was nearly half-past four yesterday when Crown Attorney Curry finished his argument. His Lordship at once delivered judgment. "I think an offence and a conspiracy has been proved under section 520 of the criminal code," he said. "I find the defendants guilty of the offence charged."

"As the matter may go to appeal," he continued, "and there is a special provision for an appeal in these cases, it may be desirable that I should mention some of the grounds which have led me to the conclusion that the defendants are guilty. A preliminary objection taken by Mr. Watson that there could not be a conspiracy between two corporate companies and that that particular case was not in contemplation nor governed by section 520. I entirely disagree with that. I think it is clear there may be a conspiracy between two corporate bodies.

"It has been argued that the Central Supply Association, Limited, of Canada, not having been incorporated until September, 1905, that nothing appears since its incorporation which would amount to a trade combination within the act. I think, however, that there has been a criminal combination within the act at least since the year 1902, and that the defendants have seen fit to preserve that agreement undertaken by the association to which they were successors. They having adopted it are responsible for it and by engaging in it have undertaken to carry out an illegal act. They took over the funds of the former association to carry out the obligations of it."

Plumbers' Association.

"Taking the Plumbers' Association first. That was instituted in 1895 without any trouble. In 1902 we find that a committee was formed to make an agreement with the Supply Association. In November, 1902, it was agreed that prices nearly 100 per cent. more than the prices previously paid should be maintained. It is impossible to read from that time down to the present apart. They contiguously had bearing on each other with relation to the agreement which undoubtedly existed between those two associations.

Reference is made to the agreement in January, 1903, to be formed, if possible, with the supply men before the next meeting, whereby all non-association master plumbers were to be shut out. Communications subsequently deal with this matter and show that the agreement was brought about. All is intelligible from the minutes, which subsequently had reference to an agreement, the exact nature of which is not disclosed. However, negotiations were going on perfecting the agreement until the final one now before us was reached on May 6, 1903. For some time previous to that an agreement was evidently understood, although not perhaps explicitly stated. In April, 1903, discussion took place about not all the members charging the 20 per cent. increase, and of the secretary trying hard to get them into line. On April 27, 1903, we find notices sent out to the effect that after May 4 all tenders must be submitted to the secretary before going to the public.

Selling to Non-Members.

"Then passed a very important clause to the effect that all tenders submitted before May 4 must be noted in the secretary's office. It was decided to publish a directory, but it was afterwards thought that only typewritten copies should be given to the supply houses. After this the committee formed for the purpose of promulgating the agreement was discharged—an intimation that their work was finished; that the agreement had been concluded. It was one of practically the same, only, a little more perfect than the one of the year prior. It provides that the Supply Association should deal exclusively with the members of the Master Plumbers' Association. It meant a practical shut-out for the non-members.

"It is interesting to note the complaints against the members of the Supply Association of selling to non-members of the Plumbers' Association, the excuses that were made and the action taken in the cases. Yet the agreement was carried out very successfully. It is said the agreement was abrogated in October, 1904. It was moved and seconded that a list of the manufacturers and suppy men in accord be published, and a copy was sent to each of the supply men to show what plumbers belonged to the association. Then plumbers not on the list could not get goods. I find, as a fact, the effect of these proceedings by these two associations was a distinct combination in opposition to the act.

"After the incorporation formed, I think for evading the law, the same objects and the same methods were continued. In the minutes of the proceedings of the supply men in August, 1905, it was clearly shown that the object of incorporation was to restore something of the disturbed felicity of the arrangement of these two associations. It was owing to a representation made to the Minister of Customs, that men in the trade with a legitimate place of business were unable to get goods. The Supply Association gave offence to the masters plumbers in trying to get away from the danger so manifest if the duty was removed.

"How was that to go around? How was it to be done in order that they might be able to reply that they could sell to any plumber and so avoid the law? The plan was that the Master Plumbers' Supply Association as incorporated pass a resolution known as the Chicago trade association, agreeing to sell to all legitimate plumbers. The plumbers would have none of it, unless, that is, they were given the advantage of being the only plumbers. This proved the existence of the combination. It is most absurd to say that it was cancelled, for both relied upon it and were relying upon it while a pretence was being made down at Ottawa that every plumber could get goods.

"It was feared that the association would lose the preference established over American goods. They, however, were still thinking by what end they could compass their end by supplying only the Master Plumbers' Association. The scheme was ingenious and the agreement was reached with a great deal of skill and care. It was decided that the master plumbers be paid 7 1-2 per cent. on all purchases made from the Supply Association by members of the Plumbers' Association and 5 per cent. in addition on all sales to outsiders.

Worse Than Street Robbery.

"The Central Supply Association was responsible, as all was done by them to favor the Master Plumbers' Association. They may not have had knowledge of the methods of the Plumbers' Association in conducting their tenders, but they aided them effectually in carrying out their ends. The disclosure made that reputable firms—at least hitherto called reputable — were in the habit of meeting around the table and dividing money received from the public in a most dishonest manner is crushing. I think that if a man was to knock another down on the street and rob him by force it would be less offensive than the one disclosed. Here there was a system of misrepresentation and fraud in an attempt to prove to the public that the tender was honest. From the first to the last it is freely admitted that there was not one honest tender through that association.

"Having come to an estimate of the proper amount of time and material to be put on a job the tender was submitted to the committee. Additional sums were added to tenders to cover the time and trouble of the men of the assembly, who raised them considerably. This was divided; so much plunder—I cannot find any other name for it—among the members, who had no more right to it than you or I. In addition to this unfair division the 5 per cent. on purchases of the non-associations was also divided. Similar associations on the other side, while not affiliated, were in close touch with the one here and prevented any competition.

Restrain Trade.

"The object of the two associations now incorporated was to do the very thing that the statue was made to prevent. The effect of it was to unduly limit the supply and did restrain and injure trade on articles manufactured or sold in Canada and did unreasonably enhance the price. There was no competition. The price was fixed to suit themselves. It was only limited by the danger of placing the price too high and forcing the importation of goods from the United States.

"I find the defendants guilty of conspiracy to enhance the value of these articles," concluded Justice Clute, "and I impose a fine of $10,000. Of this amount $5,000 is to be paid by each of the defendants."

It was decided that no stay of proceedings could be granted, and Mr. Du-Vernet proceeded to take up the indictments against the other defendants, charged individually.

Journeymen Plumbers Guilty, Too.

"If your Lordship would give me a ruling on what your expression of opinion is in regard to the agreement with the Journeymen Plumbers it might facilitate matters," said Mr. Riddell.

"I think it is also illegal," said the bench.

"All right, your lordship," answered Mr. Riddell, "I have no hesitation in advising my clients to plead guilty. It was all done in perfect innocence, under competent legal advice, which, of course, is no excuse or defence entertainable for them."

Mr. Riddell said he was representing the above-mentioned men, and pleaded guilty for them.

"I intend to adjourn these cases until the morning," said Justice Clute. "Then I will decide what punishment I will impose."

Spoke Six Hours.

The address of Crown Prosecutor Du-Vernet, which lasted for nearly six hours, finished yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock. He was emphatic all the way through in making denunciations against the associations.

He was followed by Crown Attorney Curry, who traced the history of the two associations from their inception to the present day.

FIRST ELECTION BLAST.

Dr. Osler Moves Confidence In His Plan of Tariff Reform.

London, Dec. 9.—Mr. Chamberlain last night addressed a crowded meeting at Oxford Town Hall of the University Tariff Reform League.

Dr. Osler, Regius professor of medicine, moved that this meeting of the Oxford University Tariff Reform League desires to express its confidence in Mr. Chamberlain, as the foremost advocate of the principles for which the league was established, namely: "Reform tariff with the view of the consolidation of the Empire; the development of its resources and the defence of the industries of the kingdom."

New British Cabinet.

London, Dec. 9.—It appears to be certain that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman practically has completed his Cabinet, and that King Edward will come to London in readiness to hold a council on Monday. The Daily Chronicle this morning announces that David Lloyd-George and John Burns, representatives, respectively, of the Radical and labor parties, will be included in the new Government.

TWO ARE NOT FIREBUGS.

Ex-Fireman Milne Says He Did Not Admit Crime of Arson.

Sarnia, Dec. 9.—Benson Buchanan and Percy Jackson received an honorable discharge at the Police Court yesterday morning by Magistrate Gorman as having absolutely no connection with James Milne in regard to the recent outbreak of incendiary fires. Crown Attorney Bucke stated that free and impartial sifting of every little of evidence disclosed nothing against either man as suggested by Milne in the confession made after his arrest Sunday morning.

Public opinion from the first has to a great extent been against this part of Milne's statement, and friends of both men, who are firemen, have had faith in their innocence. On account of this public feeling, no time has been lost by waiting for Milne's hearing, which has been fixed for Monday next. Milne has denied his confession, and it appears that his defence may be fought out on the claim that he is mentally unbalanced.

Young Farmer Suicides.

Saskatoon, Sask., Dec. 9.—Ernest Deason, a young Englishman, twenty years of age, living on a homestead seventeen miles from Saskatoon, shot himself through the head sometime between Friday and Tuesday last. Cause despondency.

Freight Conductor Killed.

Montreal, Dec. 9.—Charles Byron, G.T.R. freight conductor of this city, was killed at St. Hilaire yesterday by a freight engine, which was shunting in the yard. He was walking to the station for orders at the time he was struck.

Negro Uses a Razor.

Winnipeg, Dec. 9.—W. H. Cooper, colored, was slashed across the stomach by H. S. Clay, also colored, yesterday, and his chances for recovery are slight. A razor was the implement used.

Struggle Will Be Renewed In January

Russians Rest to Prepare For Coming Test of Strength.

STRIKE'S PRESENT COLLAPSE

Weather May Put an End to the Reign of Pillage Throughout the Country Till Spring—The Strikers Gain Better Pay But Make No Headway Politically—Meanwhile Government to Allay Discontent.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 9.—A much more optomistic feeling prevails in Government circles at the prospect of a complete collapse of the postal telegraph strike and the definite passage of the danger that it might be complicated by an immediate general strike throughout the Empire. The workmen's council and the railroad men's affiliated organizations yesterday afternoon came to a final decision that it would not be wise to employ the supreme fighting tool except to achieve the highest political aims and to reserve all their strength for the great struggle projected for the middle of January.

At the same time it is reported that even in defeat they have won a partial victory in the promise that their salaries, which were on a very low scale, will be increased by the addition of $2,500,000 for salaries to the budget. None of their political demands, however, have been granted.

But even after the strike is formally abandoned it is likely that several days will elapse before telegraph service will be completely resumed as the wires and poles in many localities have been destroyed.

A period of comparative calm may now supervene and both sides will use it in preparation for the January struggle. In a fortnight heavy snows are likely to put an end to the reign of pillage, arson and murder in the country and the lull will give the Government the chance to accomplish something tangible and the sober-minded an opportunity to reflect. The latter, however, hardly will enter into the equation.

Killing Their Officers.

Harbin, Manchuria, via Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 8.—Many officers are being killed by rebellious troops. Reserve officers are not permitted to return home. All messages from Manchuria are censored.

TRANSPORT JINSEN ADRIFT.

One Thousand Japanese Troops and Some British Officers on Board.

Chefoo, Dec. 9.—Two Japanese army officers, who have arrived here in a lifeboat, report that the transport Jinsen, which left Dalny for Japan three days ago with 1,000 troops and 200 horses aboard, broke her propeller between Shantung promontory and the Corean coast and is now adrift.

The two officers embarked in a lifeboat and came to Chefoo to seek assistance.

The Japanese Consul here has telegraphed for a man-of-war to rescue the helpless vessel. Some British officers are on board the transport.

GASPE SCHOONER LOST.

All Hands Go Down in Collision Off English Coast.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 9.—Word has been received in this city that the schooner Maud, from Gaspe, Que., for Porto Rica, in collision, and all hands had been lost. The news came in a cable from Jersey, England, but gave no particulars. The schooner sailed from Gaspe on November 12. The vessel registered 99 tons, and was commanded by Capt. Neal.

Train Kills an Italian.

Guelph, Dec. 9.—An Italian, Nicola Chardaruolle, was struck Thursday night by the construction train on section one, from Guelph to Conestogo, about two miles from the city. Trainmen say that he was walking at the side of the track and when seen approaching he stepped in front of the engine. He was picked up insensible and taken to the city, where he died in the hospital.

Will Erect House of Refuge.

Belleville, Dec. 9.—The County Council of Hastings County has decided to purchase a site in this city for the new House of Refuge.

Livery Stable Burned.

Meaford, Dec. 9.—R. T. McGirr's livery stable was burned yesterday, with a loss of $1,000.

Witness Called Down By The Trial Judge

Judge Says of Sullivan's Evidence in Plumbers' Case.

MAKE PLUMBERS DISGORGE

Suits Begun Against Individual Firms —Claims For Restitution Made by Four Plaintiffs — Allege Fraud In Tendering — Informations For Fraud Against Plumbers Who Tendered on Large Contracts.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—Another witness whose evidence did not prove very satisfactory to Judge Clute occupied the witness-box during part of yesterday morning's session of the plumbers' trial. Mr. C. A. Sullivan, who traveled for the Page, Hersey Manufacturing Co., of Montreal, was asked to explain the letter written to Guest & Co., of Toronto, in which he made a very decided statement regarding the association. The letter, which Mr. Guest produced was as follows:

"Regarding the pipe matter conversation I had with you in Toronto (in your office) I enquired of the firm how we stood and was told that we are in the Jobbers' Association, bound tight and hard, and cannot sell a consumer unless we consult the association. I thought best to write you giving you this information. If I had control I would never agree to above, but am sorry to say 'I have not.'

(Signed) "C. A. SULLIVAN."

The Letter False.

Mr. DuVernet called Sullivan when the court opened and asked: "Was this letter true?"

"No," came the unexpected reply.

"Why did you write it?"

"I was just jollying Guest along to keep him in line."

Mr. Justice Clute interrupted the witness and asked for another answer. He did not understand exactly what the first meant.

Mr. Sullivan told the Crown Prosecutor that Guest wanted a carload of pipe. The witness was to write his firm for prices, but forgot to do so. He wrote to Mr. Guest and "jollied" him in order to keep his trade.

"You swear you didn't consult your firm regarding Guest?" asked Mr. DuVernet.

"As far as I remember."

"Why did you lie to the man?"

"To keep him in line."

"Do you swear the letter is untrue?"

"I was discharged for writing such a letter without authority," volunteered the witness. He admitted later that he worked for the Page, Hersey Co. till yesterday to serve his 30 days' notice.

"Then you wrote a deliberate lie to Guest," said Judge Clute.

The witness told Mr. DuVernet that he did not know his firm was in the trust, but had simply made up what he said. He admitted that he did wrong.

"Your letter and explanations are entirely inconsistent," said his Lordship, who went on to add that another witness had called the same kind of a letter a "subterfuge" while that one called it "jollying."

The witness again denied knowing about the discrimination against non-association plumbers and if he told the truth it was a coincidence.

"You never heard of such an association?" demanded the judge.

"Yes, twenty years ago, but I made up my answer to Guest to fill the bill."

"You want us to believe that," asked the prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Justice Clute said that witness represented that he knew no reason for selling Guest & Co., so his Lordship could not understand why he refused to sell the pipe to the firm.

Leaning forward the judge remarked severely:

"Witness you had better read that letter over quietly and start over again. A great deal of what you have said appears palpably untrue. It is more important that you should tell the truth here than uphold the interests of your firm."

Witness Is Warned.

Sullivan did as he was told, and with many nods of his head and much attempted voluble explanations Sullivan boldly stated he had made most of the letter up. Finally Justice Clute said it was useless to proceed with him. Mr. DuVernet said he would be compelled to ask the court to take the action usual in such cases if the witness persisted in his denials. Having stated that he had been discharged from the firm for writing the letter, witness was sent out with Detective Verney to find his letter of discharge, and upon his return with it was again put on the stand.

"When you were opposite Bay street fire hall with Detective Verney just now, did you tell him you had to save your firm?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Are you in the habit of trying to sidetrack people sometimes?" asked Mr. DuVernet.

"Yes in business matters."

"Are you trying to do that with the court now?"

"No."

Step Down, But Remain In Court.

"You may step down," said Mr. DuVernet. "But you will remain here please till I have told you that you can go. We shall send for your letters and see what they say."

The Crown Counsel has telegraphed to Guelph to the Page, Hersey Co. to produce the letters at once.

Would Not Contribute, Was Expelled.

Mr. W. H. Meredith, recalled, denied any knowledge of Geo. Stevenson, Hamilton, having been deprived of membership in the Plumbers' Association for refusing to pay to the Toronto association 15 per cent. on a job he did in Toronto. Mr. Stevenson, however, testified that he had been expelled because of his refusal.

Other witnesses told yesterday of being forced to buy by hook or crook, sometimes in the United States, unable to purchase here because of the combine.

The case will go on again this morning.

MAKE PLUMBERS DISGORGE.

Four Suits to Secure Redress From Tendering Plumbers.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—The individual charges of fraud against members of the Plumbers' Supply Association have been started in the Police Court. Several of the firms which secured tenders from Toronto plumbers are entering suit against these men, claiming that they did "unlawfully conspire, one with the other by deceit, falsehood and other fraudulent means" to obtain money from the plaintiffs, who say they are the victims of the alleged rake-off system.

Warwick Bros., $1,200.

Messrs. Warwick Bros. and Rutter have taken action against G. F. McGuire, W. J. McGuire, A. Purdy, W. Mansell, J. B. Fitzsimmons, K. J. Allison, W. Mashinter, A. Fiddes, H. B. Hogarth, R. W. Harrison, C. Robertson, F. R. Maxwell, H. Johnson, J. H. Wilson, G. Wallis, J. Fiddes, A. Fiddes, J. E Gray, G. Clapperton and J. Wright, claiming fraud to the extent of $1,200, in the plumbing work on the firm's new building.

$200 For Guelph.

The Homewood Sanitarium has entered suit against Geo. Clapperton, Jos. Wright, A. Purdy, W. Mansell and three Guelph plumbers, J. Stevenson, A. Malcolm, H. Mahoney, and R. Mahoney for fraud to the extent of $800.

Toronto Bedding Co., $400.

The Toronto Bedding Co., Limited, has laid an information against W. J. McGuire, G. F. McGuire, G. Clapperton, Jos. Wright, A. Fiddes, H. Hogarth, A. Purdy, W. Mansell, W. Mashinter, F. Armstrong, D. Menzies, P. J. Hayes and J. H. Wilson, for defrauding the company out of $400.

$900 For City of Toronto.

The City of Toronto has charged A. Fiddes, H. Hogarth, W. J. McGuire, G. F. McGuire, R. W. Harrison, C. Robertson, G. Wallis, G. Clapperton, J. Wright, F. Armstrong, J. H. Wilson, W. Mashinter, A. Welch, F. R. Maxwell, H. Johnson, A. Purdy, W. Mansell, K. J. Allison, A. Fiddes, and W. J. Williams, who are said to have obtained $500.

The cases came up before Col. Denison yesterday morning and all were remanded till next Wednesday.

Owing to the demand for cheap meat in Germany large quantities are being shipped from Birkenhead, England, and the trade gives good promise of becoming firmly established.

STRUCK BY ELECTRIC CAR.

Death of James Russell Parsons, U. S. Consul-General, at City of Mexico.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—A despatch from the City of Mexico gives further details of the accident in which James Russell Parsons, United States Consul-General, lost his life here Tuesday night. An open carriage in which he was driving with Mrs. Parsons and their son was struck by an electric car. Mrs. Parsons was slightly injured. The boy escaped without a bruise.

Prominent Educational Writer.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 7.—The news of the death of Consul-General James Russell Parsons of Mexico City came as a great shock. Few men in this state were so well known as James Russell Parsons in his career as an educator and writer on educational topics. Mr. Parsons was born at Hoosick Falls in 1861.

Killed Jumping From Rig.

St. John, N. B., Dec. 7.—Philip Gautreau met with a fatal accident while driving from Shediac to Grande Ligne. In getting out of the carriage his foot caught in the wheel, and he was thrown headforemost on the hard ground, breaking his neck.

Killed by Step of Caboose.

Fergus, Dec. 7.—While J. J. Cassidy, aged 55, was going to the G. T. R. station yesterday morning he was struck at the crossing by the step of the caboose of a freight which was slowing up at the station and almost instantly killed. Mr. Cassidy was on his way to attend the Sunday School Convention which was being held at Elora.

Accidentally Drowned.

Canso, N. S., Dec. 7.—Early yesterday morning the lifeless body of King Reid, son of Contractor James Reid, was found on the shore here, just below high water mark. On Saturday evening last he left his hotel and spent the evening with friends. He was in charge of a new postoffice being erected here. A coroner's jury in the afternoon rendered a verdict of accidental drowning.

Engine Jumps Track.

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 7.—A Canadian Pacific engine jumped the track and went down a 16-foot embankment at the north end of the International Bridge Tuesday evening. Engineer Wesley Bryant was seriously hurt.

Married Two Weeks, Cuts Throat.

Guelph, Dec. 7.—Details reached here yesterday of the suicide on Friday morning of David Young, a farmer in Amaranth Township. He arose about 5 o'clock and crossed over to the farm of John Lang, where he cut his throat with a pocket knife. He had been married only two weeks before, for the second time.

Farmer Cuts His Throat.

Uxbridge, Dec. 7.—George Murta, Jr., committed suicide by cutting his throat yesterday afternoon. Deceased was a prosperous young farmer, residing with his aged parents, about two and a half miles from here. No reason can be assigned for his rash act. He was about 35 years of age and unmarried.

Eleven Drowned.

Christiania, Norway, Dec. 8.—The timber-laden steamer Fram was sunk yesterday in Christiania Fjord. Seven of her crew and four passengers were drowned.

BERNHARDT IS CONSOLED.

Telegram of Regret For Her Treatment From Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—Sarah Bernhardt has received the following telegram from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is in Quebec:

Quebec City, Que., Dec. 7, 1905.

Madame Sarah Bernhardt, Ottawa:

I regret, madame, more than I can say, the acts of violence which you and your company were the victims as you left Quebec. I only learned on my arrival here yesterday what had taken place the night before, and I express to you the universal regret caused by behavior so unworthy of the well-known character of a city so remarkably careful of its renowned hospitality and courtesy. As to what was said by The L'Evenement, pay no attention to it. It is a newspaper which for me does not count.

(Signed) "WILFRID LAURIER."

Bernhardt's Reply.

Sarah Bernhardt has sent the following reply to Sir Wilfrid Laurier:

"I thank you, sir, and I wish to say to you, and repeat to you, that no representative of L'Evenement was present at the interview, which was most friendly. I said Canada had become a great financial country, and that agriculture had made immense progress, but I saw neither a great artist, nor a great sculptor, nor a great litterateur. You do not doubt, sir, but the cowardly attack is the result of fanaticism that has nothing to do with patriotism. I shake your hand.

(Signed) "SARAH BERNHARDT."

Foreign Affairs Secretary.

London, Dec. 7.—The process of forming a new Cabinet evidently will be a slow one. No appointments have as yet been announced, but there is an increasing possibility that Lord Elgin will be the new secretary for Foreign Affairs, and that Sir Edward Grey will be made secretary for the colonies.

J. B. Jackson Dead.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Josias Barwell Jackson, registrar of copyrights and trademarks, died yesterday morning from nervous trouble brought on, it is said, by the exacting duties of his office.

Meets Jan. 18.

Quebec, Dec. 7.—The Provincial Legislative Assembly is officially called for despatch of business on Jan. 18.

Give $5,000.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—Th National Trust Co. directors have voted $5,000 toward the new General Hospital fund.

Ontario Lawyer Appointed.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—S. B. Woods of Toronto has been appointed Deputy Attorney-General of Alberta. He is a member of the law firm of Lennox, Lennox & Woods and graduated at Varsity in 1894, taking second place in the honor political science course. After taking his degree of LL.B. and graduating from Osgoode Hall, he was called to the bar in 1897. He is one of the examiners of the Upper Canada Law Society.

Horsemen Ask Grant.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—An increased grant of $500 toward the Canadian Horse Show was asked for by a deputation from the Horse Breeders' Association who waited on Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, yesterday. The Minister promised consideration.

Ottawa Lumber Cut.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—The lumber cut of the mills in Ottawa and district for this season ending was somewhere in the neighborhood of 280,000,000 feet.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and Firm, Healthy Flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with Firm, Healthy Flesh and Remove Wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrow.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking, after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

Bacon Hogs Are Very Scarce

The scarcity of bacon hogs in Canada has become so pronounced, says the Ottawa Free Press, that the Department of Agriculture has begun an inquiry into the situation. A scarcity of pork usually develops about November, but this year eclipses all previous records.

Reports have been received in the live stock commissioner's office that pork packing establishments are on the verge of closing down owing to the inability of buyers to procure the hogs to keep the plants in operation.

Mr. James B. Spencer, assistant live stock commissioner, is prosecuting the investigation, and at the conclusion of his work he will make a report which it is hoped will wake up the farmers to the opportunities within easy reach for making more money out of the hog industry. The farmers at the present time are not following the most advantageous plan of raising pigs fit for the packing houses. Too much grain is fed. This is an expensive fodder, while forage crops are just as useful and far cheaper. Besides this there is a lack of co-operation, and the farmers, as a whole, are not able to keep up the supply.

The English market demands a steady supply, and, while Canada does not send over anything a product as Ireland and Denmark, it can fill the general demand. It is contended by experts here that Canadian pork should occupy a similar position on the English market to cheese shipped from the Dominion. The Canadian export trade of pork is worth thirteen million dollars a year.

The Department learns that in Prince Edward Island there is 30 per cent. less hogs than a year ago, when there were 48,000. There are none for export. New Brunswick is not able to sell any for export, either, and Quebec is no more than able to supply the local demand. In these Provinces representatives of Ontario packing houses are looking in vain for hogs. In Ontario, also, which produces 80 per cent. or 90 per cent. of all the bacon Canada sends to England, there is a falling off.

As a result of these conditions, the large packing establishments are not paying. Some are running with half the machinery, a condition in manufacture which is not profitable. Applied to pork packing, it is increasing the cost about 30 cents for each dressed hog.

it gradually grew larger and blacker, and took the outlines of a canoe, which was coming nearer and nearer, till, at last, it grated upon the pebbles, and an Indian of about twenty summers stepped silently out, and came forward to meet the doctor, who had moved to greet him. "Well, Plover," he said, "hae ye ony news! But ye maun come awa to the house an' hae a bit for ye maun be hungry." So they walked up to the cabin, the doctor plying his companion with questions regarding the condition of things at the front. For the Indian had carried a message from Donald to the doctor at Cobourg, and had brought back a small case of medicines. "Is the plague worse?" asked Donald. "Big mosh dwerse," was the laconic answer. By this time, however, the cottage had been reached, and the doctor having lighted a candle from the coals in the fire place, (for matches were as yet an unknown luxury to the settlers,) placed a simple meal of biscuit, cheese and tea before his swarthy friend. But, before touching it, the Plover drew from the recesses of his leather shirt, a letter, and handed it to his host.

Donald gave an exclamation of joy. The grimy, much-worn covering bore traces of Bella's handwriting! He carefully cut off the wrapping, and his eyes devoured eagerly what was written upon the enclosed sheet. "An' she's comin'—she's comin'." He had forgotten the Indian, who sat stolidly upon thee bench, silently watching him. "An' I'll be aff the morn's mornin' to fetch her — Oh, Bella, I'm richt glad ye're comin'."

The Indian rose. "Me go thome now," he said, and without another word he left the house, walked quickly down to his canoe, and departed. But Donald was too much occupied with his letter to notice him. He held the sheet close to the candle and read it over and over till he had it by heart. "We sail for Greenock on the first day of May, by the ship Hope." But it was then nearly the first of July! The letter had been delayed! Bella might be already in Canada! "I'll go at dawn." He said it again and again. The candle sputtered and went out, and the moonbeams, coming through the tiny panes of the little square window, made great white patches upon the floor; the pine trees murmured a lullabye, the letter dropped to the floor, and Donald was asleep, dreaming of Blessful days to come. But they were not to come so soon as he imagined.

It was the hour of dawn. Long shafts of orange, purple, red, yellow streaked the eastern sky. There was not a ripple upon the lake. Up the path from the shore came a great, tall, broad-shouldered man, his step impatient, his eager eye glancing furtively around he if he expected to find the object of his search among the stumps or among the pines which bordered the clearing. But he pressed forward towards the cabin and thundered at the door.

Donald sprang to his feet, bewildered for a moment, and then he recognized. "I maun be aff t' the settlement." But his reflections were cut short by the repetition of the noise which had awakened him; and a deep voice, full of anguish and fear, moaned, "If he's no thame!" Donald hastened to open the door, and there stood Sandy Grierson, a sturdy settler from down the river. He had run many miles through the woods; he was breathing fast, and could only ejaculate, "Doctor, the cheerra!—my wife, Maggie!" But Donald understood.

In the excitement caused by this unexpected call to action, Bella was forgotten, and the good doctor hurried about, gathering some medicines into a small bag, and then, getting Sandy into the canoe, they started for the Grierson clearing. But Donald's heart soon told him that he had intended to go on a different errand that morning, and he was sad. For he knew that he could not be back before night, and perhaps not for three or four nights. But he could not shirk his duty. In silence they paddled on, many miles down the river, here and there making a portage, sometimes shooting a rapid, until the sun was high in the heavens. At last they reached the clearing. Everything was silent there, and Sandy stepped from the canoe with feverish haste, taking two or three steps through the water, and pushing the light craft out into the stream. But he did not know it, and he hurried towards the house, Donald following as quickly as he could.

When Sandy entered the cottage, he went straight to the bedside of his wife and stood motionless. He could not speak. Maggie lay still upon her bed, and Davy, their ten-year-old son, was beside her. Donald hastened to Sandy's side, but Maggie was dead already, and all he could do for Davy was to give him a soothing draught. The husband and father was mute with grief. So Donald sat with him as Davy gradually sank. The poor lad, who had always been delicate, gave way quickly to the awful disease, and when evening came he died. "Doctor MacNab," whispered Sandy, utmost choking with grief, "Davy's gone,wi' his puir mither."

Donald knew that Sandy's sorrow was beyond comforting, and said nothing but "Fare ye well, Sandy, and God bless ye." Then he started towards home, for he knew that there would soon be other calls. He had been paddling for nearly two hours, when he noticed some one running in and out among the bushes and trees along the shore, for it was quite moonlight. A moment later he was hailed. "Is that you, doctor?" came across the water in the shrill piping tones of little Peter Wood, the twelve-year-old son of another settler. "Aye, it is," answered Donald, and headed his canoe towards the figure on the shore. "Oh, doctor," cried Peter, "will ye no come wi' me; mither's took awfu' bad, and faither's aff til the mill. Wee Jeanie's wi' her." Of course, the doctor went with the laddie, although he did not think it probable that he could be of much use. He drew his canoe up on the bank, among the bushes, and set out for Peter's home. In a couple of hours it was reached, and Donald found the mother very ill indeed. But with the aid of a good constitution and his skill, she passed safely through the worst stages; and after many hours of anxious watching, the doctor was able to say that he believed her to be out of the grasp of the dread disease.

So it continued. From one clearing to another went Donald Jewell, now curing some, now smoothing the way for those who were not strong enough to resist the attempts of the greedy monster, comforting bereaved parents, fathering lately children, until July and August had passed, and he was nearly worn out with long marches, and hours of weary watchfulness. And his anxiety for Bella had told upon him. But he could not leave his duty, even to seek her. However, about the end of August, new cases became rarer and rarer, and Donald began to think of journeying to the front.

So, one cold, rainy night; one of those dreary nights before the fine weather of September sets in, he found himself at home, resting. He was very tired, but he said to himself cheerily, "I'll be guid enough in a day or so, an' I'll go and find her, an' we'll be all settled before the winter." Donald huddled himself before the cosy fire, and enjoyed most thoroughly the comforts of the cabin. For the moaning of the wind in the pine-tops without, the dull burr of the rain upon the thatch, the washing of the waves upon the boulders of the shore, made him thankful to be within doors.

And he was more fortunate than many a poor settler was that night. It was almost midnight, and Donald still sat before the fire, when the door of the cottage opened, and, in the midst of a gust of wind and rain, Onetowaik, the tall Indian entered the room. He did not speak, but handed Donald a note, written upon a sheet of birch bark. The ruddy light of the fire was insufficient to enable him to decipher the scrawled message. When he had lit a candle, the read as follows:—

"doster MacNab were got the Colery agin and theys 2 travelers hear as has got it Yrs affecshunitely Patrick O'Grady."

Although Pat's house was ten miles away, and on the opposite side of the lake, Donald made no demur. "Ye'll come, Plover?" he asked, and the Indian bowed his reply. So, when the doctor had donned his oilskin coat, a gift from some grateful settlers, they set out. After an hour's hard paddling in the darkness of the storm, having been obliged to make long detours to avoid the rice-beds which abounded in the lake, they reached the southern shore, and landed. Having drawn the canoe up on the bank, they started through the woods, the Indian in the lead, for Donald could never have found his way in the darkness. On and on, they toiled, through a couple of clearings where the snug cabins of the pioneers on that side of the lake invited them to rest their weary limbs, now through a marshy tract, now climbing a steep hillside, ever pressing forward. It was the grey dawn when they came upon the trail leading to Pat's house.

Pat was on the look-out for them, and gave them a hearty welcome. The Plover moved silently towards the fire, and Donald removing his wet garments, inquired after the sick ones. Pat opened the door of the inner room of the house, and the doctor entered. The silhouette of a woman's face was plainly outlined against the grey panes of the tiny window. Donald stopped, remained motionless for a moment; too astonished to speak, and then could only exclaim "Bella!" And Bella, for it was she, answered, "I kenned 'at ye'd come Donald, come awa ma' bee a peek at gun puir soul wi' the fever."

COLLISION KILLS TEN.

Freight Ran Into Overland Limited of Union Pacific Railway.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 8.—Ten persons were killed and eleven train employes and eight passengers were injured in the wreck of the Overland Limited on the Union Pacific, five miles west of Rock Springs, Wyoming, yesterday. The limited was run into head-on by a freight train, and both engines were demolished. The dynamo car, mail car and dining car on the limited burned to the wheels. Several of the dead were incinerated.

Both engines were demolished and three cars of the limited immediately caught fire and were destroyed.

Engineer Brink of the freight train, who, it is stated officially, was responsible for over-running his orders, was one of the killed.

Death in Defective Switch.

New York, Dec. 8.—A defective switch at Mott Haven wrecked the New York Central passenger train which left Troy for New York at about 1 o'clock yesterday. None of the passengers was injured, but one switchman was killed and another seriously injured.

Fireman Falls From Train.

Cornwall, Dec. 8.—Leo Kielty of Brockville, son of Mr. Kielty, the provincial factory inspector, was badly hurt near Lancaster Wednesday night and is still unconscious in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. Kielty was fireman on a G. T. R freight train, and evidently fell off the cab on the bridge over the River Aux Raisin. He was missed a mile or two further west and was found unconscious, with a fractured skull, on the bridge.

Lockmaster Killed.

Thorold, Dec. 8.—Thomas Cowan, lockmaster at lock 22, Welland Canal, was instantly killed at 3 o'clock yesterday morning while locking a vessel through. He was walking along the coping when he fell into the lock, his head striking the gate. He leaves a widow, one son and two daughters. He was a life-long resident of Thorold.

Crushed Between Cars.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—George Kidder, aged 22 years, brakeman on the Grand Trunk, was killed yesterday morning at Admoston. He went between two freight cars to arrange the air brakes and the train moved, crushing him

SAKHAROFF'S CRUELTY.

Countenanced Horrible Treatment of Peasants and Merited Fate.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 6, via Edytkuhnen, East Prussia, Dec. 7.—The news of the assassination of Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff, former Minister of War, who was shot three times and instantly killed in the Governor's palace at Saratoff, in southeast Russia, on Monday last, had been preceded by the most horrible stories of the manner in which Sakharoff had been repressing the agrarian disorders. He corralled peasants with Cossacks and then had them beaten by the soldiers' whips. In so doing Sakharoff pursued the system adopted by Prince John Obolensky, former Governor-General of Finland, in oppressing the agrarians in the vicinity of Kharkoff several years ago, when the Prince caused the peasants to be whipped by relays of Cossacks and compelled then in turn to beat their comrades. The assassin of Sakharoff has not been identified. When arrested the woman who committed the crime declared that she had executed a decree of the terrorists' section of the social revolutionists.

Their Beards Torn Off.

The following is a description of Sakharoff's arrival at Hovoanschina, one of the villages of the Province of Saratoff. He came with Cossacks and artillery. The peasants were surrounded by Cossacks and Sakharoff addressed them, demanding that they surrender their leaders. The village elder replied, but gave the General no information. The elder was immediately beaten until he lost consciousness. Sakharoff then retired to the court house, leaving the peasants at the mercy of the Cossacks, most of whom were drunk, and they began torturing them, pulling out their hair and beards, and even tearing pieces of flesh from their faces. Thirty-three peasants were thus maltreated.

Day of the Proletariat.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—Herr Babel, the Socialist leader, speaking in the Reichstag yesterday against the Government's foreign policy, created indignant protests from the Government benches by referring to the situation in Russia as proof that the time was coming when the proletariat, and not the cabinets, would decide the question of war or peace.

RAILWAY CASES AT SARNIA.

Railway Commission Told Port Huron Elevators Get Preference.

Sarnia, Dec. 7.—A lively session of the Canadian Railway Commission took place yesterday. J. C. Smith, manager for a Chicago firm controlling the Sarnia and Point Edward elevator, claimed the Grand Trunk discriminated against Sarnia to the advantage of the Port Huron elevator. He made an affidavit that certain empty cars delivered to Point Edward had been transferred to Port Huron to accommodate a Canadian boat unloading there.

The G.T.R. solicitors and John Boyd, the local G.T.R. agent, contend that Sarnia gets a fair share of cars, and by taking cars to Port Huron the railway released boats for the up trip and relieved the congestion of west bound freight at Point Edward.

T. H. Cook gave figures showing that the elevator business could be more than doubled with present facilities if cars were furnished. The commission asked for further details.

A committee from the Sarnia board of trade, representing Sarnia lumber interests, with shipments aggregating 100 cars a week, protested against the new railway car stake rules. Shippers were put to an expense of $2 a car with no benefit and the railway should share the expense or furnish stakes.

The warden of Lambton County, W. A. Graham, gave notice of a demand to be made for more crossings on the Michigan Central.

Strathroy Town Council filed a request for a hearing regarding railway crossings.

The commission left by special car for Chatham.

"THE DIVINE SARA"

Quebec Attack On Her Made By Handful of Irresponsible Fools.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Sarah Bernhardt says that the attack on the party in Quebec was made by a handful of irresponsible young fools. She knew that she had the sympathy of the better class. She made no such statement about Canadians being decendants of Iroquois Indians, as attributed to her interview.

Some of the party were struck by missles thrown at Quebec, and some of the gentlemen of the party had their overcoats torn.

Madame Bernhardt took lunch at Rideau Hall yesterday with Lord and Lady Grey.

Britain's Representative.

London, Dec. 7.—King Edward yesterday appointed Sir Arthur Nicholson, the retiring Ambassador at Madrid, as the British representative to the international conference on Moroccan reforms, which is to be held at Algeciras, Spain.

SEDDON'S SWEEP.

New Zealand Government Overwhelmingly Sustained At the Polls.

London, Dec. 7.—A Wellington, New Zealand despatch states that Premier Seddon's Government has swept the New Zealand Polls, only thirteen members of the Opposition being returned against 59 for the Government.

Several prominent prohibitionists were defeated, indicating a serious set back to the prohibitionist movement.

Patrick Sentenced to Die.

New York, Dec. 7.—After making a final personal plea to the court in his own behalf, Albert T. Patrick, the lawyer convicted of the murder of William Marsh Rice, last night was sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week beginning Jan. 22 next.

MOURNING CUSTOMS.

Origin of the Widow's Cap and Black Sleeve Bands.

The customs of mourning as practiced in various parts of the world seem at first sight to have little relation with each other or with the inward grief which they are supposed to typify. Yet by the exercise of a little patience many resemblances may be discovered among them. The widow's cap, for example, dates back to the days of ancient Egypt. Egyptian men shaved the beard and head as a token of mourning. The women, instead of cutting off the hair, concealed it by a close cap. The Romans, who were as a race clean shaven, shaved the head in mourning and wore a wig.

The black band on the sleeve as a sign of mourning comes to us from the days of chivalry. The lady tied a scarf or napkin, as the handkerchief was called, about the arm of her knight. If he was killed in battle she wore the band in memory of him.

Black has so long been the color of grief in Anglo-Saxon countries that it seems a part of the upside down civilization of the east that Japan and China wear white. But no longer ago than the time of Elizabeth the unfortunate Mary of Scotland wore white on the death of Darnley. Even now the hearse used for children is white, and in England the mourners at funerals of young unmarried persons wear hatbands and sashes of white.

A queer English custom is that of decorating the black hearse horses with long false black tails. They attract no more notice on a street in Liverpool than do the black nets used in this country to cover the horses.

A great many sensible people protest that wearing tokens of mourning is a barbaric custom that should be abolished or greatly modified, but when loss and grief actually come into the individual life one discovers that there is a strange, subtle fitness in gloomy garments and that they answer to the need of the soul for silence and separation.

ODD DERIVATIONS.

Curious History of the Word "Vote." How "Reticule" Got Its Name.

"Vote" is a word with a curious history. To the Roman a "votum" was a solemn promise made to a deity. From the solemn promise itself the meaning of "votum" gradually became the prayer or intense wish that accompanied the promise and then any intense wish whatever. So far the development proceeded in Latin, and "vote" passed into English with the same sense. When Ben Jonson wrote of "public votes" to heaven he meant not mass meeting resolutions, but prayers. Finally "vote" acquired its present meaning, the formal and emphatic expression of a wish, while the old sense remains with its double "vow."

That openwork bag for shopping, called a reticule, gets its name directly from the Latin "reticulum," "little net." Popularly, however, the word is supposed to owe its existence to the fact that when an Englishwoman visited the first Paris exhibition with her little bag in her hand the Parisians cried "Ridicule!" The Englishwoman, misunderstanding the exclamation, is said to have thought it the correct translation of "little bag" and returned to England calling it a "reticule."

Philologists claim that the phrase to "sleep like a top" comes from the French "dormir comme une taupe," to sleep like a mole. It is said, too, that Cinderella's slippers were not made of glass, but of "vair," the old French word for ermine, which in time became corrupted into "verre," glass.

The Beaver's Tooth.

No carpenter's chisel can do more effective work than is turned out with ease and neatness by the beaver's tooth. This is the principal tool with which these patient, clever builders construct their dams. The outer surface of the tooth is a scale of very hard enamel, while the body of it is of softer dentine. As the softer substance wears away in use the end of the tooth takes a chisel-like bevel, leaving a thin, slightly projecting edge of hard enamel as sharp as any carpenter's tool fresh from the oilstone. The thin scale of enamel gives keenness, the softer dentine supplies strength, and thus the combination forms a formidable tool, which actually sharpens itself by use.

A Queer Festival.

A queer festival is celebrated in Malacca every ten or twelve years. The opening of the festival is signalized by a grand procession, in which huge piles of eatables take a large share. At the end of the third day the viands are burned. On the last occasion the piles of food were placed in a specially constructed boat which was towed out to sea and there consumed by fire, together with all the contents. A large sum of money, amounting to several thousands of dollars, was subscribed, largely in Singapore, for the proper observance of the festival.

A HORNED PEOPLE.

Queer Race That Lives Near the Chinese Prefecture of Chienchang.

Adjoining the Chinese prefecture of Chienchang is a deep gully barred by a river which no Chinaman is permitted to pass until he finds bail for his good conduct in Lolodom.

The Lolos are a slim, well made, muscular race with oval reddish brown faces, high cheek bones and pointed chins, from which the beard has been carefully plucked. They are far taller than the Chinese and indeed than any European race, but their marked peculiarity is the horn. Every male adult gathers his hair in a knot over his forehead and then twists it up in a cotton cloth so that it resembles the horn of a unicorn.

This horn is considered sacred, and even if a Lolo settles in Chinese territory and grows a pigtail he still preserves his horn. The Lolo man's principal garment is a wide sleeveless mantle of red or black felt tied about the neck and descending almost to the heels. The trousers are of Chinese cotton with felt bandages. No shoes are worn, but a conical hat of woven bamboo covered with felt furnishes a head covering as well as an umbrella.

The Chinese divide the Lolos into two classes, which they call respectively "Black Bones" and "White Bones," the first being the nobles and the latter their vassals and retainers. There is also a third class of captive Chinese and their descendants, called "Watzu," practically slaves, who are tattooed on the forehead with the mark of their tribe.

The Lolos never marry except in their own tribes, captive Chinese women being given to their bondsmen. The marriage of a Black Bone is a time of great festivities and many banquets. The betrothal is celebrated and ratified by the present of the husband to the bride's family of a pig and three vessels of wine.

On the wedding morn the bride is richly dressed with many ornaments. She is expected to weep profusely, whether she feels so inclined or not. In the midst of her tears the groom's relatives and friends dash in, seize the bride, the best man carries her out of doors on his shoulders, she is clapped on a horse and hurried off to her new home. Here she finds horses, cattle and sheep, provided by the groom's family, while her own people send clothes, ornaments and corn. Women occupy a high position among the Lolos, and a woman chief is not unknown among the tribes.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

When you die, you will die as dead as anybody.

We all have enough to be cross about. Still, it isn't a good idea to show it.

People like to be called enthusiastic, but how they hate to be called "gushing."

The only difference between the modern family row and that of the older days is that the modern one isn't as big a family.

The "good fellow" you slap on the back and tell your troubles to may seem good natured, but he complains of you to his wife.

There is nothing so disappointing as to have one take you aside to tell you a great secret and then discover that you already know it.

A Bit of Westmoreland.

The Westmoreland hills are the remains of an infinitely older world—giants decayed, but of a great race and ancestry. They have the finish, the delicate or noble loveliness—one might almost say the manner—that comes of long and gentle companionship with those chief forces that make for natural beauty, with air and water, with temperate suns and too abundant rains. Beside them the Alps are inhuman, the Apennines mere forest grown heaps, mountains in the making, while all that Scotland gains from the easy enveloping glory of its heather Westmoreland, which is almost heatherless, must owe to an infinitude of fine strokes, tints, curves and groupings, to touches of magic and to lines of grace, yet never losing the wild energy of precipice and rock that belongs of right to a mountain world.—Mrs. Humphry Ward in Century.

The Arab Steed.

An Arab steed of pure breed would probably be outpaced in a race by an English thoroughbred, but in other respects it outshines its western rival. It is so docile that it is treated by its owner as one of the family, and it has an iron constitution, for it sleeps out at night without covering or shelter.

Nature protects the Arab horse with a thick, furry coat, which is never touched by brush or comb and which falls off at the approach of spring, when the body and legs, which had been shaggy as those of a bear, again resume their graceful beauty and glisten in the sun like polished marble.—London Chronicle.

Cured her Father's Drunkenness by a Simple Remedy.

Gives her father from a drunkard's grave. Free sample of Samaria Tasteless Prescription checks his drinking and leads to a complete cure.

"It seemed hopeless to keep father from drinking, and we all felt the disgrace. When things were at their worst a friend advised me to try Samaria. I saw that you offered a free sample treatment and that the remedy was tasteless and could be given secretly. I determined to try it, and, have been glad every day since. The full treatment, which I gave him in his tea, cured him, and I am pleased to say he never touches whiskey now. How glad I am that I wrote you and how happy we all are together. Father says that he could never have stopped drinking of his own accord."

Royal Household Flour Is Always Uniform —Why?

It is one thing to make flour pure, well balanced and strong, it is another thing to have it uniformly so—to make flour that is precisely the same in purity and nutriment on Saturday as on Monday—in May as in November.

Because the "Royal Household" mills have the finest testing equipment available and unlimited resources for securing perfect wheat, they can and do produce—every working day in the year — flour of precisely uniform strength, nutriment and purity.

That is why Royal Household Flour makes always the very best bread and pastry, year in and year out.

That is why Royal Household Flour is the most reliable—the most successful flour—and being scientifically purified by electricity it is the purest—the best of all flours.

The next flour you buy ask for "Royal Household"—and try it for yourself.

BE BRIGHT—WELL—STRONG

BUILD UP WITH FERROZONE

Ferrozone Adds Vigor and Strength to the System, Purifies and Enriches the Blood, Vitalizes the Nerves and Assures Permanent Good Health.

Let your fight for health begin now, before you feel any warning of physical collapse.

Your whole system needs a thorough cleansing. Likewise, the blood should be purified, made rich and nutritious.

The one cure for that tired, drooping feeling is Ferrozone, the acknowledged king of all tonic medicines.

To restore your appetite you need Ferrozone, certainly you do.

You need it to restore your nerves and to enrich your depleted blood.

The strongest reason why you need Ferrozone is because it will build up your run-down system and make you well.

It's because we know Ferrozone is absolutely certain to cure that we urge everyone in poor health to use it. If depressed, tired, nervous, sleepless, Ferrozone will make you cheery, bright and happy, because it will make you well.

FERROZONE

A Good Appetizer.

MR. AUBREY E. TEMPLEMAN, of Mechlas, writes: "I have found the greatest satisfaction in using Ferrozone, and consider it is the best tonic made. I was all run down a few months ago, and in a very miserable state of health. I took a few boxes of Ferrozone, and was surprised at the result. Ferrozone drove away that dull, heavy feeling, and put my system in splendid order. I am never nervous or sleepless, and have a hearty appetite. This is all due to Ferrozone, which I recommend in the strongest way possible."

FERROZONE

Gives Real Vigor.

MRS. NORMAN MACADAM, of Bridgeport, writes: "I am in good health to-day as the result of Ferrozone. Before using Ferrozone I was tired and miserable, lacked energy and ambition. But Ferrozone altered all that. It has built up my system, and given me more real vigor than I ever had before. Ferrozone is a good tonic."

Ferrozone Makes the Weak Strong—the Sick Well.

Ferrozone is sold only in 50c boxes, containing 50 Ferrozone Tablets. Six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A., and Kingston, Ont.

Fighting Shy Of Campbell Bannerman

Notable English Liberals Unwilling to Enter Cabinet.

REDMOND IS TRIUMPHANT

London Times Says Sir Edward Grey Is Unwilling to Enter Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's Cabinet—Said to Desire That "C. B. Should Enter House of Lords —Redmond's Cable Message.

London, Dec. 8.—According to apparently trustworthy reports, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is having great difficulty in constructing a Cabinet. It is generally believed that he will succeed in his task, but the possibility of failure is a matter of common talk in the political clubs, and even among those who confidently predict success they are not sanguine that Sir Henry's aggregation will be a strong one.

There is no doubt whatever that the big men of the Liberal party wish Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman could be stowed away somewhat back of the firing line. It seems, however, that is not to be done, and rumor has it that several of the most notable Liberal leaders, in view of this fact, are unwilling to enter the Cabinet.

Earl Grey Refuses Office.

London, Dec. 8.—According to The Times this morning, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has decided to remain in the Lower House as long as his health and strength will permit and that in consequence of this decision Sir Edward Grey, who is a strong partisan of Lord Rosebery, has refused to become a member of the Cabinet, which he would have been willing to do had Sir Henry gone to the House of Lords, leaving Mr. Asquith to lead the Commons.

Home Rule Within Grasp.

Dublin, Dec. 8.—(Via Philadelphia.)—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists, in the British House of Commons, and the world over, cabled last night as follows:

"The overthrow of the Balfour Government places the Irish cause once more in the forefront of British politics.

"Five years ago Mr. Balfour came into power with an enormous majority pledged against home rule. To-day that majority has disappeared, and a Prime Minister, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, is in office, who has declared that the Government of Ireland must be placed in the hands of an assembly elected by the Irish people.

Ireland's Brightest Days.

"This marks the greatest and most encouraging advance which the home rule question has had in a generation, and makes it absolutely the main issue now before the people of the Empire.

"The defeat of ex-Premier Balfour's attempt at redistribution of the Parliamentary seats last year, with a view of reducing the number of Irish representatives by a process of flagrant 'gerrymandering' was really the cause of the final overthrow of the Unionist Tory administration.

"This defeat was brought about, of course, by the Irish party through its representatives.

"This is not the first time the party has shown its power. We have proved that in the long run no British Government which tries to ignore the righteous demand for home rule can long escape defeat.

Liberals Will Follow Leader.

"The political future is most encouraging. The great mass of the Liberals will follow the lead of the new Premier and John Morley on the Irish question. The views of these men, as well as their actions have been consistent. Lord Rosebery's objections will have little weight.

"But the Irish party is alert as well as united. The reliance of Ireland is not upon any British declarations, however plausible or encouraging they may be, but upon her own strength in Parliament and the absolute justice of her demands.

"Th Irish question, which has lived for a hundred years, holds the field to-day. The convention just held here was a great, representative gathering, strong in purpose and eloquent of the vigor of public opinion.

Their Opportunity.

"United and hopeful, the members of the Irish Parliamentary party look with confidence to the Irish race and its sympathizers the world over to sustain them in this cruel fight and to aid them in making the most for Ireland from the new political situation.

"Since the time of Gladstone, Ireland never occupied a more powerful position than she does to-day."

AMUNDSEN WINS.

Norwegian Explorer First to Travel Northwest Passage.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 8.—Amundsen, the first man in history to travel the northwest passage from east to west, is still at Fort Egbert, Alaska, waiting for an answer to the message he sent Monday night to Nansen, in Christiania. His appeal for funds and assistance has borne fruit, Norwegians of this city telegraphing him money.

From the fact that Amundsen and his expedition are in winter quarters near the mouth of Mackenzie River, his object, which he made public before leaving Christiania in May, 1903, has been fulfilled.

North and South Korea.

In the northern part Korea is covered with transverse mountain ranges which gradually sink to a well marked lowland. The principal mountains, however, occur on the side of the sea of Japan. The rocks of the country are chiefly old formations—archaean and Palaeozoic. The easiest passage across the peninsula is along the depression of Chyukkaryong. South of this line lies the "Hanland" (south Korea), which differs in history, climate, topography and people from north Korea.

Her Unseemly Perversity.

Mrs. Hunks—I wish you wouldn't be so positive. There are two sides to every question. Old Hunks (with a roar)—Well, that's no reason why you should always be on the wrong side!—Chicago Tribune.

THIS PRETTY CANADIENNE

Saved From Terrible Kidney Disease By "Fruit-a-tives."

MASSON, P.Q., Nov. 16th., 1904.

"I have much pleasure in reporting to you the great benefit I have received from taking "Fruit-a-tives"—and I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of a medicine which has done me so much good. I was a martyr to that distressing complaint chronic constipation accompanied with severe headaches, backache, sick stomach and all the symptoms of dyspepsia. I had also a dreadful complexion, sallow in the extreme and black under the eyes. I had every symptom of kidney irritation and I had been told by physicians that my kidneys were affected. I consulted a number of physicians and took various remedies but received very little benefit. Last May I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and when I began to take them I had little faith of getting anything to give me permanent relief, but after I had taken half a box of "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better and before I had finished one box the constipation was relieved, the headaches left me, the pain in my back was better and I could sleep as soundly as when I was child. Also, my complexion began to clear up again, all the sallowness disappeared and the black circles under my eyes went away. The pain in the back gradually left me and all signs of kidney disease disappeared by the first of August after I had taken three boxes. Since then I have continued to improve and now I have none of my old symptoms and my appetite is good, digestion splendid and my complexion as clear as when I was a young girl. Also the constipation from which I had suffered so long has been entirely cured and it is not necessary for me to take the "Fruit-a-tives" now as I am quite well in every way. I took no medicine but "Fruit-a-tives" but I followed faithfully the directions as to diet etc., given in the pamphlet which accompanies each box of "Fruit-a-tives."

(Sgd.) FLORENCE JAMIESON.

Every part of the body is constantly decaying and being renewed. The dead cells, or tissue waste, should be removed by the skin, kidneys and bowels. When these organs do not act regularly, this poisonous matter stays in the system—is taken up by the blood—carried to heart, liver, stomach, brain and nerves all over the body—and poisons everything it touches.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep each organ clean and healthy. "Fruit-a-tives" act on the skin, stimulating the millions of minute glands and opening the pores so the waste can escape. They act on the liver sending more bile into the bowels and making the bowels move regularly and naturally every day. They act on the kidneys, strengthening and invigorating these organs and curing all kidney disorders.

At all druggists or sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

Peterboroughs' Prosperity

How it Influences the Sale of Gerhard Heintzman Pianos.

It is interesting to note the sturdy growth of the spirit of prosperity among Peterborough citizens in connection with the material and commercial evolution of our city.

As an indication of Peterborough's prosperity it is remarked that our citizens are no longer inclined, nor find it necessary, to invest in that which is cheap or inferior, but instead are fast becoming permeated with the correct idea that "the best is the cheapest."

The strongest proof of this tendency, if proof were needed, is found in the fact that nearly all the pianos supplied throughout Peterborough district during the past season have been of the highest possible grade. The celebrated Gerhard Heintzman piano is the one referred to as being in the greatest demand, as is evidenced by the large number of recent patrons of the well-known and ever reliable firm of Gerhard Heintzman, Limited, which list is as follows:

Hon. J. R. Stratton, Peterborough Conservatory of Music (both Grand and Upright), Young Women's Christian Association, Mrs. A. L. Davis, F. H. Dobbin (Daily Review), Ladies' Aid George street Methodist church, Mrs. Geo. Scott, W. H. Robertson (Daily Times), Arthur Poe, A. Peters, Johnson Cooney, (Mrs. John Neary, Mrs. Sarah Johnston, Y. P. S. C. E. (Presbyterian church, Keene), M. Lyle (manager Canadian Canoe Co.), Geo. A. Baker, Giles Stone, Mrs. George Mather, Miss May Kennedley, Wm. Shortt (Lang P.O.), H. E. Bayley, H. W. Morphet (Toronto Loan and Savings Co.), D. H. Downie, J. C. Chambers, Mrs. A. Palmer, R. D. Robson, Mrs. W. E. Talbot, Chas. C. Wiley, Wm. Bolton, Miss A. Kindred, E. V. Davey and others.

The family of Senator Cox, of Toronto, formerly of this city, have within the past six months purchased four Gerhard Heintzman pianos.

Mr. W. H. Isaac, local salaried representative, and Mr. Ruse, superintendent of agencies, through whom the purchases were made, may, with the Gerhard Heintzman Company, be congratulated upon this phenomenal increase of customers.

What Christmas gift can compare with the gift of a piano—especially a Gerhard Heintzman piano?

What Goldwin Smith Thinks

In this matter of the dismissal of the Inspectors of Licenses two questions seemed to be involved. One is whether the dismissals were justified; the other is, whether the Commissioners were called upon to signify their dissent by resigning. That one of the inspectors has been an active political worker seems to be admitted; as to the other two the facts do not seem to be clear. The answer to the second question depends upon the understanding on which the Commissioners accepted office. Was it one which would exclude a change of inspectors without their consent? That the general policy of the Government has been changed there seems to be no reason to assume. Certain partisans of the Government, who are its worst enemies, are doing their utmost to impress a party character on its action It is to be hoped that the Premier will have the good sense and courage to keep these people at arm's length and to justify the expectations of an honest government which placed him and his colleagues where they are.

Dominique Berry, a tramp, who has a record of over eighty convictions, told the Paris magistrates he intended to change his way of living when he had been convicted a hundred times.

Lakefield, Dec. 4th.

Dear Mr. Hunter,—We, your fellow members of the Board of Management, feel that we could not permit your departure from our company and from the congregation without expressing to you our appreciation of yourself as a man and a Christian, and of your services as a member of the Board and also its faithful and efficient secretary.

We feel that in anything we may say we use but voicing the sentiments of the entire congregation as well as our own.

You go from the Board, its active and faithful secretary, always genial, always courteous, ever reasonable and abounding in common sence.

We lose Mrs. Hunter from the working force of our church. In every movement for the church's good Mrs. Hunter was always ready to take her place and contribute by head, heart and hands to the success of the undertaking. She will be greatly missed.

We lose Ethel from the choir, where she was always faithful and efficient, inheriting largely the good qualities of her parents. We hoped for much from her in the future.

We miss the boys, and thus the men that would be, and the services they would give in the after days.

Were it not that we know that your services would be at the disposal of the church whither you go, our regret would be even greater; but our church is only one and whether in Peterborough or here what matters it, so long as the service is performed and you and yours win the Master's approval.

It is necessa to say that we wish for you and yours, happiness and prosperity in your new home; that may know as faithful and loyal servants there as here, and should you at any time to come be possessed by a longing that you could not surpress for the old home of your childhood, boyhood and manhood, you may count on a most cordial welcome back, and a love feast from which the fatted calf will not be absent.

Signed on behalf of the Board,

R. Graham, chairman.

BIRTHPLACE OF MASSAGE.

Queer Nubia, Where the Inhabitants Never Take a Bath.

The masseur had just returned from Nubia, the birthplace of massage.

"I didn't learn as much as I expected to," he said, "but I got hold of two movements that will eradicate wrinkles and remove fat in an incredible way.

"Nubia is a queer place. They have so little water there that they never take baths. The 'masseh,' or kneading, whence our word 'massage,' is the bath's substitute. You strip, lie down and are covered from head to foot with a cream made of mutton fat, musk, sandalwood powder and certain plant juices. Then you are kneaded, you are massaged. I studied the Nubian movements thoroughly and learned, as I say, good things.

"The Nubians are a handsome and queer race. They hunt elephants with the sword. A hunter steals upon a dozing elephant and slashes him in the back of the leg ten inches above the hoof. This cut severs the artery, and the elephant bleeds to death.

"They cook meat on hot stones. First they build a fire, then they put big stones on it, and when the stones are hot enough they clean them of ashes and embers carefully and throw on the meat. This is a better way of cooking than the broil, for it preserves all the meat juices. But greenhorns don't know what kind of stones to use. Most kinds heated explode.

"The Nubians are shapely and handsome. They never wrinkle, they never get fat, their skins are smooth and fine. They impute these graces to the 'massch'—the massage—that they take regularly three or four times a week. Every masseur ought to go to Nubia if he wants to learn his business thoroughly."

GLOBULES.

One-third of the land surface of the globe is covered with trees.

A Birmingham man named Batchelor has just married a young lady named Widdow.

A penny is estimated to change hands about 125,000 times in the course of its life.

A paper chimney fifty feet high and fireproof is a curiosity to be seen at Breslau, Germany.

Cats are licensed in Berlin, and every cat in that city must wear a metal badge bearing a number.

Gibraltar may fairly be called the land of tunnels, there being over seventy miles of burrowed rock.

London has only one mile of tramways to every 30,000 of her population. Manchester has one to every 5,800.

The China Times of Peking is issued in seven languages—Chinese, Japanese, English, French, German, Russian and Italian.

The Nile is noted for the variety of its fish. An expedition sent by the British museum brought home 9,000 specimens.

Glasgow has the largest tramway system of any town in the British isles. Manchester stands second, while Liverpool makes a bad third.

Lion tamers frequently perfume themselves with lavender. There is, it is said, no record of a lion ever having attacked a trainer who had taken the precaution of using this perfume.

In Fiji the coinage consists chiefly of whales' teeth, those of greater value being dyed red. The natives exchange twenty white teeth for one red one, as we change copper for silver.

Signor Di Marbino, a young Sicilian of good family, was kidnapped by brigands while cycling at Pizzi, near Palermo, Italy. His captors demanded a large ransom, and the family, instead of complying, handed the letter to the authorities and hired bands of soldiery to search for the missing son. The brigands, apparently out of revenge for the parents' betrayal, killed their captive. So one morning a patrol discovered the young man's corpse in a hollow beneath a pyramid of stones.

BETEL NUT CHEWING.

It Is the National Diversion of the Siamese People.

Betel nut chewing is the national diversion of the Siamese. Every one from high to low is addicted to the habit, and preparation of the quid for those too poor to own ingredients and boxes is in every town quite a business of itself. In the smallest settlements one sees peddlers squatting before their trays of little boxes holding lime and seeds of tobacco and packages of syrah, or green betel leaves. The betel tree is among the most common in Siam, sending up a trunk sometimes full sixty feet, always, like the cocoanut, limbless except for its bush of a top, where, again like the cocoa, the nuts grow in closely attached bunches, to harden and redden before gathered.

The cardamom seed, or clove, is an extra of the well to do and especially of the women. The common habit among men of the country is to add a pinch of tobacco after first rubbing it over their gums. The bright red saliva from chewing is, in the town house, carefully deposited in a handsome silver receptacle. In the up country house slits between the open bamboo flooring obviate the necessity for such niceties. But always on formal occasion, even in the jungle edge, the betel nut chewer carries his box for the freely flowing juice that stains the teeth a deep red, which among the better class with care and attention becomes a highly polished black.

And this is true even of Siam's most enlightened classes, whom contact with the outside world appears not to win from the betel nut and discolored teeth. In Bangkok I talked with one of royal blood and his wife, both of whom had lived several years in England, yet the teeth of each were black as ebony, and the woman frankly expressed her disgust at the white teeth of foreigners. Dogs and other four footed animals, she declared, have white teeth. Blessed is contentment!

PYTHONS AS PETS.

According to Dr. Mann, They Are Perfectly Harmless.

Dr. Mann, an enthusiastic lover of snakes, contributes to a recent English volume a letter which goes to show that the larger kinds of these creatures "may have far more character and emotion than they are generally credited with.

"My present boa," he writes, "always sleeps in my bed around my feet. He is perfectly clean, lies still and very seldom disturbs me. Occasionally he crawls to my face to lick it. I frequently take a python to bed, but at present she is timid, and if she cannot find my feet crawls out of the bed and curls herself on the floor.

"I do not myself believe that any python or boa is savage, but they are dreadfully timid, especially from the ill treatment they receive when first caught and the misery and terror they endure on the voyage. There is another thing: They have no eyelids and on being suddenly uncovered and dragged forth to the light suffer from the glare very acutely. It is best, therefore, to hide their heads in your hand or under your coat.

"Handle them often and give them water, pressing their heads gently into it. I feed my boas frequently from my hand, but the last time I offered a python a guinea pig the prey escaped, and the python took in the whole of my hand instead. He soon discovered his mistake and was greatly distressed, rubbed his head against my hand and seemed to fear some sort of punishment.

"Since that time I have had great difficulty in persuading him to eat unless I nurse him or take him to bed, when he will lie the whole night with his head in my hand."

Pets That Cannot Walk.

In oriental countries it is customary to have valuable fish as household pets, in the same way as we have cats and dogs, and in almost every house in Japan one can find jars containing some fine specimens. Japanese nobles have large aequaria, in which are to be found species of odd and curious fish that have been bred and cultivated for the last 500 years and more. In China the paradise fish is a good example of the result of careful cultivation, for it is nowhere found in a wild state and is remarkable for its colors, which surpass in beauty those of any other fish extant. Another household pet is the Chinese comet goldfish, which is equipped with immense caudal fins that spread out like sails when the creature is swimming.

Where Vessels Have Eyes.

Painted on the prow of nearly all the junks, or Chinese sailing vessels, are to be seen huge eyes. It is believed by the superstitious inhabitants of China that if the eye, which is raised as in relief, was not there the vessel could not see where to go and would therefore come to destruction. Even if when at sea the eye got destroyed or damaged another would have to be painted in at once. No Chinaman will sail on a junk which is not adorned by an eye, and even an English passenger boat which plies between two Chinese towns has a huge eye painted on each side of her paddle boxes.

HE AVERTED A PANIC

A REMARKABLE CASE OF BRAVERY AND PRESENCE OF MIND.

Matsuki, the Juggler, Held an Audience Spellbound While the Theater Attaches Were Fighting a Bad Fire Behind the Scenes.

Satsuma Matsuki, a Japanese juggler and acrobat, was filling an engagement at Burlington. His marked ability as a magician caused the opera house to be crowded every evening. One feat in particular interested his audience. Lying prone upon his back, he would toss a long, light table backward and forward in all conceivable positions to the time of [illegible] music, his tiny feet keeping the table perfectly balanced.

It was Saturday evening. Satsuma Matsuki had been performing for an hour. He had astonished his audience with a score of wonderful achievements, but as yet he had not performed with the table resting on his feet.

Matsuki passed into one of the dressing rooms to change his costume. Scarcely had he closed the door when he heard a sound that made his heart stand still for a moment—a crackling and a hissing—and the next instant a long tongue of flame leaped from the stairway, enveloping a window. Others in the rear of the stage discovered the flames at the same instant, and a fierce battle was begun between the attaches of the theater and the raging fire. For one brief instant Matsuki stood irresolute. The fire was confined within the dressing room of the right wing, and as yet no one in the audience had an inkling of the grave danger that threatened the house. Those fighting the flames knew that a terrible panic would ensue the moment that the spectators realized the danger. Matsuki understood the situation, too, and in that moment of hesitation he saw the part that he must act.

Matsuki was before his audience. He had placed the rugs hastily in position that he might rest easily. A moment later and the orchestra commenced playing. Matsuki had balanced the table and was gracefully dancing it back and forth, keeping perfect time with his dainty feet. Shortly the measure of the music was quickened, and he was obliged to move more quickly. At one time the table would be at an angle of forty-five degrees and again at ninety degrees and the next moment perfectly perpendicular. The long table seemed fairly alive.

Meanwhile those fighting the fire had worked bravely, and success was crowning their efforts. They heard the music of the orchestra, and they knew that Matsuki was doing his part to hold the attention of the people. A few moments more and all danger of a stampede would be past.

"Fire!" Some one had seen a puff of smoke issue from the right wing of the stage.

"Ye-ar, fire!" And Matsuki sent the table nearly to the ceiling, turning a complete somersault in its flight. The audience shouted with delight.

For twenty minutes Matsuki had been in constant activity. The veins stood out upon his arms and temples like whipcords.

"Fire!" Another had noticed a puff of smoke.

"Ye-ar, fire!" And again was the table hurled aloft and caught again with the same dexterity.

The conductor of the orchestra knew not what it all meant. At first he thought that Matsuki had gone mad. Never before had he dared so much. If he was mad, surely no one could deny his astonishing skill.

A moment later the stage manager walked across the stage and whispered something to Matsuki, at the same time placing the table on the floor. Matsuki was unable to rise. Attendants lifted the brave fellow and carried him behind the scenes. Very shortly the manager returned, and when he spoke his voice was sadly broken.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said he, passing his hand across his forehead, "I have no doubt that you have greatly enjoyed Satsuma Matsuki's performance this evening. He has well merited your generous applause, more, perhaps, than you imagine. I have to inform you that Satsuma Matsuki alone has stood between you and death for the past twenty minutes or more. The danger is past now, and you are liberty to leave this building, but permit me to say before you depart that our friend Matsuki has lost his entire magician's outfit, which cost him over a thousand dollars. Fire has completely destroyed his property. I leave it with you to do what is right, and those who desire to show their gratitude for what Matsuki has done this evening can meet me here on the platform."

There was no hesitation. A long line of men and women was quickly formed, and for an hour the manager received the contributions of those who wished to show their gratitude. When the amount was counted, pledges and all, something over $1,500 was found.—Forward.

She Thought of Him.

She—Oh, Mr. Borem, how do you do? I was talking to Mrs. Nexdore just now, and I couldn't help thinking of you. He—And was she discussing me? She—Not exactly. She was commenting on the weather and just asked me if I could imagine anything more tiresome and disagreeable.

The steamship Korea, which arrived at San Francisco from the orient recently, brought the most valuable consignment of raw silk ever landed in this country. It was worth $2,450,000. It was dispatched east in haste the same night, 3,500 bales of it.

Whitman on Emerson.

I often say of Emerson that the personality of the man—the wonderful heart and soul of the man, present in all he writes, thinks, does, hopes—goes far toward justifying the whole literary business—the whole raft, good and bad; the entire system. You see I find nothing in literature that is valuable simply for its professional quality. Literature is only valuable in the measure of the passion—the blood and muscle—with which it is invested—which lies concealed and active in it.—From Horace Traubel's "With Walt Whitman in Camden" in Century.

Better Than References.

"Can you give me references from your last place?"

"No, ma'am. The last woman I worked fur was Mrs. Libby, that used to live next door to you. She an' I couldn't get along at all. You don't know how mean she is. I could tell you ever so many"—

"You may come."

Very Important.

"Uncle John, should I be justified in writing to a young man who has never written to me?"

"Only on very important business, my dear."

"Well, this is important business. I want him to marry me!"

In some South American tribes the women draw the front teeth, esteeming as an ornament the black gap thus made.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY. 35 Years in Detroit. 250,000 Cured.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

As to Canadian Insurance

(Montreal Sunday Sun.)

There is a growing impression that the agitation regarding insurance companies has been overdone. High officials of a few companies, "drunk with sight of power," were undoubtedly guilty of corrupt and extravagant practices, and a good deal of money was wasted or otherwise diverted from proper uses. But it must not be imagined that the solvency of these companies was for a moment in peril or that appreciable loss has been suffered by any policyholder. The investigation now proceeding in New York means the prevention of such abuses for the future.

Some people have been suggesting that the methods of insurance companies doing business in Canada should be similarly investigated. The writer of these notes believes that nothing would be gained by such an investigation, although our Canadian companies would cheerfully agree to it, knowing that they have nothing to conceal. But in advance of any such action, and its hypothetical results, a suggestion has been put forth which is meddlesome and even malicious. Notwithstanding the fact that our insurance laws and the Department of Insurance at Ottawa provide all of the safeguards that would seem to be necessary it is proposed in some quarters that the investing powers of the companies, already greatly restricted, should be confined within even narrower limits. Now, the executives of our insurance companies have great experience in the safe and profitable investment of money on a large scale. Besides this, the magnitude and importance of their financial operations have attracted to their directorates financiers of the highest ability and integrity. Under the supervision of these gentlemen, the stream of premiums paid in by policyholders is directed into safe and lucrative channels of investment. Suggestions to curtail the earning power of the policyholder's money should be treated with suspicion as emanating from poorly informed or narrow-minded people. If further restrictions be made, although this is almost inconceivable, it will be a serious matter for the insured.

STILL FIT FOR DUTY.

It speaks well for the condition of the second cruiser squadron that it was able to terminate its programme by making the run from New York to Gibraltar in less than eight days in the season of equinoctial gales. This is equivalent to over seventeen knots per hour sustained speed, and compares favourably with the previous performances of any squadron afloat. With the use of forced draught, all the ships of Prince Battenburg's fleet are capable of steaming over twenty-two knots per hour, but this is for emergency purposes only, as the expenditure of coal, wear and tear of machinery, and the strain upon the engine room staff is enormous under such conditions.

Incidentally, it is to be noted, that the shortage in the crews of the squadron, when it left New York, was less than seventy men of all ratings, a fact which speaks volumes for the discipline of the fleet and the popularity of its commander. The United States navy offers many more inducements to pay and privileges, to the handy man than does the older service, and in many ways the loyalty of the British tar was put to a severe test during his visit to American waters.—Montreal Herald.

The annual oyster supper of the Union Threshing Company was held at the home of Messrs. Hamblin Bros., Scott line, on Thursday evening last. The guests were:—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Payne, Miss Dora Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McCracken, Mr. and Mrs. Lazarus Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Crowe, Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Bickell, Mr. Wm. F. Payne, Miss Emma Payne, Mr. and Mrs. David Payne, Miss Alice Payne, Mr. and Mrs R. W. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Batten, Mr. Richard Batten, Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, Mr. Evan Smith, the German musician, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Jory, Miss Jory, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob White, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Norish, of My Cottage.

When the financial affairs for the year, which gave every satisfaction, the running expenses being only a fraction over twelve cents per day, were completed, the guests sat down to the supper, which consisted of oysters, salmon, sardines and a great abundance of pastry and cakes.

After supper the company was treated to an entertainment by Prof. Norish, who gave over forty selections on his gramophone.

Before leaving for home a general vote of thanks was tendered to the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hamblin, who so ably entertained the company.

A vote of thanks was also tendered to Mr. Norish in recognition of his services in assisting in the entertainment.

The guests then left for their several homes each well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

The announcement that Hull, England, is making a great effort to capture the shipping trade of Australia with this country is followed by the news that immense seals fields, the largest known in the world, situated about 100 miles from Sydney, are about to be developed by an English corporation, and it is expected that by this means the export trade of Australia will be increased by hundreds of thousands of tons of shale annually in connection with the manufacture of gas,

AN AWFUL SKIN DISEASE

Sores Covered Neck and Cheeks—Itched Day and Night—Nothing Did Me Any Good—Was Growing Worse—Immediately Relieved and

SPEEDILY CURED BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Miss Nellie Vander Wiele, of Lakeside, N. Y., writing under date of April 18, 1904, says: "I do wish you would publish this letter in the newspapers, so that others suffering as I have may see it and be helped. I suffered for many months with an awful skin disease, sores covering my ears, neck, and cheeks. Scabs would form and they would swell, and itch day and night. Then they would break open and blood and matter run out. I had tried many different remedies, but none of them did me any good. I was growing worse when I tried the Cuticura Remedies. The first application helped me, and when I had used two cakes of Cuticura Soap, three boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, I was completely cured."

TORTURING, DISFIGURING

Humours, Eczemas, Itchings, and Chafings Cured by Cuticura

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants, and anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter, and salt rheum,—all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stands proven beyond all doubt by the testimony of the civilized world.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, S. Towns & Co., Sydney; Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props.

A Premium On Marriage

J. D. Martin, restaurateur, agrees with President Roosevelt on the subject of race suicide, and announced that he would give $100 to each of his employees who got married, and $50 for each child born in the families of his employees. He got action immediately. The next morning two waiters blushingly announced to him that they needed the money to go to housekeeping on, and one of them will get $200 as he is going to marry one of Martin's cooks. Another came in a little later, announced that it was a boy, and the $50 would come right in handy. Mr. Martin did not "renig," but says he is ready to pay for all comers. He denies, however, that he has received a telegram of congratulations from the President.

As a Convalescent Food.

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington Co., Ont., writes:—My wife had congestion of the lungs and other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that built her up."

It is understood that a writ has been issued by the South Wales Miners' Federation against the United Nation Colliery Company, Wattstown, claiming damages under the common law in respect of the loss of more than 100 lives in the explosion last summer.

Death Came Suddenly At Rat Portage

Archibald Brooks, a Former Peterboro' Resident, Found Dead in Bed in Western Town—Several Members of Family Reside Here—Deceased Was Engaged in Mining Operations—Removed About 15 Years Ago.

THE PARTICULARS ARE MEAGRE

A telegram was received on Saturday last by Mr. Thomas Huston, of Otonabee, conveying the intelligence of the death in Rat Portage, of Archibald Brooks, a former resident of Peterborough.

The particulars regarding the manner of death were very meagre, merely stating that he had been found dead in bed. The deceased was engaged in mining operations, about twenty-five miles from Rat Portage. A number of the family of the late Mr. Brooks reside in Peterborough. His wife, who was Miss Jane Huston, sister of Mr. Thos. Huston, predeceased him by a number of years. He removed from Peterborough to the West about fifteen years ago.

Surviving children of the deceased are four daughters and two sons. They are Mrs. Bruce Doupe, Mrs. John Hovey, and Miss Blanche Brooks, of Peterborough; Mrs. Jas. Rose, of Otonabee; Mr. Lorne Brooks of Peterborough; and Mr. Fred Brooks, of Sault Ste. Marie.

The telegram received on Saturday from a friend of the late Mr. Brooks, named Fife. An inquiry was at once made, and it is expected that further particulars will be forthcoming at once.

Injury Caused By Rolling Log

Otonabee Man Sustained Painful Injury Last Week.

Mr. Walter Robinson, of Otonabee, on Friday last sustained a somewhat painful injury while engaged with a team, in drawing logs for Mr. Howden.

While putting on a load at Campbelltown one log rolled from the waggon. Mr. Robinson attempted to replace it when it slipped and rolled with great force upon his leg. No bones, happily were broken. The injured man was removed to his home and was attended by Dr. Carmichael. He is now resting easily, and his many friends hope for an early recovery.

OYSTER SUPPER AND SALE OF WORK

The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church will hold a sale of work on Wednesday, Dec. 13th, in the Sons of England Hall, Hunter Street, beginning at 12 o'clock at noon. Oysters will be served, and the Ladies will be glad to have the business people of the town call and have a bowl of oysters at twelve or six o'clock. Admission free.

Skater Was Rescued In A Canoe

Frigid Baths For Many Skaters on Saturday—Several Fatalities Were Narrowly Averted—Accidents in Various Parts of the City—Timely and Heroic Action Saved Many Lives.

SKATERS SHOULD TAKE WARNING

While the early skating season, locally, has so far been responsible for but one probable fatality, it is a matter of surprise that this number has not been greatly augmented, in view of the number of escapes by the narrowest possible margin, Saturday afternoon was marked by a number of these incidents in various parts of of the city.

Little Lake appears to have been the scene most productive of accidents, though several boys also took involuntary baths at Goose Island.

Probably the most exciting incident of the kind took place about three o'clock, when a young man named Guerin, while skating near the point at the cemetery, went through the ice about thirty yards from the shore. His position was one of extreme peril and had it not been for the timely and courageous efforts of a spectator, whose name is withheld at his own request, a fatality was an almost certain consequence. The ice surrounding the young man in the water was extremely thin, and would not support the weight of Guerin. The young man mentioned, promptly secured a canoe, which was lying upon the shore, and seated astride pushed his way across the ice till Guerin was enabled to grasp the end of the boat, and was quickly succoured from his perilous position. A considerable crowd had assembled upon the shore by this time, and both young men seated in the stern, the canoe was paddled back with a hockey stick, the bow being forced in this way to the surface of the ice, where it was pulled in by the spectators.

Following the dip in the frigid waters, Guerin was, as might be expected, in anything but a comfortable condition, and was at once taken by Mr. Frank Wise, superintendent of the cemetery, to his residence, where a hot bath was administered and dry clothes loaned.

Another accident occurred during the afternoon a short distance below the point, a skater being rescued from the water by means of a plank thrown from the shore by Mr. McDonald, who is employed by Mr. Wise.

The swift current renders the section of the ice where the accidents occurred highly dangerous for skating, and Mr. Wise states that the only portion of the lake which may be depended upon is that in the bay near McDonald's mill.

At Goose Island a number of accidents occurred to mar the pleasure of the numerous small boys who assembled there. Wm. Saxby was one of the victims of a cold dip, and was pulled from the aqua pura by a boy named Tully. Another boy named Misner also took an involuntary plunge into the frigid.

On Saturday morning, Vernon Miller, a son of Mr. J. C. Miller, 28 Harvey street, also broke through while attempting to skate around the island.

He was rescued by Chalmer Nicholls who pulled him from the water by means of a hockey stick. In the cases mentioned very considerable risk was taken by the rescuers, who are deserving of every credit for their action. The moral attaching to the incidents should be obvious, and the many cases which have arisen should be regarded as a warning against the dangers.

Ald. R. H. Leary Reaches Mexico

Improvement Noticeable in His Brother's Condition.

A letter has been received by Mrs. Leary from Ald. R. H. Leary, who left a few days ago for Santa Anna, where his brother Charles Leary, has been lying at death's door as a result of the murderous attack of a Mexican miner.

Ald. Leary was then upon the last stage of his journey when he wrote, this being through about 65 miles of rough country, which distance was traversed by mule train, with an escort.

The writer stated that he had just received a telegram from his brother's attendants, stating that a pronounced improvement was noticeable in his condition.

Judge Dean Of Lindsay Died To-day

Deceased Gentleman Was One of Best Known Members of Canadian Bar--A Highly Respected Citizen of Passes Away--Complication of Diseases Following Pneumonia the Cause--Was Judge of Victoria County.

HIS HONOUR A LINDSAY CITIZEN

Special Wire to the Examiner

Lindsay, Dec. 11.—Judge Dean, senior judge of Victoria County, died this morning as a result of complications following an attack of pneumonia.

His Honour William Warren Dean, County Court Judge, was the fifth son of the late Rev. Horace Dean (Methodist) by his wife, Ruth Tisdale, both of U.E.L. descent. Born in London, Ont., October 25, 1830, he was educated at the Barrie Grammar School and at Victoria University, Cobourg (B.A., 1854). He studied law under the late Hon. Lewis Wallbridge, Q.C., afterwards Chief Justice of Manitoba, and was called to the bar in 1858. He practiced in Hellyville, where he became Master in Chancery. For a short period he was acting Deputy Minister of Justice under Hon. Edward Blake, but gave up that position on his appointment, September 9, 1874, to be Judge of the County Court of Victoria. His Honour was a member of the Methodist church and had attended the general conferences of that body. He was also a member of the Board of Regents of Victoria University. He married early in life the eldest daughter of the late Gilbert Bogart, Belleville.

A Puzzler On Saturday

Only One Person Correctly Named the Picture.

As was predicted on Saturday the picture of five prominent citizens published in that issue, was a puzzler. Only one person guessed all the names correctly, Mr. F. E. Bell, who named them as follows:—Messrs. R. M. Denistoun, G. M. Roger, E. H. D. Hall, E.B. Edwards and Mr. Beck all but the latter, as was stated, being in the city. A lady who does not wish her name mentioned, first telephoned in and she recognized three of the gentlemen, Messrs. Denistoun, Roger and Hall. Mr. R. E. Wood, shortly afterwards communicated with this office. He named them all except Mr. Denistoun, whose youthful appearance puzzled him. Mr. L. M. Hayes named all the men except Mr. Beck. Dr. Burnham was like Mr. Wood. He knew them all except Mr. Denistoun. Mr. Bell later 'phoned in, giving the correct names.

T. W. Rainie Met Sudden Death In Campbellford

Special to The Examiner.

Campbellford, Dec 11.—Early yesterday afternoon T. W. Rainie, a well-known resident of this town, met with an accident which caused his death. He left the house by a side door, and was in the act of descending the steps, when he was seized with a stroke. He fell down the steps, receiving injuries about the head from which he died about an hour later, never regaining consciousness. Mr. Rainie was 62 years old.

PETERBOROUGH MEETING

OF THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

VERY LARGELY ATTENDED

Splendid, Practical Addresses—Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., Spoke—Messrs. C. W. Nash, G. G. Publow, W. C. Shearer and Miss Laura Rose Gave Addresses—Insect Pests, Dairying, Composition of Milk, and the Bacon Hog Discussed—Excellent Work of President Hunter and Secretary Collins.

The Peterborough meeting of the West Peterborough Farmer's Institute was held last Saturday afternoon at the Council Chamber, and was attended by a record-breaking crowd. That a greater interest is being taken in the meetings of this enterprising society was shown by the great increase in numbers of the gathering over that of previous years. The Institute is doing a splendid work for the agriculturists of this district, who, perhaps, do not appreciate the importance of this live body to the fullest extent. But they are gradually realizing that to be thoroughly alive to their own best interests it is almost essential that they be members of the West Peterborough Farmer's Institute, for it is at the meetings held under its auspices that the greatest amount of knowledge, practical and theoretical, can be obtained. This may seem rather an extravagant claim, but it is not. And why? For the simple reason that the very best speakrse that the Government can employ, those who thoroughly understand farming in all its branches and who may be termed agricultural specialists, are invariably engaged. The speakers after they have delivered their addresses are always ready to answer any questions regarding the subject they have spoken on. And more than this, the audience is encouraged to ask these questions. So it may be seen that a man who wishes to be enlightened on a point that he does not thoroughly understand, and one that may obtain the information he desires from the speakers at these meetings.

The gathering on Saturday was favoured by the presence of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., member for West Peterborough, who spoke a few words of encouragement to the farmers, and highly commended the work of the Institute. The other speakers, Mr. C. W. Nash, Miss Laura Rose, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; Mr. G. G. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, and W. C. Shearer, thoroughly understood the topics they dealt with, and those present could not but have benefitted by their very useful addresses.

The meeting was opened by an address by President Hunter, after which Mr. Nash spoke at some length on "Our Insect Pests." His discourse was very comprehensive and of the greatest practical interest to the farmer. He referred to the hot fly, one of the most troublesome insects that the agriculturist has to deal with, and also gave the remedy for their extermination. When the hot fly deposits its eggs on the body of an animal, and it always leaves them on the legs or lower part of the body, the creature generally endeavours to lick them off, but is not very successful as a rule, owing to the tenacious properties of the eggs, and they are immediately fertilized when they come into contact with the animal's saliva. He referred to the great agony caused by their presence, and advised the owner of any stock thus afflicted to have the eggs removed as soon as discovered. The horn fly is also a source of great annoyance to horned cattle. They appear in June, and that is the month in which to eliminate them. They are noticeable on rainy days or early in the morning. Every fly that is killed then will prevent the increase of hordes of others. A lot of troublesome little insects also annoy cattle when they are in their winter quarters; they also affect poultry. These are a species of lice. Although they are very readily controlled, as any greasy substance will kill these vermin.

The only way to control the pea weevil is to harvest the pea crop early and thresh as soon as possible.

Mr. R.R. Hall M.P.

Mr. Hall, upon arising to speak, was very cordially received by the gathering. In a brief speech he referred in glowing terms to the great work being accomplished by the Institute, and said that every farmer that possibly could should become a member and avail himself of the great opportunity for advancement in the world of agriculture afforded by this splendid society. He said that Canada excelled particularly in dairying and cheese-making, and stated that in the past season this country had exported five times as much cheese as either the United States or Holland. This shows the result of careful investigation and study along the cheese-making line. He was very enthusiastic over the splendid showing of the different Farmer's Institutes, and strongly advocated their increase.

"The Composition of Milk."

Miss Rose spoke on this very interesting subject, and, using a chart upon which was printed the various ingredients of milk in their different percentages, made her lecture very clear to the audience. The most constant constituent of milk is sugar with an average of 3.6 per cent. The richest coloured milk, contrary to general belief, is not obtained from the Jersey cow, but from the Guernsey. The Jersey, as far as colour is concerned, comes next, however. The speaker considered the milk of the Guernsey too highly coloured for butter-making. The milk of the Jersey makes the best butter. The milk of the Ayrshire contains the smallest fat globules which makes its milk the most desirable for cheese, as the globules are not so readily separated as the larger ones. Curd, or casein is very essential in cheese-making and is that constituent of milk that coagulates under the action of any acid. One hundred pounds of milk contains two and one-half pounds of casein.

It is the nitrogenous element of milk that builds up muscle. There is seven-tenths of a pound of albumen in every hundred pounds of milk, that is, taking it at an average; but in the milk of a cow that has recently had a calf there is from twelve to fifteen per cent., altogether too much for any other purpose than that of providing food for the calf. Albumen is the same substance as the white of an egg. The sugar in milk sometimes averages as high as five per cent. Ash is a very necessary and a most nourishing element. It is found in a percentage of about seven-tenths. Water is the tissue-building property of milk, and in every hundred pounds of milk there are eighty-seven pounds of water. Miss Rose dwelt upon the necessity of milking cows properly and treating them kindly. Cows should be milked with a quick and vigorous stroke, but their teats should be handled gently. It is a great mistake for the dairyman to allow a weak handed person to milk his cows because this in time will invariably ruin the cows. One who is not a strong milker cannot excite a responsive feeling in the cow's udder, and neither can enough of the milk be drawn forth. Running cows, setting dogs on them and abusing them generally is a great mistake and should not be tolerated by the owner.

Mr. Publow,

"Dairying," said Mr. Publow, in commencing his address, "is a very profitable business." He instructed those present in the best ways to make fancy dairying products with profit, and said that a man should decide at the beginning which line he will follow up, cheese or butter-making. The most profitable cow for butter-making purposes is the one that gives the largest flow of fresh milk. For the man who wants to have the cows whose milk is the most suitable for cheese-making, the Ayrshire and Holstein are the best. Farmers don't know cows sufficiently well. For the best results a man must have the right kind of cow and give it the right kind of food. It is unreasonable to expect a large flow of milk from a cow that has been fed on dry fodder and other comparatively juiceless foods. Grass is unquestionably the very best food for a milch cow, and it is necessary that the animal has plenty of it. Farmers don't supply cows with enough water in dry weather, and it is of vital importance that the water should be the very best, as good as the owners use at their own tables. In Peterborough county this season there were eleven or twelve pounds of milk to a pound of cheese, indicating that in the milk there was altogether too low a percentage of fat. The farmer is the man who produces the milk and he is responsible for the quality of the cheese. The cheese makers and their assistants, argued the speaker, are only hired by the farmer to make the cheese. If the farmers knew more about the fundamental principles of cheese and butter making they would select their cows to better advantage. Suitable food is essential. The cow stables must be kept clean and the cow also; the cow's surroundings must be perfectly clean as well to obtain the best results. The milk cans especially if these cans are returned to the factories with whey in them, should be washed out with lukewarm water first, then thoroughly scalded. The reason that lukewarm water should be used in preference to hot is because hot water causes the albumen in the can to adhere to side of the can. The temperature of the milk must be properly regulated; 65 degrees Farenheit is the ideal temperature. The only way to get satisfactory results is to have the proper cans, regulate the temperature properly and have a suitable place for keeping the milk. The milk that makes the best cheese is clean, cool, sweet milk. The cheese factory should be inspected regularly by its patrons for the purpose of seeing that the work is being properly done. factories should be the model buildings instead of the disreputable shacks that a good many are to-day. The cheese factory should be one of the finest buildings in the section and should be a place where the patrons can assemble and discuss matters bearing upon the cheese making business.

Mr. Shearer,

"The Bacon Hog and its Feeding" was handled in a masterly manner by Mr. Shearer. Mr. Shearer is a practical farmer and knows whereof he speaks. His addresses are always listened to with interest and cannot fail to do a great deal of good to those who hear them. His talk on the bacon hog was not only intensely interesting, but very instructive, and those who were fortunate enough to hear him will no doubt profit by his sound advice and take advantage of the many useful hints he gave on a subject that has, is, and from present indications always will, be of the greatest interest and importance, to the farmer. Hogs are raised in great numbers all over the province. But do they pay? That is the burning question with the hog raisers of to-day. Mr. Shearer proved conclusively that they would if the proper method of raising and fattening

Sunday School Anniversay At Mark Street

A Former Pastor Preached Sermons in Connection With the Anniversary Yesterday —Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., of Pickering, Heard by Large Congregations—Addressed Sunday School in Afternoon.

THE RESULTS WERE MOST SATISFACTORY

Yesterday Sunday School Anniversary Services were held in the Mark Street Methodist Church. This year this school adopted a new mode of procedure in its anniversary and instead of holding special services on Sunday and an entertainment on the following day, as has been the custom, a thankoffering was taken at the Sunday services to provide the necessary funds for the prosecution of the work of the school, and this was found to be much the more satisfactory way, and the school is to be congratulated upon having taken this forward step. The success of yesterday is sufficient demonstration of the fact that it was the proper course to pursue.

The services were largely attended, and the sermons which were preached by Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph. B., of Pickering, a former pastor of this church were much enjoyed by the many members of his former congregation, who heard him again with pleasure. He preached at the morning and evening church services and addressed the Sunday School in the afternoon. In the morning his subject was "The Word of God", and his text Joshua 1:8, "This Book of the law shall not depart out of the mouth; but thou shall meditate therein day and night, that thou mayst observe to do according to all that is written therein; for then thou shalt make thy way prosperous and then shalt have good success." This Book, the speaker remarked, was the book of books, containing the law and the Gospel. The Gospel proclaimed through the word of God is called good tidings of great joy, and God has sent it to all the people of the earth.

God's intention was that since the Book contained the rule of life it should be read and meditated upon by each of us.

The Bereans were commended because they were diligent in their study of the word. He was afraid that some of us were not careful students of the Bible. It should be read both in private and also at the family altar.

The Bible aims at character building. It is not what we profess to be that counts, but what we really are in the estimation of God.

We find the speaker stated, in this text temporal prosperity promised.

There is no one who does not want to get along well in this world and this was only a natural desire, which was commendable. The reverend gentleman believed that if we follow the word of God, He will take the responsibility and will make our way prosperous. He emphasized the thought that in the Bible was to be found something to meet every circumstance of life. Therefore, it is a book for all classes.

In the afternoon at the session of the Sunday School, Rev. Mr. Moore also spoke, addressing his remarks to the members of the school. He preached at the evening service as well.

Purity of The Blood

THE BEST PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE — OBTAINED BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

If you enquire into the cause of sickness, pain and suffering, you will find that fifty nine-tenths of it result from derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

This was the truth arrived at by Dr. Chase when he began experiments which led to the discovery of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver and kidneys are intimately related as filterers of the blood, and the regularity of the bowels depends on the healthful action of the liver.

Hence it happens that when the liver and kidneys are made healthy and vigorous by the influence of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, such diseases as biliousness, liver complaint, kidney disease, indigestion and constipation soon entirely disappear.

With the liver and kidneys in healthful working order, the purity of the blood is ensured and you are protected against colds, fevers and contagious and infectious diseases.

As a family medicine to promptly cure the most common ills of life, there is no preparation that can be compared with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In every neighbourhood there are people who have proven merits of this great medicine. Ask them.

Mr. Jos. Lutton, Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled very much with kidney disease for a long time and was unable to obtain relief. A friend advised me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they have proven of very great benefit to me. I have used a number of boxes of this excellent medicine and feel it a duty to recommend it to other sufferers.

"My mother thinks that there is no better tonic than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and others of my friends have used this food cure with splendid results."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. Pain cannot exist where Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster is applied. 12

BOTH FOOD AND MEDICINE.

We like best to call Scott's Emulsion a food-medicine. It is a term that aptly describes the character and action of our Emulsion. More than a medicine—more than a food, yet combining the vital principles of both. It is for this reason that Scott's Emulsion has a distinct and special value in all wasting diseases. There is nothing better to remedy the troubles of imperfect growth and delicate health in children. The action of Scott's Emulsion is just as effective in treating weakness and wasting in adults.

Competition In Telephones In Brantford

The Canadian Machine Telephone Company in its Application for a Franchise in That City—Council Decides to Adopt a Competitive System—Two Companies After Franchises—Mr. F. D. MacKay Addresses Council.

WILL THE MACHINE COMPANY SUCCEED?

The telephone situation in Brantfordd is reaching a crisis. The Expositor of Saturday had a lengthy article reporting a conference in which the subject was under consideration. It says, in part:—

The telephone question in this city has been re-opened. At a meeting last night the telephone committee of the City Council declared in favour of competition in telephones in Brantford and pronounced for the granting of a competitive franchise to one of the two companies now having applications before the council, provided that satisfactory terms to the city could be made in regard to the rates and service. This, in brief, was the result of a couple of hours' discussion and it was decided that another meeting of the committee should be held next Tuesday night, when the matter of going further into details will be taken up, and if one or other of the companies will agree to accept it a franchise will be recommended to the council and all details will be put in such shape that the necessary bylaw can be passed, if the council so desires.

The Offers.

The Ontario company wants a 20-year competitive franchise, will set out to the city at any time in the event of the municipality desiring to embark in municipal ownership, will lay all wires underground, will give city ten free telephones, will allow city to use poles for fire alarm system, and will charge $25 for business, $18 for residential, $10 for party lines of four, $12 for party lines of two, and $6 for desk 'phones.

The Canada Machine Telephone Company wants a 21-year competitive franchise, will operate within twelve months of the date of the franchise, will sell plant to the city at any time after ten years in case the city desires municipal ownership, will place wires on no streets unless the council is willing, will give city use of poles for fire alarm system, and will furnish business 'phones at $25 and house instruments at $15 per year.

The existing rates of the Bell Telephone company in this city are $30 for business and $25 per year for house 'phones. It is not known whether the company intends to lower its rates in the event of competition from other companies.

The Machine Company.

Mr. McKay was the first to speak in behalf of his company. He claimed the dual system was the one method of bringing good service at reasonable rates. It would increase the use of the telephone. By right there should be one 'phone in use for every 10 people of the city, whereas here there were but 600 with 20 000 population. If his company came in they would increase existing business 'phones by 20 per cent. and residential 'phones would leap from 193, as now, to 800. Practically the same thing had been done in Peterborough. The company for more than a year had been before the citizens of Brantford and had now shown their goods. The system was the best, no other being able to offer a better service. It was a Brantford invention, in which Brantford capital was interested, and he hoped for a franchise.

The Vote.

The vote was taken, and all aldermen with the exception of Ald. Leitch voted for competition and expressed themselves as favourable to granting a competitive franchise to one of the two companies applying, provided terms suitable to the city could be secured.

Peterboro' Meeting of Farmers' Institute

was followed by the breeder. The Tamworth hog, he said, is the typical bacon hog. The Berkshire and Yorkshire also come under the class of bacon hogs. Farmers keep hogs which in many cases, cost more for their keeping, than they actually net the owners. The speaker stated that this was a fact and that he had had actual experience himself. A good warm pen in winter is necessary and the food fed to hogs should be absolutely sound. Rotten food is the cause of so much hog cholera. The pen should be sufficiently large and it is a good idea to have the windows facing south and they also should be of a good size. Plenty of light is necessary for the very best results. The floor should also be good, and a cement floor is preferrable. Milk and middlings make good food as also does whey and grain, the latter mixed in a proportion of about twenty-five pounds of grain to one hundred pounds of whey. For a sow about to have a litter, the former is more desirable. And here's a point about nursing. Most farmers wean their sucking pigs when they are too young. Five or six weeks is too early an age at which to take the young pigs away from the sow. Eight weeks as soon enough, and in his own case Mr. Sheafer said that he has found that to leave the pigs with the sow until they had attained an age of ten weeks produced the best results. November pigs, provided, they had been properly fed and reared, should be ready for market about June. Two hundred pounds is the proper weight for the pig to be the most saleable at, and to give the most satisfaction to the consumer of the pork.

The best way to figure the cost of raising the hog is to weigh them about every two weeks and by so doing a man can, by taking into consideration the cost of the feed during that time and considering what labour is worth, pretty nearly estimate the amount of money expended.

Praise for Messrs. Hunter and Collins

It would not be fitting to conclude the report of this meeting without giving the praise due Messrs. Hunter and Collins, President and Secretary-Treasurer, respectively, of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute. These two able and energetic officials have worked incessantly in the best interests of the Institute, and it is, no doubt, largely due to their untiring efforts that the meetings have been such unqualified successes. The Institute was never in as good a condition as it is now and these two gentelmen richly merit unstinted praise.

Recipes given by Mr. Nash:

For extermination of pea weevil, bisulphate of carbon.

Horr fly and other insect pests, 1 lb. fennel powder, and 5 oz. of pyrethrium. Sprinkle over the infected animal. In the case of fowl use ordinary smell bellows and blow it over them.

THE BEST IS CHEAPEST

"Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind) is the purest and best form in which Ozone is put up. Each bottle of it contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King", the well known laxative which should always be used with Ozone.

By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" you get Ozone in its most efficient form and you get about twice as much of it for your money as of other brands. You also get the package of "Celery King" without charge.

No other brand of Ozone offers this advantage because no other firm can give you the "Celery King." This is the only way to procure the full value of your Ozone purchase

"Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is fifty cents and one dollar at your druggists and if he hasn't it the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg Ont., will see that you are supplied. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 12

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A correspondent writes to the Examiner to say that the statement made at the meeting in the Council Chamber on Friday night that the Ministerial Association was a unit, on the resolution, is not supported by facts. He states that there are, to his knowledge, two members of that body who are opposed to it, and to the action taken at the meeting on Friday night.

Hon. Mr. Whitney is not so bad after all in spite of the berating he has been subjected to on the head of the Toronto license officials dismissals. He had made the Commissioners, who were cuckooed out, Justices of the Peace, so that unless the Squires are decapitated they will still be on the Commission. This is a delicate foresight on the part of the Premier which should not be forgotten.

Dummer Said To Be Hopeful

Rev. A. H. Brace took a hand in the local option campaign by preaching a temperance sermon on Sunday to a large congregation at Warsaw. The township is hopeful and they are looking for a large majority for local option.

WE SELL GOOD SKATES CHEAP THE BEST STOVE CO.

Late Harrison Corey Was Highly Respected

One of the Most Prominent Citizens of Petrolia—Was Interested in a Number of Industrial Enterprises—Mrs. P. Campbell, of This City, a Daughter.

The Petrolia Advertiser has the following in reference to the death of Mr. Harrison Corey, Mrs. P. Campbell's father:

"The subject of this sketch was born at Shortsville, in the State of New York, on the 25th of June, 18140. The family came to Caledonia in 1852, and in 1861, the young man, having become of age, moved to Stratford, where he remained until 1872, in which year he came to Petrolia. He was from the start one of the leading spirits of the town, and having a great fund of humour, and also being very large hearted and ready to lend a helping hand, wherever needed, and often when he could not really at that time afford to do it, his popularity was unbounded and well deserved. Nobody ever thought of referring to him by any name but the nick-name 'Tip,' that stuck by him throughout his career, and always had an affectionate ring to it that indicated the regard of his contemporaries. Being always enterprising and thoroughly imbued with the prevailing tendencies of that exciting and speculative period, he at once got into the oil-producing business, and he met with success, and has been ever since smiled upon by the goddess of fortune, who seldom looks with favour on those who do not put forth much industry and effort. His success as a producer was obtained in spite of the fact that he probably put down more dry holes than any other man in the business, but he kept right on and won out in the end. He also had a large business in supplying various railways with oils, that was a great success, and the torpedo business was for many years an important branch of his business. Besides his interest here he also had many in various other places. The producing properties in this territory that he has been, and is, interested in, are located in the townships of Sarnia, Moore, Enniskillen and Plympton.

"He also had large interests in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania fields, in which oil territories he and his son, Bloss P. Corey, have been operating since 1893. He was first Vice-President of the Globe Stone Company, of Joliette, Ill., President of the Draper Manufacturing Company, of Port Huron, and a director of the Merchants Fire Insurance Company, of Toronto, and President of the Petrolia Packing Company. He was an attendant at, and a loyal supporter of, the English Church, and in politics he was a Conservative. In 1861 he was married to Miss Eugenia Frances Pope, of New York city, who, with four daughters and two sons, mourn the loss of one of the kindest and most indulgent husband and fathers.

"The daughters are Mrs. O. L. Lewis, Chatham; Mrs. Peter Campbell, of Peterborough; Mrs. Frank Fisher, of Hamilton; and Mrs. A. A. Reinhardt, of Toronto; and the sons, Messrs. B. P. Corey and Harry E. Corey, of Petrolia.

"Death resulted from acute indigestion after an illness of only about two hours in the early morning of November 28th, at Washington, D. C., where he and Mrs. Corey had been spending a few days. Everything possible was done by physicians and nurses but all to no avail. Mr. B. P. Corey proceeded to Washington, and brought back the remains, arriving here by a special M.C.R. train on Thursday. The funeral was held on Saturday, the services being conducted by Rev. Canon Craig and the Rev. Rural Dean McCosh of Chatham. The funeral was largely attended and many friends from distant points came to pay their last respects to the deceased. The honorary pall bearers were Mr. F. Smith, Sarnia; and Messrs. Jas. McCort, John Fraser J. H. Fairbank, J. L. Englehart and D. Dawson, of Petrolia, while the active pall-bearers were selected from among the Oddfellows, who had charge of the funeral, the deceased having taken great interest in that organization during his life time.

"The flowers sent by friends were beautiful and in lovely design, and constituted the loving tribute of a host of friends in all parts of the country."

A Resident For Thirteen Years

Deceased Wm. C. Thomas Was Highly Respected.

After an illness of about a year, the death occurred yesterday at his home, 187 Rubidge street, of Mr. Wm. C. Thomas, who for the last thirteen years has been a resident of Peterborough. Deceased, while he had been ailing for about a year was only confined to his bed a few weeks, and, in fact, about a month ago, was working for a few days, at the factory of the B. F. Ackerman, Soni & Company, of which firm he was an employee for eighteen years, continuously, removing here from Port Perry, when Mr. Ackerman brought his factory here, thirteen years ago.

The deceased was born in Dublin, Ireland, about 65 years ago, and lived after coming to Canada at Port Perry, before coming to Peterborough. He was married to Miss Johanna Curtis, by whom, with three daughters, he is survived. The daughters are Mrs. Roach, Thornbury; Mrs H. Forester, North Monaghan; and Miss Lou., who for some years has taught in the West Ward school. The only other relatives the deceased had in Canada were Mrs. Ed. Caswell, of Oshawa, a sister, and Miss E. Thomas, of Port Perry, a cousin.

The late Mr. Thomas was a member of the Charlotte street Methodist church, and also belonged to the Sons of Temperance.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, from his late residence, to the Little Lake cemetery.

Funeral Was Largely Attended

Obsequies of the Late George McFadden Yesterday.

The funeral of the late George McFadden took place yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large number of friends and sympathizers with the family, who assembled to pay their last respects to the deceased, whose sterling qualities and disposition made him generally beloved.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Kelly at St. Peter's Cathedral, the long cortege moving thence to St. Peter's Cemetery, where the last sad rites at the graveside were performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brien. The pall-bearers were as follows: Messrs. Fred. La Plante, John McCabe, John Comstock, Emmett Doherty, James Dorris and John Donohue. The members of the T. A. S. of which the late Mr. McFadden was a valued and highly esteemed member, attended the funeral in a body in large numbers, and the seating capacity of the cathedral was taxed to its utmost.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, including wreaths from the firms of Merrell and Meredith and A. G. Dickson.

The members of the family of the late Mr. McFadden wish to express their sincere thanks to the many friends who, during the illness of the deceased, manifested a kindly sympathy by generously ministering in many ways to his material comfort.

St. John's Young People's Meeting

To-night at the regular fortnightly meeting of St. John's Anglican Young People's Association there will be read several papers on the Bible by able essayists, including "The Bible in the Schools," "The Bible in the Home" and "The Revisions of the Bible." There will also be a number of musical selections on the programme. Everybody is heartily welcome at these meetings and the young people of the congregation are especially invited to attend and become affiliated with the Association as members.

Is President Of Committee

Mr. R. W. Mann's Popularity at Toronto University.

The Toronto Sunday World of yesterday contains a photograph of the "At Home" Committee of the Medical Faculty of the University of Toronto. Mr. Robert W. Mann, of Bridgenorth, who is well known in Peterborough and vicinity, is president of the committee. He was formerly connected with the Test Department of the Canadian General Electric Company, of this city. When Mr. Mann left the Canadian General Electric Company to study medicine he entered Trinity University, which, since his entrance, has become part of the University of Toronto. Mr. Mann has made great progress in the study of his chosen profession, and has many friends in this vicinity will be pleased to learn of his social popularity in university circles. He graduates in 1906.

A Gay Week In Peterborough

Many Social Events at Close of the Year.

The closing week of the New Year, and the early part of January promises to be socially decidedly gay in Peterborough. Already it is announced that quite a number of "house parties" of the coming out variety will take place, while several large assemblies of a public nature will take place.

The University students from Peterborough, who are at present in attendance at Montreal, Toronto and Kingston, announce that they will give a dance in the National Hotel on Christmas Night. A large dance in aid of the Deep Sea Mission, and which is being promoted by Mrs. D. Hughes Charles, promises to be a most enjoyable affair. It will be held in the Ashburnham town hall on New Year's night.

It is understood that the Peterborough Club will give an at home to their friends during Christmas week.

The "Never Learn" Club also announce that they will have a dance in the Foresters' Hall, on New Year's night.

Altogether there promises to be a rather gay season.

Minister Spent A Busy Day

Rev. J. E. Moore, Ph.B., who preached at the Mark street church yesterday, put in a pretty busy day. At 7 o'clock he attended the early prayer meeting, the class meeting at 10 o'clock, preaching service at 11, the Sunday school at 2.45, the prayer meeting at 6.15, preaching service at 7 o'clock, and after the service conducted another revival service.

The results of the special services of yesterday were most satisfactory from a financial standpoint, and the returns will be an increase over those of former years when the old method of raising funds was employed.

Preliminary Arrangements MADE TO-DAY FOR THE Lift Lock Investigation

Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E., Who Will Conduct the Investigation, Arrived in the City This Morning—Will Go to Kirkfield To-morrow—Witnesses Will be Examined—Visited the Lock This Morning.

The preliminary arrangements in connection with the investigation regarding the alleged defective construction of the Peterborough Lift Lock, are being made to-day. Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal, who will conduct the investigation, arrived in the city this morning, and has already paid a visit to the lock. Asked this afternoon as to the opinion he had formed, he stated that he "had no opinion."

Mr. Holgate will probably go to Kirkfield to-morrow, the lock at which place will also be a subject of a similar investigation. He will remain during the week and the examination of witnesses will be proceeded with in the course of a few days.

Messrs. D. O'Connell and R. J. Mc[illegible]lin, of Lindsay, have been retained to conduct the examination upon behalf of the Government. A meeting for the arrangement of preliminary details was held this afternoon at the office of the Superintending Engineer.

The Kirkfield investigation, Mr. Holgate states will be deferred till a later date.

Yesterday In Some Peterborough Churches

GEORGE STREET METHODSIT.

The services in the George street Methodist church yesterday, were well attended. The subject of the morning sermon, which, as well as that at night, was preached by the pastor, was "Paul's commission," and at the evening service the subject dealt with was "Abraham's call."

The choir gave suitable music, the anthem at night being "Nearer My God, to Thee," and the offertory selection was Boethoven's "Nunc Dimittis."

To-night the regular meeting of the Epworth League will be held, and to-morrow night the Girls' Guild. The Finance Committee of the Quarterly Board will also meet to-morrow night.

On Wednesday the usual prayer meeting will be held, and the teachers' meeting on Friday.

Next Sunday the missionary anniversary services will be held. Rev. Dr. Cade will preach in the morning, and Rev. Dr. Brecken, ex-president of the Nova Scotia conference at night.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST

The musical services in Charlotte street church yesterday were more than ordinarily attractive. In the morning the anthem was "The Outcast," and at the offertory Mr. Fruend sang with good effect, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth."

The anthem at night was, "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say," by Reed, Miss Belleghem taking the soprano solo. At the offertory Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene, sang Liddle's "Abide With Me," to the evident delight of the large congregation. Miss Bryce's sweet soprano voice was heard to good advantage.

The sermon at the service last night was on "God's Law of Fruitage," the central truth being that in this life we reap what we sow.

ST. LUKE'S ANGLICAN.

The sewing meetings of the W. A., the Girls' Auxiliary and the Mission Band have been discontinued till after the holidays.

The annual meeting and election of officers of St. Luke's Men's Guild, will take place to-night in the Guild room on Hunter street. A large attendance is requested.

On Friday evening at eight o'clock the humorous lecture, "The Evolution of the Boy," will be given by the rector. A musical programme will also be a feature of the proceedings.

The members of the W. A. are requested to send to the treasurer, Mrs. S. Gaskins, or to the rector, their self-denials made during the first week in December, so that they may be sent to Toronto this week.

At the evening service yesterday the rector read to the congregation, "The Call to Prayer," on behalf of the Torrey-Alexander mission shortly to be held in Toronto. He urged this people to remember in their private and family devotion the spiritual success of this mission at the throne of grace.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

Park street Baptist young people are entertaining the B. Y. P. U. of the Murray street church at an open session to-night. The Rev. A. H. Brace will read a paper on "What Our Denomination Stands for." A good programme of music has been prepared. The young people are laying themselves out to make this return visit a joyous and profitable affair. The church and congregation are invited to participate.

The Best There Is

In these days of cheap substitutes there is a great inclination to buy something "just as good" in place of the genuine article.

In Gold Watches

this is particularly true. You can have two Watches side by side and one will look as well as the other and yet there may be a difference of $25.00 or $50.00 in the cost. The average purchaser finds out the difference either when told by the seller or after wearing his watch a while. When you buy your Watch there is no doubt about it. You know you get just what you are buying and there's no guess work about it. Isn't that comfortable buying.

AT SCHNEIDER'S

Proof Positive!

If any proof was needed to further establish the fact that Kennedy's Meat Market LEADS, the crush of customers which may be seen at the store, especially on Saturday's, would be ample.

The quality of our Beef, combined with the well-known fact that we are large cattle buyers, is the honest reason.

Remember we have sufficient supplies for the extra Christmas trade, and the large quantity of cattle on hand must be disposed of.

"MacPherson's Fitters" Formed

A very enthusiastic meeting was held in the offices of the F. R. J. MacPherson electric and plumbing establishment on Saturday evening last for the purpose of organizing a hockey team for the coming season.

The officers as elected are :—
President—F. R. J. MacPherson.
Vice-President—W. Fogarty.
Treasurer—C. P. Walker.
Captain—J. W. Young.
Managing Committee.—J. Staton, J. McNichol, F. A. Sisson ,W. Fogarty and C. P. Walker.

"MacPherson's Fitters" was the name chosen for this seplette with "The MacPherson Tartan" for their colours. This is a very strong organization and will find no difficulty in holding its own against all comers.

HOCKEY

The meeting called for to-morrow night to consider the question of a Guild Hockey League for this season has been postponed until Friday night by order of the president of the League.

* * * *

A challenge for the juniors has been received from Belleville asking them to play in that town on Christmas Day. They have decided to accept the challenge and will probably pick their team from the following :—Fitzpatrick, Moore, Long, Squires, Nicholls, Rose, McFarlane, Hall.

With this material the juniors should have a good seven with the above talent to choose from and if their usual hodoo of hard luck does not follow them, should give the Easterners a run for their money.

* * * *

The West End Hockey Team will meet to-night at the Oriental at 7.30 for the purpose of organizing for the season. The following and any others interested are asked to be present :—Scotz, Whaley, Cameron, McKnight, McFadden, Miller brothers, and Leonard Dobson.

Condemnation of The O. R. F. U.

The report of the secretary of the O.R.F.U. says in part :—It is to be regretted that the Hamilton Football Club (senior champions) and Peterborough Football Club (intermediate champions) did not compete for the Canadian championship this year. With all due respect to the Canadian Rugby Football Union, I must say their actions in both cases were far from being fair and just.

BASKET-BALL.

The Brownies are endeavouring to arrange a game with the fast Westmount team of Montreal. In the departure of Mr. A. Boucher, who went to Toronto Friday, to accept a position with the Grand Trunk Railway System, the Brownies lose a star defence man whose fine work on the team in the past has in no small measure been responsible for the laurels the Brownies have won. If he turns out to play the game in Toronto he will be a valuable acquisition to the aggregation that he decides to play with.

BASEBALL.

The Examiner trophy which will be presented to the Charlotte Street baseball team champions of the Guild League by the Hon. J. R. Stratton, at the concert of the Guild on the 14th is on exhibition in Messrs. Richard Hall & Son's show window.

The Y. M. C. A. Debating Club

The bi-weekly meeting of the Y.M. C.A. Debating Club will be held on Wednesday evening, December 13th, at 8 o'clock in the club room.

The subject for debate will be the tariff question. A favourite author will also be taken up. Any member of the Y.M.C.A. may join the society.

Yesterday At The Y. W. C. A.

At the Gospel meeting at the Y.W.C.A. yesterday Rev F. J. Scott, spoke on "God the Great Reality". A sense of God is common to all people, he said. When an effect is seen the cause is searched for, and in searching for the cause to the universe we find God. God is both transcendant and imminent. It is hard for the human mind to grasp these two facts and in an attempt at an understanding many philosophers have wandered into side tracks. Man cannot understand yet God is. We have the revelation of God through Christ. God has been mirrored in Christ and in Christ we learn the characteristics of God. We obtain some idea of God's beautiful righteousness and His all redeeming love. This God is very near to us and anxious to be the abiding companion. "This is life eternal that ye might know the only true God and Jesus Christ Whom He has sent."

Miss Florence Thompson, of Albert College, Belerille, very sweetly sang "Just for To-day."

The Young Women of the Gymnasium Classes at the Y.W.C.A. who are practicing for the Open Evening of Friday, December 15th, will meet to-night (Monday) and Wednesday evenings instead of the usual class night (Tuesday.)

C. G. E. Test Department Loses Two More Members—Gifts Presented by Associates on Saturday Evening—Pleasing Social Gathering at Residence of Mr. Madill—Sixteen Guests Were Present.

DEPARTURE IS MUCH REGRETTED

The members of the C. G. E. Test Department, to the number of sixteen, assembled on Saturday night at the residence of Mr. W. Madill, Bolivar street, where a pleasant event, notwithstanding the attendant circumstances, took place.

The purpose of the gathering was, primarily, to bid farewell to two members of the department who are leaving the city this week to enter upon the duties of positions elsewhere, which they have accepted.

The young men were charmingly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Madill and a delightful social evening was spent. After a recherche supper had been partaken of, a number of short post-prandial orations were delivered by several of the guests in a happy manner.

After this followed one of the pleasing features of the evening, the presentation to the departing young men, Messrs. A. R. Webster and S. D. Coffin, of two handsome gifts. Appropriate replies were made by the recipients, in which both expressed the regret, which they felt at the severance of the ties binding them to the happy associations of the past, the memory of which would, however, long be warmly cherished.

The gifts presented were, to Mr. Webster, a handsome silver-mounted pipe and case; and to Mr. Coffin, a beautiful pair of engraved cuff-links. The former left to-day for Nairn Centre, Ont., where he has accepted a position with the Huronian Company, and the latter, accompanied by Mrs. Coffin, will leave this week for Chicago, Ill. Their departure is much regretted by their associates, both having made a host of friends during their residence here.

The members of the department present on Saturday evening were Messrs. J. Lowes, Lou. Bolin, W. Madill, A. Webster, S. D. Coffin, S. Cammiff, W. Mackay, E. Hooker, H. Hamilton, W. VanNorman, W. H. Hatton, Norman E. Bell, F. Mace, F. Fairweather, G. Hall and W. Baldwin.

Breach of Early Closing By-law

Local Merchant Fined $2 and Costs for This Offence.

At the police court this morning before Police Magistrate Dumble, a local boot and shoe merchant was charged with a violation of the early closing bylaw. He pleaded guilty and the court imposed a fine of $10, but upon the accused stating that he was under a false impression when he pleaded, the magistrate consented to hear the evidence in the case.

A young boy stated that he was in the store about seven o'clock, but was not sure whether it was before or after that hour. He said he thought it was a little after if anything. He had bought a pair of boots in the afternoon and had gone to the store to get them changed. The proprietor had no larger boots in that line in stock, but stated 'ut stretched those that the boy had brought in.

The defendant in testifying stated that he had given the key to his father, ho opened the shop, and he himself went into Henry's grocery store. This was about a quarter to seven. The boy came in in the meantime, and the proprietor went over and waited on him. This was at 7 o'clock.

P. C. Adams said that nobody was in the store when he first went there and that it was after 7 o'clock. He said that later he saw several people in the store. The boy came out about twenty minutes to eight.

The others in the store, explained the proprietor, were his own relatives, and he claimed that no business was done after hours.

The Magistrate held that a breach of the bylaw had been committed, and imposed a fine of $2 and costs. The bylaw he held distinctly stated that the store should be closed after 7 o'clock in the evening.

It cost two men $7.95 for a breach of the Health Act.

IN THE GOOD OLD FASHIONED DAYS

Powdered Wigs Formed an Important Adjunct to a Gentleman's Apparel.

It is safe to say that the majority of bald men of to-day would gladly revive the old, dignified custom if they could. But, they can do the next best thing to it; that is, hold on to what hair they have.

In cases where the hair root or hair bulb has not been completely destroyed by parasites that infest it, Newbro's Herpicide will do wonders in the way of encouraging a new growth of hair. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. That is the successful mission of Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Was Honoured Before Leaving

Mr. Harry Candelint, of the C.G.E. Works Banqueted, at Montreal House.

A pleasing social event took place Friday night at the Montreal House, when the friends, and associates in the tool-making department of the C. G. E. Works assembled, and around the festal board of Mine Host Laroque, bade farewell to Mr. Harry Candelint.

Mr. Candelint has been connected with the tool-making department for about eighteen months, during which time he, by his genial disposition has made a host of friends. He will leave in the immediate future for Uncle Sam's domains where will enter the employ of the Remington Typewriter Works.

About twenty-five guests were present at the banquet which was of a somewhat informal nature. Mr. Samuel Stewart filled most acceptably the position of toast-master and the health of the departing guest was drunk amid general enthusiasm. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr Candelint of a handsome pipe. The presentation was made by Mr. Brown, Foreman of the C. G. E. Postal Department, and a brief and appropriate reply made by the recipient. Many other toasts were proposed and drunk. The menu was a most pleasing and appetizing nature and up to the invariable high standard maintained at the Montreal House.

Missionary Anniversary

Next Sunday missionary services will be held in the Charlotte street and George street Methodist churches, and the special preachers will be Rev Dr. Brecken and Rev. Dr. Cade, of Toronto, the former preaching in Charlotte street in the morning and in George street in the evening, alternating with Rev. Dr. Cade. These gentlemen are among the recognized leaders of Methodist preachers in Canada, and no doubt their sermons in the interest of this important branch of the church's work will be listened to by large congregations.

Count Tolstoi Wants to Die

London, Dec. 10.—"I regret every minute in which I do not feel myself dying." This extraordinary statement is attributed to Count Tolstoi by Mr. W. T. Stead, who recounts a recent interview with the great Russian reformer. "The thought of death is growing so increasingly pleasant," added Count Tolstoi, "that I need to struggle against the fascination of its approach. If I did not believe that I should see some advance however slight, towards the coming of the Kingdom of God I know that I should kill myself."

Fines Imposed Ranging From $250 to $500

Seven Master Plumbers Pay the Penalty For Conspiring.

THE JUDGE'S STIFF REMARKS

Men Consciously Honest Would Not Do the Things They Did — Judge Could Not Believe Any Reputable Counsel Would Have Advised Course Pursued by the Association— $5,000 Fine Paid.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Justice Clute continued in his course on Saturday morning by imposing fines on the seven master plumbers under indictment for having conspired with William Bush, John Priestley, James Richards, Peter McCann and Al McBain of the Journeymen Plumbers' Union

The table of the fines imposed on Saturday is as follows:

William Mansell	$500
Fred Armstrong	300
J. H. Wilson	250
Joseph J. McKittrick	250
Robert W. Harrison	250
George H. Cooper	250
Robert Ross	300

Patrick Joseph Hayes — Suspended sentence.

Total, $2,300.

The Master Plumbers' Association made no trouble about paying the $5,000 imposed by Justice Clute on Friday evening. Crown Attorney Drayton was given a cheque for that amount signed by David Fasken of Beattie, Blackstock & Co., made out to the order of W. R Riddell. It was endorsed by the plumbers' counsel and passed on to Mr. Drayton. It is expected that the individuals will pay their fines Monday.

Holds They May Conspire.

The Supply Association, through George H. Watson, K. C., refused to make a statement as to whether the fine will be paid or the case would be appealed. D. J. O'Donoghue, counsel for the Journeymen's Union, states that he intends to fight the case, as the statute gives his clients permission to conspire to refuse to work for any person.

Of the men mentioned in the above list Mr. Mansell was the only one who did not answer. It was stated that he was in the Southern States on business. Mr. Riddell pleaded for leniency on behalf of his clients, stating that they had been put to a very heavy expense in defending the trial and had undergone a heavy strain. He concluded that he was under the impression that his advice in regard to the I.O.U.'s being paid back was being followed.

Judge Clute's Address.

"As far as the statement of counsel that you had the advice of counsel in what you did," said Justice Clute, addressing the defendants, "I have no doubt that he has been so instructed. I cannot believe and will not accept the statement that any reputable counsel with full knowledge of the facts as they have been disclosed here would advise any such course as was taken by this association and its members.

"So far as the mere acts are concerned, you were very largely instrumental in what has been done. You took an active part for a very long time in respect to the proceedings of the association. You have placed yourselves in a position of persons who have deliberately and continuously broken the law. It may be that you were not aware of the effect of the law, but no person guided by a conscious honesty could have done the things that you did. But at the same time the offence, so far as the statute was concerned, is somewhat new.

One is Lucky.

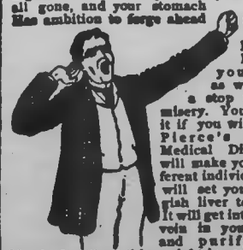
"I have determined to make the sentence somewhat light. In the future they will be dealt with more severely.

"The sentence of the court then is that you, William Mansell, be fined $500; Frederick Armstrong, $300; J. H. Wilson, $250; J. McKittrick, $250; R. W. Harrison, $250; George H. Cooper, $250; Robert Ross, $300.

In regard to Patrick J. Hayes, his Lordship said: For reasons satisfactory to me given by the Crown Attorney I will allow you to go on suspended sentence."

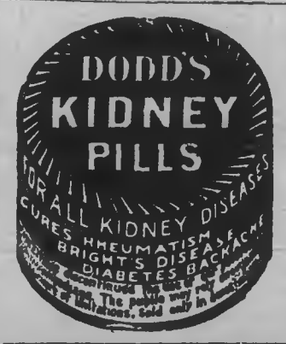
DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.



O. S. Copenhaver, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa. (Box 222), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."



Missionary Society Held Annual Meeting

A Progressive Women's Foreign Missionary Society is That of St. Paul's Church —The Reports Presented at Annual Meeting are Encouraging —Mrs. Sinclair Addressed Ladies on Mission Work.

THE ELECTION OF NEW OFFICERS

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Auxiliary of the W. F. M. S. was held in the schoolroom of the church on Friday afternoon, December 8. There was a good attendance, one hundred and twenty-five ladies being present.

The president, Miss Dickson, occupied the chair. After the opening exercises and prayer offered by Mrs. Robert Hall, the president gave an earnest address, dwelling on our responsibility, the need of earnest watching unto prayer, and how, by prayer, we may be kept in touch with all lands and people.

The annual report was then read by the secretary, Miss Hall, and the financial statement given by Miss Kingan, treasurer.

Miss Ethel Best presented the report of the Fraser Mission Band, and Miss Mattie Robertson the Faithful Workers' report, both of which were most encouraging and satisfactory.

Mrs. Fife moved the adoption of these reports.

Mrs. Sinclair of Fenelon Falls, gave a most interesting and helpful address, taking as her subject, "The Benefits Accruing to Us From Membership in Our Society." The speaker dwelt on the thought that we are benefitted socially, intellectually and spiritually. Intercessory prayer is a very vital part of our spiritual life, self-denial the key-note of service to Him, and the truest and best success is doing and being our best—closing with the thought that we are responsible, not for results, but for efforts.

This address was greatly enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of hearing it, and a most hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Sinclair by Mrs. Torrance and seconded by Mrs. Carmichael.

Miss Weir read a most comprehensive and instructive paper, taking as the title the two last lines of Tennyson's "In Memoriam."

The one far-off divine event
To which the whole creation moves."

Miss Moore sang a solo most acceptably while the offering was being taken. Mrs. McPherson offered the dedicatory prayer and the meeting was closed with the benediction offered by Dr. Torrance.

Election of Officers.

The following officers and Executive Committee were elected for 1906:

Hon. Pres., Mrs. Fairbairn.
Pres., Miss Dickson.
1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. Rogers.
2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Torrance.
Secretary, Miss Hall.
Treasurer, Miss Kingan.
Lit. Sec., Miss Bertha Brown.
Librarian, Mrs. Patterson.
Executive Committee—Mrs. Robert Hall, Mrs. W. G. Ferguson, Mrs. Fife, Mrs. Alex. Gibson, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. McKee, Mrs. Shook, Mrs. Hill and Miss Cameron.

Annual Report.

In reviewing the work of our auxiliary during the past year we would express our gratitude to our Heavenly Father for the way in which He has led us. We find much to encourage us to renewed effort during the coming year, and inspire us to attempt even greater things for Him, whose we are.

Our work has gone steadily on, the meetings have been helpful, interesting and instructive. In September we finished the study of Rev. Christus, and have now taken up Div. Christus, a study of Japan. We find that this systematic course of study has greatly increased the interest in our meetings; excellent papers have been prepared and read, and an interest created in the missions of the world that hitherto was not felt.

Our total membership is 100, of the auxiliary 49 are members of the general society and 18 are life members. The average attendance remains the same as last year, 58.

In August a bale was sent to the Indian Boarding School at Regina, containing clothing for a boy and girl for whom we had been asked to provide, also quilts and other useful articles, the whole valued at $66 04.

Our thank-offering service, held in October, was largely attended, and the contribution the largest we have ever received, amounting to $295.00. In January a bequest of twenty-five dollars was received from the estate of the late Mrs. Bridgy. We would express our thanks to the Stewart Settlement Sunday School for their kind donation of $4. We regret that there has been no increase in the number of subscribers to the Tidings, the number remains the same, 105. In May we had the privilege of having the annual meeting of general society held in our church, the sessions lasting for three days. The meetings were well attended and the result undoubtedly will be increased zeal and enthusiasm in the great work of the society.

At our annual meeting held last December, Miss McBain, of Toronto, gave a most helpful and deeply interesting address, taking as her subject, "Our Responsibilities and Our Opportunities in Foreign Mission Work." The speaker emphasized the magnitude of the work to be done, the need of immediate service and the promise of rich reward. This address was listened to with great pleasure by all present. Miss McBain expects to sail for China in a few days to take up mission work there.

Death has again visited our midst and two of our much loved members, Mrs. Wilmot Haultain and Miss Lucy Reid have been called to higher services; they have ceased from earthly labours, having laid down their work done for higher service in heavenly places. Witness the past few days death has taken from us an aged Christian, Mrs. Moffatt. Though bed-ridden for the past eight years and unable to be with us, we know that at all times we had her loving prayerful sympathy and interest, as evidenced by the fact of her making herself a quilt for our Northwest clothing fund, and at our last thank-offering meeting she sent her contribution with a loving message. Of it may truly be said, "She hath done what she could." We would enter the new year hopefully and earnestly, praying that each member may be awakened to a new realization of her privileges and responsibility in this great work undertaken in His name. May our loving Heavenly Father use us more and more as He sees best to hasten the day when all shall love and serve Him as Lord and God of all.

Open Winter Says the Sages

Several of our villagers, says the Fenelon Falls Gazette, are quite certain that the present winter, now just a week old, will be what is called an "open" one; and we hope it will, as "closed" winters, like the last two, are not at all desirable. It seems that the muskrats, instead of building houses, are amusing themselves at aquatic sports, and that there are practically no buds on the cedar trees, which circumstances are considered infallible signs of mild weather. Now we want to know what the pig and goose have to say on the subject—whether they will contradict or corroborate the evidence given by the cedars and the muskrats. So far, the temperature has been very variable, falling towards the end of last week, no fewer than forty-two degrees in twenty-four hours.

Mr. Turner Returns From Business Trip

Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., Delighted With the Canadian West--Saw Many Former Peterborough People--Went From North Bay as Far West as Winnipeg--Former Residents of This City All Doing Well.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM GOLDEN WEST

Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., has returned from the annual western business trip of the firm. He reports a most successful trip and is, as nearly everybody else is, very optimistic concerning the accomplishments and possibilities of the great West. He met several Peterborough people while he was away and they are doing exceedingly well. Mr. Turner was away for over seven weeks. He was as far west as Winnipeg, and on his return visited St. Paul and Chicago, although he did not attempt to transact any business on the American side. He first went to North Bay and then to Sturgeon Falls, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, Fort Frances, Port Arthur, Fort William, and Winnipeg, returning by the route mentioned above.

At Winnipeg he met Mr. Walter Hagel, a former employee of Messrs. A. H. Stratton & Co. He is at present conducting a very flourishing stationery business, his principal store being on the corner of Portage and Main streets. He is also interested in a branch stationery business at Fort Rouge, Man. Mr. Hagel is evidently successful in more than one line of business, for when Mr. Turner saw him last he had just returned from a honeymoon trip to the Southern States, showing his success in the matrimonial as well as the stationery line.

He also met Herb. and Sidney Byers, of Ashburnham, in the Manitoba capital, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Kidd, who were former residents of this city. Mr. Kidd being an ex-employee of H. F. Ackerman, Son & Co. Mr. Kidd now occupies a very lucrative position as travelling representative of the Adams Bros.' harness-making firm. At Port Arthur Mr. Turner encountered Mr. Archie Stothem, son of Mr. George Stothem, of this city. Mr. Stothem has a first-class position in that town as manager of the Wells, Emmerson Hardware Company. He is one of the most popular and respected business men of the city, and is a counsellor in this widw-awake town of the west. He is also chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. In this town he also came in contact with Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilgar. These are well known in Peterborough, Mrs. Wilgar (Miss May MacFarlane,) being a daughter of Mr. Andrew MacFarlane, of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company. Mr. Ernest MacFarlane, brother of Mrs. Wilgar, who is also well known in Peterborough, is connected with the hardware firm of Wells & Emmerson. At North Bay Mr. Turner saw the sewer excavations being carried on, and says that it was necessary to blast through 16 feet of solid rock. This must have been an exceedingly expensive operation, and it was carried on right on the principle street of the city.

License Fees And Licenses

A "Citizen" Thinks That $500 Should Be the Fee.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I gather from reading your paper that the Ministerial Association have made no recommendation to the Council as to the number of licenses that should be cut off and so far as I can see the Council have not even suggested to the ratepayers what should be done in this direction. If these two bodies cannot come to any conclusion or have no recommendation to make, how do they expect the people to name the number? For my part I would wipe them all out, another man might vote for ten, another might cut the number down by five.

It strikes me to be child's play for both bodies to make no recommendation. It looks a little fast and loose to me. Hunting with the hare a little and playing with the hounds. I am inclined to think, if the facts were just explained to the people now as I know them, there would be some trouble as to the decisions and re-decisions that are, to say the least, unbecoming.

Then it strikes me that if there is to be a reduction of three, four five, six or more licenses, there should be a distinct understanding with the Council that the license fees should be increased. In other places as large as Peterborough the license fee is four or five hundred dollars, here a license costs $270.00. Should there not be some proper decision by the Council. Should not the ratepayers be given something intelligent to vote upon?

There is no question of doubt about it, with five or six licenses less in Peterborough, the other licenses become more valuable, and it strikes me in any case that the licenses are too low. I should fancy that a $500.00 license in Peterborough is not too high and a limitation of the number by five would not go too far.

It is child's play for an Association, composed of supposedly intelligent men to meet as a body and make no definite recommendation other than to ask the council to seriously consider the matter and take what action they deemed advisable.

My object in writing you is to particularly call attention to the fact that license fees should be increased to $500.00 and that there should be a limitation to the number by five.

Yours truly,
"CITIZEN."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The artists who will appear at the opera house to-night with Mr. Walter H. Cluxton have arrived in the city, and are registered at the Oriental. They are, Mr. Frank Blatchford, and Miss Ethel Shepherd. Miss Alice Roger will also assist on the programme. The seats are going well and the prospects are that there will be a good house.

"Sherlock Holmes" in the "Sign of the Four," that will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday next, December 12th, is the greatest character part ever written. The character, while it thrills and is exciting, is never boisterous or rasting, but gentle and artistic; his marvellous gift of observation and deduction are, masterly, quick and to the point, and seldom erring in his judgment. The "Sign of the Four" deals with more thrilling episodes, and little is toned down, occurred to the earlier adventures of the famous deductionist, as previously set forth on the stage. These are the times when the most ardent lover of the extreme in melodrama may revel in his thrills, and there are times when the most blase playgoer will sit up and take notice that something is going on. Audiences like sensations and they certainly have it to their hearts' content in the "Sign of the Four." It is one of the best things written, and so intense that you can hear a pin drop at any time during these great scenes and those who witness the performance will enjoy every moment of the time.

"The Sign of the Four."

A dramatization of Dr. Conan Doyle's story, "The Sign of the Four," in which Sherlock Holmes is the central figure, will be produced at the Grand Opera House on Tuesday night, Dec. 12th. Goldwin Patton of the original New York caste, plays the part of the famous detective. On account of the holiday season being so near at hand, the prices have been fixed at 25c., 35c., 50c., gallery, 15c.

On Saturday afternoon at the Conservatory of Music, a delightful recital was given, principally by the students and graduates of the Kindergarten department. There were about seventy-five persons present, including many of the parents of the clever young performers, who acquitted themselves creditably.

They were pupils of Miss Alice Roger, Miss Estelle Foy, Miss Ida B. Sanderson and Miss Gilbert Markle.

The programme was as follows:—

(a) Behr, "Cradle Song"; (b) Christiansen, "Barcarolle" ... Marion Kendry
Hermann, Lehr, Violin, Greta Rourke
Hart, Op. 38, "Mother Goose March," Madeline Parker
Clementi, "Allegrato" piano, Edwina Parker
Piano duet, Harold and Madeline Parker
Reinecke, "On the Play Ground"...Joyce Dickinson
Tolhurst, "Reverie" violin, ... Edwina Palmer
Laeschorn Reticle, piano, Ethel Goodenough
Henry St. Clair, Trio, Marion Fife, Myra White, Madeline Pearce

Musical Treat Is In Store

Successful Rehearsal of Oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," Last Night.

A most successful rehearsal of the oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," was held last evening, and a rare treat is in store for those who attend its production in St. John's church on Tuesday evening next. With such a list of soloists as Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Miss Davies, Miss Pedlor, Mr. Herbert Morphet, Mr. Hague Sawyers, Mr. Alex. Elliott, Mr. W. H. Denham and Mr. J. Hunpany, assisted by a chorus of over forty voices, there can be no doubt as to the result from a musical standpoint. The choir of St. John's church, under the direction of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, ought to be encouraged in their efforts to give the public the best of music, and it is to be hoped they will show their appreciation by turning out in large numbers on Tuesday evening next.

Miss Davies Appreciated

The Lindsay Post, of Saturday, referring to the concert there on Friday night, at which Miss Helen Davies sang instead of Miss Hope Morgan, who was ill, says:—

"The audience was more than pleased with Miss Helen Davies, of St. Paul's choir, Peterborough, who kindly consented to sing, and although those present were no doubt disappointed at the non-appearance of Miss Morgan, Miss Davies' singing left nothing to be desired from a musical point of view, and filled the gap most admirably. Her several numbers, "Love the Pedler," by Edward German; "Orpheus with his Lute," Sullivan; and "Enchantment," by Mascheroni, Were all given with that excellence of technique and sweetness of voice for which she is noted."

Refreshments will be served at the close. There will be no collection or admission fee.

Christ And His Soldiers

Beautiful Oratorio to be Presented To-night.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—I had the privilege last evening of hearing a rehearsal of the beautiful Oratorio by Farmer entitled "Christ and His Soldiers". Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot, with rare ability and energy, has succeeded in bringing the choir up to a high degree of training, the choruses being rendered in a really excellent manner. When added to this there will be several solos by Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot and Miss Helen Davies, not to mention several other superior vocalists, there is a rich treat in store for those who may be present on Tuesday evening. The accompaniments by Miss Stephens upon the "silver-toned" organ of St. John's are all that can be desired. The music of the Oratorio is not of the heavy character generally present in the greater works, but is throughout sparkling and melodious. No one should miss this opportunity of hearing such a splendid production as this will be.

Yours, etc.

Prof. Masson Died Suddenly In Toronto

Deceased Was Husband of Former Peterborough Lady --Was Married to Miss Laplante Two Years Ago--Was Lecturer in French in Victoria College--A Native of Paris, France--A Man Much Beloved.

DEATH WAS CAUSED BY PARALYSIS

The very many friends in this city of Mrs. (Prof.) Masson, formerly Miss Laplante, will learn with deep regret of the death of her husband, which occurred suddenly on Sunday night. Mrs. Masson has only been married about two years to her late husband, and will leave the sincere sympathy of her large circle of friends here. The Toronto Star referring to Prof. Masson's death says:

Three men prominent in the affairs of Victoria College were carried off by death yesterday—M. Eugene Masson, lecturer in French for several years; David R. Hewitt, one of this year's senior class, and Judge Dean of Lindsay, the eldest graduate of Victoria, and for thirty-five years a member of the Board of Governors.

A joint memorial service will be held next Monday morning in the College chapel, conducted by the Chancellor and others.

M. Masson was a native of Paris, and came to this country about 15 years ago. His tall figure was a familiar one on the streets of Toronto, his features, the cut of his whiskers, and his dress proclaiming his nationality. For the past six or seven years he had been a member of the faculty of Victoria, being assistant to Prof. Pelham Edgar. He was a very clever teacher, and was much beloved by all those who came under his influence at Victoria and in University College. For the past year he has been unwell, but was able to continue teaching until last Wednesday, when he took sick. The cause of death, which took place last night about 11 o'clock, was paralysis. He was twice married, his first wife being a Parisian, who died shortly after coming to this country. His widow was formerly a Miss Laplante, of Peterborough. A daughter by the first wife survives. The funeral will take place to-morrow from his late residence, at 93 St. Joseph street.

Deputation To Ask for Increased Dock Facilities

A Committee Representing the City Council and Board of Trade Will go to Ottawa to Interview Hon. H. R. Emmerson on Thursday--Construction of Dock From C. P. R. to Hunter Street Bridge the Proposal.

ESTIMATED COST IS ABOUT $50,000

On Thursday the committee representing the City Council and the Board of Trade will go to Ottawa to interview the Government in reference to the proposal to construct the dock along the waterfront of the Otonabee River at the west side between the C. P. R. and Hunter street bridges, where the Government is at present dredging a channel. It will be remmebered that the attention of the Council was called to this matter through the columns of The Examiner, in a letter, and the Council was urged to take some action to induce, if possible, the Government to dump the dredging on the city's property in order that the work of constructing a dock along the waterfront might be made easier and less expensive.

This suggestion was acted upon, and the larger scheme, that of a request of the Government to construct the dock along the river as a necessary aid to privization, was developed. The assistance of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., was sought, and he advised that a committee be appointed to go to Ottawa to lay the situation before the Minister of Railways and Canals, in the belief that when the facts of the case were pointed out to him, he would recognize its reasonableness and grant it.

With the completion of the canal, of course, this dock will be an absolute necessity, and now that the dredging has been taken up, the dock could be constructed much more cheaply than later.

The committee representing the council, appointed, was His Worship the Mayor; Ald. Adams, Hicks and Hall, and the City Engineer. Three members representing the Board of Trade will also accompany the members of the council, and they will meet the Minister with Mr. Hall, on Thursday morning. There is every hope that the request will appeal to the Minister as being a reasonable one, and that after the situation has been explained, the request will be granted. It is expected that the cost of the dock proposed will be in the neighbourhood of $50,000, and with its completion the city will be well supplied with dockage facilities, adn the need which has been felt for years, and which with the completion of the canal will be greatly increased, will be supplied.

Disturbed A Church Service

Case of Thos. Smith Heard Yesterday at Havelock.

Thomas Smith appeared yesterday before Magistrates Matheson and Johnston, at Havelock, upon a charge of disturbance of public worship. The offence referred to several days ago by the Examiner, was alleged to have been committed at a Free Methodist Service at a church at Cordova Mines.

Two charges have been laid against the prisoner, arising from the same occurrence. One was of having assaulted the clergyman, Rev. Mr. Babcock, the trial upon this count being adjourned till Monday next.

The complainant in yesterday's case was Mr. J. Rupert, on behalf of the church. From the evidence adduced yesterday it appears that the prisoner was in a state of alcoholic exhilaration and in company with several companions visited the church and, evidently not securing sufficient excitement from the service in progress within, retired to the vestibule, where he appears to have created a miniature St. Petersburg street scene, and an effort upon the part of several worshippers to bring order out of the chaos, resulted in further trouble, and ended in the minister's receiving a blow from the prisoner, Smith. Judgment in the case was reserved until Monday next.

The progress of the case was marked by many lively passages-at-arms between the respective counsel, and the bright sallies and flashes of wit are said to have been of such a nature that had they been transferred to the interior of George street stores last night, the incandescent state of the transformers would probably have passed unnoticed.

The case for the prosecution was conducted by Mr. F. D. Kerr; Mr. G. J. Sherry, Norwood, for defence.

No Laxity In Improvements In Quarantine

Dr. Alexander Bell, of Apsley, Reports to the Provincial Health Office--Some Additional Information About the New Outbreak of Smallpox in Chandos--Six Inspectors Engaged to Look After Regulations.

SEARCHING FOR THE MISSING MEN

The Toronto Star of yesterday has the following further particulars in reference to the smallpox situation in this county:—

More smallpox has been discovered in Chandos Township. It was in a lumber camp there, and some of the men had left before Dr. Alexander Bell, the local health officer, was notified. A strict quarantine was imposed and a search commenced for the men who had got away.

The smallpox which has been prevalent is reported to be of a very mild type. So far no deaths have resulted.

Writing to the Provincial Health Officer, Dr. Bell resents the statements of the press to the effect that there was a laxity on the part of the local medical health authorities in connection with the recent smallpox outbreak. The territory which he had to cover, says Dr. Bell, was fifteen miles by ten miles. The public was hostile to the officers, and 35 cases were already in existence before Dr. Bell was notified. Dr. Bell says that he knows of only one case outside of the district which can be traced to contagion from the township.

Six inspectors are engaged to enforce the quarantine regulations, and two to look after those in quarantine.

Street Railway Rink Illuminated

Last night the open air rink at Jackson Park, operated by the Street Railway Company, was illuminated, and a very pretty scene presented itself. The many coloured lights transformed the scene into one of fairy-like beauty. The management of the company hopes in the course of a few days to be ready for skating if the weather is favourable.

A Deputation From Durham

Went to Ottawa Last Night With Northumberland Men.

The United Counties of Northumberland and Durham municipal deputation to the Dominion Government re Healey Falls power, left Port Hope for Ottawa last night. There were three Pullman cars for the deputation, and these were hauled by a special engine from Brockville to Ottawa.

The interview with the Government was held this morning at 11 o'clock o'clock in the Railway Committee Room, of the House of Commons.

The deputation consisted of seventy-five members from Cobourg, Port Hope, Brighton, Colborne and the townships of Hope, Alnwick, Hamilton, Haldimand, Cramahe, Brighton and Percy.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN

The gentleman whose picture is published above is well known to everyone in the city. He has lived here for years, and has, at different periods in his career, occupied public positions. The picture shown above was taken at Rice Lake, where Mr. —— was then staying a short time on a holiday. It was taken about twenty-five years ago, and time has dealt lightly with this gentleman.

Plucky Rescue Of Companion

Misstatement of Facts Was Made.

An inaccurate statement was made in another evening paper yesterday in regard to an accident which occurred at Little Lake. In order to give credit where credit is due, for an act of unselfish heroism, The Examiner wishes to correct the mis-statement.

The statement made was to the effect that on Saturday afternoon a boy named Lachcur had been rescued from the water by a companion by means of punt. The fact is that Lachcur, who broke through the ice, was rescued by Jack Sanderson, of 10 Cambridge street, who was at the time a short distance away, and hearing his call for help, hastened to his assistance at a very considerable risk, and extricating him from his perilous plight by means of a hockey stick. The rescuer displayed great presence of mind, and is deserving of much credit for his unselfish action.

A Local Firm Recognized

By a Leading Trade Journal, "The Clothier and Haberdasher."

Lang & Maher seem to be particularly judicious in their advertisement writing. "The Clothier and Haberdasher," the leading journal of the Canadian clothing trade, reproduces one of their advertisements, and make flattering reference to the same. To be recognized by a journal, whose opinions are worth so much, reflects great credit upon the splendid advertising quality of this enterprising firm.

Special Services At Mark Street

The special revival services at Mark street church will be held each evening this week except Saturday, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock, preceded by a brief service of song. Good work is being done, and all who can do so are urged to attend. A very cordial invitation is given to any who wish to be present. Hymn books are provided. Come and bring a friend.

Government Alarmed At Hog Scarcity

And To-day a Conference With Packers is Being Held --Mr. T. F. Matthews in the Capital To-day--The Situation is One Which May Have Serious Developments-American Hogs Competing With Canadian.

THE BACON TRADE IN BRITISH MARKET

Mr. T. F. Matthews, head of the George Matthews Packing Company, here, is in Ottawa to-day, and although no definite information is available at the office of the company here it is probable that his trip to the capital i connection with the situation as at forth in the following from the Toronto World:

"There is a little ripple of excitement among the Ontario hog packers, sufficient in any event, to need a trip to the government at Ottawa to try and straighten out. For years the privilege of importing American hogs in bond has been in the Canadian statutes, but last week the right was withdrawn suddenly, much to the discomfiture of the hog packers who have been relying on this source of supply as a means of keeping their plants in full running capacity and incidentally as a leverage to prevent any possible soaring in Canadian hog prices.

The bonding privilege referred to allows the importation of American hogs into Canada without duty. At the packing houses the animals so brought in are counted and weighed by a customs official, and are then put through the process of manufacture for export as bacon, etc., to the British and other markets. Of the bulk thus brought in it is necessary that 65 per cent be shipped out, the difference of 35 per cent. being allowed for closses and by-products in the process of curing. The exported product is branded on the package to distinguish it from the genuine Canadian article, and in being allowed for losses and by-cross the present trouble has had its beginning.

Yankee Hogs Compete.

Canadian bacon has earned a well-deserved record in the British markets. It had to contest the grounds against the American article, but came out a winner several years ago. Now what is claimed to have happened is this: The Canadian exports of the American hogs have by reason of their manufacture in Canada, entered into close competition with the genuine article in the British market. Once having left the branded case in which the hog products were shipped there remained no mark by which the American article could be distinguished from the Canadian.

One who has an idea of what has taken place recently, states that the Canadian representatives in Britain have posted the government regarding the possible loss of prestige by the Canadian bacon, should the competition be allowed to be continued. The result was the withdrawal of the privilege, and a consequent activity among the Canadian packers for its restoration. A delegation of the most important packers in the province will interview the government at Ottawa today, the outcome of which will be watched with interest by the Canadian farmers.

Government Alarmed.

Mr. Blackwell, of the Park-Blackwell Company, the only Toronto firm which has been running the American hog in at this point, was spoken to last night, but he was inclined to make light of the matter and suggested that publication of the topic would be injudicious, if not injurious, but without stating as to whom the injury would be liable to affect.

"Are you going to Ottawa," Mr. Blackwell was asked. "Yes, he thought he would."

Queried as to the reason for a conference with the government Mr. Blackwell was exceedingly reticient.

"I might say," he ventured, "that the government have become alarmed at the scarcity of Canadian hogs and going to hold an informal talk with the pork packers to see if any suggestions can be made to increase the supply in the country."

Trent Canal Interests Must Be Considered

This is the Reply Which Hon. H. R. Emmerson Made to Deputations From Durham and Northumberland--They Asked That Healey Falls Power be Confined to Those Counties--Three Ministers Interviewed.

PETERBOROUGH IS ATTACKED

Special Wire to the Examiner.

Ottawa, Dec. 12.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Charles Hyman and Hon. Mr. Emmerson received a deputation of over 100 stalwarts from Northumberland and Durham, headed by J. B. McColl, M.P., asking that the Healey Falls power on the Trent River be reserved entirely for the counties represented. It is claimed that other interests are endeavouring to utilize the falls to transmit power to Peterborough. The Premier said on the face of the proposal there would be nothing to indicate cause for refusing the request. He would endeavour to give it careful consideration. Mr. Emmerson said the interests of the Trent Valley Canal had to be considered and Mr. Hyman promised careful thought.

County Court And General Sessions Opens

Two Criminal Cases Upon the Docket--Appeal in O'Brien vs. Barrie Case Being Heard--King vs. Barker, and King vs. Peters, Will be Tried--Romance of the Belmont Case--His Honour Judge Weller Presides.

GRAND JURY WAS EMPANELLED

The County Court and General Sessions opened this afternoon at one o'clock at the Court House, before His Honour Judge Weller. Two criminal cases will be heard at the court, and the appeal against a decision of County Police Magistrate Edmison in the case of Barrie vs. O'Brien, is being proceeded with this afternoon.

The bar was represented as follows: Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, R. F. McWilliams, W. H. Moore, E. B. Edwards, K.C., and F. D. Kerr.

The Grand Jury was empanelled as follows:—

Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, Peterborough, (Foreman.)
Wm. Barrie, farmer, Douro.
John Butcher, sexton, Peterborough.
Peter Campbell, bank manager, Peterborough.
F. J. Lillicrap, lumberman, Lakefield.
John Matchett, farmer, Otonabee.
John Mahony, blacksmith, Douro.
W. J. McMahon, farmer, Galway.
Joseph McKee, farmer, Smith.
John Northey, farmer, Burleigh.
Robt. W. Payne, farmer, Dummer.
John Preston, farmer, Smith.
Samuel Rosebrough, farmer, Smith.

The first case to come before the Grand Jury was that of Howard Peters, of Belmont, who is charged with the theft of $145 from James Rannie, treasurer of a Belmont Township school board. The theft is alleged to have been committed during a Sunday visit by the defendant to the home of Mr. Rannie. A slight tinge of romance appears to enter into the case, the young man charged with the theft accompanying to court to-day the daughter of the defendant. The case is being heard by the Grand Jury this afternoon. The prisoner will be represented by Mr. F. D. Kerr.

The second case is that of David Barker, who is charged with the theft of a number of valuable tools from the C. G. E. Works. He was committed for trial by P. M. Dumble, Crown Attorney. Wood for the prosecution; R. F. McWilliams for the defence.

The appeal in favour of the decision of County Police Magistrate Edmison in the case of O'Brien v. Barrie is being proceeded with this afternoon. The occurrence upon which the charge is based took place in Douro Township on Sunday, October 22, when it was alleged that Michael Barrie, the defendant in the action, used grossly insulting language toward Wm. O'Brien, the plaintiff. The case was heard before Magistrate Edmison, who imposed a fine of $2.00 upon Barrie. The latter, through his solicitor, Mr. E. B. Edwards, K. C. instituted the present appeal and the evidence in the case is being taken this afternoon before a jury, this being allowed by the Judge. W. H. Moore is counsel for the plaintiff.

SMALLPOX SITUATION IS SERIOUS

"The people will have to get vaccinated."

This was the statement made by Dr. Sheard, the Medical Health Officer, this morning as a result of his recent trip through Hastings County, at the request of the Provincial Secretary, with a view to preparing a report on the smallpox outbreak.

Dr. Sheard will prepare a report for the Provincial Secretary before to-morrow night, and will make some interesting revelations as to the seriousness of the situation throughout the Province.

"I won't be surprised if we have between 25 and 30 cases of smallpox on our hands in Toronto for some time," said Dr. Sheard. "In my trip through Hastings County I found the disease rife".

"What measures have been taken to stop the spread of the disease?" the doctor was asked.

"The patients are all quarantined in their own homes, and no attempts to isolate the cases in any other way," replied Dr. Sheard.

"What will you propose to prevent the spread of the disease?"

"We will have to have a campaign of vaccination throughout the Province," replied Dr. Sheard.

"How will it affect Toronto?"

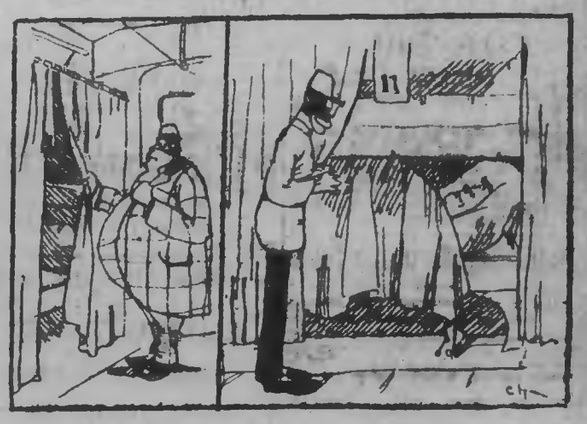
"At Peterborough I met six travelers coming to Toronto, and at another station I met three Torontonians on their way home", said Dr. Sheard. "All these Torontonians had been travelling through the districts where there is a great deal of smallpox, and Toronto is sure to suffer."

"Did you find many new cases while on your trip?" Dr. Sheard was asked.

"I found quite a number of new cases", replied the doctor.—Toronto Star.

It will be remembered that Dr. Sheard, in company with Dr. Hodgetts was in Peterborough on Thursday night on his way to Belleville.

WHY THE FAT MAN AND THE LOWER BERTH DO NOT MAKE A HAPPY COMBINATION



I Might Get in With a Shoe-Horn.

Washington, Dec. 11. — Representative Brownlow, of Tennessee, is tall and plump, and weighs 230 pounds. Last summer he came North in a sleeping car. There were only a few passengers. He had a lower berth. The upper berth was down. Brownlow said it was too hot to sleep in that stuffy little place. He asked the porter to put up the upper berth so he might get some air. The porter told him it was against the rules. Brownlow appealed to the conductor. The rules were quoted again.

Then Brownlow said things in the choicest Tennessee about a monopoly that would make its patrons suffer when there was no reason for it. He sweltered all night. In the morning hot and tired, he swore a mighty oath that he would get revenge. He is after it now with a bill that requires the Pullman Company to keep upper berths up when there are no passengers for them. He says he will pass it, too.—New York World.

Interesting Facts In Reference To "Anchor" Ice

Its Cause and Cure the Subject of an Article in the "Engineering Journal of Canada"--A Question of Grave Importance to Power Owners--Fraction of a Degree of Frost Sufficient to Make Trouble.

SOME PECULIARITIES OF "FRAZIL ICE"

The recent troubles which the local power companies have been experiencing with anchor ice, have called the attention of the public to a condition, the seriousness of which but very few persons appreciated. In the current issue of the "Engineering Journal of Canada," loaned the Examiner by Mr. R. S. Cotton, the engineer-in-charge at the C. G. E. power house, this question is dealt with in an article headed, "Cause and Cure of Anchor Ice." It says:

The Canadian miller and power user has his own troubles with anchor ice. It has been assumed by some people that no cure is obtainable, and a siege of watchfulness, patience and hard work at certain stated periods during the fall, winter and spring, is inevitable if the intake bars and wheels are to be kept free from ice, and the machinery be kept operative.

The solution of the ice trouble is a question of the greatest importance to the Canadian people. The number of power plants and mills is constantly increasing, and the inconvenience from stoppage is no longer only a loss or inconvenience to the hundreds of millers and their customers in all parts of the country, but the spectacle is presented of a whole town being left without power, a street car system being wholly, or in part, without power, or a water works system being without water.

The thousands of people who experience the inconvenience following such an occurrence might well be amazed if they knew that a fraction of a degree of frost, and a comparatively few pounds of ice, are sufficient to cause them so much trouble, to call a halt to the gyrations of so many tons of machinery, and to make so much time useless to many thousands dollars worth of invested capital. It has long been a common saying amongst the millers, "that the anchor ice is very bad to-day," or "the water runs so thick as to clog the wheels." The time has come when it becomes imperative that we should know why the ice clogs the wheels.

Floating pieces of ice gathering in a raceway, and getting past the screens so as to fill up the wheels by a process of stuffing them full so as to prevent entrance of any water to exert pressure upon the wheels, is one phase of the trouble.

This can be remedied in most cases by means of glance booms, and the loss of enough water to carry the floating ice over a waste weir. This case is an instance of what is usually termed "anchor ice."

There is another sort of ice, however, giving another sort of trouble and the term "Frazil ice" has been given to it. Its presence is known when the intake bars freeze up so as to be twice their usual thickness, and the wheel becomes a steel casting with a solid coating of ice upon it, weighing as much as, or more than, the original metal.

This ice developes when the water is what the miller would call thick. The water is not appreciably thicker than any other water, but if a bar be thrust into such moving water ice will form on the up-stream side of it. The inference is that it contains ice in an unending quantity. The truth of the matter is that no ice was there until the stick was thrust into the water, and this statement contains the whole gist of the whole question of "Frazil ice" formation.

A little thought will convince one that a round smooth stick will not bring up ice of any ordinary sort. Further thought will bring out the view that any ice already formed and lying in the water will not fasten itself to a smooth bar of wood or iron, and that any already formed and existing ice would be much too hard to ingratiate itself into all the minute crevices and inequalities of form of such a bar.

What, then, must be the conclusion? Simply that the shock of the water against the bar caused the ice to form instantly, and since the water was present in all the crevices of the stick, so when the change took place the ice became the occupant of the space formerly held by the water, and in this way adhered to the stick. The same thing must happen in all intake bars and all wheels. The water at this time is what the writer calls "Frazil," and may well be termed "Frazil water."

The word Frazil is from the French word "Fraiche," meaning cool, new, recent, and in "Frazil water" would be water that is separated from being ice by a fraction of a degree of cold, and degrees of motion. Admitting the correctness of the foregoing the question arises as to how and when water becomes "Frazil."

Now, it is conceded that all quiescent water will develop surface ice, and no other sort, so that all other kinds of ice are from moving water.

The writer names eight different sorts of ice, viz.,

1. Ordinary ice formed in still water, named surface ice.

2. Frazil ice, being ice formed by shock or change of motion, (lowering.)

3. Then anchor ice, which is a formation from frazil ice, accumulating on obstructions below the surface of the water.

4. Spray ice, which is from water that is thrown in the form of spray becoming thoroughly charged with cold air, and freezing instantly from shock upon landing upon any object.

5. Float ice, which consists of pieces of ordinary ice broken in fragments of various sizes.

6. Sponge ice, which is an accumulation of frazil ice in a forebay, or such a place, or partially dissolved anchor ice, or partially dissolved float ice.

7. Ice that is formed by successive increments caused by raising the water level above the top of the surface ice already there, or forming from wave action of water flowing over ice already formed. This ice could well be named layer ice.

8. An accumulation of increments of frazil, flowt or sponge ice upon the underside of surface ice. This could well be named canker ice.

It will thus be seen that Nos. 5 and 7 belong to the same class at No. 1; that No .4 is in a class by itself, and its formation may be either from a shock, or from the simple process of freezing after alighting; that Nos. 2, 3, 6 and 8 are intimately connected; and that No. 2, frazil ice, is the parent of the other three.

The writer has put forth the theory that frazil ice is formed from water that is just ready to freeze, but prevented from so doing by motion; the action of freezing taking place when the rate of motion is lowered.

It is believed that water becomes "frazil" by exposure to cold atmosphere by being tossed about in rapids or over falls and dams, and that, although absorbing sufficient cold to cause the particles of water to adhere and make ice, this frazil water will not form ice so long as the water possesses that degree of motion, with that degree of rolling of the particles of water that will prevent the particles from adhering, and that when this motion is stopped the particles instantly adhere, and ice is formed.

It is known that frazil ice will form early in the fall, when the temperature is but one-half degree below freezing, and it is also known to form in rapid streams at as low a temperature as twenty degrees of frost.

This proves a relationship between degrees of motion and of degrees of frost.

The conditions favourable to freedom from frazil ice are what may be termed: Non-interference with the water when it reaches a condition favourable to freezing, viz., 32 degrees temperature.

2. In giving motion to the water it is necessary that this be a steady uniform motion, without mixing with the cold atmosphere.

3. In drawing water to a wheel or intake, the greatest possible amount should be taken from beneath the surface, and to a depth increasing with the strength of suction of the intake.

4. If the necessary amount of water can be taken without disturbing the upper layers there will be no trouble from frazil water.

The following have been proposed by the writer for adoption or rejection as truisms in regard to frazil ice:

a. That night time is more often the time when trouble with frazil ice occurs.

b. That cloudy days are also conducive to trouble.

c. That with an unclouded sun no trouble ever occurs.

d. That frazil ice will not cause trouble when the reservoir or river is frozen over, excepting in the case of very rapid streams.

e. That piers in the reservoir, extending to the surface of the water, booms, or other devices tending to assist the formation of surface ice, are an advantage.

f. That frazil ice will form in slight currents when the water is at a half degree below the freezing point.

g. That frazil ice will form in strong currents at any temperature below freezing point.

h. That the degree of frost at which frazil ice forms is proportional to the velocity of the current.

i. That frazil ice never forms in quiescent water.

j. That agitation of a lake or pond by wind is analogous to the flow of the stream, and will cause the formation of frazil ice.

k. That the thickness of the particles or crystals is in some proportion to the temperature of the water at which it is formed, which temperature is again determined by the velocity of the stream.

l. That the greater the depth of intake greater assurance of freedom from frazil ice, forty feet being considered a safe depth.

m. That in a strong current the temperature of the water at all depths is practically uniform, and frazil ice will form as readily at one portion of that depth as another.

n. That in a lake or pond the frazil ice will form only in the upper layers, where agitation occurs from the wind, and the greater the degree of cold at which the frazil ice forms the thicker will be the particles, and the stronger will be the necessary suction to draw them to a given depth, thus, an intake crib with a strong suction will suffer from frazil ice at any degree of temperature below freezing, and any degree of agitation of the water, while a weak suction will suffer only at moderate or slight degrees of frost, with a slight agitation of the water.

o. The stronger the suction the below the surface to ensure freedom from frazil ice.

p. In a river the greater the velocity of the current the greater should be the depth of the intake below the surface to ensure freedom from frazil ice.

q. Is more trouble encountered early in the season before cold weather has become settled, or vice versa?

r. Is the trouble which is often encountered after a thaw caused by frazil ice or by freed anchor ice?

s. The ice that forms on intake bars is frazil ice.

s. The ice that sticks to wheels is frazil ice.

u. The ice that sticks to any obstruction below the surface of the water is frazil ice, an accumulation of which is called anchor ice.

ALL SICK WOMEN

SHOULD READ MISS SCHWALM'S LETTER

In All Parts of Canada Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Effected Similar Cures.

Many wonderful cures of female ills are continually coming to light which have been brought about by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and through the advice of Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., which is given to sick women absolutely free of charge.

Mrs. Pinkham has for many years made a study of the ills of her sex; she has consulted with and advised thousands of suffering women, who to-day owe not only their health but even life to her helpful advice.

Miss Annie E. Schwalm, of 326 Spadina Ave., Toronto, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a specific for Leucorrhœa, with which I have been troubled for years. I also had irregular and painful menstruation which affected my general health until last spring. I was only a wreck of my former self. In my affliction I was advised to use your Compound, and am so glad that I did so. I found that in a few short months there was no trace of Leucorrhœa, my strength gradually returned, and in a very short time I considered myself a perfectly well woman. I appreciate my good health, and beg to assure you that I am most grateful to you for discovering such a wonderful remedy for suffering women."

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She asks nothing in return for her advice. It is absolutely free, and always helpful.

Baptist Young People Unite

An Enjoyable Evening Spent At Park Street.

It was an ideal gathering last night at the Baptist church, Park street. The entire Young People's Society of the Murray street Baptist church, under the direction of President Ellis, and accompanied by the pastor, the Rev. F. J. Scott, paid a return visit to the Park street Young People. The Society was well represented and were in for a happy time. Alexander Haddow, President of the Park street B.Y.P.U., called the meeting to order at 8.10, and in a very choice speech welcomed the visitors. Mr. R. Rowe sang a solo, inviting all to join in the refrain, which they did with a heartiness which was inspiring. The Rev. A. H. Brace then gave an address on "What Our Denomination Stands For." He unmistakably justified the existence of the Baptist church, showing its work and place in the world.

The large and happy gathering formed themselves in groups around small tables and enjoyed the refreshments served. President Ellis moved a vote of thanks to the Park street Pastor, President and Young People for the royal welcome and kind feeling shown.

The benediction by Rev. F. J. Scott closed a most enjoyable time.—Com.

A Greatly Praised Remedy

There is only one way to know whether all the good things said about Zutoo Tablets are true, and that is to try them.

If half what is said about this headache remedy is true, the tablets should be in every home and office, in every ladies' purse and gentleman's pocket.

And yet, not one individual after trial, has ever said that they are over praised.

For while no other remedy has ever made so many faithful friends in so short a time, no other has ever deserved so many as

DRS. KENNEDY & KERGAN

The Leading Specialists of America. 25 Years in Detroit. Bank Security.

Nine out of every ten men have been guilty of transgression against nature in their youth. Nature never excuses, no matter how young, thoughtless or ignorant he may be. The punishment and suffering corresponds with the crime. The only escape from its ruinous results is proper scientific treatment to counteract its effects. The DRAINS, either by nightly losses, or secretly through the urine, must be stopped—the NERVES must be built up and invigorated, the blood must be purified, the SEXUAL ORGANS must be vitalized and developed, the BRAIN must be nourished. Our New Method Treatment provides all these requirements. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers disappear; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and sexual systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. The The various organs become natural and manly. We invite all the afflicted to call and consult us confidentially and free of charge. Cures Guaranteed or no Pay. We treat and cure: Varicocele, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Gleet, Emissions, Urinary Drains, Spermatorrhœa, Unnatural Discharges, Kidney and Bladder Diseases.

The Curling Club Chooses Season's Skips

Prospects for Successful Season Excellent--Meeting to Choose Rinks to be Held--Skips for the District Cup Competition.

Last night the Curling Club met and chose the skips for the season. There was a large attendance of members and from the interest displayed in the game this year, there is every prospect that this season will be a most prosperous one.

Those who will enrol with the Knights of the Stone" this year will be in excess of the number of former years. The skips chosen were:—

J. S. Kingman	S. Clegg
S. T. Medd	F. H. Dixon
J. Stanger	H. Edwards
Dr. Greer	S. D. Hall
W. G. Ferguson	T. Rutherford
W. G. Morrow	T. Brightman
D. Belleghem	R. M. Waddell
T. F. Matthews	R. Neill
D. Cameron	Dr. Kastwood
C. N. Brown	W. D. Campbell
J. H. Connal	D. Hall
E. B. Clegg	C. Rutherford
S. Ray	Geo. Giroux
M. C. Tooley	Gus Hay
W. McIlroy	R. M. Hamilton
H. Snowdon	H. Sturgeon

These skips will meet on Thursday night to choose their rinks. They are requested to select their vice skips in the meantime. Skips not represented at this meeting on Thursday will be considered by the Club as not wishing to have charge of a rink this year.

Messrs. T. Brightman and T. F. Matthews were elected skips for the District Cup Competition. Mr. McIntosh has commenced the flooding of the rink and if the weather is favourable it will only be a matter of a short time before the curlers will be ready to "Soop her up".

Referee, Gibson; attendance, 2,000.

Norwood Wants The T.V. League

That Town Will Have a Strong Team This Year.

The sporting editor of the Examiner has received the following letter from the secretary of the Norwood Hockey Club, which explains itself:—

Norwood, December 11.

Dear Sir,—We have organized and have a hockey team in the field to play for the Trent Valley trophy now held by Fenelon Falls and should like to know at an early date whether there is going to be a league formed or not. I think that there are sufficient teams to have a very strong league and an interesting season's sport.

In addition to the teams of last year there is Norwood, Hastings, Havelock, and probably others of whom we do not know. Hoping to have an immediate reply, I am

Yours truly,
GEO. A. HOWSON,
Secretary.

P. S.—Should there not be a league formed we think it nothing but right to be able to play for the cup now held by Fenelon Falls.

Talks From a Glass House

The Review Man Shatters His Own Residence.

The sporting editor of the Review is again to the fore with a beautiful line of sporting slush. His one determination is to beat around the bush and avoid the hockey challenge. He says that the Examiner man has gained all his experience in the turf world from seeing horses trot at the green races at the country fairs. Now that is a very brilliant remark indeed, and while the Examiner likes very much to hear the words of wisdom from this wise Methuselah, he does not care to see him quoting the gems of Shakspere's wit without giving credit to that worthy seer. The Review man will probably say that the Examiner is bringing Shakspere into the controversy, but let him talk if it amuses him. The Examiner's challenge of last year was refused so that is why it published an "anti-season" dell this year. If last winter may be taken as a standard it will probably be "anti-season". "When the Roses Bloom Again."

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead left the world, too? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in these advanced stages. It is a master medicine, prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

C. A. Gardiner, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa. (Box 60), writes: "About twelve years ago I was troubled with a pain in the right side of the stomach which was so bad that I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, absorption of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Don't be swindled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, said to be "just as good."

This is a gala day at the Turf Club track. A number of fast local horses that will enter the Eastern Circuit Ice Races are being put through their facings this afternoon.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The wrestling championship of the world will be settled at a wrestling tournament to be held in Paris, where experts from half a dozen countries will compete. Some of the men entered are:—Hackenschmidt, of Russia; Madrali, of Turkey; Givanoni, of Italy; Pierre La Moir, of Belgium; De Wolfe, of Holland; Verrath, of France; and Mosali, of Japan. Effort will be made to induce Tom Jenkins to compete. A prize of $5,000 for the champion wrestler is offered.—Detroit News.

Hackenschmidt looks good but with such a formidable array of great wrestlers it is almost impossible to pick a winner. What possible interest Jenkins could add to the affair is difficult to understand, unless he could be used to demonstrate the inferiority of the American wrestlers to Europeans and Asians. The tournament should prove very interesting to followers of mat artists and will probably be the greatest event of its kind ever held in the history of wrestling.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

To Editor of Post Card Column:

Sir,—I beg to take up a little space in to-day's Examiner, in commenting upon a little matter, in the hope that the trouble may not, in the interest of humanity, re-occur.

I do not want to be classed as a "kicker" or an "knocker" to use a common expression, and I appreciate very much the enterprise of the local gentlemen who placed at the disposal of the people of Peterborough such a beautiful and complete opera house, as we at the present time possess. But as a patron of the local opera house (having been there, I think, every night yet) I must say that it has been most uncomfortable sitting in the "pit", by reason of the heavy current of cold air that appears to sweep down over this portion of the interior of the house. Last night the cold draught that swept down over the "pit" was simply unbearable and many people were compelled to get up from their places and move further back upon the gallery where the cold draught was not so great. Surely this state of affairs should not continue.

I would like to know what the manager of the open house has to say in the matter?

Yours,
"SENTRY."

December 12th, 1905.

OZONE SOLUTION

SPECIAL OFFER!

There is just one way by which you can get a package of "Celery King" free with a bottle of "Ozone." That is ask your druggist for "Solution of Ozone, the coupon kind." Each bottle of this contains a coupon for which we send you a full twenty-five cent package of "Celery King." Never take "Ozone" without "Celery King" if you want the best results. We are putting coupons in our "Ozone" good for "Celery King" because no other dealer or firm in the world has the right to manufacture "Celery King" but ourselves and no other remedy in the world will give such good results. "Ozone" kills the inside germs and "Celery King" is a tonic laxative.

Ask your druggist for "Solution of Ozone, the coupon kind," manufactured by the Public Drug Co., Bridgeburg, Ont., sold by W. B Warne.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A small audience last night attended the opera house, when Mr. Walter H. Cluxton gave a dramatic reading of "Enoch Arden." He was assisted in the programme by Mr. Frank Blatchford, of Toronto, solo violinist; Miss Ethel Shepherd, also of Toronto, soprano, and Miss Alice Roger, of this city, pianist. Those who attended were pleased with the programme.

Transformers Burned Out

Darkness in George Street Stores Last Night.

The burning out of two of the Peterborough Light and Power Company's transformers on George street created a stygian darkness in the interior of a number of stores last evening.

The Light and Power Company were, unfortunately, unable to remedy of the defect owing to the non-arrival of transformers which had been ordered. Originally, the manager states, there would have been no difficulty, as a number of transformers are kept available for use, but owing to a somewhat heavier demand than usual the supply became exhausted. The necessary repairs are being made to-day, and the illumination to-night will again be in a normal condition.

STILL FIT FOR DUTY.

It speaks well for the condition of the second cruiser squadron that it was able to terminate its programme by making the run from New York to Gibraltar in less than eight days in the season of equinoctial gales. This is equivalent to over seventeen knots per hour sustained speed, and compares favourably with the previous performances of any squadron afloat. With the use of forced draught, all the ships of Prince Battenburg's fleet are capable of steaming over twenty-two knots per hour, but this is for emergency purposes only, as the expenditure of coal, wear and tear of machinery, and the strain upon the engine room staff is enormous under such conditions.

Incidentally, it is to be noted, that the shortage in the crews of the squadron, when it left New York, was less than seventy men of all ruttings, a fact which speaks volumes for the discipline of the fleet and the popularity of its commander. The United States navy offers many more inducements in pay and privileges, to the handy man than does the older service, and in many ways the loyalty of the British tar was put to a severe test during his visit to American waters.—Montr ' Herald.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY.

No industries have in them so much of the elements of permanence and development, as the manufacture of iron and steel. Many industries represent successive stages of a continuous, many-sided process of production, as the spinning of yarn is one stage in the making of cloths.

The finished product of one industry, is the raw material of another.

In regard to iron and steel, they not merely hold an analogous relation relation to other industries, but they are fundamental necessities for conducting every known process of manufacture. Hence it is that the iron and steel trades serve as barometers of trade, for in every department of industrial activity there is a demand for iron and steel perpetually, so that every favourable or depressing influence on the sphere of manufacturing, or transportation, acts directly or indirectly, but unfailingly, upon the production of iron and steel.

These metals or their equivalents, must have been in use in the earliest ages. The sculptured works of remotest antiquity, evidence the action of tools of the steel class in hardness and sharpness of edge.

The development of the production of iron in the old world is divisable into the charcoal-furnace period, and and the coal-furnace period. As regards steel, the main divisions are the time prior to the Bessemer process, and the time since that invention "Coming events cast their shadows before," as was shown by several improvements in the manufacture of steel. But Bessemer did for steel making what Hargreaves and Arkright did for the manufacture of cotton.

Some years ago Mr. Bessemer invited a number of iron masters and others in the Black Country, (South Staffordshire,) to witness a new process of making steel. Under the shadow of a blast furnace, near Dudley, those invited were gathered in a wide ring around a huge tank into which flowed a stream of molten iron. This was attached to the "blower" of the furnace. Suddenly a volcano of brilliant sparks burst out from the tank like a display of fireworks. This was the result of injecting air into the molten iron, the oxygen of the air uniting with the carbon of the iron; the excess of carbon escaped as a gas, thus enabling the steelmaker by the addition of any quantity of speigel, to produce from the converters at will any quality of steel desired.

That spectacle was unique in the world's history. It was the dawn of a new era. By the cheapening of steel hundreds of millions were added to the world's wealth, and its realizable resources. It would be difficult to exaggerate the enormous economic results of this triumph of science, which gave a powerful stimulus to every known industry, and created others, which are to-day amongst the leading factors in the creation of wealth.

Steel is not a natural but an artificial metal; it is highly purified iron, iron "converted," as the term is, by a process of smelting by which steel is manufactured out of iron, as the iron was produced out of crude ore.

Every tool in use, whose name is legion, every machine, from the watch to the turbine engine, every form of mechanical transportation from the perambulator to the locomotive has steel in its structure. Before Bessemer's day the rails on railroads were of iron, usually of a very high quality. But steel is now as low in price as high grade iron used to be. Indeed, any very wide difference no longer exists between the price of iron and steel, rails are therefore, now rolled out of steel which is made of a suitable quality for this service.

As there are now 20,000 miles of railway in Canada laid with steel rails, of which about 1,000 miles are double track, some general idea may be formed as to the enormous quantity of steel used in our railways. Taking the main lines and the sidings, the length of steel rails laid down in Canada must be not far short of 50,000 miles if laid out in a single line. Besides these there are about 700 to 800 miles of electric railways in Canada which are laid to a considerable extent with steel rails. The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will require steel rails to equip a track extending some 3,737 miles. As the development of the Northwest proceeds, there will be new branches built of this line and of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern.

The supply or rails to meet the enormous demand for the Canadian Pacific and its branches, the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Intercolonial, the Canadian Northern and other lines in operation, in course of construction, and projected in this Dominion will have to be derived from Canadian rolling mills. The leading commercial journal of the United States recently said:—

"Canadian bounties and duties may and will serve as a barrier more or less complete between our American mills and this great project of 3,750 miles, the Grand Trunk Pacific."

Already orders have been placed with the Canadian mills for rails for 1906 delivery, to the extent of 200,000 tons. Of these orders the magnificent works at Sault Ste. Marie will execute 125,000 tons, and the Dominion Iron & Steel Company the balance; the present capacity of both is 300,000 tons annually, and it is likely their whole output will be used.

The productive capacity of the Sault Ste. Marie mills is enormous. The works comprise Bessemer Steel Plan tand Rolling Mills, Blast Furnaces, Pulp Mill, Sulphite Mill, Iron Works, Car Shops, Veneer Mill, Saw Mill, Charcoal Plant, Power Plant and Reduction Works. The turnover of these works for the year ending June 30, 1905, exceeded $5,000,000, and is likely to exceed $7,000,000 for 1906. The company operates 100 miles of railway. It owns 8 steamers whose aggregate capacity is 16,000 tons, which are employed in its own business. It derives its iron ore from its own mines, so that the entire processes of manufacture of steel products from the crude ore to the finished article, are carried on in the same works, under one management.

Canada is bound to become one of the world's great steel manufacturing countries, and as the production of steel enlarges so will enlarge other industries which invariably develop alongside that of steel making.—Chronicle.

THE BOLD FACTS.

The Toronto News, in an editorial on the situation arising from the dismissal of the Toronto License Inspectors, and the resignation of the Board of License Commissioners, says:—

Some of the Conservative papers offer curious arguments in defence of the dismissal of the Chief License Inspector for Toronto, and in explanation of the resignation of the old License Board.

It is true that many of the License Inspectors throughout the Province were removed, and that the protests of the Liberal and Independent press were general rather than specific.

It may be that in certain cases these officials deserved to be dismissed, and that the Government could offer substantial justification for its action.

But surely the situation in Toronto had exceptional features.

Shortly after the Government came into office Mr. Hastings was formally notified that he would be retained as Chief Inspector, and Mr. Whitney in the Legislative declared that this decision was approved by the four Conservative members for Toronto.

It is not now pretended that Mr. Hastings was dismissed for partisanship or for failure of duty.

Whatever may be said by Conservative journals throughout the Province, who do not know the facts, it is certain that no such allegations will be made by the Provincial Secretary or his colleagues.

The truth is, as we have said before, that licenses were demanded for men who had been fined many times for violation of the law, and even illicit selling, that hotelkeepers who were notorious law-breakers laid charges against the Inspector which would not bear a moment's investigation, that the dishonest accusations of these men were carried to the office-seeking element, and this element, combined with the law-breakers in the liquor business, sought the influences of Ministers and members in order to influence the action of the Commissioners and the Inspector.

In short, the Government joined with the law-breakers and the patronage hunting element to get rid of the Inspectors and to put party workers in their places, and all with the object of conciliating a certain element of the liquor interest and the distributors of party patronage.

These are the facts, and upon these facts the Government stands unequivocally condemned.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Christian Guardian.—To the thousands of temperance voters in the city, and beyond it, there has come a great and unexpected disappointment and there has come also a great and unexpected discrediting and distrust of the Government. If it can act in this way in Toronto, and with men of the standing and weight in the Conservative party of the gentlemen of this commission, what can be expected of it in the rest of the Province, and under conditions by no means so favourable for "the impartial and non-partisan administration of the law?"

General Electric held around 155 yesterday morning. The company is still expanding. A new pipe plant is being erected at Toronto Junction, four times the capacity of the present plant, and $20,000 has been in acquiring new land at Peterborough to double the capacity of several departments. The company has also obtained a contract for $200,000 to supply plant for developing the Kaministiquia power.—Toronto Star.

Smoker of Carpenters' and Joiners' Union

Enjoyable Event at Foresters' Hall Last Night--Members of Associated Trades Enjoyed Themselves as the Wreaths of "Blue Union Label" Cigar Smoke Soared Aloft—An Excellent Programme Was Presented.

ADDRESSES UPON LABOUR TOPICS

"Smoke away dull care," was the legend upon the invitations issued by the Carpenters and Joiners' Union, No. 672, for their annual smoker in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, last night. The members, with their guests from the associated trade unions of the city, certainly obeyed the injunction for amid the aromatic haze arising from almost one hundred "Blue Union Label" cigars, the members enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. . .

The committee in charge is certainly to be congratulated upon the excellence of the programme and the arrangements for the evening, generally, in which were combined in pleasing relative proportions, the instructive, the entertaining, and the no less gross material delights of an appetizing and recherche menu under the direction of Mr. W. J. McCallum, whose culinary arrangements upon this occasion were up to his invariable high standard. The members of the associated trades, who were invited to participate in the pleasures of the evening turned out in large numbers, and the gathering was one which may be said to have been truly representative of the allied labour interests of the city. Among the unions represented were, — Moulders, Sheet Metal Workers, Machinists, Painters, Bricklayers, Printers, Pattern Makers, Tailors, Barbers and Cigar Makers.

The chair was occupied by Mr. John Alexander, who performed the duties in his usual happy manner. The programme presented was a long and interesting one. It was charming-

Arrangements For the Lecture

"The Evolution of a Boy," by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.

At the meeting of St. Luke's Guild last night, final arrangements were made for the humourous lecture to be given on Friday night by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, on "The Evolution of the Boy."

The lecture will be the description of a cycle of life, from the infant-days of a boy to his old age, with all the changes and chances of which life is made up. The subject will be treated as follows:—

Tom's early days.
Tom the enfant terrible.
Tom's school days.
Tom's moustache.
Tom's love-making.
Tom's proposal.
Tom asks her father.
Tom marries.
Tom gets old.

A musical programme has also been provided. The lecture will be given in St. Luke's Sunday School, and will begin sharp at 8 o'clock. Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.A., will be the chairman.

McDonough in the Chair.
Yesterday morning a man rushed into a local barber shop and demanded a quick shave as he only had twelve minutes in which to catch the 11.45 G. T. R. train. Two tonsorial artists got at him and completed the shave in a minute and a half. The hot bag boy did not realize that the shave was really finished and followed the man all the way to the railway station with a steaming towel.

"Your good mechanics," said a spectator to the lightning "shavers," when their work had been completed.

"Yes," said one of them, no doubt thinking of that old-time gag, "We've good mechanics, and here's a McDonough."

The Best There Is

In these days of cheap substitutes there is a great inclination to buy something "just as good" in place of the genuine article.

In Gold Watches

this is particularly true. You can have two Watches side by side and one will look as well as the other and yet there may be a difference of $35.00 or $30.00 in the cost. STORY COMPETITION For Examiner Prize

"WHAT CAME OF AN ADVENTURESOME SPIRIT"

BY MISS EVA STEVENSON.

Miss Eva Stevenson, the clever author of this story, is thirteen years of age, and is a daughter of Mrs. R. Stevenson, of this city. She is in Commercial Form II. of the Collegiate Institute, passing from the Public School. She is taking a Business Course.

One night a number of gentlemen friends were seated around a table, among them a few of those who had been settlers around Toronto. These stories aroused the spirit of one of the company, Mr. Kriss, who was rather fond of adventures. After that he hardly heard what was going on around, he was so deeply engaged in thought, wondering how he would like to settle some place. He turned it over and over in his mind and at last decided to leave home and go away somewhere and start a settlement. The next day he went around to see some of his friends, and ask them to join him also. About twenty of them consented to go on this journey. They thought that it would not be best to go in their "Sunday Best" so dressed in cowboy fashion with great broad brimmed hats. With their packs on their backs they started out, having secured a few Indians to guide them through the woods. They took enough provisions to last them several days. Part of the way they could go by boat and when they came to a rapid they would be skilfully steered over it by their Indian Guides.

After many trials and troubles they arrived at their destination, at least at the place which they thought would be suitable. Weary and worn they reached this place of solitude and quiet. They decided that the first thing for them to do was to make a shelter for themselves. This they did by cutting down trees and disrobing them of their branches, which they put together with a sort of mortar, made by the Indians. When they had toiled like this for a while they had a very suitable hut made to live in. When this was finished they began to explore the place to which they had come. For a great distance around nothing could be seen except forests of maple, pine, birch, hemlock, spruce, tamrac and different other woods. The vegetation was exceedingly luxuriant, wild berries and a species of plums called the massie grew very abundantly and the young settlers became very fond of them. Nearly all their days for a time were spent in cutting down trees and making a large clearing. Part of the time, however, was taken in fishing and hunting, and as the wild and other game were plentiful they were readily supplied with food. They thought it would be nice to make a number of huts and then get people to come to this settlement and open up this part of the country. Accordingly they set to work and in about two months' time had fifty huts made. They sought a name for their settlement, and at last decided upon "Kriss' Settlement."

As they had progressed very favourably they sent one of their Indian guides with a letter to their friends, asking them to come north and help them to open up this country. The friends were glad to get this letter as they did not know whether they were murdered or not, and rejoiced to hear that huts were ready for them if they would but come north. The Indian was sent back laden with provisions of the best kind, and carried a letter saying the friends would be out to the settlement in about three or four weeks' time. The news gladdened Mr. Kriss' heart and assisted by his companions they made the huts as comfortable as possible. Just as everything was finished the new arrivals were spied in the distance and a cheer went up from the people of the settlement. The new people were soon installed in their new home and grew very contented with their lot.

Mr. Kriss had as yet seen no sign of hostile Indians, but, one day when out hunting, they could discern smoke in the distance. They did not think it was a white man's camp, and they were assured by their Indian friend that it was an encampment of their countrymen.

At night they decided to keep a strict watch and as they did so they were not surprised when a loud war whoop was heard. The volley fired from the white men was so terrible, that the Indians were overpowered, and hastily withdrew. The undaunted foe made a second attempt but they were again repulsed, and twenty-five of their number killed. After this Kriss's settlement was not molested by the Indians, and when the latter returned to the settlement their mission was a peaceful one.

With constant tilling the land was soon ready to grow grain. The first crop was a splendid one, and the need for a mill was much felt, but they could not have it just yet, so they ground their grain up very well in a hollow stump, and although this was a difficult task it met their present need. The second crop they sowed did not come up at all, as they had not sowed it at the right time. They sowed the remainder of their seed and had another splendid crop. Mr. Kriss saw that a mill would indeed be a blessing, and it was much desired by the people. They could not have a large one just yet, so they had to put up with a small one for a time. This was much better than pounding the grain in a stump, and as there were comparatively good roads it was much easier for the settlers. One season the crop was not very good and one of the farmers, Mr. Frith, walked to Kriss's mill with a bag of wheat on his shoulder. He reached the mill all right, and started home with a light heart, but, alas! when he got there, his bag was half empty. Upon examining the bag there was a hole in it.

One day while the settlers were doing their shopping, (for it was market day,) they were astonished to see a number of Indians walk into their village, leading a white man by the hand. They said that this man had committed some crime, and they wanted justice. A council of the chief men assembled, but as there was no evidence given, and the young man told a straight story, he was allowed to go.

This place soon became a centre for trade. The Indians around the district would come in, in their birch bark canoes, bringing in all the furs they had, and would receive such things as knives, beads and other paltry articles. The Indian women were very fond of bright colours, and would give almost anything for a piece of red or pink.

It happened that once Mr. Kriss received a letter, (for there were coaches now) saying that if the people were willing the G.T.R. would like to build a railway there. To say the settlers were pleased would be putting it mildly; they were delighted that they should be honoured in this way. It took a number of years to build the railway, but at last it was finished, and a short time after Kriss's settlement was given the name Peterborough, and was declared a town. The streets were decorated with flags, and there was a regular holiday in consequence of this event. Peterborough gradually grew and grew, until it was made into the "Baby City." It is now a very important centre, having two railways, and a number of large factories, which give work to many men and women. Thus we see what came of Mr. Kriss's desire for adventures.

EVA STEVENSON.

"HOW HUGH WAS LOST AND FOUND."

WRITTEN BY MISS CARRIE BARRETT.

Miss Carrie Barrett, author of the story published to-day, is a daughter of Mr. Cole Barrett, of this city. She is fifteen years of age and attended the Public Shools here, passing the Entrance in 1904. She is in the Second Form of the Collegiate.

Cobourg was only a little village, but still it was a sort of centre from which settlers started in their search for a home. One day there arrived here a party who, having met accidentally on the way, were going to proceed together into the forest. After obtaining provisions at one of the two stores, they began their long journey. This party consisted of a Mr. Harvey and his young wife, and an old couple named Durant, with their son and daughter. They travelled slowly northeast until they arrived at a river for which they were looking. They followed this a few miles, and finally decided to build on the slope of a hill to the west of the river.

As it was early in the summer a shelter for the women was built, and then the work of building the houses was commenced. These were built of rough logs, and the cracks between were filled with mud. The furniture was, of course, very rude, but was sufficient for their needs, and other things could be made in the winter evenings. A clearing was made with difficulty, and young Durant started for the frontier to get a few cattle. He brought back a yoke of oxen, and the work of turning the sod was begun with a home-made plough and spades. The river water was good and it gave an excellent supply of fish, and this, with the game shot by the men, helped them through the winter.

In the spring the crop was planted and the clearing enlarged. The summer was spent in tending the crop and generally improving house and clearing. In the fall Mr. Harvey and young Durant left their home to get their grain ground at Cobourg. They carried their sacks slung over their shoulders, and their hatchets in their hands to blaze the path as they went. They returned with their flour and other provisions.

It was when Harvey's baby, born the first winter in their new home, was about four or five years old that the first real trouble with the Indians occurred and the little fellow was lost. Before the attack he had been out in the woods, and now could not be found. Although the woods were searched for miles, no trace could be found and all hope was given up except by his mother. Several settlers had arrived with their families and built their homes nearby, and their life was not so lonely. There was quite a village now, and it boasted two stores.

It was between eleven and twelve years since little Hugh had disappeared, and he was forgotten by all but his parents, and even with them his place was almost filled by pretty eleven-year-old Eva. Her eyes were grey, and brown hair hung in waving masses to her waist.

Sometimes fishing trips were made down the river, and on these Eva often accompanied her father. She and her father were paddling rapidly up stream to the village, when, turning a sharp point of the river, they found themselves surrounded by Indians in canoes. The Indians who had many wounded with them, were as much surprised as they at this meeting, and Eva and her father might have escaped had not a young brave sprang suddenly into the canoe and grasped Harvey's paddle. The prisoners were brought to the Indian camp a few miles below, Little Lake. The Indians, angry at their defeat at the village, wished to kill them at once, but the young brave, Red Feather, claimed them as his prisoners, and the chiefs acknowledged his claim. Mr. Harvey was kept a close prisoner in a tepee, but Eva was given in charge of the squaws and allowed almost entire freedom. She would have had a hard time, however, but for the protection of Red Feather, whom she often found watching her curiously. Eva knew only a few words of the Indian language, but soon learned enough to make herself understood, and this made life a little more bearable. Red Feather had only spoken to her once or twice, and therefore much was her surprise when one evening as she was leaving her father, he drew her into the shadows and, by signs and a few words, told her she must escape that night. As she refused to leave her father, he consented to help them, too. When all was quiet, he guided them to a spot a mile above the camp, where he had a boat ready, and there left them to make their journey home, and this they did without adventure. Two days later they learned that the Indians had left, and for this they were very thankful, for while the Indians were in the vicinity it was considered safer to stay in the village. While here there was practically no danger, as the population was large enough to hold their own against any party of Indians who might attack them. The small log houses were being replaced by larger and more comfortable ones, some of them even plastered. The stores on what was the main street, could be distinguished from the houses only by the goods displayed in the small windows, and our market place was still covered with trees.

It was about two years after Eva's adventure that several of the men, who had been out hunting, returned bringing with them an Indian brave whom they had found wounded in the woods. He was taken to Harvey's house as it was the nearest, and his wound was attended to as well as possible. When Eva, who had gone to one of the neighbours, returned and entered the house, she recognized in the wounded brave her friend, Red Feather. It was while in his room that Eva addressed her father as "Dad." The Indian started, and repeated it in a whisper. He learned other words, but this seemed to attract him most, and he kept repeating it over and over. One day when Mrs. Harvey entered the room she found him trying to say "mother," She repeated the word for him, and his face brightened as he added, "Hugh." Mrs. Harvey, thinking that perhaps he could give her news of her boy, tried to question him, but he did not understand her. In the afternoon, Eva, hoping to interest him, gave him an old book with pictures. He turned rapidly to a picture of several little boys playing horse, and with a questioning look at Mrs. Harvey's face, pointed to it, and she recognized it as little Hugh's favourite picture. When he learned to talk English, which he did with astonishing rapidity, he told of a faint memory of a pale faced man and woman, and of a home other than an Indian tepee. Mrs. Harvey declared he was her long lost son, and this was proved beyond doubt by a scar on his wrist, the result of a childish experiment with an axe.

When Hugh recovered he continued to live with his father, and two years later married a girl from the village. Eva also married, and she and her husband built their home in the village. Their children and grandchildren lived to see the fields their ancestors had first cleared, covered with brick and stone houses, and the little village grow to a busy, prosperous little city.

The Men's Guild Elect Officers

Annual Meeting of St. Luke's Guild Held Last Night.

The annual meeting of the Men's Guild of St. Luke's church, was held last night at the Guild Hall, Hunter street. There was a large attendance, and the enthusiasm displayed by the members in the work of the Guild, augurs well for its future usefulness.

The principal business transacted last night was the election of officers for the coming year. The election resulted as follows:

Hon. President—Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.

Hon. Vice-President — Col. J. Z. Rogers.

President—Mr. G. F. Wade.

Vice-President—Mr. A. A. Kingdon.

Secretary—Mr. H. Potter,

Treasurer—Mr H. McWaa.

An informal discussion on the prospects of the Guild for the year was held, and it was decided to embark out in the work somewhat.

The purchase of a piano for the rooms is one of the things projected, and it is probable that with the reputation this Guild has of doing things it will only be a matter of a short time until the frequenters of the room will be able to enjoy the music.

The hockey situation was discussed, too, and it was decided to appoint two representatives to the meeting of the Guild League on Friday night when the question of a league will be discussed. These representatives will be Messrs. C. Crane and G. Butcher.

The prospects are that this Guild will be able to place a fast team on the ice.

To-night At Mark Street

The interest in the special meetings at the Mark street Methodist church continues, and the pastor is pleased with the results obtained. To-night his subject will be "Moulding Influences and Turning Points in Man's Life."

"Old Resident" Gives His Views

Thinks That Mr. Cochrane's Salary Should be Increased.

Peterborough,
December 12, 1905.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have carefully perused the recent very interesting letter that have appeared in the columns of your paper and although I disagree on many essential points, I have no intention to criticize them in your journal.

I would like to say (and I notice the matter has not been referred to) that that what I consider the proper thing to do to have the best enforcement of the license law, is to increase the salary of Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the present license inspector. Not that Mr. Cochrane is not doing satisfactory work at present, for in my opinion, and I am in a position to know, having been a resident of Peterborough for thirty years, he is an ideal inspector, the best we have ever had in fact, and he has won the universal respect of the hotelmen and license holders generally, as well as that of the general public. But if his salary was increased materially, he would then be able to devote his time exclusively to seeing that the law is enforced. At present his remuneration is altogether too low, and to make a reasonable good living, he finds it necessary to take up other lines of work.

The matter is surely worth considering.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space.

Yours truly,
OLD RESIDENT.

Both Arms Were Torn Out In a Horrible Accident

Boy's Terrible Death in Lincoln Paper Mills, Merritton.

ALMOST INSTANTLY KILLED

Caught In the Belt He Was Putting on Pulley and Taken Over Shaft—Wm. Webster, Who Met This Sad Fate, Was Only Fifteen Years of Age and Had Been In the Country Only Eight Weeks.

Merritton, Dec. 12.—At 4.30 yesterday afternoon, in the Lincoln paper mills, Wm. Webster, a youth of 15 years, was almost instantly killed.

He was engaged in putting on a belt, and in some way was caught and taken over the shaft.

Both arms were torn from the body, and he was also crushed. The young man lived with his parents in St. Catharines, and had only been in this country about eight weeks.

QUIRK'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

Was Sitting on Belt of An Engine When It Started—Killed Instantly.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 12.—Levi Quirk, aged 27 years, foreman of the stone quarrymen, was instantly killed at the Toronto and Niagara Power Works at one o'clock yesterday by having been caught in the belting of a stone crusher being run by a steam engine.

Quirk was sitting on the belt with his feet on the ground, chatting with an engineer of another engine just before one o'clock, the engines having been shut off during the noon hour.

The engineer remarked to Quirk it was time the engines should start, and went to his engine, leaving Quirk sitting on the belt. In the meantime the engineer of the engine running the belt that Quirk was sitting on, went to his engine on the opposite side and, not noticing Quirk, started up his engine. It threw Quirk up against the iron pulley, his head striking the engine. Quirk screamed and the engineer shut off, but too late. One side of Quirk's body was squeezed in between the belt and pulley. When he was extricated he was unconscious and lived but 20 minutes.

Quirk came here from Montreal about two years ago to work on the power works. He has a brother employed on the American side of the river.

T. W. Rainie Killed.

Campbellford, Dec. 12.—Early Sunday afternoon T. W. Rainie, a well-known resident, left the house by a side door, and was in the act of descending the steps when he was seized with a stroke. He fell down the steps, receiving injuries about the head from which he died about an hour later. He was 62 years old.

Woodbridge Man Asphyxiated.

Toronto, Dec. 12.—Charles Robertson, aged 25, while climbing a hill in Johnson's bush yesterday, had the misfortune to have the charge from his gun enter his left wrist while the hand was extended to grasp a limb. Dr. Peters decided that amputation was necessary, and operated upon young Robertson half an hour later.

Robert Gibbons of Woodbridge, aged 23, was asphyxiated in the New Armory Hotel, Toronto, during Saturday night.

Count Witte Expresses His Views To Public

Russian Premier Admits It Is Revolution or Coercion.

ALTERNATIVE CONFRONTS

Reviews Events In Russia Since His Return From Portsmouth — Attributes Rapid Development of Revolutionary Spirit to Free Speech Accorded by Czar's Memorial—Force Evidence of Weakness.

London, Dec. 12.—The correspondent of The Daily Telegraph at St. Petersburg, in a despatch dated Dec. 10, sent by way of Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, sends an interview with Count Witte, in which the Premier indicates that Russia is confronted with the alternative of a revolution or violent coercion. Though the Count has not abandoned hope he is not sanguine, and if forcible repression should become necessary he will, according to the correspondent, resign his task to other hands.

Premier Witte attributed the rapid development of the revolutionary movement to the grant of autonomy to the universities and the high schools, where the revolutionary forces, hitherto doomed to secrecy, found asylum and sanctuary and absolute freedom for discussion. Further, when this freedom became license, society still looked on with stolid indifference. Proceeding to a review of the situation, Count Witte said:

"On my return from Portsmouth, I found the country in a difficult position, from which there were only two issues. The problem was thorny and fateful, but after long and careful deliberation the Emperor acted on his own initiative and never doubting that he could build upon the moral courage and the political good sense of the majority of his subjects, took the course of issuing his manifesto of Oct. 30, not only with alacrity but with pleasure.

Results Surprising.

"Clearly the vast changes which the manifesto heralded required time and patience to carry out, but what happened was utterly unexpected. Sections of the community—nay, the whole classes—went to work systematically to annihilate their means of livelihood and ruin themselves and the whole nation. Social instincts seemed to have become atrophied. Instead of uniting to preserve order, the people quarreled among themselves and attacked the Government.

"The only people who acted in their own interests were the revolutionists, who knew what they wanted. They chose the most effective means to attain it, and they are capable of adopting these means even at the price of heavy sacrifices. The revolutionists hide all their quarrels and animosities and act together for the end they have in view, which spells destruction. Out of the resultant chaos they promise a new world and an earthly paradise."

Force Shows Weakness.

After admitting that the manifesto had indirectly intensified the revolutionary movement the Premier said: "Unfortunately the people at large take the view that it is the Government's business to realize constitutional principles and to fight revolution. Doubtless, the Government can employ force, but force is only an evidence of weakness, unless it is levelled by the social conscience against the public enemy. If a community will not struggle against anarchy, no Government can successfully cope with it."

Count Witte contended that the same argument applied to strikes. With regard to the Jewish question, he said it was impossible at the present moment to proclaim equality of rights, because such a measure would provoke appalling bloodshed.

Truly Serious.

In conclusion the Premier said: "Unless all elements of society abandon their own differences of opinion and join hands to assist the Government in checking anarchy and in carrying out the Emperor's manifesto, the situation may be regarded as truly disquieting and serious. With the moral help of the community and with the efficacious measures of the Government, all may yet be righted, but without that help anarchy will continue, until finally the nation may demand the suppression of revolution by force, and then it is not impossible that the principles embodied in the manifesto may be repealed or suspended."

No Coercion.

To the query: "Is Your Excellency prepared for recourse to coercion?" Count Witte replied: "If this alternative comes to pass, it will be confided to somebody qualified to assay it. I assuredly am not so qualified. In this matter I am devoid of the requisite qualities and disposition."

Harbin In Ruins.

New York, Dec. 12.—According to The American yesterday morning, The London Daily Telegraph's advice from Moji, Japan, telling of the bombardment of Harbin by Russian military mutineers, says also that Irkutsk was burned and sacked. The city is in ruins. In Harbin the rebels created fearful slaughter.

Gen. Madrioff, commanding the loyal troops, engaged the rebels. The information brought by British refugees to Moji tell of desperate fighting, accompanied by heavy losses on both sides.

Gasoline Tank Explodes.

Hamilton, Dec. 12.—An iron tank containing 160 gallons of gasoline exploded at the Petrie Manufacturing Co.'s plant in the east end annex yesterday afternoon, about 2 40. The top of the tank was blown so far that it has not yet been discovered. The report of the explosion startled the whole district. The tank was sunk in the ground behind the building, and fortunately no one was near it. The damage will amount to about $200.

Teller Of The Crown Bank Disappeas

Takes With Him Belle of Erindale and Bank's Money.

E. S. BANWELL A FUGITIVE

$1,487 In Gold and $20,000 In Unsigned $50 Bank Notes Missing Since His Disappearance — Sunday Message Received by Father of the Girl Saying That They Were Married and Were Very Happy.

Toronto, Dec. 12.—An ambition to get married without the necessary funds at his disposal is supposed to have caused E. S. Banwell, paying teller in the Crown Bank here, to steal $1,487 in gold and $20,000 in unsigned $50 bank bills. He was reported to be missing yesterday. His fiancee, Miss Nora Hector of Erindale, is also missing.

The theft took place on Saturday afternoon when the gold with 400 unsigned notes, Nos. 601 to 1,000, were taken. It is thought that after his accounts were checked over by the other teller, Young Banwell made his touch on the gold in the cash box attached to his department, which was that of paying teller. Then the box was locked and placed in the vault, according to custom.

While the young man was in the vault he put the package of unsigned notes into his pocket. The package was not more than two inches thick, and so would not attract attention. His taking unsigned notes when plenty of others fully signed were ready at hand, is peculiar.

On going out of the bank he took the train to his home in Port Credit, where he has been supporting his mother and invalid father for some years. On leaving the house later in the afternoon he told them he was going to Erindale, five miles away. This was quite usual.

In the meantime Miss Hector was filling in her part of the program. Early in the morning she went to the Erindale postoffice for her letters. On returning to her home she said she was going into Port Credit, and off she went. Doubtless the young couple met somewhere in Port Credit and came on to Toronto.

Late Sunday afternoon, T. H. Hector, the father of the girl, had a message from a mutual friend of the family in Toronto, stating that the young couple had been married and that they were happy.

When the bank opened on Monday morning, J. A. Ready, the local manager, received a message from Banwell's parents, stating that he had gone to Erindale and had failed to return in time to catch his train. The bank, however, did not realize that anything was wrong until midday, when his accounts were examined. The cash box was immediately found to be $1,487 short, although the balance made up on Saturday afternoon showed that the amount was included. On further investigation, the unsigned notes were found to be missing. They, however, need the signature of G. DeC. O'Grady, the general manager, before they become legally negotiable, although by forgery, they may become passable.

The eloping couple belong to well-known families. The missing man was supposed to be of exemplary character. Nothing has been heard of the missing couple since Sunday, when they were in Toronto and caused the message to be sent to Erindale. The bank's loss is covered in a guarantee company.

NOT GUILTY, HE SAYS.

Alleged Defaulting Treasurer Is Released on $10,000 Bail.

Chatham, Dec. 12.—W. F. Robinson, the ex-treasurer of Tilbury East, was arraigned before Magistrate Houston yesterday morning. Through his solicitor, W. G. Richards, he pleaded not guilty, but declined for the present to elect whether to be tried before the magistrate summarily or not. He was remanded until Monday next.

He was released on a personal surety of $5,000, and the same amount from friends, J. T. James, Tilbury East, in $2,500; Wm. Robertson, Sr., $1,000, and James W. Smith, Edward Nealand and Dr. C. B. Oliver, in $500 each.

The informations charge the theft of the amounts of $1,000, $2,610.66 and $150 respectively.

To Prison For Perjury.

New York, Dec. 12.—Former Assemblyman Joseph J. Cahill of Brooklyn, who last week was convicted of perjury in connection with violation of the election laws, was yesterday sentenced to serve two years in Sing Sing Prison.

THOMAS RYAN WILL TELL.

What Harriman Said or Threatened to Secure Share of Equitable Stock From Equitable's Big Man.

New York, Dec. 12.—The Legislative Life Insurance Investigation Committee met again yesterday. It now looks as if Thomas F. Ryan, who bought 502 shares of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, would answer the questions he refused to reply to the other day when on the stand.

The specific questions which Ryan refused to answer were: "Did Harriman say there would be any results injurious to your interests in case you refused to admit him to share in the ownership?" Also, "Did he say any action on the part of the Legislature or any official, any officer of the Government, would be taken in the event you refused to accede to his request?"

Counsel for Ryan gave out a statement that they have advised Ryan that he should answer the questions and that he is prepared to do so whenever recalled.

Loans Never Repaid.

The committee was engaged for a part of the time yesterday in inquiring into the affairs of the Provident Savings Life Assurance Society of New York. Charles T. Hughes had brought out, by questioning Edward W. Scott, the president of that company, that when Frank R. Hadley of New Bedford, Mass., secured control of the company in 1899, he borrowed $162,000 from the company on his collateral notes, to pay up the stock of the insurance company. Scott testified that Hadley never repaid those loans and that the insurance company realised $30,000 on the sale of the collateral. The companies in which Hadley was interested failed and he committed suicide.

"It cost the insurance company just $132,000 for Hadley to get control of it," said Hughes.

Besides the $162,000 Hadley had borrowed $200,000 to pay for the assurance companies' stock and had put up that stock as collateral. Scott testified that he bought that stock at auction after Hadley's death and borrowed money to do it from the New York Security and Trust Co. John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, Scott said, "stood back" of him in the negotiations of the loan.

McCall and Hamilton Confer.

Paris, Dec. 12.—John C. McCall, son of President McCall of the New York Life Insurance Co., has arrived here and has held several conferences with Andrew Hamilton, the former legislative agent of the insurance companies at Albany. On the main point of Mr. Hamilton's returning to New York it is known that no decision has yet been reached.

British Policyholders Active.

London, Dec. 12.—The Associated Press was informed yesterday that the policyholders of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York have decided to urge upon the officials of that company that the successor to Richard A. McCurdy must be an insurance man having the confidence of the British policyholders, and that these policyholders must be represented on the board of directors. The Associated Press understands that an urgent cablegram to this effect was sent to the Mutual officials at New York yesterday.

Banquet to Hon. Lemer Gouin.

Montreal, Dec. 12.—The banquet tendered last evening at the Windsor to Hon. Lomer Gouin, Premier of the province, was an imposing affair, some three hundred being present, including Sir Wilfrid Laurier, several Federal and local Ministers, and a great many members of the Senate, Commons and Legislature. H. Gervais, M. P., for St. James, presided, and Senator Casgrain and Major S. W. Stephens, M. P. P., proposed the Premier's health.

Angolia Goes Ashore.

London, Dec. 12.—A despatch received at Liverpool states that the Elder-Dempster steamer Angolia has gone ashore and is in a bad position in Havana harbor. She belongs to the line of steamers running between Canada, Mexico and Cuba, and left Halifax on Nov. 27.

CAUSES OF INSANITY.

50 Per Cent. of Inmates of Asylums Are of Farming Class—Interesting Paper by Dr. W. R. B. Smith.

The cause of insanity was the principal subject discussed one morning at the Normal School, on the resumption of the eighth Canadian Conference on Charities and Corrections. Dr. Helen MacMurchy, in an address on "The Care of the Feeble-Minded," argued that feeble-minded women should be placed in special institutions, and that defective children should receive special attention.

Dr. W. R. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Hospitals and Prisons, read a paper entitled "Suggestion for Preventing the Increase of Insanity."

"In every refuge, rescue home and orphanage may be found," he said, "deplorable evidence of the necessity of some action being taken that will check the ever-increasing number of mental degenerates that are being brought into the world. There are hundreds of feeble-minded girls in this province that should be cared for in some institution specially set apart and conducted as an industrial refuge. Only last week in one of the smaller cities of Ontario I counted at least a dozen young women who could be classed only as high-grade imbeciles, and who had either just become, or were about to be, mothers. The probable destiny of their offspring need be little questioned. Then, when I looked about and saw the marks of degeneracy so evident in many of the other children, I could only wonder how long it will take to awake public conscience to a proper comprehension of the importance of this great question."

The time had come, Dr. Bruce Smith contended, when as much attention should be given to the prevention of insanity as to the care and custody of its unfortunate victims. He also said that the province was too lax in regard to the admission of undesirable immigrants, and by the pernicious system of bonusing emigration agents abroad mental and physical degenerates had been landed here and finally drifted into one of the great public charities.

"There is no doubt," Dr. Bruce Smith proceeded, "that 50 per cent. of the inmates of Canadian asylums are drawn from the farming community. This must be accounted for largely by the mode of living which obtains in many farm-houses. Socially they are isolated from the world, especially in the newer districts. Imperfect hygienic surroundings, the monotony of their daily lives, a dietary that seldom varies, often the entire absence of bathing facilities, and we might draw a picture that reveals a state of domestic life that no wonder often ends in despair. The human brain demands diversity, and we must teach the farming community that they owe it as a duty to themselves as well as to the nation to cultivate a higher ideal of home life."

There were books published which were not conducive to soundness, as well as purity, of mind.

Finally, Dr. Bruce Smith gave the following conclusions:—(1) That if the conditions under which many cases of insanity originate were properly understood many attacks of the disease might be avoided; (2) that the public should be enlightened in regard to the nature of insanity, in order that they may properly estimate the influence of heredity as the most potent factor in the causation of the disease; (3) that care should be taken to provide a special refuge for feeble-minded women of the child-bearing age, in order that a deplorable condition now manifest in Ontario may be checked; (4) the prevention of insanity is not promoted by merely studying the phenomena of the disease; (5) that the study of child character and the careful consideration of the variability in the development of mental phenomena during the period of growth in the child are all-important; (6) the burden must be adjusted to the capacity of the individual in order that it can always be carried with safety when this is possible, and when it is not possible that the line of descent and every such defection shall terminate in the individual himself.

THE REASON WHY.

Pathetic Incident In Life of Englishman Who Came to Canada.

Here is one of the many incidents which happen in a great city, and which contains much heart interest.

During the early part of last summer there came to Toronto, from England, a man who had been trained in the insurance business. He left behind him a wife and daughter. His object in coming here was to find employment. He was not successful. He wrote to his family regularly, but refrained from telling them of his hard luck, but at last he had to tell them of his failure here. They wrote him immediately, advising him to come home, and asking what money he required. He never received the letter, nor have his friends in England heard from him since.

Several letters for him came from England to his old address. They were "returned" marked "not here." The daughter wrote to an acquaintance in Toronto, a pathetic letter, asking him to try and find some trace of her father.

One day the father found himself penniless. He passed a worthless cheque for $5 and received in change after making a purchase $1.30.

He was arraigned in the Police Court, pleaded guilty, was sent to the Kingston "pen" for one year. That is the reason he has not written his wife and daughter, and that is the sad news the friend has to send them.

Money In Cheese.

The Township of Finch has the smallest area of any township in the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas, and Glengarry, but it has 16 cheese factories within its boundaries and five factories near the boundary lines in the adjoining townships to which farmers of Finch furnish milk. The dairymen of Finch will be paid (approximately) from $400,000 to $450,000 for their milk as patrons of the aforesaid factories during the season of 1905.

A Brown Bear.

A large brown bear was seen by hunters in the vicinity of Mr. Sam Jamieson's, near Lindsay, last week. Several young pigs have disappeared from farmers throughout that district of late, so the mystery is now practically solved. The hunters tracked him to his retreat, where they found quite a meat store established under the roots of a partly upturned elm tree.

MRS. HUBBARD A CANADIAN.

First Woman to Explore Labrador Wilds Born In Ontario.

In the Township of Hamilton, Northumberland, Ont., was born Mrs. Leonidas Hubbard, the celebrated woman who is the first Canadian lady to explore the wilds of Labrador. The announcement that the much-heralded New York explorer is a Canadian will cause surprise, but it is authentic. According to Dr. Morgan, author of Canadian Men and Women of the Time, Mrs. Hubbard, just returned from her adventurous journey to discover the secrets of her late husband's failure and subsequent death in that bleak and inhospitable country, is one of our own countrywomen.

She is the daughter of James Bennett, a farmer of Bewdley, Township of Hamilton, County of Northumberland, Ontario. As a girl she qualified as a trained nurse, and while in the performance of her duties as such took up her residence in New York, where she was called upon to nurse Dr. Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., through a serious illness.

It was a case on his part of love at first sight, and a marriage soon followed. The world knows how in 1903 her husband met his death in the Labrador wilds, and it was to clear up doubts and uncertainties, and also to complete the report of her husband's exploration, that she undertook the journey from which she has now returned.

When seen on her return to Quebec, she was found to be a small, slight, woman, of delicate and refined appearance, who would seem to be the last to face the dangers and hardships of such a journey through the wilderness. She politely but firmly declined to be questioned about her expedition. She would merely say that she had succeeded in her object, that she had followed the route taken by her husband from the coast to the point where he had met his death from exposure and starvation, that she had found where he had diverged from his route and lost his way, that she had cleared up some important points in regard to the head waters of the Northwest River, which flows into Lake Melville and Hamilton Inlet, as well as in regard to Lake Mishikamau, the height of land, and the George River, which flows into Ungava Bay, and that she had not suffered much from the hardships of the journey.

Mrs. Hubbard emphatically denied that she went to Labrador to locate mineral wealth said to have been discovered by Mr. Hubbard on his fatal trip. She simply set out to complete the work which he began, and has succeeded in doing so.

MARK HANNA ROCK GONE.

Stood on the Pacific Coast and Was Gravestone For Ships.

A recent despatch from Victoria, B. C., says: Notification has been sent by Lighthousekeeper Daykin of Cape Carmanagh to the resident agent of the Department of Marine, that "Mark Hanna" Rock, otherwise known to navigators of the North Pacific as one of the many marine gravestones that decorate the western seaboard of Vancouver Island, has strangely disappeared.

The rock until very recently reared 80 feet above the water, near Bonilla Point, off Carmanagh, the Canadian sentinel at the entrance of the Straits of San Juan de Fuca, opposite Cape Flattery, on the American shore.

The rock was named for the Ohio statesman and Republican organizer by Lighthousekeeper Daykin, because of the remarkable likeness its contour bore to a facial silhouette of the late American Senator. Apart from this distinguished feature, however, there was another peculiarity about Mark Hanna Rock which in earlier time might have invested it with superstitious dread. It is said that it possessed a remarkable magnetic power, for on its rugged and storm-beaten base many a vessel has pounded to destruction.

But the rock is no more. It was destroyed some weeks ago in the seismic and electrical disturbance felt in slight degree here and to a greater extent at Nanaimo. It was noticed, black and grim, rearing itself through the storm in the afternoon preceding the shake. In the morning Lighthousekeeper Daykin observed with amazement that the sea broke unruffled where it had lifted itself from the deep.

The question is now being debated among local scientists whether or not the strange magnetic force said to be a property of the rock had aught to do with its final demolition.

The cinematograph may be traced back to 130 A.D., from a document in the Bodleian Library at Oxford, said Mr. Martin Duncan at the British Society of Arts.

BACK FROM THE ARCTIC.

First "White" Woman in the Far North —Wife of Major Moodie Tells Her Experiences.

Mrs. Moodie, wife of Major Moodie of the Northwest Mounted Police, was the only woman with the Hudson Bay expedition of the Dominion Government steamship Arctic, of which her husband was commander. She was the only "white" woman ever seen in those regions, and was, therefore, regarded by the natives with much curiosity. The party were for nine months frozen in the ice, going in on the 17th October and breaking out on the 5th July, the whole expedition occupying thirteen months.

"We experienced no discomfort whatever," said Mrs. Moodie, in speaking of her Arctic tour, "and had a most interesting time of it. One has, of course, to dress entirely in furs and skins, but then there is no danger of being frost-bitten. The thermometer averages 38 below; it is not so very severe, but it keeps low all the time."

The people are not like the Esquimaux of farther south (the Arctic went just north of 64), many of them appearing more like Canadian or European types. The race is decreasing rapidly, however, owing to starvation, and Mrs. Moodie thinks they would soon become extinct, unless, as she expects, the Government comes to their aid with food, as for the Indians. The children have been dying off fast, a fact which may be due to the custom of their mothers of not clothing them at all, allowing them to play around naked, only skins being spread for them on the floors of the "igloos" or ice-houses.

"Could not those splendid people be brought down to a more moderate climate, where they would have a chance to live?" Mrs. Moodie was asked.

"Yes, and I think it would be a good thing to do for them; not to bring them down to civilization exactly, but along the shores of Hudson Bay further south. I think the Government will come to their rescue now, after the expedition has found out about their condition."

Speaking of the country, Mrs. Moodie was enthusiastic over the beauties of the scenery, saying she never saw such rich colorings in blooms as in the profuse, though low, growths of wild flowers along the shores of Ungava Bay. The fishing, too, is excellent, both of salmon and of cod. "They speak of twenty hours' night, but there is really no night, for the twilight lasts so long, the sun dips such a short distance below the horizon and the northern lights are so vivid, that it is always partly light, except on stormy nights. There is no soft snow and no heavy snowfalls, only a continual light drifting, sort of fog of snow, which hardens on the ground and is cut into blocks to build the igloos."

Prefontaine Harbor, in Ungava Bay, is a magnificent land-locked roadstead, nine miles long, capacious enough for the whole British navy to anchor in it. The party thought well to give it the name of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries. They named the promontory at its entrance Cape Laurier, and the island which shields the entrance they called White Island, after Col. White, the leader of their expedition. The party expects to cruise further north, going even to Greenland, next summer.

ALIENS ARE BARRED.

Marriage Licenses Must Now Not Be Sold to Them.

The Provincial Secretary's Department is taking action to prevent the issuing of marriage licenses at frontier points in Ontario to persons from the American side, a business which is quite a flourishing one, particularly at Windsor. This follows upon the handing down of an opinion by the Attorney-General that these licenses should not be issued. He based his finding upon sections of clause 17 of the act respecting the solemnization of marriages. These sections provide that the affidavit made personally by one of the parties to the intended marriage, before a license is granted, shall state that one of the parties has had his or her usual place of abode in the county or the judicial district in which is the municipality where the marriage is to be solemnized, for fifteen days immediately preceding the issue of the license. If the county or district in which it is intended that the marriage shall take place is not that in which either of the parties has resided, as stated, the affidavit must show that the reason for solemnizing the marriage shall take place is not that in which either of the parties has resided, as stated, the affidavit must show that the reason for solemnizing the marriage in such place is not in order to evade due publicity or for any other improper purpose.

In effect the ruling of the Attorney-General is that the licenses should not be issued to people who are not bona fide residents of the province, and the Provincial Secretary's Department will try to enforce that ruling. Some frontier license issuers and some ministers will naturally suffer financially, and those at Windsor to a greater extent than others.

Good tea must be grown under proper conditions

Low, damp or swampy lands in a warm, humid climate produce tea of rank, rapid growth, coarse in texture, woody fibred, rudely flavored—makes a cup heavy, murky in color, rough-tasting—it is poor tea.

But the Indian and Ceylon teas used to make the Red Rose brand are grown on the high lands of India and the mountain sides of Ceylon.

These teas are grown in clear dry sunshine, they mature slowly, the leaves of the Ceylon teas are tender, delicate, finely flavored, but not strong.

The Indian teas thus grown are full bodied, richly flavored, smooth in texture, strong.

Such Indian and Ceylon teas combined in Red Rose Tea produce a cup of a rich rosy brown, strong and smooth—all the richness and strength of Indian, all the delicacy and fragrance of Ceylon teas—that "rich, fruity flavor' which belongs alone to Red Rose Tea—more qualities of tea excellence than any Indian or brand of Ceylon alone can possess.

Red Rose Tea is good Tea

Adopting Ontario Methods.

The Provincial Department of Agriculture has received an interesting note from Scotland. Mr. George Bain, editor of the Nairnshire Telegraph, called at the Department last year, and among the publications given him were some of the Nature Study bulletins issued by the Department for Public School teachers. Mr. Bain states that some of the teachers of the Nairn district are very much interested in these, and intend to use them as the basis of their nature study work. The steady demand for these bulletins from Ontario Public school teachers has exhausted the bulletins on "Weeds," "Grasses" and "The Making of Collections." The bulletin on "Weeds" has been revised by Prof. Lochhead, making it more suitable for teachers, and it will be re-issued during the winter.

Flight of Birds.

Pigeons fly at the rate of fifty-five miles an hour, swallows at the rate of ninety-two, rooks at the rate of twenty-five. There was once a three-mile race got up for a wager between a dozen bees and a dozen pigeons. The first bee finished a quarter of a minute before the first pigeon, and the bees won all round, although they were handicapped somewhat by being previously rolled in flour for the purpose of identification.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

GOVERNMENT BY PARTY.

Mr. R. L. Borden Points Out Some of Its Defects.

Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition in the Dominion Parliament, who was the guest of honor at a recent luncheon of the Empire Club, Toronto, spoke interestingly on the development of Parliamentary institutions in Great Britain and Canada. His address, which was, of course, non-political, was frequently heartily applauded by the large audience. The party system of government in Great Britain and Canada, he said, was often treated as if it were a rather discreditable system. Yet it was to a certain extent the basis of the institutions under which the people of both countries lived. Until some better method could be found for the purpose of carrying on the affairs of the country the people would have to submit to it. However, it could be said that representative Government in Canada was at least more in the interests of the great mass of the people than any other system devised up to the present time.

The Cabinet system was an essential feature of party government, and there had been a tendency in the last sixty or seventy years, and more especially in the last thrity or forty years, to shelve the power formerly vested in the Crown and transferred to Parliament upon the Cabinet. The latter, strictly speaking, was not a committee of Parliament, because it was a partisan committee, and not only a partisan but a secret committee. A further development in this connection was the formation of a conclave of the Cabinet—a Cabinet within a Cabinet, so to speak—so that all the Ministers of the Crown did not possess equal initiative with regard to policies of administration or measures which were brought down.

A striking development in Canada was the party caucus. The important debates upon great questions in this country, the debates that settled the fate of measures, were those which took place in caucus. The experience of the last fifteen or twenty years proved that debates in the House had little or no influence. One result of these developments was to aid in giving the head of the Government the power of a dictator if he was a strong man; if he was not a strong man, one or two of his Cabinet would control him. Another result was the obedience of the members of the parties to the decision of the majority in caucus.

The power of the Government, Mr. Borden proceeded, was certainly not less in Canada than in Great Britain; perhaps a little more, for two reasons: First, the greater need of small public works in this country; secondly, patronage, happily removed from the sphere of political action in Britain owing to reforms in the civil service, was an incubus in Canada. For his part, he would willingly see Canada follow in this regard along the lines of Britain and the United States, and take away from political parties the power to deal with many important matters of patronage.

The speaker, who quoted freely from Sidney Low and other British publicists in support of some of his contentions and conclusions, summed up by pointing a moral. "In the first place," he said, "a very great responsibility is cast upon the press of this country, the fourth estate, whether it be Liberal or Conservative. But there is a far greater responsibility cast upon the electorate, which should be alive to check a Government."

That brought him to a text from which he said he often preached. He alluded to that duty which fell to every citizen to contribute to public life. Unless each man contributed a little of his time to that line of duty we never could have those high standards in public life which were to be found in British institutions.

The Conditions Different.

Husband (with newspaper)—When I'm at home you are forever hammering at that piano or else your tongue is running like a trip hammer. It wasn't so before we were married. Wife—No, it wasn't. Before we were married you held my hands so I couldn't play and kept my lips so busy that I couldn't talk.

"She's the most unconscious girl I ever saw."

"Well, why shouldn't she be? She's pretty and knows it; she's clever and knows it, and she's good and knows it. What has she to be conscious of?"—Puck.

A TRAPPER RETURNS.

William Miller Back in Orkney After Thirty Years' Absence in the Canadian Far North.

No longer an explorer of the unknown Antarctic, but a prosaic trading vessel in the service of the Hudson's Bay Co., the famous Discovery has just been berthed in the West India Dock, London, after her first voyage to the Arctic regions. The Discovery brought home an interesting personage in William Miller, a man of nearly seventy years of age, who has spent half a century in the employment of the Hudson's Boy Co., and returned home to live in retirement in his native Orcadian town of Stromness.

Miller has had charge for nearly thirty years of the post named Mistessines, on Rupert's River. He was the only white man in the Indian settlement of forty or fifty souls, yet the life was thoroughly congenial, and only failing eyesight has compelled him to give it up. His life was that of the hardy pioneer of the wilds of unknown Canada. The nearest settlement was twelve days' march, or 300 miles distant.

In winter, journeys were accomplished on snow-shoes, or by sledges, drawn by teams of Eskimo dogs. Black bears, reindeer, and numerous other kinds of game provided abundance of work for the rifle and food for the settlers. Miller made an annual journey down Rupert's River to Rupert's House, on the shores of Hudson Bay. The produce of this district was conveyed in a dozen large Indian canoes, manned by Indians, and on the return journey these were loaded up with stores for the coming winter.

With the exception of this brief interlude, Miller rarely saw a white man from one end of the year to the other; and until he arrived in London he had not set foot upon the streets of a civilized town for nearly half a century, except for one visit to Montreal.

Under the command of Capt. Gray, one of a well-known Peterhead family of whaling masters, the Discovery left the Thames on June 15, bound for the company's trading station on Charlton Island, at the extreme south end of James Bay, an arm of the greater Hudson Bay. A fairly good passage was made across the Atlantic, but when 100 miles from the entrance to Hudson Strait, the vessel entered a vast field of ice floes.

The Discovery, though specially constructed for ice work, found the floes impenetrable. Capt. Gray availed himself of every "lead," and rammed and butted with all the skill and daring he commands, but while the ship took no injury, she was firmly beset, and progress became almost impossible.

In this unfortunate position she remained for five weeks, when at length the movement of the floes permitted her escape.

Hon. Justice Mathieu.

Hon. Justice Mathieu, Dean of the Law Faculty of Laval University, who administered a rebuke to the students of that university for their action in endeavoring to break up an evangelistic meeting conducted by a Protestant, Mr. A. Mage, in Montreal, is Puisne Judge of the Superior Court of Quebec. He was called to the Bar in 1865 and was appointed Sheriff of Richelieu in 1868. He resigned that office on becoming a candidate for the House of Commons in the general election of 1872, running in the Conservative interest, and sat for two years, being defeated in 1874. In the following year he was returned by acclamation to the Legislature and continued a member of that body till his elevation to the Bench in 1881. While at the Bar he published La Revue Legale. In 1892 he was appointed a member of a Royal Commission to make inquiry into certain matters concerning the good government of the Province of Quebec. He received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Laval University in 1886. In religion he is a Roman Catholic.

Torpid Liver Cause of Fevers

The Surest Way to Prevent Disease is to Keep the Liver Active with

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Too frequently an external cause for fever is looked for, when the real source of trouble is from within the body itself.

To begin with the liver becomes torpid, sluggish and inactive, and poisonous bile in left in the blood to corrupt the whole system. The result is the overworking of the kidneys and the clogging up of the organs of excretion.

Food which should be digested is left to ferment and decay in the intestines, and inflammations and fevers are set up.

In such a condition the body is a regular hotbed of disease and is most susceptible to any ailment of an infectious or contagious nature.

The best insurance against disease is the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep the liver active. This great medicine has a direct and specific action on the liver, and is wonderfully prompt and effective in awakening and invigorating this important filtering organ.

A healthy liver means pure blood, good digestion and the proper working of the bowels. A healthy liver ensures the onward passage of the food through the intestines and excretory organs, and so removes all chance of poisonous waste matter remaining in the body to produce pain, suffering and disease.

Mrs. R. C. Webster, Glenarm, Victoria, Co., Ont., writes: —"I gladly state my experience with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in order that others may profit by it. About a year ago I was almost entirely used up with severe pains in my back and side the result no doubt of deranged liver and kidneys. Having tried several remedies which did not seem to do much good and hearing Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I sent for several boxes and can freely state that they did me a world of good. As I feel no need of further treatment, the cure seems to be thorough."

SHE ONLY WRITES.

A woman there was and she wrote for the press
(As you or I might do).
She told how to cut and fit a dress,
And how to stew many a savory mess,
But she never had done it herself, I guess
(Which none of her readers knew).

Oh, the hour we spent and the flour we spent,
And the sugar we wasted like sand,
At behest of a woman who never had cooked
(And now we know that she never could cook)
And did not understand.

A woman there was, and she wrote right fair,
(As you or I might do).
How out of a barrel to make a chair,
To be covered with chints and stuffed with hair—
'Twould adorn any parlor and give it an air!
(And we thought the tale was true).

Oh, the days we worked and the ways we worked
To hammer and saw and hack
In making a chair in which no one could sit
Without a crick in his back.

A woman there was, and she had her fun
(Better than you and I).
She wrote out recipes, and she never tried one,
She wrote about children — of course she had none—
She told us to do what she never had done
(And never intended to try).

And it isn't to toil and it isn't to spoil
That brims the cup of disgrace—
It's to follow a woman who didn't know beans
(A woman who never had cooked any beans)
But wrote and was paid to fill space.

SALE OF YOUNG GIRLS.

Mrs. Chisholm's Statements Contradicted—Galicians in West Indignant.

The remarks of Mrs. Chisholm of Winnipeg, at the W. C. T. U. convention in Hamilton recently, have created quite a sensation in Manitoba's capital. Mrs. Chisholm is reported to have asserted that young Galician and other slave girls are frequently sold for $25 or $50 to husbands they do not know. Philip Harvey, interpreter of the immigration office at Winnipeg, probably knows more about these people and their customs than any other Canadian in the west. Concerning Mrs. Chisholm's statement Mr. Harvey says: "I think that anyone making such a statement ought to be ashamed of it. How would English people like to have the same said of English girls? It is just as true of the English as it is of the Poles. I know every foreign settlement in the west, and I never heard the suggestion of such a thing."

Father Kulawy, Polish priest, is greatly incensed. He declares it is a crime to give utterance to such statements regarding the Galigian people. "It is absolutely untrue; it is a pure invention. The Galician people are known as a most docile race; they are sincerely and deeply attached to their children. During my residence among them I saw daily proof of the devotion of the people to their children, and I never on any occasion heard of anything of this character. I think it necessary that the most positive and direct denial should be made to this statement. It is the invention of someone desiring to create a sensation."

In spite of these denials, however, it is said the W. C. T. U. officials have secured information which fully justifies the remarks of Mrs. Chisholm, and the last of the controversy has not been heard.

Salaried Daughters.

When there is need of her work in the home, and often help has to be hired to take her place, the daughter should be given a regular salary, approximately the equivalent of what she could earn outside after making allowance for board, room rent and the numberless privileges a girl has in her father's house. The salary should be at least equal to what would have to be paid for the same work if a stranger were called in to do it, and the duties should be as distinctly defined and as promptly and efficiently performed. This is a very different thing from an allowance without definite duties.

I know of several families where this plan has worked successfully, says a correspondent. In one instance the daughter, while unmarried, became a capable housekeeper and manager, buying all supplies and relieving both parents of care and annoyance, for which she received a housekeeper's wages at the end of every month. Another, whose mother is an invalid, gets a weekly envelope containing the same amount that would have been paid a nurse. Both these salaried daughters were happy, contented and efficient, and each had a feeling of independence and self-reliance never to be attained under the "allowance" system or the usual haphazard appeal to father for money to gratify needs or whims.

ORIGIN OF OUR LAWS.

Mr. Ross Speaks on Comparative Politics—Framers of B. N. A. Act Drew Inspiration From Washington.

The merits of the British constitution as manifested in the British North America Act and the sharper points of contrast between it and the constitution of the United States were forcibly clarified by Hon. Geo. W. Ross, LL.D., before the McMaster University Literary Society in Toronto recently. Speaking upon the theme, "A Perspective of Canadian History," Mr Ross treated his subject with the utmost lucidity and presented a veritable compendium of the comparative politics of the two greatest nations of the world.

Commenting upon the impostance of studying Canadian history, as any other, in its proper setting, and evolving the processes by which it obtained its liberty and laws, Mr. Ross outlined the background of Canadian history. Briefly, this consisted in French influence with a British over-coloring, the former present to-day and for all time to come. Perfect liberty for both interests had come only by installments. The Quebec Act, the constitutional act, the act of union—each had been a progression in enlarging, and deepening love for British institutions.

No constitution, said Mr. Ross, was an original document. The British North America Act had a strong raison d'etre. That stumbling-block, equal French and English representation in Parliament, political incompatibility of Upper and Lower Canada, and the urgency of solidarity to the north of the American boundary line — all of these dictated its framing.

A Complete Constitution.

But how much of this act had been borrowed? Its constitution was far from original. In the first place, it was composite. In preamble it proposed to create a Federal union of provinces.

That was surely actuated by consultation of the framework of the United States. But how could a Federal Government obtain under British constitution? The British Government had been said to be a Government with a hereditary President, while that of the United States was a monarchy with an elected King. Ours was more democratic a government than theirs. Theirs was, in effect, a limited monarchy.

With the federal system of government as one model the British North America Act had emanated individual control of the provinces over local affairs. Our local Government was not a side show, but a house of original legislation. "The King, by advice and consent of the Legislature, etc., its statutes began. A distribution of powers between the Local and Federal Governments also obtained with some variations as in the United States constitution.

The British side of the British North America Act was as strongly marked. Its cardinal principle was responsible government. The Canadian Senators, like the members of the British House of Lords, were appointed by the Crown and for life. The appointment of Judges by the Crown was an outstanding mark of British influence. In the States these were, for the most part, elected, and it was truly a marvel how well they had dispensed justice under these circumstances.

Vested in the King

Pointing out other similarities, Mr. Ross said: "Some people think the Governor-General is the only connecting link between the King and his colony. Those who think so have forgotten this important point—that the execution of the Canadian constitution is vested in the King, and he can amend it in any part he pleases, through his representative. Still, we need have little fear on that score. The policy of Great Britain is that Canada be self-governing, and little disposition is shown to interfere in her affairs. The spirit that gave us our constitution is the very spirit that will keep it unimpaired. Let us cherish respect for those that gave it impulse. Let us revere the past and look back with love to the great figures that stand at the great portals of the past."

To Make a Barometer.

A simple barometer that can be made for one's self, and which, though old, may be new to some, is made as follows: Two drachms of camphor, half drachm of muriate of ammonia, and two ounces of proof spirits, in a glass tube or narrow phial, will make a very good weather guide. In dry weather the solution will remain clear. On the approach of change, minute stars will rise up in the liquid, while stormy weather will be indicated by the very disturbed condition of the chemical combination.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE. WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazeldean, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use.

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Story of Alexandre Dumas.

This story is told of Alexandre Dumas: It is well known that he could not refuse a request—at least not often. One day he gave a man a letter to one of his intimate friends in Brussels. The friend, a wealthy merchant, received him as though he had been Dumas' own brother, introduced him to his circle of acquaintances, placed his stable at the man's disposal and did everything in his power to make life pleasant for Dumas' friend. After the lapse of fourteen days the man suddenly disappeared and with him the best horse in the merchant's stable. Six months later the merchant visited Dumas and thanked him for the kind of people he recommended to his consideration. "Dear friend," he added, "your friend is a shark. He stole the best horse in my stable." Astonished, Dumas raised his hands toward heaven and cried, "What, he stole from you too!"

Mazeppa and the Cossacks.

The word cossack means robber, and the name Cossacks was given by the Turks to a race in manners, appearance and language like the Russians, but who are said not to be really akin to them. The Cossacks of Little Russia and the Don Cossacks are said to be the most unscrupulous robbers in the world. They excel in horsemanship and form a large part of the Russian imperial cavalry. Styled sometimes the spies of the czar, they keep the nihilists in greater check than any other power and number many more than a million men. Mazeppa, a Don Cossack, the subject of Byron's poem, when condemned to be bound upon a wild horse and borne away to his fate, was carried toward the Ukraine, on the borders of Poland, and, being rescued by Cossacks, became their chief.

Violet For Mourning.

It was not by accident that violet was chosen by many nations as the exclusive color for mourning and by us also for half mourning. Painters suffering from hysteria and neurasthenia will be inclined to cover their pictures uniformly with the color most in accordance with their condition of lassitude and exhaustion. Thus originate the violet pictures of Manet and his school, which spring from no actually observable aspect of nature, but from a subjective view due to conditions of the nerves. When the entire surface of walls in salons and art exhibitions of the day appears veiled in uniform half mourning this predilection for violet is simply an expression of the nervous debility of the painter.

A Broad Hint.

Sir Andrew Agnew of Lucknow, a well known Scotch baronet, was long pestered by an impudent sort of person, who insisted on being constantly "underfoot." Finally, however, he dropped off, and Sir Andrew was asked how he got rid of him.

"Oh," said he, "I gave him a broad hint."

"A broad hint?" repeated the inquirer. "I thought he was one of those who never could be induced to take one."

"By ma saul," said Sir Andrew, "he was obleeged to tak' it! For as the chiel wadna gang oot at the door I just threw him oot of the window!"

Air Pressure.

At the level of the sea the pressure of the atmosphere on the piston of an engine is about fifteen pounds to the square inch, but decreases at higher altitudes. As this atmospheric pressure must be overcome by the steam pressure before any work can be done, it is evident that at the diminished air pressure of high altitudes more work can be obtained from a given pressure of steam than at the sea level, or, in other words, an equally effective pressure of steam can be obtained with the expenditure of less fuel. The difference, however, is not great enough to be of any practical importance.

Bounty For Scalps.

During the French-Indian war of 1754 the French offered a bounty for British scalps. In the same year a bounty of £100 each was offered by the authorities of the several colonies. In 1755 Massachusetts granted a bounty of £40 for every scalp of a male Indian over twelve years of age and £20 each for the scalps of women and children. In 1764 John Penn, grandson of William Penn and governor of Pennsylvania, offered a bounty of $150 for every "Indian buck" killed and scalped.

Local Salaried Representative

King Edward Approves Of The Ministers

Britain's New Cabinet With Liberal Leaders United.

SOME GREAT MEN IN OFFICE

Cabinet is Radical Beyond What Was Thought Probable—Strong Influence of Marjoribanks Family — John Burns, the Labor Leader, in the Ministry — Lloyd-George and James Bryce Also.

London, Dec. 11.—It is officially announced that the new British Ministry is made up as follows:

Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman.

Chancellor of the Exchequer—Herbert Henry Asquith.

Lord Chancellor—Sir Robt. Threshie Reid.

Secretary of State for Home Affairs—Herbert John Gladstone.

Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs—Sir Edward Grey.

Secretary of State for the Colonies—The Earl of Elgin.

Secretary of State for War—Richard Burdon Haldane.

Secretary of State for India—John Morley.

First Lord of the Admiralty—Baron Tweedmouth.

President of the Board of Trade—David Lloyd-George.

President of the Local Government Board—John Burns.

President of the Board of Agriculture—Earl Carrington.

Postmaster-General—Sydney Charles Buxton.

Chief Secretary for Ireland—James Bryce.

Lord President of the Council—The Earl of Crewe.

Lord of the Privy Seal—The Marquis of Ripon.

President of the Board of Education—Augustine Birrell.

Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster—Sir Henry Hartley Fowler.

The foregoing constitute the Cabinet. The following Ministers are not in the Cabinet:

Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland—The Earl of Aberdeen.

Lord Chancellor of Ireland—Right Hon. Samuel Walker.

First Commissioner of Works and Public Buildings—Lewis Vernon Harcourt.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman drove to the palace at 6 o'clock last evening and had an audience of King Edward of about 20 minutes, and at which His Majesty signified his approval of the new Government.

SIR HY. CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

A Strong Cabinet.

Undoubtedly Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has managed to get together a strong and to all appearance a good Cabinet. The last ten years of opposition has opened the way for the advancement of the younger generation of politicians who have, however, won their spurs in subordinate administrative posts. The three most important posts—finance, foreign affairs and the colonial offices—have been given to men who are reported to be among the very strongest on the Liberal side, and they are an earnest that exchequer, imperial and international affairs will be handled with firmness and good judgment.

In the meantime the Government has no program, but some idea of the drift of Cabinet opinion can be gained from the known affinities of Ministers. Though Lord Rosebery is out the Cabinet his four chief henchmen have seats in the persons of H. H. Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, R. B. Haldane and Sir Henry Fowler. Lord Crewe is his son-in-law, but has not identified himself particularly with either section of the Liberal party.

Another radical departure — in a double sense—is seen in the elevation of John Burns, an avowed Socialist and labor leader to Cabinet rank, while the Welsh non-conformists, and non-conformists generally—will be placated by the inclusion of D. Lloyd-George, a solicitor who has represented Carnarvon since 1890, but whose activity, gift of public speech and influence in Wales distinctly marked him out for high office. It is of some significance that he recently paid a marked tribute to Mr. Asquith, which has been taken to indicate political affinity as well as personal regard.

JOHN BURNS.

A Democratic Cabinet.

The new Cabinet will only have four members, including the Lord Chancellor, in the House of Lords, a fact indicative of the small hold Liberal principles have in aristocratic quarters. As no duke is numbered among the Ministerialists, a Mistress of the Robes to the Queen will have to be found in some lesser rank of the peerage, and Lady Crewe's appointment has been suggested. This post has always been regarded as of considerable political importance, but in altered constitutional conditions it does not now seem to stand in any different position from that occupied by other court appointments. There will be general regret that Earl Spencer's unfortunate paralytic attack has prevented him from occupying the high office to which he was entitled, and the leadership of the Upper House will now have to be filled.

Home Rule Out of It.

On its political side the binding element is provided by the general antagonism to Mr. Chamberlain's fiscal reform proposals, which have for the time being given the Liberal party a working unity. There will be no home rule bill in the next Parliament from this Ministry, but it can hardly escape from the Irish question. The Cabinet may be expected to essay the amendment of the English Education Act in the non-conformist interest, to facilitate the working of the Liquor Act in diminishing the number of licenses and to favor the legislation desired by the trades unions. Another matter which has bulked largely on the Liberal opposition campaign is that of Chinese labor in the Transvaal, where the question of local powers and rights raises critical and political points.

Canada Interested.

The Cabinet has quite a measure of Canadian local color. Lord Aberdeen, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, is an ex-Governor of the Dominion, while his son-in-law, Capt. Sinclair, who was his secretary in Canada, will have control of the affairs of Scotland. Lord Elgin, the Colonial Secretary, was born near Montreal during his father's term of office as the most eminent Governor-General Canada ever had.

Another feature of the Government is the presence of the family factor, the Gordons, following on the footsteps of the Cecils. They have Lord Aberdeen, his brother-in-law, Lord Tweedmouth, and his son-in-law, Capt. Sinclair. But the chief characteristic on the personal side is the predominance of Scotsmen, either by both or parliamentary connection. The Premier, the Lord Chancellor, the Colonial Secretary, the War Secretary, the First Lord of the Admiralty, the Secretary for Scotland, the Secretary for Ireland and the Lord Lieutenant are all Scotsmen. Mr. Asquith and Mr. Morley represent Scottish constituencies.

London Comment.

London, Dec. 11.—The Conservative morning papers are compelled to admit that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman has succeeded in forming a much stronger administration than had been thought possible. The Liberal papers are full of enthusiasm. They express the conviction that such a Cabinet will inspire confidence both at home and abroad.

Balfour Opens the Campaign.

Manchester, Dec. 11.—Arthur J. Balfour, now the leader of the opposition party in the United Kingdom, opened the campaign in a stirring speech before his Manchester constituents Saturday. With the utmost frankness, the former Premier explained that the resignation of his Government was on the ground of expediency, showing that the step had been carefully considered for some time and that it was evidently contemplated by Mr. Balfour during the greater part of the year.

Mr. Balfour defended the action of the Unionist Government in its retention of office on the ground that it was essential to wait until the Anglo-Japanese treaty was finally concluded and other necessary features of the Government program carried out. This had been done with the exception of the redistribution bill, an outline of which had been given to Parliament, but divisions within the Unionist party led the Government to the conclusion that it would be impossible at present to carry a measure which demands absolute unity.

The meeting concluded with the passing of a vote of confidence in Mr. Balfour, whereupon the former Premier responding, said he had much to say concerning the Unionist and Liberal programs, but that he would reserve it for a more fitting occasion. He declared he intended to lead the opposition through the campaign.

Throughout his speech Mr. Balfour made no reference to Joseph Chamberlain or his fiscal policy.

DEATH OF SIR RICHARD JEBB.

Noted Greek Scholar and Public Man Passes Away.

London, Dec. 11.—Sir Richard Claverhouse Jebb, regius professor of Greek and member of Parliament (Conservative) for Cambridge University, is dead. He was born in Dundee on Aug. 27, 1841, and educated at Charterhouse, whence he passed to Trinity College, Cambridge, where he graduated as senior classic in 1862. After becoming fellow and lecturer of that college and public curator of the university, Sir Richard filled the chair of Greek in Glasgow University from 1875 to 1889, when he became regius professor and was lecturer at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in 1892.

His services to education were very great, and he was universally recognized as one of the best Greek scholars in Britain. His publications included many translations from Greek and Latin authors, his magnum opus in this line being his edition of Sophocles in seven volumes, which appeared at intervals from 1883 to 1896. He was married in 1874 to Caroline Lane, daughter of the Rev. J. Reynolds, D.D., and widow of Gen. A. J. Slemmer of the United States army. Sir Richard sat as member of Parliament for Cambridge University from 1891 and held many official appointments in connection with university and educational bodies.

NOAH PELTIER SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Young Farmer Near Chatham Tries to End His Life.

Chatham, Dec. 11.—Noah Peltier, farmer, about 28 years of age, attempted suicide near this city yesterday afternoon by shooting himself with a revolver. Two bullets lodged in his side and he is in St. Joseph's Hospital in a precarious condition. It is said domestic complications had been worrying him for some time, and that he had been rather melancholy of late.

Whitelaw Reid's Cousin Suicides.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 11.—Wm. Henry Reid, a cousin to Whitelaw Reid, American Ambassador to Great Britain, committed suicide Saturday by shooting himself through the head in a lumberyard. Reid had been engaged for fifteen years in preparing a book on religious and political economy, and had just completed the work.

THE NOBEL PRIZES.

Baroness Von Suttner of Austria Gets the Peace Prize.

Stockholm, Dec. 11.—The Nobel prizes, worth $40,000 each, were distributed at the Royal Academy of Music yesterday by King Oscar. The recipients were:

Physics—Philip P. Lenard, professor of Kiel University, for researches into cathode rays; in chemistry, Adolph Von Doeyer, professor at the University of Munchen, for researches leading to the evolution of organic chemistry and the development of the chemical industry; in medicine, Professor Robert Koch of Berlin, for researches looking to the prevention of tuberculosis, and in literature, Henryk Sienkiewsz, the Polish novelist.

At Christiania, King Haakon, Queen Maud, all the Ministers of state and all the members of the Storthing were present at the Nobel Institute. Baroness Von Suttner of Austria was adjudged the winner of the Nobel peace prize.

Fatal Elevator Accident.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—While on a tour of inspection of the new city dairy stables, John E. Foreman, of the Carter-Crume Co. and W. A. Rogers, Limited, and Charles E. Potter, second vice-president and manager of the City Dairy Co., and Henry Downey, a workman, were the victims of an elevator accident. It fell 30 feet, and Mr. Foreman was so badly injured that he died shortly afterwards, while Mr. Potter is suffering from a fracture of his left ankle, a fracture of his left thigh and an injury to his back. One physician in attendance thinks he may recover.

Doctor Killed in Runaway.

Cornwall, Dec. 9.—Dr. Kane of Aultville passed away at the General Hospital Thursday night, his death being the result of an accident which occurred near Farran's Point earlier in the day. The doctor was driving to see a patient when he met some boys on the road drawing a newly-filled bedtick on a sleigh. His horse took fright and bolted, throwing him out of his rig and dragging him some distance.

Gets French Legion of Honor.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Lieut.-Col. F. Gourdeau, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has been officially informed that the President of the French republic has conferred upon him the high distinction of the Cross of the Legion of Honor, in recognition of services rendered, notably in connection with the Paris Exposition in 1900, and the repatriation of wrecked French fishermen on Sable Island.

Holland and Belgium.

Amsterdam, Dec. 11.—The Chamber of Commerce is making arrangements to hold meetings to discuss the reunion of Holland and Belgium. Eminent public speakers of both countries will give their opinions on the subject.

Strike Leader In Russia Is Imprisoned

Russian Government Throws Down the Gauntlet.

KRUSTALEFF IS ARRESTED

Head of the Workmen's Council Taken With His Papers — First Blood-Letting in Telegraphers' Strike in Addition Leads to Danger of Crisis Again—A General Strike is Imminent — Soldiers Mutiny.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 11.—Another crisis is at hand involving the indefinite prolongation of the strike, the probable immediate precipitation of a general strike throughout Russia and the possible final struggle between the Government and proletariat.

This sudden change for the worse is the result of the shedding of first blood in the telegraph strike Saturday afternoon, almost simultaneously with the active of M. Durnovo, Minister of the Interior, in throwing down the gauntlet to the labor organizations by arresting M. Krustaleff, president of the executive committee of the workmen's council, without warning.

Brains of the Revolution.

Krustaleff, as he is called, though that it not his right name, is regarded as the brains of the revolutionary movement. He has displayed genius in organizing both the industrial and political strikes which have terrorized the Government. His offer of financial support to the telegraphers Saturday prevented a collapse of their strike.

In some quarters it is believed that the Government, realizing that a great struggle with the workmen and the socialist organizations is inevitable in January, arrested Krustaleff with the intention of deliberately precipitating matters by challenging the organizations before they were fully prepared.

Says All is Ready.

In an interview M. Krustaleff said: "It is probable that a general strike will be declared just after Christmas. Delegates, who were sent to all parts of the country, report that a proposal for a strike has been welcomed with enthusiasm, and in fact that the whole country is ripe for revolution. A vast majority of the workmen are true revolutionaries, though starvation sometimes compels them to subordinate their political aims. Preparations for an armed rising are highly advanced, but it cannot hope to succeed unless joined by a considerable body of troops. The propaganda, however, has made such strides in the army that the revolutionaries are justified in counting on sufficient support from that source to ensure victory. The peasants everywhere are willing to join the revolutionaries.

Warsaw Garrison Mutinies.

Warsaw, Dec. 11.—The ferment among the troops is increasing. A hundred soldiers of the Kexholm Regiment, headed a procession yesterday morning, singing revolutionary songs. In Marszalkos street, their way was barred by a detachment of Grochowski Regiment, the commander of which ordered his men to fire. The soldiers refused to do so and permitted the procession to pass. The commanding officer then fled.

A rumor is current that the whole garrison of the Warsaw Citadel has mutinied. It is impossible to verify the rumor, as the authorities refuse admission to the fortress.

Boy Crushed by Cave-in.

Hamilton, Dec. 11.—Johnny Rodgers, 120 North Locke street, a boy about 13 years of age, was crushed by a cave-in behind the Dundurn Park at the foot of Inchbury street, yesterday afternoon, and up till a late hour last night had not regained consciousness. The doctors have no hope of his recovery. With his brother and another lad, he was playing in a cave they had dug. They had built a fire, and it is supposed that the heat loosened the earth, which came tumbling down, two of the lads jumped and got off with slight injuries. Johnny was caught under a great heap, and doubled up, his head and back were severely crushed. He was taken to the City Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain.

34 Coal Barges Lost in Gale.

Hawesville, Tenn., Dec. 11.—The tow boats Harry Brown and Raymond Horner, with coal for New Orleans, were caught in a severe windstorm Saturday night, and the Brown lost twenty-seven barges, while the Horner lost seven. Each barge contained 25,000 bushels of coal. The coal was valued at $120,000, and the barges at $64,000. No lives were lost.

Dog Poisoners at Montreal House

The Montreal House, Aylmer street, has been the scene of two dog poisonings during the last ten days. Mr. Laroque has lost two valuable hounds, and the evidence points conclusively to poisoning. Naturally, Mr. Laroque is greatly annoyed over this despicable action, and he states that he will make it warm for someone if any more of his dogs meet the fate of the two referred to. He has known of persons having purchased poison and has a good idea of the identity of the perpetrator of the deed.

Forced to Tender Resignation.

Tokio, Dec. 11.—The Minister of Education, Yusuru Kubota, has tendered his resignation as the result of a protest signed by 190 professors and instructors, which was presented to Prime Minister Katsura Saturday.

The protest condemned the action of the Minister of Education in accepting the resignaiton of the president of the university, after any occasion for so doing had passed, as trampling upon the sanctity of the university's rights, in dependence and freedom.

Will Accept An Indemnity.

New York, Dec. 11.—That the Chinese Government will not be required to pay punitive damages for the murder of several missionaries of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Mission at Llenchau, China, several weeks ago, has been decided, so far as that board is concerned. If it accepts any indemnity at all for the murders, it shall be only for the actual cost of replacing the property damaged or destroyed by the murderers.

Benzine Victim Dies.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—John Watson, who was so badly burned in the explosion of benzine at Parker's Dye Works on Dec. 1, died in the General Hospital yesterday from a complication brought on by the poisonious fumes inhaled. Deceased was a young man unmarried and had no relatives in the city. He boarded at 63 Yorkville avenue. An inquest will be held.

Devlin May Settle Here.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Charles Devlin, M. P. for Galway, Ireland, and family arrived in the city last night on a visit to Mr. Devlin's father at Aylmer. Regarding a rumor that he will not again contest Galway, but settle once more in Canada, Mr. Devlin had nothing to say. It is understood that he wishes to consult his brothers and friends before reaching a decision.

ALWAYS MOVING NORTH

BISHOP BOMPAS BEST FRIEND OF PEOPLE OF BLEAK LAND.

Rev. J. O. Stringer, an Ontario Graduate of Wycliffe College, Announced as the Successor to This Most Remarkable Anglican Missionary to the Northwest of the Dominion as Bishop of Selkirk—Their Lives.

The announcement that Rev. J. O. Stringer, a graduate of Wycliffe College, and an Ontario man, has been appointed to the office of Bishop of Selkirk is interesting. It is so, not alone because of the personality of the new prelate, but, in addition, because of the remarkable character of the man whom Mr. Stringer succeeds. The immediate predecessor of Bishop Stringer is Bishop Bompas, one of the greatest and most self-sacrificing missionaries of the Anglican Church.

From London to the Yukon.

Bishop Bompas was educated with great care in England, and was designed for clerical work there. But he attended the Church of St. Giles' in the Fields, London, one Sunday night and heard Bishop Anderson, the first Anglican bishop to the Northwest, and the predecessor of Archbishop Machrae, preach a missionary sermon. That settled the fate of the young man. To the Northwest he was determined to go. A fine scholar, a linguist of great talent, the then Mr. Bompas gave up all his chances for preferment and proceeded to Fort Garry, where in due time he was admitted to the priesthood. In the year 1865—exactly 40 years ago—Mr. Bompas arrived at Fort Simpson, the most northerly portion of British Columbia. From that point he worked north into the Yukon, preaching to the Indians and establishing mission stations. He became well versed in the Indian languages and could speak the Tudukh fluently. Ultimately, he was known as one of the best friends of the people of that bleak land.

Always Moving North.

In 1874 the missionary was appointed a bishop. He became the first Bishop of Athabasca — as his vast northern diocese was called. Owing to the increase of work, a new diocese was created in Athabasca eight years later. There were thus two Episcopal sees, and Bishop Bompas was at liberty to choose which he would hold. He selected the farthest north—Mackenzie River. Once again, in 1891, was the diocese cut in two. And once again did the bishop select as his half that which was least attractive, the northern part, known as the Diocese of Selkirk. From the day Bishop Bompas entered the Arctic circle as a missionary he has been but once in civilization. He returned to London to be consecrated, and immediately after that event, in 1874, repaired to his field of labor, and has remained there ever since. The devotion to the work is not inspired by any degree of comfort appertaining to it. From year's end to year's end the bishop is engaged in Arctic traveling, and the Episcopal palace, a log cabin, is precisely the sort of place in which the average man would not care to summer—much less to spend the long night of the northern winter.

Three Score Years and Ten.

Bishop Bompas is exactly 70 years of age, and 40 years of his life, minus the brief holiday 30 years ago, have been spent among the Indians and Eskimos of the Arctic, and in the stress and strain of the comfortless frozen north. He has worked continuously. He has translated sacred writings into the Indian languages. He has taught in his mission schools. He has preached all over that vast territory. He has even written, for he is a man of fine intellect, hymns and poems which are notable for the culture and for the piety they display.

The New Prelate.

The new bishop, Mr. Stringer, has had a taste of the hardships of the north. He went from Wycliffe soon after his graduation to labor under Bishop Reeve, of the neighboring diocese. After doing very hard work there he was chosen to take up his residence on Herschell Island, the island that it farthest north in British territory. It is within the Arctic circle, and is bleak and absolutely treeless. For eight months in the year it is icebound. For the remaining four months it is surrounded with broken ice, and is practically inaccessible. This is its summer season. The island is visited by Indians in large numbers, and is a spot at which people who could not otherwise be reached can be brought under good influences. Mrs. Stringer accompanied her husband to this point—one of the uttermost parts of the earth—and contributed to his efforts. Her aid was particularly valuable because she was an expert in medicine. From Herschell Island Mr. Stringer was moved to White Horse, in the Yukon, not far from Dawson, and here he has been for some time helping Bishop Bompas. The two clergymen have been so much together of late and their sympathies are so similar that the passage to Bishop Stringer of the mantle of Bishop Bompas seems but natural.

Toronto Man In the North.

Bishop Stringer is the third graduate of a Toronto educatonal institution to become a bishop in the Far North. The Bishop of Alaska is Dr. Rowe, a graduate of Trinity. He went from the United States to his northern diocese, and is a neighbor of the Wycliffe man who presides over Selkirk. Hard by is the Diocese of Caledonia. This lies south of both Alaska and Selkirk, and it noted as the scene of the remarkable work among the Tsimpsean Indians. These people were rescued from barbarism 20 or 30 years ago and became highly civilized. Dr. DuVernet, formerly of Toronto Junction, is the Bishop of Caledonia. He is a Wycliffe graduate, and is very successful in his new sphere, which bids fair to become more important owing to the circumstance that the Grand Trunk Pacific will pass through the diocese in the course of time. The three northern bishops are strong men physically, and they need to be, for their work is exceedingly hard.

Albani to Retire.

Madame Albani, the distinguished Canadian prima donna, has announced that she is to retire from the stage. She has had a long and successful career, her first appearance in opera dating back to 1870, at Messina. As most Canadians know, or ought to know, her maiden name was Marie Cecilia Emma Lajeunesse, and she was born at Chambly, near Montreal, in 1852. She first sang in public at the cathedral of Albany, N. Y. She then studied at Paris under Duprez, and subsequently under the elder Lamperti. She made her debut in London in 1872 at the Covent Garden Opera House, and won an immediate success. In 1878 she married Ernest Gye, the lessee of that theatre, and ever since she has been one of the greatest artists that England has delighted to honor. In oratorio she has specially excelled, and was always in request at the big English festivals on that account. In Canada she made her first appearance in Toronto at the Grand Opera House in the early seventies with her Majesty's Opera Co., taking the role of Lucia in the opera of that name. The late Col. Mapleson was the impressario of the company, and the late Signor Arditi the conductor. Two great singers who were in the same company at the time were the late Mme. Fursch-Madi and Mme. Scalchi. Mme. Albani has visited Canada several times since that memorable occasion and has given at least two farewell tours. It appears from her announcement that her last tour was really her farewell to her native country.

New Waterways Chairman.

It is announced that Mr. George C. Gibbons, K. C. of London, has been appointed Chairman of the Canadian Waterways Commission, in succession to Judge Mabee. Mr. Gibbons was born at St. Catharines in 1848 and was educated at the Grammar School there and at Upper Canada College. He was called to the Bar in 1869 and commenced the practice of his profession at London. He was created a Q. C. in 1891, and in 1897 he was elected president of the Middlesex Bar Association. Mr. Gibbons was president of the London & Western Trusts Co. and was also president of the London Philarmonic Society.

EASE SULTAN'S SELF-ESTEEM.

Powers Accept Modifications to Original Macedonia Scheme.

Constantinople, via Sofia, Bulgaria, Dec. 9.—The Ambassadors of the six powers at a conference just held have accepted some of the modifications proposed by the Porte to the original scheme for the financial control of Macedonia, and an amended agreement has been forwarded to their respective Governments for ratification. This is expected promptly, when the incident will be closed.

The modifications accepted apparently in no way effect the efficiency of the scheme, but are a sop given to the Sultan's self esteem and his claims for recognition of his sovereign rights by the inclusion of an Ottoman representative in the financial commission, and an agreement that the commission's decisions shall be submitted to the Sultan for formal imperial sanction.

C. P. R. ACCIDENT.

T. H. Birmingham, Toronto Traveler, Injured Near Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Dec. 9.—The combination baggage and smoking car on the C.P.R. Rapid City branch train was derailed Thursday afternoon. The train struck a broken rail, and the combination car jumped the track. The car was the rear one on the train, and after it broke its coupling it rolled over several times. The passengers were hurled about with terrific force, as the train was running at about 25 miles an hour around the curve when the accident occurred. Mr. Murphy, Winnipeg, had his ankle sprained, and back hurt; D. C. MacMillan was bruised and cut, and T. H. Birmingham, traveling for A. E. Roe & Co., Toronto, was badly bruised.

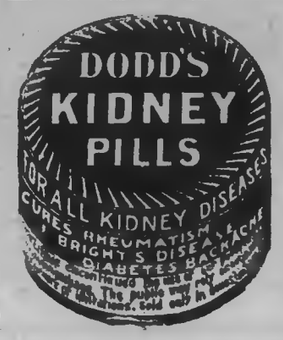
Commission Must Be Strong.

Toronto, Dec. 9.—The conference on the revision and consolidation of the railway acts continued at the Parliament buildings yesterday, Hon. Mr. Hendrie presiding. Mr. J. M. Gibson of Hamilton, former Attorney-General, who is President of the Cataract Power Company, of which the Hamilton Street Railway Company is a subsidiary company, favored the appointment of a commission to settle differences cropping up between companies and municipalities. Such a commission should be composed of exceptionally strong men, having no connection whatever with railways or the Government. It should not have power over existing contracts. He regretted that some understanding could not be reached between the Dominion and Provincial Governments in regard to what companies they should incorporate, thus avoiding encroachments upon each others rights.

Ex-Ald Waddell of Hamilton, representing the minority shareholders of the Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville Railway, said the new railway act should contain stringent provisions for the protection of minority shareholders.

England's Curiosity Shops.

Many of the curiosity shops planted in the back streets of most country towns in England are simply kept up by large London firms, who, from a prolonged study of human nature, have discovered that people who are shy of buying old furniture or old silver in Bond street or Piccadilly are ready and eager purchasers of precisely the same objects at a rather higher price when they come upon them in the back streets of a country town.



RATE DISCRIMINATION.

Hon. A. C. Killam and Colleagues Hear Complaints At Windsor.

Windsor, Dec. 9.—The Railway Commissioners arrived here yesterday morning and after holding about an hour session in the Council Chamber at the city hall were taken out to Tecumseh, eight miles east of Windsor, to view a grade crossing over the Grand Trunk track, which the railway company desire to have closed up. It was a few minutes after 11 o'clock when Hon. A. C. Killam, the chairman, called the commissioners to order.

A. Griggs, manager of the Walkerville Brewing Company, filed a complaint of discrimination in rates. He claimed the rates in Ontario were one hundred per cent. higher than those in Michigan. Michigan shippers were also given a lower rate to Canadian points than local manufacturers, he claimed. The rate from Walkerville to Chatham is twelve cents per hundred pounds, while on the same classification the rate from Detroit to Chatham is only ten cents. Walkerville must pay 15 cents to London, while Detroit shippers get a rate of 11 cents. This discrimination exists to all shipping points in the provnce.

James A. Stalth, manager of the Standard Paint and Varnish Works, complained of excessive charges on varnish, which he wished included in the commodity classification, the same as paint and oils. He pointed out that the rate from Montreal to Detroit was $6 per ton less on dry paints than from Montreal to Windsor.

The Canadian Salt Company complained of alleged excessive switching charges by the Pere Marquette for switching from the C.P.R. to the G.T.R. via the Pere Marquette. The commission adjourned at 1 p.m. They leave for Paris this morning.

Rothschild on G. T. R.

Montreal, Dec. 9—A cablegram was received at the head offices of the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday announcing the appointment and acceptance of a place on the directorate of the Grand Trunk by Hon. N. C. Rothschild, one of the heads of the noted London banking house of that name. Mr. Rothschild succeeds the late Mr. D. J. Sargeant.

Governor-General Will Open It.

Ottawa, Dec. 9.—The secretary of the Forestry Convention has been informed by His Excellency the Governor-General that he will have much pleasure in opening the Canadian Forestry Convention in Ottawa on the 10th January next.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since." Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont.

Another Poet In Trouble.

Copennagen, Dec. 11.—F. A. G. Behrenkreutz, the Swedish Consul General here, wrote a poem published in Sweden containing insulting references to Denmark and the Norwegian Consul General, which was sent to a Swedish college, but says that the publication of it was unwarranted. It is expected that the Swedish Government will be obliged to recall him.

Not Yet Agreed.

Rome, Dec. 11.—It is asserted that an agreement has not yet been reached between France and Germany concerning the questions to come up at the conference on Moroccan reforms to be held at Algeciras, Spain, Dec. 15. The Italian Government is working to have a complete understanding reached by the two powers.

Farmer's Sudden Death.

Kingsville, Dec. 11.—Saturday night about 6 o'clock Jacob Wigle went out to his stable to feed his horses and while leaning over a barrel to get some feed he dropped dead. Mr. Wigle was eighty-four years of age.

A German soldier has just got eight months' imprisonment for picking up an apple while on the march and refusing to drop it when ordered. He is not the first man who has got into trouble about an apple.

NEW RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Control of Ontario Railways Mooted At the Government's Conference.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—Details of the reforms considered necessary in the railway legislation of the province were offered by the several speakers at the conference at which Hon. Col. Hendrie, presided at the Parliament Buildings yesterday. Hon. J. J. Foy, and Hon. Dr. Reaume, were in attendance. Discussion turned during the session chiefly on the regulation of powers of expropriation, the granting of franchises and the use of highways, by radial roads. Several speakers suggested that such questions should be referred to a railway commission similar to that of the Dominion Government. Mr. W. F. Maclean gave his views at the afternoon meeting.

DIVORCES CHURCH AND STATE.

Bill For Their Separation in France Finally Passed.

Paris, Dec. 7.—The Senate yesterday adopted the bill for the separation of church and state by a vote of 181 against 102. The vote was announced amid enthusiastic scenes and cries of "Long live the Republic" and "Long live liberty!"

Former Premier Combes participated in the debate, contending that the measure assured neutrality of religion, moral liberation and social pacification.

This is the final parliamentary stage of the bill, which will be promulgated in the official journal to-day, when it will become immediately effective.

ANOTHER SURPLUS.

Intercolonial Railway Earned $14,814 Over Expenditure In October.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Operations on the Intercolonial for October resulted in a net surplus of $18,814, as compared with a surplus of $24,659 for the month previous. The falling off in the earnings amounted altogether to $43,395, attributable to the decline in passenger traffic. The freight earnings showed a slight increase, while the working expenses were reduced by $37,550, as compared with September.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Importance Of Cooling Milk

Instructor Ward Emphasizes This Point to Farmers.

Mr. Ward, having finished attending annual meetings of cheese factories in Peterborough section for the last two weeks, states that the patrons turned out well to the meetings and took great interest in the discussions. Mr. Ward emphasized the cooling of the milk, as the average pounds of milk to make a pound of cheese was higher than usual this season. The cause, he claimed, was warmer weather, and the milk arrived at the factory in a poorer condition by the high temperature. This season it has taken from one-fifth to one-half pounds more milk to make one pound of cheese. This extra amount of milk on the twenty-nine factories visited would mean a loss to patrons of in the neighbourhood of $10,000. This seems an enormous amount, but if you figure this out on the average factory you will find it is not exaggerated, showing how important it is to attend to the small details. I am sure, said Mr. Ward, that I have seen vats of milk this last season that took from twelve to fifteen pounds of milk to make one pound of cheese, where if milk, in good condition of same per cent. of butter fat, was properly cared for, should yield one pound of cheese for every ten and a half pounds of milk.

This leak is not noticed as the milk goes out of the hand of the patron, and I feel sure if the patrons would realize this that they would attend to this important point. Leave milk at a temperature of seventy-five or eighty degrees and it will sour in less than twelve hours. Cool the same milk down to sixty degrees and it will stay sweet for forty-eight hours or more. This point is easy to demonstrate, as where a farmer contracts to supply a city trade, this point is always emphasized. The Peterborough section has a high reputation as a cheese section, and by still keeping their shoulders to the wheel they may still go on and lead in this national industry, dairying.

A Slick One.

On Sunday night a patient giving his name as John Hogan went to the Cottage Hospital complaining of his ears. He was attended to and was getting along nicely. On Tuesday evening he asked that his bed might be removed a little away from the wall, which was done. In the morning his bed was empty and so was the room. Like the Arab, he had quietly folded his tent and taken French leave. During the night he had torn his bed sheet into two parts, had tied these together in a hard knot, and fastened them to his bed. He then let himself down and disappeared. He told the hospital authorities he was a stone mason, and came from Montreal. He was rather a slick one.—Cobourg Star.

Engines Bought For Car Ferry

Port Hope-Charlotte Ferry Now Looks Like Certainty.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 11.—The engines for the new Grant Trunk car ferry service on Lake Ontario, the contract for which has been let to the Canadian Shipbuilding Company, of Toronto, will be built by the Great Lakes Engineering Works of Detroit. The engines are to be of 3,000 horse-power and will be especially designed for ice-breaking purposes. The new steamer is to be almost a duplicate of the one now building by the Great Lakes Engineering Works, Detroit, for service on Lake Erie.

The Transfer Is Opposed By Shareholders

The Position of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company in the Proposed Amalgamation With the York County Loan and Savings Company —Further Legal Action is Being Taken by Shareholders.

AN INJUNCTION HAS BEEN ISSUED

The shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company took further legal action Monday. Christopher John Parsons, of Brampton, had a writ issued on behalf of himself and other shareholders of the company, against the York County Loan and Savings Company, and the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, for an injunction restraining the defendant companies from completing the proposed transfer of the assets of the York County Loan and Savings Company, to the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, as provided for in the provisional agreement of November 22nd; also for an order declaring the said agreement null and void, and for an order for its cancellation.

Permanent Loan's Statement.

On being interviewed, Mr. F. M. Holland, the manager of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, said that his company had not sought to purchase the assets of the York County Loan Company, but had simply entered into a provisional agreement to purchase the same, the value to be ascertained by arbitration subject to the necessary consent being obtained from the York County shareholders at the meeting now called for the 11th of January next. He added that the Dominion Permanent Loan Company had not made, and were not making, the slightest effort to influence the York County shareholders, and that if they were not willing to carry out the agreement, and so expressed themselves, at the meeting called for that purpose, then the matter would be at an end, so far as the Dominion Permanent was concerned. The only benefit that would accrue to the Dominion Permanent shareholders from the transaction would be in the increased volume of business that would be brought about by the purchase of the assets, which could be handled with very little extra expense.—Toronto News.

Useful Papers On the Bible Read At St. John's

Bible Night at St. John's Young People's Society--A Splendid Musical Programme--Papers by Miss Wesley and Messrs. A. Walker and N. Howard Moore--Entertainment by Society on January 22.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN ST. JOHN' SCHOOL

Last night was the "Bible Night" of the Young People's Society of St. John's church. Splendid papers on matters pertaining to the Bible were read by Miss Lillie Wesley and Messrs. A. Walker and N. Howard-Moore. The different readers dealt with their subjects in a most convincing manner, and their readings were highly instructive. A short but excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music was rendered, and received with enthusiasm by the audience.

The programme was as follows:—

Piano selection—Prof. Milner.

Solo—Mr. Jas. Brown and Mr. R. Hutchinson.

Miss Lillie Wesley's paper on "Bible Reading," of which Mrs. Chris. Wood is the writer, proved to be very interesting. The reader gave much sound advice to Bible readers and advised them not to peruse the contents in a careless manner, but to seek its great truths and to study it with the greatest care and thoughtfulness. Many splendid points of great benefit were brought out in this able reading.

Mr. A. Walker's paper on "The Bible in the Home" was listened to with great interest. Mr. Walker was very familiar with his subject, and spoke with great assurance of the splendid habit of reading the Bible studiously and methodically. His reading gave evidence of a very carefully prepared paper.

Mr. N. Howard-Moore was next heard on "Revisions of the Bible." Mr. Moore rather spoke than read and his address showed much thought, investigation and study. He was very conversant with his subject, and his remarks were very enlightening. Mr. Moore spoke of the greatness of the Bible and the great area that this greatest of all books covered. He gave the various divisions of the Bible, from the testaments to the words, and gave the number of books, chapters, verses and words. In spite of the measures taken to suppress the publication and circulation of the Bible, it has surmounted all difficulties. At one time in England it was a matter of life and death for a man to have anything to do with the Bible, but now matters are entirely different, and countries, the inhabitants of which have not lived up to the teachings of the Bible, are not nearly so prosperous materially, and enlightened morally and mentally, as those that have. Mr. Moore scored very many other strong points in the course of his masterly address.

Mr. Jardine, secretary of the society, criticised several points in the papers of both Mr. Walker and Mr. Moore, and claimed that they were wrong in several essential details. They strongly defended their views, however, and in reply to the criticisms of Mr. Jardine, reiterated their opinions as before expressed. A general discussion on matters pertaining to the welfare of the guild then took place.

The next meeting will be held on January 8, when a social evening will be spent. On January 22 there will be an entertainment, the principal feature of which will be an address by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun. A musical programme will also be presented.

Mr. Redmond Suspicious

Accuses a Greedy Quartette of Chicken-Stealing.

Mr. Dick Redmond, hostler at the Munro House, says he has strong suspicions as to where his valuable pair of chickens have gone. He accuses a quartette of well-known local men of eating them in the rear of a well-known Peterborough hotel, the proprietor being one of the guilty parties. Mr. Redmond says that to steal the chickens was bad enough, but to deliberately go and devour such a valuable pair of fowl is simply outrageous. Mr. Redmond has accused each of the suspected parties to their faces of the despicable act, but can obtain no satisfaction. He says that a shake of the head and an innocent expression individually and collectively is the only "sign" of the four."

New Method to Revive Victims

Latest Manner of Dealing With Asphyxiation Cases.

When physicians are called upon to restore victims of asphyxiation, their first efforts are directed toward securing a resumption of the functions of the heart and lungs.

Such efforts are made, usually, with more or less laborious detail, pressing his sides, rolling him on a barrel, or in other ways attempting to start off the suspended internal machinery.

An apparatus intended to attain such an end more speedily, invented R. Eisenmenger, is just now attracting considerable attention in the world of science.

The principal feature of the apparatus is a kind of thorax, which can be made air-tight. A space is left between the vault of the shield and the surface of the body, and into this space air is alternately forced and withdrawn by means of a bellows.

With the partly asphyxiated person lying supinely upon his back this contrivance is fastened upon his abdomen. When the pump is worked air is forced into the shield and then expelled, the action being carried on regularly and at natural intervals.

Everyone knows how the abdomen expands and contracts during the process of breathing. The more perfect this motion of the abdomen the more effectively is air drawn into and expelled from the lungs.

The rythmical control of atmospheric pressure given by Dr. Eisenmenger's machine not only pumps air into and out of the lungs, but the reciprocal motion imparted through the walls of the abdomen and the diaphragm gives a regular and effective massage to the heart, which is found to respond promptly to the treatment.

By such action upon the respiration and the circulation of the blood the best results so far known in the treatment of asphyxiated persons have been obtained.—Hamilton Spectator.

Minstry Gets Position In New Government

Has Been Appointed Under Secretary of Colonies.

ROSEBERY'S COMPLIMENTS

Composition of the Ministry, He Says, Must Fill Them All With Pleasure and Hope — Country Might Now Expect to Be Well Governed—More New Ministers Appointed —The Home Rule Speech.

London, Dec. 13.—The Ministerial appointments were officially announced yesterday:

Financial Secretary to the Treasury —Reginald McKenna.

Patronage Secretary to the Treasury —George Whitley.

Under Secretary for Home Affairs—Herbert Louis Samuel.

Under Secretary for the Colonies—Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill.

Under Secretary for War—The Earl of Portsmouth.

Paymaster General—Richard Knight Causton.

Secretary of the Admiralty.—Edmund Robertson.

Under Secretary for India—John E. Ellis.

Attorney-General — John Lawson Walton.

Solicitor-General—J. S. Robson.

Lord Advocate for Scotland—Taomas Shaw.

Rosebery's Compliments.

Lord Rosebery gave his blessing to the new Cabinet at the meeting of the Council of the Liberal League. He said he thought the composition of the new Ministry must fill them all with pleasure, and congratulated Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman on his selections. His Lordship added that all the offices were well filled, and that the country might now expect economy in finance, continuity of strength and dignity in its foreign policy, and might even hope to see an army once more.

Lord Rosebery, however, said that he "absolutely and steadfastly adhered" to his speech at Bodmin, in which he said he could not serve under Sir Henry's home rule banner. He added that he had not personally received any assurances from the Liberal Premier on the subject of home rule, but he was satisfied that the vice-presidents of the league, Sir Edward Grey, Mr. Asquith and Mr. Haldane, had received assurances to the effect that he (Lord Rosebery's) interpretation of Sir Henry's speech at Stirling was incorrect. Lord Rosebery, however, thought it strange that Sir Henry had not taken the opportunity in his more recent speeches to repudiate his (Lord Rosebery's) interpretation if it was incorrect. His speech, at any rate, he said, had cleared the air, and with Sir Edward Grey and Messrs. Asquith and Haldane as members of the Government, the country had a guarantee that an Irish home rule bill would not be introduced in the next Parliament.

United For Free Trade.

Lord Rosebery added that as Liberals it was their duty to maintain a united free trade party. He hoped and prayed it might be absolutely independent of the Irish vote. A Liberal party relying on that vote would not possess the confidence of the country. Such an alliance would not be good for the Irish, and would be wholly bad for the Liberals.

Drought in India.

Lahore, Punjab, India, Dec. 13.—The huge wheat and oil seed areas of the Punjab are already suffering from the prolonged drought, and great anxiety is felt for the fate of the usually immense crops.

Claim Made That Force Was Used By Japan

Treaty Giving Japan Protectorate Over Kingdom of Corea.

EMPEROR'S DECLARATION

Agreement Null and Void for the Reason Given—Likewise Says He Will Never Sign Agreement In Its Present Form — Mutinous Cossacks and Disheartened Strikers—Leaders Good Times.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 13.—Homer B. Hulbert, the special messenger from the Emperor of Corea, is in receipt of a cablegram from Corea, in which the Emperor declares that the agreement between Corea and Japan is null and void, because it was obtained by force. He also declares that he will never sign this agreement in its present form, and that the disturbances which attended the "outrage" of Nov. 17 are likely to occur again.

Cossacks Mutinous?

St. Petersburg, Dec. 13.—The members of the Workmen's Council have chosen an executive committee of three to guide the policy of the council until events bring forth a worthy successor of M. Krustaleff.

The sentiment of the workmen's delegates, which was extremely depressed, has been somewhat raised by the receipt of a despatch from Moscow, claiming that the revolutionary propaganda has finally taken root among the Cossacks, the last hope of the reactionaries.

A squadron of the 1st Regiment of Don Cossacks is reported to have drawn up service demands claiming that the men are fed like dogs and shabbily clothed. The Government officers were forced to deprive the soldiers of their rifles and lances. This is the first sign of disaffection on the part of the Cossacks.

Strikers Disheartened.

The postal and telegraph situation is steadily ameliorating, though no wires are working to points outside of Russia, and telegraphic communication with the interior is very faulty.

Many of the striking operators have lost heart owing to the news from Moscow that the leaders, when arrested, were indulging in an expensive supper at a popular Moscow restaurant, in company with women strikers and spending the strikers funds lavishly on champagne and expensive cigars and liquors.

CONFLICT AVERTED.

Sultan Quite Pacified and So Ends Demonstration of Powers.

Constantinople, Dec. 13.—The Porte's reply to the note of the six powers on the subject of Macedonia, presented to the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador Monday evening, asks for a reconsideration of some of the modifications proposed by Turkey, which were rejected by the Ambassadors in their collective note presented Dec. 8, but it is an acceptance of terms nevertheless.

A joint Turko-Persian commission has been appointed to arrange the frontier dispute, if possible, with the view of averting a conflict.

The settlement of the dispute is largely due to the fact that the powers consented that all decisions of the financial commission must be confirmed by an imperial irade before being put into execution.

Some formalities yet remain to be settled, but this recognition of the Sultan's sovereign rights virtually terminates the dispute.

WILL HEAR SWINE BREEDERS.

Minister of Agriculture to See Them re Packers' Argument.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—About a dozen prominent pork packing houses in Ontario werd represented in a deputation which waited upon Hon. Sydney Fisher yesterday in connection with the bacon shortage.

Mr. Fisher said that he intended to give a hearing to the Canadian producers, and that he had intended to discontinue the privilege of bringing in hogs from the other side, primarily because of the danger to Canadian swine and because of the peril to the Canadian bacon trade in the markets of Great Britain.

To-day the Minister meets in Guelph a deputation from the Ontario Swine-Breeders' Association, who want an act of parliament passed next session to compel the packers to brand every side of bacon made from U. S. hogs.

Alice Roosevelt to Wed.

New York, Dec. 13.—The Herald yesterday says that the engagement of the President's eldest daughter, Miss Alice Roosevelt, and Representative Nicholas Longworth of Cincinnati, will be formally made by Mrs. Roosevelt within a few days. The wedding day has been determined upon so far as the wedding shall be very early in the spring—possibly before the winter is really over.

Favor Postage Reduction.

London, Dec. 13.—Under the auspices of the Victoria League, Lord Duncannon, chairman, a large representative gathering comprising peers, members of Parliament, and literary, newspaper and commercial men unanimously passed a resolution in favor of a reduction of postage on newspapers and magazines to Canada. Lord Strathcona sent a letter of regret. Hon. Mr. Prefontaine spoke in favor.

Bennett to Hang.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—There was a brief meeting of the Cabinet yesterday at which the case of Joe Bennett was considered. It is understood that the Governor-General was advised not to interfere, and Bennett will hang on Friday.

Would Bully Thomas F. Ryan If He Could

But Harriman Found It Impossible to Do So

STORY OF THE INTERVIEW

Purchaser of the Hyde Stock in the Equitable Tells the Details of the Strenuous Conversation in Which Harriman Wanted Half the Stock and the Right to Nominate Two Trustees.

New York, Dec. 13.—Thomas F. Ryan, who purchased the Hyde stock of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, was the first witness before the Insurance Investigating Committee yesterday. He said to Mr. Hughes, counsel for the committee, that he had meant no disrespect by declining to tell what E. H. Harriman had said to him at the time that Mr. Harriman sought to obtain a share in Mr. Ryan's purchase of the Hyde stock. Mr. Ryan said: "I do not mean any disrespect to the committee. I wish to preserve harmony. I did not wish to answer the question until I was satisfied that I was obliged to answer it. The District Attorney has determined that I shall answer the question and I shall give my best recollection of the conversation."

"What did Mr. Harriman say to you about sharing the Hyde stock?" asked Mr. Hughes.

What Harriman Said.

"Immediately after my purchase of the stock," said Mr. Ryan, "Mr. Harriman called on me. We had several conversations. Mr. Harriman said that I should not have come into the situation without consulting him and that I ought to let him have an equal share in the Hyde stock. I declined. He objected to the trustees and wanted to name two of them. He said he did not think I could carry out my plans without his aid, and I said I intended to divest myself of control of the Equitable and I regretted very much to have his opposition, but I was going to carry out my plan whether I had his opposition or not."

The purchase of the Hyde stock, Mr. Ryan said, was made on Friday, June 9. Mr. Ryan first heard from Mr. Harriman on that day. Mr. Harriman, said the witness, suspected that he, Ryan, was in on the deal and had a talk with him on that day. Mr. Harriman saw him again on the following Monday or Tuesday, in company with Elihu Root and Paul Cravath. Most of the things said were said at this second interview. Mr. Ryan told Harriman who the trustees were to be. Harriman then said that he had given much time to straighten out the Equitable. The witness said that Harriman gave no other reason than that for demanding a share in the purchase of the Hyde stock.

Did Not Mention Names.

"For what reason did Mr. Harriman want half the stock?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"For the reason that he had been in the Equitable as a director and was not satisfied that the stock should be in my hands," replied Mr. Ryan. "He said his whole influence would be against me. He said his political influence would be against me, but he did not mention any names. He said the Legislature would probably take action, but I don't think he mentioned an investigation. I think he said Legislative action would probably result and that his influence would be important. Mr. Harriman did not say anything about Legislative action in the event that I acceded to his request. He did not say how his actions in the matter would be important."

In reply to questions by Mr. Hughes, Mr. Ryan said that Mr. Harriman did not say in so many words that his principal influence would be against Ryan, but the witness understood Harriman to mean his entire influence, whether principal, financial, or otherwise. The witness understood this to include the possibility of Legislative action. The witness was not willing to allow Mr. Harriman to name two trustees, because he did not want anybody as a partner in the enterprise. The witness talked with Mr. Harriman over the telephone and finally Mr. Ryan said to Mr. Harriman that there was no use talking about it, he would not change his mind.

The Conversation Was Strenuous.

"Did Harriman say there would be anything injurious to your interests if you refused to sell?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"He said his entire influence would be against me," replied Mr. Ryan.

"Did he threaten any action by an officer of the State Government?"

"He did not."

Mr. Ryan testified that Harriman offered, if Mr. Ryan would sell, to put his share of the Equitable into a trust. "My conversation with him was strenuous," said Mr. Ryan. "I think he said he did not want anybody to control this property unless he had a share in it. Mr. Harriman did not say anything to indicate what action the Legislature would take. No other person made any such threats."

As Mr. Ryan left the stand Senator Armstrong said to him that the committee appreciated his coming to testify and recognized the motives of his unwillingness to reveal the actions of another man. "But we are here on serious and important business," said Senator Armstrong.

Money For the Elections.

United States Senator John F. Dryden of New Jersey, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of America was on the witness stand all the remainder of the day. He testified that his company paid $26,000 to the Republican national campaign fund in 1896, 1900 and 1904. It also paid $5,000 to Andrew Hamilton, formerly the New York Life Insurance Co.'s legislative agent at Albany.

In 1899 the Prudential expended $15,800 for legislative expenses. In 1905 the Prudential paid Thos. N. McCarter, then Attorney-General of New Jersey, $27,500 for legal services.

Killed at the Asylum.

Hamilton, Dec. 13.—James Carson, a Perth farmer, who had been in the insane asylum for a month, fell from a partition in the building Sunday, and received injuries from which he died. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict that no one was to blame for his death.

Demand Free Trade.

Edmonton, Dec. 13.—The Tariff Commission yesterday received deputations from the Board of Trade of Edmonton, and the Strathcona and Alberta farmers' associations. A general demand for free trade was made, but particularly in lumber, fruits and cotton goods.

Jones-MacIntosh.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 13.—Former Governor C. H. MacIntosh's favorite daughter was married yesterday to Barrister Elmer Jones of Brockville.

HISTORY OF ASTRONOMY.

How We Learned What We Know About the Heavens.

The first of a series of lectures at the Biological Building of the University of Toronto to be given to the students upon subjects not fully dealt with in the curriculum was delivered by Prof. Baker on "The History of Astronomical Knowledge." The lecture was very entertaining, and was attended by a large number of students, and as it was public it was also attended by a number of outsiders. Prof. Baker dealt first with the appearances in the heavens which would have presented themselves to the notice of early astronomers. There were three of these appearances which would have been particularly noticeable. One was the fact that the planets all moved in the same direction about the sun. Another was the appearances resulting from the fact that the earth moved on its own axis. The motion of the planets in an eclipse was another appearance which presented itself for explanation, and it could easily be understood that they needed considerable acuteness of observation for their solution. There were several passages in the "Odyssey" which gave evidence of more than ordinary knowledge of the motion of the heavenly bodies. Prof. Baker read a few of the passages which served to illustrate the point. The early astronomers had been unaware of the chief cause of the appearances which they were trying to explain; namely, the motion of the earth with them on it.

The earliest conception of the universe that had deserved the name of a "theory" was that the stars were fixed in a crystaline sphere, which during the day revolved about the earth from east to west. The motion of the sun and moon from west to east, however, had also to be accounted for, and this was done by simply multiplying the spheres in which the planets moved. This hypothesis, however, was itself not ample, and had to be modified, and the course of modification led to the modern conceptions of the universe. The sphere theories, however, were clung to for a long time, and were amplified to serve the increased perception of appearances; by the theories of eccentric spheres and epi-cycles.

The system of Capernicus had made the sun the centre of movement around which the planets revolved. Subsequent developments had been due to the use of the telescope. The genius of Newton had deduced the law of the planets being detained in their orbits by the force of an attraction in the sun. Finally, the secret had been wrung from the heavens and the law of gravitation had been discovered. The law alone, however, was discovered. What gravitation itself was had still to be learned.

An Aristocrat Turns Hermit.

Reports to the Mounted Police Department bring accounts of very strange lives followed by people living in the western plains of Canada. Some of the inhabitants have gone there to endure hardships in preference to living in comfort in fashionable English homes. Not a few with "blue" blood in their veins have cast in their lot with the rugged westerners, though the aristocrats mostly go under assumed names. In a report received recently by Commissioner White of the N.W.M.P., there is an interesting account of the finding of a strange individual camped alone nineteen miles from Selkirk.

The report is from John Taylor, inspector of Division E of the police. He was sent last summer to meet the police steamer Vidette, and on his way an isolated camp was sighted. On entering he discovered a man who gave his name as Tollemache. Mr Taylor says he believes the stranger is a son of a baron of England, who at one time was a lieutenant in the King's Royal Rifle Corps. His only companions were three dogs and a cat. He was crippled, the result of an accident many years ago. He gave no information about his previous life.

Col. White expresses no surprise at information of this kind, as the circumstances of the person described are by no means uncommon, even if the supposition of the inspector be true.

Pegged Boots In Canada.

There are few, if any, pegged boots made in the factories of the United States, while fifty years ago the sewing machine was yet uninvented and nearly all shoes save the hand-sewed were hobnailed or pegged. In Canada there are a few scattering factories producing pegged boots for men and boys. Adam Bertsch, a Rochester pattern manufacturer, recently ran across one at St. John's, Nfld.

Mr. Bertsch was interested in the quaint manner in which the boots and shoes are manufactured, the machinery in use being long out of date, as compared with the present standard in the United States. There are no up-to-date methods, and one might easily imagine in stepping into this factory that the cycle of time had turned back forty or fifty years. The pegged boots are high cut, such as men wore generally before the war, and find a ready sale in Newfoundland and in Canada.—From the Shoe Retailer.

Young Girls Sold In Marriage.

Mrs. T. Chisholm, Manitoba, reporting recently to the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union convention on foreign work, denounced child-marriage, practiced among Germans, Galicians and Poles in Manitoba. She instanced a case of a thirteen-year-old girl forced to marry a man much older, whom she had never seen till the week before the marriage ceremony. The fathers of young girls were paid $25 or $30 by the prospective groom. The girls were practically sold by hard-up parents. She knew cases of fourteen-year-old girls being compelled to marry under similar circumstances. The Attorney-General had been appealed to on the matter, but it was difficult to stop child-marriages unless they could get a case for prosecution through the girl refusing to say yes at the marriage altar or Fruit Liver Tablets.

Fruit-a-tives

DR. ALEXANDER FALKNER, Williamstown, Ont., a physician who has enjoyed a large practice for the past thirty years:—"I have much pleasure in certifying to the value of 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as a medicine for chronic constipation and biliousness, dyspepsia, etc., etc. I have prescribed this medicine for the past six months and can strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' in all cases of constipation, indigestion and flatulence, headaches due to weakened digestion, etc.

DR. A. FRANKFORD ROGERS, Ottawa, a physician who has enjoyed one of the largest practices in that city, states:—"I have no hesitation in recommending 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' as the fact of these tablets being made from a laxative material extracted from ripe fruit appeals, and has appealed to my judgement, and I have used these tablets extensively in my practice and always with most gratifying results. The proprietors of this medicine do not hesitate to furnish the formula of the tablets to physicians, and hence any physician can use these tablets and recommend them without loss of self respect. The formula of 'Fruit-a-tives' is certainly a magnificent one, and in my experience no medicine ever used by me has given such excellent results in constipation and stomach and liver trouble as 'Fruit-a-tives' has. That these tablets act beneficially on the kidneys and skin is beyond doubt and in many cases where the skin was sluggish and inactive and the complexion bad 'Fruit-a-tives' have given the most pleasing results."

DR. D. J. COSTELLO, member of the internal staff of the General Hospital, Ottawa, and who has extensive experience, states:—"I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' with most beneficial results in obstinate constipation and biliousness, and found their action mild and non-irritating, and yet more curative than any medicine ever used previously. I strongly recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' to those suffering from these complaints."

PROFIT-SHARING.

Success of the System In Lancashire Woollen Mills.

The benefits to employer and employe of a system of profit-sharing was the topic upon which Mr. Theodore Cooke Taylor, member for the South-east Division of Lancashire in the British House of Commons, addressed the members of the Canadian Club at Toronto recently.

Mr. Taylor inherited a woollen manufacturing business which had been in his family for four generations, and which employed 600 hands. He considered that his employes had certain claims upon him, and these claims he set about meeting by introducing the profit-sharing system. At the end of each year a proportion of the profits was given to the workers in the shape of £1 shares of stock, which carried no voting power, but upon which dividends were paid. Mr. Taylor said he had studied in every way to make identical the interests of capital and labor in the business.

After 13 years' experience with the profit-sharing system, he was completely satisfied with its success, and could recommend it as both scientific and sane. He would not advise those whose sole object was to make money to adopt such a system, for they would be disappointed. His own motive in instituting profit-sharing was altruistic, but he found he had not lost money by it, while he had gained immensely in happiness and comfort in his business.

The workpeople took more pride in their work and the success of the company, the best employes stayed with the establishment, and all the workers were learning lessons of thrift, conscientiousness, and intelligent interest in the business. Profit-sharing was not a panacea for all industrial evils; it could not make a bad business good but it would make a good business better. It repaid the employer, and it dignified and glorified the employe's life.

If the young men of the upper classes in Great Britain, said Mr. Taylor, realized that they would be serving their country as well by taking an intelligent part in industrial progress as they do by taking up military service, a new form of patriotism would be developed. It was not from the rank and file that industrial reform would come. Labor unions and employers' associations were all right in their place, but they were antagonistic, and warfare was costly and wasteful. It was only by working together that progress was made. Profit-sharing was one of the simplest and surest means of establishing good-will between capital and labor.

A Semiobliging Friend.

"I am so glad I have met you, as I have two favors to ask of you."

"What are they?"

"I want you to lend me $10 and not to say a word about it to any one."

"Two favors at once, man! That's too much of a good thing. One of them—yes. I won't breathe a word of this to a living soul."

One of the Fallacies.

Clerk—As I am about to get married, I came to ask if you would not give me an increase of salary. Employer—My dear sir, that is not necessary. You know a young man always saves money by marrying.

MARKING THE LINE.

Parties on Alaska Boundary Find It Slow, Arduous Work.

Messrs. H. A. Brabazon and George White Fraser, of the atronomical branch of the Department of the Interior, have returned from the north-western part of the continent, where they had been marking surveys in connection with the delimitation of the Alaskan boundary.

Each was in charge of a party. They were working during the summer northwestward from Portland Canal. The marking of the boundary is done by the erection of bronze monuments at places where they are needed.

The monuments bear on one side the inscription "United States," and on the other "Canada," each facing the territory it represents.

The work of the survey requires a great deal of hard climbing, and members of the party frequently ascended to heights of from 7,000 to 9,000 feet. In conjuction with the delimitation of the boundary accurate maps are being made of the topography of the country and measurements of the heights of the mountains.

Half of the survey of the boundary will be done by the United States and half by Canada. During the summer each country had three parties at work. Each of the parties was accompanied by a representative of the other nation, for verification of the observations and to prevent in the future such disputes as have proved so expensive and the cause of so much ill-feeling in the past.

The work is being carried on in conformity to the finding of the recent international tribunal. So far the work accomplished has been but comparatively small in extent, and it will take a number of years yet to complete it.

Would Increase Factory Ags.

At the eighth annual conference of Charities and Correction in Toronto, Col. J. E. Farewell, Whitby, president of the conference, in his annual address, spoke of the useful character of such a body, in which there could be free and intelligent discussion of all questions relating to the distribution of public and private benevolence, the best means for preventing crime, punishing it when committed and reforming or improving the criminal. The treatment of inebriates, the president said, must be made a subject of vigorous and rational legislation, and the probation system must be introduced for that class as well as for first offenders. Desertion of families was also a matter for early legislation. If the probation system did not work in any case of that kind flogging or long terms of imprisonment should be imposed.

The lamentable and increasing practice of employing children in factories called for great vigilance and prompt action on the part of factory inspectors. The opinion was gaining ground that the factory age should be raised from fourteen and sixteen years. One of the best means of preventing suffering, avoiding the necessity for charity, and saving the expense of inquests and trials would be the enactment and strict enforcement of proper regulations for preventing accidents in mines and from unprotected machinery. Donors were reminded that "the gift without the giver is bare," and were urged to give their time and experience as well as their money.

A Modest Canadian Author.

It is a pleasure to discover a writer who does not take himself too seriously and is inclined to doubt if the great public who reads his books and the greater public that doesn't, is yearning for the most intimate information in regard to his life and habits from childhood's happy hour. The Rev. Robt. E. Knowles, author of "St. Cuthbert's," is such a rara avis, as the statement which he has finally given out in response to requests by admirers of his book sufficiently indicates. He writes:

"I do not wish to boast, but my father and mother were both Irish, the one from Ballymena and the other from Cork. My education was accomplished at Queen's College, Kingston, and Manitoba College, Winnipeg, which institutions total only two, thus being fewer by three than the cities in which the impartial Homer first saw the light. This fewness will contribute to the peace of the future ages. My career in college was animated and varied, other fellows taking scholarships, while I took fellowship alone. My ministry has had no special celebrity or success, its only outward distinction being that I am not a Doctor of Divinity, which I may humbly claim to be somewhat an original achievement.—New York Tribune.

A STRONG HEART AND STEADY NERVES

Very important it is in this age of competition to have a clear cool head, a strong heart and steady nerves.

Too much rush and bustle, work and worry, fall to the lot of the average business man—his heart and nerve system will not stand it—he gives them too much work to do.

Women also are doing the same thing attending to their household duties and looking after their social obligations. The constant strain under which they have to continue day in and day out, the irregularities of habits and loss of rest will soon shatter the strongest system. Before long you become nervous, starting at the least sudden sound, the heart flutters and palpitates, specks float before the eyes, the pulse becomes weak and irregular, you have faint and dizzy spells, lack of self-confidence, rush of blood to the head, irritability of temper, shortness of breath, starting in sleep, sensation of pins and needles, sleeplessness, restlessness and finally physical breakdown or nervous prostration.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

are the remedy you require to restore your strength and health. Their extraordinary curative power manifests itself immediately they are taken. Through the medium of the nervous system they impart a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body. Many have been cured, among them being Mr. Ray V. Coomier, Wellington, P.E.I., Mrs. R. Kilmer, Humberstone, Ont., Mrs. C. McDonald, Portage la Prairie, Man., Mr. Walter Cleveland, Bayswater, N.S., Mrs. Owen Martin, Alma, N.B. and thousands of others.

The price of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is 50 cts. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25. Can be procured at all drug and general stores, or will be sent on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

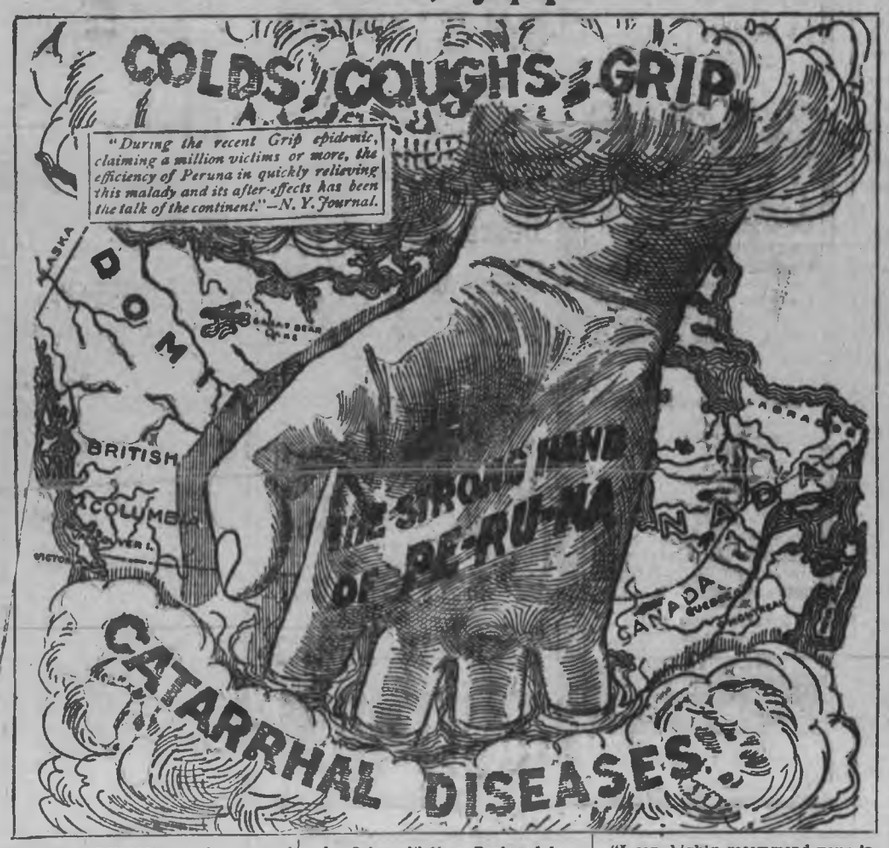
The Hand That Wards Off Coughs, Colds, Grip And Restores Nervous, Dyspeptic Catarrh Wrecks.



LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed the country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks.

Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands.

Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so true that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery until they have used Peruna.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy received such unqualified and universal eulogies as Peruna.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

La Grippe Victims Restored by Pe-ru-na.

Miss Alicia Newell, 6 Stanley street, Montreal, Can., charter member Societe Francais Bienfaisance, writes:

"We had a siege of la grippe in the family and I, as well as some of my friends, was a victim of the malady.

"Three bottles of Peruna assisted me to complete recovery, and some of my friends regained their health by even less.

"La grippe, as a rule, leaves one debilitated and nervous, but I noticed in every case where Peruna was used, the recovery was not only complete, but the medicine seemed to infuse new life and vigor."—Alicia Newell.

President La Pharmacie Latoniuse Recommends Pe-ru-na.

Mr. J. A. Goyer, President La Pharmacie Latoniuse, 1063 St. Denis street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"I can highly recommend your inestimable preparation, Peruna, to all those who suffer from the bad aftereffects of la grippe.

"Two bottles of Peruna have brought to me a complete cure of that sickness, and it has acted as the best tonic for the system that I have ever experienced."—J. A. Goyer.

Prostrated With Grip—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Miss J. A. McGibbin, 871 William street, London, Ont., writes:

"I was prostrated with the grip last winter and it left me with a severe bronchial affection and catarrh of the larynx.

"The doctor's prescriptions seemed powerless and I was going from bad to worse, until I was advised to try Peruna.

"I took four bottles and it entirely removed the complaint. Words cannot express my appreciation for the good that Peruna did for me."—J. A. McGibbin.

Another Phase.

No person can say with absolute authority just where the line between decision of character and undesirable obstinacy should be drawn, but many persons attempt to do it.

"I like my wife's prompt decisions as to what she'd better do," said the husband of Mrs. Orlando Jones, "and I admire the firmness with which she settles all disputed matters for the children, but the surprising obstinacy which she displays concerning my affairs is a constant surprise to me. It seems so out of character."

Margaret of Austria.

Bearded women have been very numerous. The most noted of the number was the famous Margaret of Austria, appointed by Charles V. to be governor of the Netherlands. She had a long, stiff black beard and, conceiving the idea that it added to the majesty of her appearance, was very careful of it and so combed and trained it as to make it seem much greater than it was.

His Inexperience.

Judge—Have you anything to say, prisoner at the bar, before sentence is passed upon you?

Prisoner—I hope that your honor will take into consideration the youth and inexperience—

Judge (interrupting)—Wha-a-t! You have been convicted seventeen times!

Prisoner—Oh, no, your honor; I was alluding to my counsel.

Snow Banners.

In the Sierra Nevada mountains, when conditions are favorable for the display, there occurs a beautiful and startling phenomenon of nature. At times when the wind drives up the mountain sides in a certain direction and with sufficient velocity there stream out upon the air snow banners from a hundred mountain peaks. They are formed by the circling wind acting upon the light snow and are thick and dark at the top of the mountain, like a flagstaff, then they float away broadly for a mile in length in waves of iridescent light. This magnificent display is rarely seen by other eyes than those of savages, but sometimes it has been the good fortune of a naturalist to witness it when among the wild beauties of the mountain fastnesses.

Ancient Theatrical Programme.

Theater programmes were known even in ancient times, though they were then of a very peculiar construction. In Greece and Rome they consisted of small tablets, which were handed out to the audience at the entrance. Those occupying the best seats obtained programmes beautifully worked in ivory, while those occupying the cheaper seats were given tablets in bronze.

The bronze tablets were distinguished by a dove worked in the metal, and the term "piccionerio," used in Italy today as designating the lower priced seats in the theaters, dates from this antique custom.

A Thackeray Story.

Mrs. Bayard Taylor tells an interesting story of Thackeray in her memoirs "On Two Continents." The Taylors met Thackeray in London soon after their marriage. Mrs. Taylor writes that she found "confirmed in his person the characteristics which I had guessed at from his works—a warm heart under the mask of scathing satire. On the occasion of a small dinner which he gave us he said to my husband, after the gentlemen had rejoined the ladies in the drawing room: 'By the bye, I must give you a wedding present. What shall it be?' Then going to an etagere he took down a silver inkstand and gave it to his friend, in spite of the evident displeasure of his youngest daughter, usually so amiable, who exclaimed with all the naivete of her fifteen years, 'Oh, not that one, papa!' But papa gave no heed and a few days later sent us the gift with the inscription engraved upon it, 'W. M. Thackeray to Bayard Taylor, Oct. 27, 1857.'"

Freak Statue.

One of the most interesting freak statues in England is to the memory of Sir R. Holmes. It is to be seen in the church at Yarmouth, Isle of Wight. The funny thing about it is that it was not originally intended to represent that naval celebrity. It was sculptured for and represents Louis XIV. of France and was being conveyed to that country when the vessel containing it and also the sculptor was captured by an English ship commanded by Sir R. Holmes. The body was finished, the head being left for completion on its arrival in France. On learning who it was for, the English commander compelled the sculptor to finish it by chiseling his (Holmes') head on the king's body. Sir R. Holmes was afterward made governor of the Isle of Wight and held this office from 1667 till 1692, and after his death the statue was erected to his memory.

Then He Got Mad.

Husband (impatiently)—If the fool killer would strike this town he would find plenty of work to do. Wife—Is there such a person, dear? Husband—Of course there is. Wife (with anxiety)—Well, I do hope, John, that you will be very careful.

Returned Thoughts.

"Do thoughts that came to you in the long ago ever return?" asked the originator of silly questions.

"Not unless I inclose stamps," answered the literary party.

Advantages of Travel.

All travel has its advantage. If the passenger visits better countries he may learn to improve his own, and if fortune carries him to worse he may learn to enjoy his own.

Free will is not the liberty to do whatever one likes, but the power of doing whatever one sees ought to be done, even in the face of otherwise overwhelming impulse. There lies freedom indeed.

BORING INTO THE NORTH.

Trail From St. John, B. C., to Lake Teslin, in the Yukon.

Lieut.-Col. Fred White, controller of the Northwest Mounted Police, has received a report from Superintendent Constantine, who is in charge of a party of Mounted Police entrusted with making a trail from St. John, B. C., to Lake Teslin, in the Yukon Territory.

The party, consisting of two officers, six non-commissioned officers, twenty-two constables and two special constables, left Fort Saskatchewan, March 17th last, and returned to St. John, B. C., to winter on the 25th of September, having built a wagon trail to the junction of Halfway and Cyprus Rivers, a distance of ninety-four miles. This is the hardest part of the undertaking. Steep hills had to be graded and streams bridged. This helped to delay the work, which was further hampered by heavy rains in August.

Work will be resumed early in the spring, and it is hoped before the following winter to reach a point a hundred miles northeast of Fort Graham, about 250 miles farther. Sylvester's Landing will be the winter quarters in 1906 and 1907. Superintendent Constantine states that the soil around Lesser Slave Lake is a sandy loam, but good wheat, barley and oats are raised in small quantities.

The Dominion Fishing Co. are established in the lake, and shipping fish at such a rate as to make the natives apprehensive for the future. On the lava benches and the north bank of Peace River good crops of wheat, oats and barley, together with vegetables, are grown. One farmer at Vermillion last year sold $3,000 worth of wheat to the Hudson's Bay Co., who have a flour mill there.

Octopus Puts Up Two Fights.

A recent special from Vancouver, B. C., says: Four fishermen had a fight with a huge devil fish at Bellingham, Puget Sound. Clarence Benadone, his brother Tom, William Brown, and Alva Barger were fishing for cod in a cove when Brown saw the octopus crawling on the bottom towards shore. It frightened him so that he went ashore. He told the others what he had seen and they went in pursuit.

The eyes of the monster gleamed in the water like diamonds. Its movements were watched until it got into three feet of water, and then the men set on it with long poles. It fought back and thrust its long arms out. The men succeeded in throwing a rope around one of the tentacles as it was raised out of the water, and the combined weight of the men was used in trying to get the octopus ashore.

However, they only succeeded in wrenching off the arm. A knife was tied to a pole and one of the monster's eyes was destroyed, but it kept up a game resistance. Finally it got away.

Two Indians in a canoe also report having been attacked. The devil fish was floating on top of the water when the canoe ran against it. Instantly an arm was thrown round the little craft. The redskins cut it off. No sooner was the one tentacle disabled than another was thrust out, but the Indians managed to evade it and get away.

THE CONVERSATION LOZENGER.

"I'm growing old and feeble now;
I cannot work no more"—
That's the way, I think, 'twas sung
In happy days of yore.
Those times among the pretty girls
I made a fearful stir;
My weapon was the toothsome con-
Versation lozenger!

I uster wear a dickey neat,
Without a spot or speck;
A snowy paper collar sweet
Was fastened round my neck.
I uster make the ladies' hearts
With palpitation whirr;
I chiefly used the deadly con-
Versation lozenger!

In days of yore it must have been
A thrilling sight to see
Me slip my girl a candy marked
Thus; "Will you marry me?"
It made me warm from head to heels
When she would softly purr
"Ask mamma!" on another con-
Versation lozenger!

I think the candy that I prized
And won with most delight
Was nicely stamped in letters red
With "See me home tonight."
Alas! she always ate her words—
This thought to me occurs—
Yet words were sweet upon the con-
Versation lozenger!

Aunt Lucy says that when I write
My verses in the woods,
Each little verse, however lame,
Is quite the candy goods.
Thus every poem that you see
Upon this page occur
Is a kind of—well, a kind of con-
Versation lozenger!

Camel Cavalry.

It is common to think of a camel, the proverbial ship of the desert, as a patient beast of burden. Guided by skillful hands, however, it becomes a very formidable war steed. The Somali warriors have ridden camels in many fierce charges for generations. Mounted on the back of an active camel with a long spear for a weapon, one of these savages is an enemy to be feared.

"Yes; it improved his health. But unless he learns to play better it will spoil his disposition."—Exchange.

Along the central part of the Kongo river there are a number of salt marshes. The African digs shallow holes in these whence issue streams of hot water, which, on being evaporated, leaves a residue of salt.

GRETNA GREEN.

Bloom Hits the Border Village and Romance Has Come Vigorously to Life Again.

Gretna Green, the little Scotch village just across the border from Cumberland, is witnessing a revival of the weddings which made it famous in the romantic days of yore. One Peter Dixon, a carpenter, is playing the role of the blacksmith of tradition, and so well does it pay him that he has abandoned his trade to devote himself exclusively to the tying of nuptial knots for couples who are in a hurry to get "spliced."

Dixon is a good type of the canny Scot, of middle age, with shrewd eyes, iron gray hair, and a mouth screened by a full beard that can well keep it owner's own counsel. He was not at all adverse to drinking at a stranger's expense, but not even Scotch whiskey, that most potent encourager of loquacity, could induce him to be communicative about his singular occupation.

"I don't want anything published about my business," he said.

"But publicity would increase your—your business."

"It might," he admitted, "but it might also increase competition, and I don't want any other folk getting up in the same line here. There ain't any more in it than just keeps me going comfortably, and as I started it I think I'm entitled to all there is in it."

"Are you a minister?" he was asked.

"No, I ain't," he answered. "You don't have to be a parson to marry folk in Scotland. I can tie 'em together just as hard and fast as any minister in the land. If you are thinking of getting married, young man, just fetch along the girl and I'll do the job for you. You'll find it'll cost you a lot more than I charge you to get it undone."

Under Scotch law a marriage can be celebrated anywhere and at any hour of the day or night, for the ceremony in its simplest form consists merely in a couple agreeing before witnesses to take each other for husband and wife. One of the contracting parties is required to have resided in Scotland for twenty-one days before the marriage, but it is doubtful if steps are taken to compel proof of that, though the enactment was specially aimed at the runaway Gretna Green matches.

Most of the modern Gretna Green weddings take place at Dixon's own house, a small tenement in the main street of the village, but those who want a little more style have the ceremony performed at the Queen's Head Hotel. Dixon keeps a marriage register, which he declines to show to any one. Nor will he tell what his fees are. He is not giving away any one of the secrets of his "business."

It is just about half a century since the little Dumfries village of Gretna Green fell back into the native obscurity out of which a most singular fortune had temporarily lifted it and from which it is now again emerging. Ever since the reformation had repudiated the Council of Trent and most of its doings, English practices in the matter of marriages had been growing more and more lax and irregular. To put an end to the scandal the marriage act of 1754 was passed. It required all persons except Jews and Quakers to get married—if at all—in a Church of England and according to Church of England ritual. A great many people resented the new law, and as it did not apply to Scotland the most obvious way to escape it was to flit across the border. When the names of great lords and ladies began to be mixed up with such romances, weddings at Gretna Green began to be almost as fashionable as are now those at St. George's, Hanover Square. Fifty such marriages in the course of a month were by no means unusual at one time.

The little Dumfries village to which these infatuated folk made a dash, some of them with indignant parents and guardians at their heels, is a dull little place at the head of the Solway Firth, about ten miles northwest of Carlisle. In its palmy days of romance panting young couples sped furiously along the road through the fir plantations and over the dreary "debatable land" of bog and peat. The beginning of the end of the journey was the bridge over the broad English Esk, then came two level miles over the debatable land and finally the actual Scotch and English boundary, the little stone bridge over the Sark, beyond which lay the happy hereafter.

Until 1826 these marriages were mostly conducted at the little bridge toll house. Who first officiated seems to be quite doubtful, and the only reason for supposing that a blacksmith had anything to do with it is the existence of the tradition itself.

Very Much Happier.

A boy reading the verse, "And those who live in cottages are happier than those who sit on thrones," startled the crowd by reading thus: "And those who live in cottages are happier than those who sit on thorns."

THE SWINBURNES.

Family One of England's Oldest—Settled Before Norman Conquest.

Sir John Swinburne, whose impending marriage to Miss Florence Moffat at Windsor, England, has just been announced, is 74 years of age, says the Marquise de Fontenoy. The Swinburnes are one of the oldest families in England and were settled at Swinburne Castle in Northumberland at the time of the Norman conquest. The castle, by the bye, passed through marriage in the reign of Queen Elizabeth to the Widderingtons, who sold it to the Riddells, in whose possession it has been for the last 200 years, the country seat of the head of the house of Swinburne since 1572 having been Capheaton Hall, near Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The baronetcy held by Sir John Swinburne is one of the first ones created by King James I., when he founded the Order of the Baronets, dating from 1660, and was conferred upon John Swinburne, who had previously been the subject of a romantic and sensational lawsuit. As a child he had been carried off to France, kidnapped, in fact, in connection with those bitter quarrels that prevailed between the Protestants and the Roman Catholics in England at the time of the reformation. He was brought up in a monastery on the continent under a different name, was believed to have perished, and when, after reaching manhood, and refusing to become a monk, he returned to England to claim his extensive estates, his identity was questioned and he was compelled to institute legal proceedings in order to establish it. This he did by describing, among other things, all the curious marks of the family punch bowl and also the strange markings of a pet cat which he had as a boy.

Among the most familiar members of the Swinburne family have been Henry Swinburne, the friend of Empress Maria Theresa and traveler, whose books on Spain and Italy printed in the middle of the eighteenth century are still standard works to-day.

Another is England's foremost and most gifted poet of the present day, Algernon Swinburne, who, had it not been for the radical and even downright revolutionary opinions which he professes in all political matters, would certainly have been appointed to succeed Lord Tennyson as poet laureate. He is a first cousin of Sir James Swinburne, and the son of the late Admiral Charles and Lady Jane Swinburne, a wonderful old woman, having been a daughter of the third earl of Ashburnham. Lady Jane was celebrated in her younger days for her remarkable beauty, which was such that when presented for the first time at court she was complimented on her loveliness by William IV. as he drew her to him and imprinted a hearty kiss on her cheek.

Algernon Swinburne is an object of particular aversion to the Russian Government and to the reigning house of Romanoff, both of which he has repeatedly denounced fiercely in impassioned verse. Indeed, at one moment the Russian Government endeavored, though unsuccessfully, to secure his prosecution in the criminal courts by the English authorities on the ground that his poems constituted not merely an excuse for the methods of the terrorists' party in the dominions of the Czar but an actual instigation to the assassination of sovereign, princes, and officials at St. Petersburg.

On the other hand Swinburne has been the recipient of profound and publicly expressed admiration on the part of the Italian Government and people, the former having officially eulogized his poems glorifying that Italian revolution which has transformed the peninsula into a united nation.

Sir John Swinburne, a Crimean veteran of the Royal Navy, has several sons and one daughter, the widow of Richard Chamberlain, who was a younger brother of ex-Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain. There is but little love lost between Mrs. Richard and her distinguished brother-in-law, and during the Boer war she took an active part in making trouble for the administration and in particular for the Colonial Secretary, not only in England, but also in South Africa.

Needle-Making a Secret Art.

The history of making needles in England is a curious one, for the art has been several times lost to English workmen since the reign of Queen Mary.

Needles were first made in England at that time by a negro from Spain, who set up a shop and for a time prospered at his trade. At his death it was found that he had taught the trade to no one, and the English had to go abroad for their needles until 1565, when a German artisan taught a few mechanics the manner of their making.

The trade soon died out again, for some reason, and not until 1650 was it revived by a foreign workman, who conducted his operations on so large a scale that there was no longer any danger of the secret of their manufacture being lost.

This was the first time that the method of making them was not shrouded in secrecy, and soon the manufacture of needles became an important industry, the Whitechapel needles becoming famous the world over.

There are now several centres, in addition to the London quarter, where the needle industry flourishes, Birmingham alone now producing as many needles in a day as the original workman made in his lifetime.

An Odd Bird's Nest.

The oddest of all birds' nests is the one built by the tontobane, a South African songster. It is built of cotton and always upon the tree producing the material. In constructing the domicile the female works inside and the male outside, where he builds a sentinel box for his own special use. He sits in the box and keeps watch or sings nearly all the time, and when danger comes in the form of a hawk or a snake he warns the family, but never enters the main nest.

Come Out of Your Shell.

Do you allow yourself to become absentminded, wrapped up in a brown study? Look about you. Speak to those that you have been in the habit of ignoring. Make friends with every one. Strive to touch life everywhere you can. You will accomplish your tasks better by so doing than by going forward blindly absorbed in meditation or engrossed by internal musings.

Reflected Glory.

A gentleman sojourning in Edinburgh many years ago, having heard much of the eloquence of the members of the General Assembly, paid an early visit to it. Next to him sat an elderly, hard-featured, solemn-faced man, who was leaning with both hands on a heavy stick, which he eyed with great concentration. Soon the stranger's attention was riveted upon the speaker who had opened the day's discourse. The wonderful command of language he possessed, combined with his eloquence, excited the listener's curiosity. "Can you tell me who is speaking now?" he asked eagerly, turning to the sober-faced old man beside him. "Who's speaking now?" echoed the old man, lifting his eyes from the contemplation of the stick to fix them in contemptuous amazement upon his interlocuter. "That, sir, is the great Docther Chawmers, and I'm holdin' his stick."

An Old Roman Altar.

A perfectly preserved Roman altar four feet in height and of square formation, has been discovered at the site of an ancient Roman camp at Newstead, near Melrose, England. An inscription upon it in accurately chiseled Roman letters reads, "To the great and mighty Jupiter, Carolus, centurion of the twentieth legion, the valiant and victorious, cheerfully, willingly and deservedly paid his vow."

Suffered for 23 Years With Kidney Trouble.

CURED AT LAST BY GIN PILLS.

Whether you are just beginning to feel the first twinges of kidney pains—or whether you have tried for years to find relief—Gin Pills will cure you. Surely you can't doubt their virtues after such a letter as this:

"I sent for a free sample of your Gin Pills some time ago, and found them to give me great relief, so I put myself under the treatment, and am now using the third box, and feel myself entirely cured. I have suffered with my kidneys for 23 years. At the time I began taking Gin Pills I could not turn in bed without pain. If I moved at night, the pain would be so great that it would wake me up. Now I am free of pain, and feel as well as I did 23 years ago. I feel it my duty to let you know about Gin Pills, so that it might be the means of relieving some other sufferer.

"HENRY WAKEFORD, Toronto."

Gin Pills hold out a guarantee of certain, quick relief. They will stop the pain—heal the sick kidneys—and build up the whole system—or your druggist will refund your money. That shows our confidence in Gin Pills. We will do more. We will send you a trial box of Gin Pills absolutely free if you will write asking for it and state the name of the paper in which you see this. You can thus test them at our expense and see for yourself whether or not Gin Pills are all that we claim them to be. Gin Pills are for sale at all druggists. 50c a box—6 boxes for $2.50. Electric Lighting Pioneer.

Sir Joseph A. Swan, F. R. S., who has just entered on his 78th year, says The London Star, was one of the pioneers of the science of electric lighting, and was, in his house at Gateshead-on-Tyne, patiently and silently perfecting the incandescent lamp which bears his name when systems which are now forgotten were being loudly exploited as the only practical methods. He was born in Sunderland, and was for many years associated with a well-known firm of chemists in Newcastle-on-Tyne, and in that position perfected several valuable inventions in photography. After the invention of the incandescent lamp he left Tyneside, and took up his residence in London, his house in Holland Park being a perfect repository of curiosities and novelties in electricity. He is a fellow of the Royal Society, as well as of other learned bodies. When his daughter was married to Mr. Keble Morcom last year the wedding party was conveyed to St. Mary Abbot's Church in electric broughams.

Mrs. French Sheldon.

Mrs. French Sheldon started recently for the West Coast of Africa, when her tour will embrace Nigeria, Sierra Leone, and Liberia. She is just finishing her book on the Congo, which will be out in the early part of next year. Mrs. French Sheldon has done a great deal of important exploration. She knows the whole of Africa, and has written a great deal to add to our ethnological knowledge of the various races of that continent. She has been three times round the world, giving three years to each journey. The love of genuine exploring has grown upon her, says The Queen, and she goes off with her rifle and her native servants; plunging into countries where few white men have been, with less fear of danger than she would have in walking about a civilised city in the dark. The journey to West Africa she will now undertake as a rest and change after the hard work of getting her book ready for the press.

Body of John N. Tisdale Found.

New York, Dec. 3.—The body which was found in the Harlem River on Wednesday night was positively identified by relatives Thursday as that of John N. Tisdale, the president of the Alaska Snettisham Gold Mining Co., who disappeared recently from the Hotel Seville. It will be taken to Simcoe, Ont., for burial. Mr. Tisdale was subject to fainting spells. Mr. Tisdale was born 56 years ago at Simcoe. Besides his interest in the Alaska Snettisham Mining Co., he leaves valuable properties in Alaska. He was elder brother of Hon. D. Tisdale, representative for Norfolk in the House of Commons.

MY SHADOW.

I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me,
And what can be the use of him is more than I can see.
He is very, very like me from the heels up to the head,
And I see him jump before me when I jump into my bed.

The funniest thing about him is the way he likes to grow—
Not at all like proper children, which is always very slow,
For he sometimes shoots up taller, like an India rubber ball,
And he sometimes gets so little that there's none of him at all.

He hasn't got a notion of how children ought to play
And can only make a fool of me in every sort of way.
He stays so close beside me he's a coward, you can see;
I'd think it shame to stick to nursie as that shadow sticks to me.

One morning very early, before the sun was up,
I rose and found the shining dew on every buttercup,
But my lazy little shadow, like an arrant sleepyhead,
Had stayed at home behind me and was fast asleep in bed.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

TIGER HUNTING TO-DAY.

One Must Be Royalty's Guest to Do It Right.

Tiger-hunting in India can be made most luxurious if the hunter has the proper acquaintance. An Englishman describes his experiences:—"Generally speaking, the tiger is now as much preserved in India as the red deer is in Scotland. The maharajah, or nizam, who is still lucky enough to have tigers in his dominions knows full well how keen any visitor is to kill one, and to this end is zealous in their protection. It therefore follows that unless you can get an invitation to the preserve of one of these potentates you are not likely to get a shot at a tiger while in India. It so happened that in March, 1905, my friend and myself were lucky enough to be given a beat in Hyderabad (Deccan). The word 'beat' is, perhaps, misleading, when the district in which we were allowed to shoot was something between 1,000 and 2,000 square miles in area.

"Being the guests of the nizam, we found all arrangements made in that luxurious style so peculiar to the Oriental. Our camp was pitched some fourteen miles from the railway station. Here we found a large bell tent each, a tent for messing in, numerous servants, cooks, waiters and coolies to clean up the camp, besides a police guard and a guard of honor provided by the local cavalry, to turn out and present arms whenever any of us showed our noses. The heat is very great, but, our camp being pitched beneath some tamarind trees, we were always able to find some shade, and with every imaginable kind of drink, and a daily supply of ice, we grew to enjoy rather than to dislike it.

"In these parts the usual method employed to locate tigers is to tie up young bulls overnight in the jungle; and they are visited next morning by one of the local shikaris (hunters), who, if he finds a beast killed, reports at once to headquarters. Should the tiger visit any one beast, it will probably be in the very early hours of the morning. Having killed it (usually by springing on the throat), the tiger will drag away the carcass to some thicker part of the jungle, where it will partially devour it, and, having eaten what it wants, lie down near it and sleep, as it were with one eye open, lest any other beast should wish to snatch a meal.

"At about 7 in the morning the local shikari comes along. He notes in which direction the bull's carcass has been dragged and studies life in the jungle near, to see what he can learn. The vultures, if the jungle is not too thick, will have seen the prospect of a meal, and will now be sitting in the trees over the remains if the tiger is still by, for they will not venture near till they can get undisputed possession. The monkeys, too, will show signs of uneasiness, and keep chattering in the trees, and the birds will also testify to the tiger's presence by anxious twitterings. The shikari reports his findings and the beat begins.

"To us the number of natives seemed enormous and on several occasions upward of 200 were employed. Their remuneration is, however, very small, two annas (four cents) being the daily wage, with, usually, double pay should a tiger be killed. They always seemed quite contented and trudged along through the jungle with nothing on but a loin cloth, even in the heat of the day. They took no food, but nearly all of them carried hollowed-out gourds, in which they keep a supply of water."

One Fifty-Millionth of An Inch.

In recent science nothing is more remarkable than the refinement which has been made in instrumental measurements. Dr. P. E. Shaw recently explained to the Royal Society on electrical micrometer which, it is stated, can be made to measure the two-millionth of a millimeter, or the fifty-millionth of an inch. This measurement, the smallest ever yet made, was in connection with the movements of a telephone diaphragm. The problem was to find what movement of the diaphragm produces a sound which is only just audible. The measurement was effected by means of an electric current connected with the micrometer and telephone.—London Standard.

Some Elopements.

While the average elopement is supposed to be a secret affair in which the girl's mother thinks she is downtown taking a music lesson and the young man's parents are quite confident that he is slinging dry goods and watching with both eyes for a chance to rise in the world, there are some elopements that are built on a different plan, the bride to be's mother going so far as to put them up a lunch.

When a girl's parents cannot afford a wedding and it becomes a question of walking up to the justice of the peace whom everybody in town knows and hearing him say, "You're hitched; three dollars, please," the average girl prefers a little jaunt over to the next county, for there is a tinge of romance about that. Another advantage in having the old folks know it is that they won't have to spend any money telegraphing home for forgiveness.

THE FOUR ELEMENTS.

Marcus Reed Sums Up the Conditions as Now Known.

I.—FIRE

The discovery of Radium and of its change into Helium has now placed it practically beyond doubt that the old idea of immutable elements, originally differentiated, was as much a mistake as that which made a difference between the Vegetable and Animal Kingdoms. The whole creation is one uninterrupted whole, and the old classification of its component parts will be used in these short papers as a convenience without strictly defined limits. The conception of the unity of creation was not unknown to the ancients, but only in our days has it been actually proved to be the case.

For convenience, therefore, we still speak of the Four Elements as dividing amongst them what we know of matter, but it was always incorrect to include Fire in the number; the other three may be said to exist by themselves, but fire is only the result of circumstances, fortuitous or otherwise. We do not know, for instance, that it exists as an ever present element, so called, even in the Sun. Day by day we learn more of the mystery of nature, but what the sun actually is remains a mystery still. The earth was once a part of its glowing mass, and is now a globe of actual fire with a thin crust of habitable earth; but in what condition the great original mass of nebular matter composing the sun now exists we do not know. We are told it may be either hot or cold, burning like a raging furnace or emitting rays as cold as those of Radium, which is now supposed to have some affinity with the rays of the sun.

What we know for certain is the rather upsetting fact that the nearer we approach it the colder we get. In the winter we are actually millions of miles nearer to the sun than in the summer. The tops of high mountains are covered in eternal snow, and a little further, when our atmosphere ceases, the inter-stelar cold is greater than anything we experience on earth. When it is remembered that those interstellar spaces are filled with the sun's rays without interruption of clouds, day and night without ceasing, we begin to see that the heat of the sun depends on circumstances, on chemical changes or combinations of matter in its most subtle forms, and does not actually indicate the presence of fire as we understand it on earth.

The Sun, or Fire, worshippers, wise in their generation, did not stop to inquire into all these nice distinctions, and worshipped the blazing mystery when it rose above their horizon as the most sublime revelation of superhuman might and majesty vouchsafed to mortals here below. This natural religion never disappeared altogether; the Parsees are still fire-worshippers as their ancestors, the Guebres, were. Later on in the history of the human race, Jupiter was only a name or impersonation of the sun, and later still the position and arrangement of the gigantic stones on Salisbury Plain indicate a probable chief temple of fire-worship in this country itself. What is more, traces of this primitive religion are not entirely extinct in Great Britain to-day.

The English feast of Beltein, originally held in honor of the god Bel or Baal, is nearly forgotten, but we read in Notes and Queries that as late as 1853 a ram was annually sacrified on May morning in a field kept for that purpose on Dartmoor. "That time, the place (looking East), the mystic Menhir or pillar to which the ram was fastened, surely bear evidences in favour of the Ram Feast being a sacrifice to Baal." The young men and maids of the village of Holne, when they presented each other with a slice of the meat, surely did not know what he (hena-they were! They would have been properly shocked to learn that one of themselves would have been sacrificed in lieu of the ram in the good old time when the feast originated. Our festivals of Yule, of Candlemass, Lammas, Allhallow-E'en are all so many remnants of the fire-worship once general in Northern Europe as well as in Carthage and India.

Before the days of matches or tinderboxes, when fires had to be kindled by friction, a feat distinctly more difficult than it is generally supposed to be, the smallest particle of fire was held sacred, and the most singular superstitions attached to this so-called element. The domestic hearth was considered to be part of the family as a living thing; strangers might borrow some of its fire when their own went out, but relatives of the family were not allowed to do so, a breach of this unwritten law being considered equal to incest, while for the same reason the adding of strange fire to the hearth was tantamount to adulterating it or soiling its purity.

The fire so sedulously guarded by the Vestal virgins was believed to be the goddess Vesta herself; this divinity had, therefore, no image of herself in her temples. In Egypt, in Rome, and in Persia public fires were kept in public buildings, and when Augustus assumed supreme power he transported the public fire, as its supreme guardian, to his own place, which, by that fact, became public property.

If the great fault of the present age is believing too little, that of the ancients was believing too much. Without a shadow of proof they were quite positive that the four elements were peopled by beings called Element Spirits, peculiar to each; Fire being ruled in some obscure way by Salamanders, Air by Sylphs, Earth by Gnomes, and Water by Undines. We see some of these singular spirits in our Christmas pantomines, and we know that salamanders are far from fireproof. Pliny records having tried the experiment with a visible salamander, with the result that the poor newt was reduced to powder. As a sensible man this was enough for Pliny, but his contemporaries piously stuck to their faith in the incombustible creature whose name still has a weird and fearful sound for us.

Many ancient applications of fire are now out of fashion. Not much can be said for its use as medicament, for ordeals by fire or baptism by fire. This last is not a figure of speech, but was in the middle ages an actual baptism chosen by those who feared a fiery penance in the next world, and preferred to submit to it here below and have done with it.

With New Blood In the Arteries

YOU WILL FEEL NEW VIGOR AND CONFIDENCE THROUHOUT THE WHOLE BODY.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Do you know what it is to feel well — to feel young and hearty and vigorous—to feel full of energy and ambition—to enjoy work and to look forward hopeful and confident of the future.

This is the natural way to feel when your blood is pure and rich and your nerves are a-thrill with life and vitality.

This is the way you will feel if you revitalize your wasted and depleted nervous system by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Not in any miraculous way—not after the first dose or the first box, it may be, but when your system has been gradually built up — your blood enriched and new vim and vigour instilled into the nerves.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a wonderful medicine, but its wonders are accomplished in nature's way, by thoroughly restoring the elements lacking in a run-down body.

No other treatment for the nerves acts in exactly this way. Some relieve by deadening the nerves — some by excessive stimulation.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food brings about lastingly beneficial results by forming new, rich, red blood, and creating new nerve force.

Mr. George W. Lawson, a farmer living near Consecon and well and favourably nkown throughout Prince Edward County, Ont., writes:—

"About one year ago I was taken sick and felt myself failing every day. I consulted and doctored with several eminent physicians, but received no permanent benefit. In fact they told me they could do nothing for me except afford temporary relief, as it was a general breaking up of old age. My nerves were exhausted and my whole system completely broken up.

"I was just at death's door, and, thinking my time to die had come I gave up hope and resigned myself to fate. At this time my wife read in the papers about some of the wonderful cures being brought about by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I began using it.

"This treatment helped me from the first, and I continued to keep it up for about six months, when I was fully restored to health. To-day I am a well man and made so by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food [illegible] thrilling cost. All this in spite of the fact that I spent a large sum of money with physicians only to be pronounced incurable. Though in my 75th year I feel as well as I did at twenty, and can walk as smartly as any of the boys."

There is lots of evidence of what this great food cure has done for others. Ask your neighbours about it. Fifty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Ether and Matter.

The densest matter is more or less porous. Gold will absorb mercury as a lump of sugar will absorb water, showing there must be interstices or interatomic spaces in it, but the ether shows no such property. If a drop of water could be magnified sufficiently one would ultimately see the different atoms of hydrogen and oxygen that constitute the molecules of water. If a small volume of ether could be thus magnified the indications are that the ultimate part would look like the first, which is the same as saying that it is not made up of discrete particles, but fills space completely. This is expressed by saying that the ether is a continuous medium and is hence incomparable with matter.

An Ivory Mat.

Many people have never even heard of such a thing, and it is not to be wondered at, for these mats are exceedingly rare, and it is said by those who know that only three of these beautiful curiosities exist in the whole world. The one we now write about is the largest one made. It measures 8 by 4 feet and, though made in a small hill state in the north of India, has an almost Greek design for its border. It was only used on state occasions, when the rajah sat on it to sign important documents. The original cost of the mat is fabulous, for 6,400 pounds of ivory were used in its manufacture. The finest strips of ivory must have been taken off the tusks, as the mat is as flexible as a woven stuff and beautifully fine.—London Graphic.

Expectant Mothers

should take "Bu-Ju" during this trying time. The extra strain, weight and undue pressure on the delicate organs often irritate and inflame the kidneys. This not only increases the danger of childbirth, but places the health of the baby in jeopardy.

Fate of the Twelve Disciples.

Andrew was probably crucified at Patrae, in Achaia; Bartholomew, said to have been flayed alive and crucified, with head down, in Armenia; James, brother of John, Herod killed him with his sword; James, son of Alpheus, thrown from the temple and stoned to death; John, time of death a conjecture; Judas, said to have hanged himself in a very bungling manner; Jude, said to have died naturally and also claimed to have been martyred; Matthew, claimed as a martyr, but probably died a natural death; Peter, crucified at Rome; Philip, said to have been tortured to death in Greece; Simon (Canaanite), crucified in Judaea in the reign of Domitian; Thomas, probably put to death with a lance in Persia or India.

A Brave Sailor.

There is a tablet in the sailors' home at Melbourne to James Marr. He was a sailor before the mast on the Rip. On July 15, 1873, the Rip was caught in a squall. Marr sat astride of the gaff when a great wave broke over the boat and brought down the mainmast. There was only one chance to save the Rip. That was to cut away the litter. But Marr clung to the broken spar, and to cut away meant to send him overboard to death. So, looking at him doubtfully, the men hesitated, their axes in their hands. Marr, helpless, pondered. He saw that his death would be the boat's salvation, and he shouted:

"Cut away, mates! Goodby!"

Then he let himself fall into the cold, wild sea.

A Fatal Pun.

According to John Stow, chronicler and antiquary, about 1590, who wrote and published "Summarie of Englysh Chronicles," Sir William Collingwood was executed in 1484 for writing the following political squib, in a manner which, in his day, was considered most excellent wit:

The rat, the cat and Lovel the dog
Rule all England under the Hog.

This was during the reign of Richard III., at a time when the chief agents of his evil schemes were Catesby, Ratcliff and Lovel. Lovel was then a common name for a dog and as a white boar was displayed on the king's escutcheon the reference to a "hog" was obvious and so offensive that it brought about the writer's death.

Just Sneeze Right Out.

"Never suppress a sneeze," said the trained nurse to the young woman who had just performed that polite act. "It is a great strain on all the nerves and blood vessels of the head, as it throws all the action to the back of the head instead of letting it come out of the mouth safely and naturally. The unusual and hard strain on a little blood vessel that may be weak is likely to burst it and cause instant death. A loud sneeze does not sound very nice, but it is a safe thing to do every time."

A QUESTION OF COST.

In any number of stores you'll see various preparations of cod liver oil at as many different prices. You'll wonder, perhaps, why Scott's Emulsion costs more than some other kind in as large a bottle. Hearing only one side of the question you may be led into buying the "just as good as Scott's" at the lower price. That's false economy. Scott's Emulsion costs more because its more expensive to make. Every ingredient is tested and guaranteed of the purest quality. No adulteration, no shaving of quality. There's no economy in bargain medicine. If you can afford to experiment with your health, substitutes may satisfy you. We take it, however, that you want a pure preparation, a reliable remedy and something that's going to help you. That's what you get in Scott's Emulsion. Thirty years the standard.

"TOWERS OF SILENCE."

Parsees Refuse to Abandon Their Funeral Customs—Claim Their System Is Most Sanitary.

Among the Parsees the recent agitation to induce them to dispose of their dead by cremation instead of exposing them to be devoured by vultures on their "towers of silence" has awakened only indignation. They are not prepared to abandon a custom which is hallowed to them by hoary antiquity and associated with their most hallowed religious rites.

Though in European minds the thought of allowing feathered scavengers to feast on the bodies if their beloved dead would excite the deepest feelings of repugnance and disgust, as practiced by the Parsees this method of getting rid of the fleshly tenement is far from being so horrible as is generally imagined. Indeed, to the Parsees themselves—and they are the most cultivated and intelligent of all the sects found in India—it seems far preferable to burying the dead as practiced by Christians.

"Your people," said a Parsee to me, "put your dead underground, where they provide a banquet for worms. We put ours above ground, where their flesh is eaten by vultures. The ultimate result is the same. The bones alone are left. But there is a great difference in what takes place before the skeleton stage is reached, and that difference is all in favor of our method. Before consigning the bodies of your dead to the earth you inclose them in coffins. You dare not allow your imaginations to picture the horrible changes that there take place before nature recovers what she gave. We do not seek to retard the process. The vultures do their work expeditiously. There is no putrefaction. Christian burial grounds, so I have read, are often sources of disease. Parsee dokhmas, or 'towers of silence' as you poetically call them, are never such. From a sanitary point of view they are incomparably superior to your cemeteries, and with us they are equally sacred."

"But," I suggested, "fire would do the work even better than vultures."

"Or worms," said my Parsee friend. "When you Christians take to cremation we Parsees may possibly follow your excellent example. There are far weightier reasons why cremation should take the place of burial than can be urged in favor of its substitution for our towers of silence."

The towers of silence crown the summit of Malabar hill, near Bombay, and are situated in the midst of a beautiful garden whose tropical trees swarm with vultures. They are built of stone and are about twenty-five feet high. A small door is provided for the entrance of the body. When a Parsee dies, after the performance of solemn and imposing funeral rites, the body is borne upon an iron bier to the towers, followed by a procession of relatives and friends of the dead headed by a number of priests. Upon arrival at the gardens the bier is laid down and prayers are said at the "sagri," or house of prayer, near the entrance to the garden. The attendants then carry the body to the towers of silence, lay it on its stony bed and retire. Then the vultures gather about it and do their gruesome work unseen. The bones are soon denuded of flesh and fall through an iron grating into a pit beneath, from which they are afterwards removed by a subterranean cavern.

Death Anniversary Observed.

On the third day after the death friends and relatives again assemble at the house where the dead man lived, and thence proceed to the "temple of fire." Standing before the urns in which the "celestial fires" are kept burning, priests recite prayers for the soul of the departed. His son, or adopted son, kneels before the high priest and promises due performance of all religious rites and obsequies to the dead. Friends and relatives then hand the priest a list of contributions to various charities which have been subscribed as a memorial offering. This concluded the ceremony or "rising from mourning," or the "resurrection of the dead." On each recurring anniversary of the death of a Parsee memorial funeral ceremonies are performed. In an iron framework erected in the house shrubs and flowers are cultivated, thus literally keeping the memory of the dead man green. Before these iron frames prayers are said two or three times a day.

The Parsees are a small set. They number altogether about 82,000, of whom 72,000 live in or near Bombay. Most of the remaining 10,000 are found in Persia. As a people they are remarkably intelligent and trustworthy, with a genius for business which fairly rivals that of the Jews. They are highly prosperous, much given to charity and beggars are unknown among them.

Ivory.

Ivory is, strictly speaking, obtained only from the tusks of the elephant, the finest of which comes from the east coast of Africa. This hard, heavy, fine-grained green, or Guinea, ivory is esteemed for its transparency, and because its light yellow or pale blue tint, unlike the whiteness of other kinds, which becomes yellow, bleaches with age. The different species of African elephant supply almost all the ivory used in Europe. Its quantity is enormous. The British importation in 1900 was 1,175,000 pounds, which represents sixty thousand tusks. One London firm sells ten thousand tusks yearly in billiard balls. Under so heavy a strain the supply must fail, but to fall back upon are remarkable deposits of mammoth tusks which have accumulated on the rivers discharging into the Atlantic Ocean.

Serving Fish.

Fish is dainty food. Practice is needed in serving it. Lightness of touch and dexterity of management are necessary to keep the delicate flakes intact. It requires some skill to rip the skin and lay it back and sever the head and tail with neatness and dispatch. These three articles must never leave the platter. They belong to the cat. The choicest morsel of any white fish is the cheek. It is not good form to cut through a fish. Begin at the tail and throw aside the skin. Begin at the head to serve, cutting to the backbone. When the meat on that side is helped turn the fish and help the other side in the same way. If there is roe a part should be served each person. Boiling is the nicest way to cook and the easiest way to serve fish. Dress the edge of the platter with hard egg and sliced lemon, tomato and beets.

Sally's Courtship.

While on a secret mission to Paris in 1583 Rosny had fallen in love with the daughter of the president, St. Mesmin. The young lady was handsome and kind, but while paying her his addresses he heard of a Mlle. de Courtenay, who was reported to be beautiful, well born and wealthy besides. Prudence suggested that he should make her the Baroness de Rosny, but he was already half committed to the other. While he was pondering the subject he arrived one day at an inn in Nogent and found, to his dismay, that by an unlucky chance both ladies were lodged in it, Mlle. de St. Mesmin in the left wing and Mlle. de Courtenay in the right. Both were ready to marry him, and he was ready to marry one of them, but could not decide which. It was a very awkward position for the wavering lover, and at first he thought of saving himself by instant flight. While he hesitated Mlle. de St. Mesmin's younger sister saw him and expressed her surprise that he had been half an hour in the house without visiting them. The decisive moment had evidently come. "Turn to the right," whispered the friend who was with him. He did so, and Anne de Courtenay became his wife.—H. C. Macdowell in Macmillan's Magazine.

A Destructive Fish.

The Perth Expositor tells some remarkable stories of the voracity of that inferior fish, the lyng, which does so much injury to game fish in Ontario waters. Some time ago, The Expositor says, Mr. Robert Moore was granted a license to net bull pout in Christie's Lake, and the other day he brought to The Expositor office one large lyng caught in the lake referred to, and it was dissected. This lyng had swallowed a pike which measured almost fourteen inches in length and also a full-sized sunfish. Mr. Ephraim Deacon, the fishery inspector at Bollingbrooke, called at Mr. Moore's to make an inspection, and he found the fisherman with quite a number of catfish, dozens of lyng, but no protected fish. Three lyng were dissected, with the following result: One contained three whitefish, eight inches long, and one bass; the second one had recently swallowed 39 pickerel minnows and three bass; and the last one opened was found to contain a large number of partially decomposed pickerel minnows and ten recently swallowed.

Cured of Drunkenness

How a Montreal lady cured her husband of drunkenness with a secret home remedy.

"I want to tell you that tasteless Samaria Prescription has entirely cured my husband of drunkenness so quickly and simply that I am astonished. How glad I am that I confided in you and wrote for your free sample package. The sample tablets I got from you checked his drinking, and before I had used the full treatment he was permanently cured. I gave him the remedy in his tea, and as it had no taste or smell, he never knew he was taking it. I want others to know; so you can use this letter, but please not my name yet. I may say that my husband's health is better in every way than for years."

Improvements To the Havelock Round House

C.P.R. Erects Complete Machine Shop at That Town—Open Rink at Havelock—Building Operations in That Town—Entertainment and Supper in Presbyterian Church—C.P.R. Engineers Return From West—Hockey Prospects.

SOME FORECASTS ON ELECTIONS

Special to The Examiner.

Havelock, December 11th. — Miss M. Hourigan of Smith's Falls, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Richard Nolan, of town.

Havelock has at last secured a big improvement and supplied a long-felt want in a good skating rink.

Mr. Joseph Frost has this year surpassed anything attempted in this line in Havelock. He has rented the place known as the frog pond back back of the park, from Mr. William Matheson, and, after cutting out all the logs, there is now a nice sheet of ice, 210 feet long by 85 feet wide. He is building a three foot board fence around it, and has erected dressing rooms. The place is lighted by electricity throughout, including a number of lights in the short piece of woods which has to be passed to reach the rink. As it is in a hollow and trees line the banks, no matter how stormy the night none of the breezes can touch the skaters. Mr. Frost is to be congratulated on having the best open rink ever before seen in this town. If the ice is kept in good shape the patronage will certainly be large.

Mr. Gordon McIntosh, Mr. McMaster's chief clerk, is laid up with a bad attack of la grippe.

Miss Lottie Chiles of Peterborough is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Job Coon, of town.

The Federal Business College, which started here some time ago, is being well patronized, and to is likely that Mr. Houston, the principal, will have to look for larger quarters after the Christmas holidays.

The McWarters Company, of entertainers were brought here last Thursday evening by the baseball club, but although the entertainment deserved a packed house, it was only about half filled. It was owing to it being a Thursday evening when all the business places were open.

The business places of this town are certainly getting alive to the fact that window dressing is a paying investment, as the appearance of the windows now compared with what they were seven months ago, is much superior. A. E. Barrette & Co., J. R. Craig and Jas. Thompson, are the leaders in this and the others are beginning to follow up nicely.

The improvements which the C. P. R. started in the round house some months ago, are nearing completion. The new machine shop built as a wing to the east, is of the most up-to-date pattern. This building has three lathes of different kinds, drills, screwing machines and everything necessary for heavy repairs to a locomotive which before had to be sent to Toronto or Montreal. This building has also the offices of the locomotive foreman and clerk, with the latest and most up-to-date baths and lavoratories. Mr. Webster, the foreman, is to be congratulated on having all the improvements.

Mr. Richard Phillips has removed into his new house on Matheson street.

King street, which was opened up in the spring, without a house on it, now has seven houses completed and two under way, the first being Mr. Hubble's, Geo. Darke's, E. Fennel's, J. Carter's, P. McCann's, Geo. Buchanan's and W. Bennett's, not completed. This is about a quarter of the number of houses which have been erected in town during the summer.

What will likely be the event of the season in connection with St. John's church, will be the amateur drama in two acts, which will be given in the opera house on Monday evening, December 18th. It is being gotten up under the auspices of the Girls' Auxiliary. There will also be a drill by sixteen young ladies, entitled "The Dairy Maids;" this will be a drawing card.

A number of the town people attended the tea meeting of the Norwood Presbyterian church, last Monday night.

On Friday evening last a supper and entertainment was given in the Presbyterian church. It was a grand success.

A short entertainment was held in the body of the church, the programme was as follows:

A chorus, the Campbellford Choir.
Address, Rev. Mr. Clark, of Round Lake.
Solo, Rev. McLennan, of Norwood.
Address, Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of Warsaw.
Solo, Mr. W. Coulter, of Toronto.
Address, Rev. Mr. Reeves, of Campbellford.
Solo, Mrs. Geo. Chiles, town.
Address, Rev. Mr. McLennan.
Solo, Mrs. White, of Campbellford, which was appreciated by all.
Chorus, The Campbellford Choir.
Address, Rev. Mr. Copeland, town.
Reading, Mrs. Jas. Annickle, town.
Solo, Mr. W. Carter.
Address, in reply to the foregoing, by the Rev. Camp.
Solo, Rev. Mr. McLennan, ending with a chorus by the Havelock choir.

The Campbellford choir was simply grand.

Possibly Rev. Mr. Camp will try and give up bachlorhood on account of the jokes at his expence given by other speakers.

Rev. Mr. McLennan is an artist as far as delivering Scotch songs are concerned.

Mr. Coulter's singing was fine.

The proceeds of the affair amounted, clear, to about $100.00.

Mr. T. E. Dineen is laid up with an attack of quinsey.

The men who left here in the summer to run out of Rat Portage have returned home. They are as follows: Mr. E. Darncott, engineer; Jos. Muldoon, fireman; C. Thompson, brakeman; Jess Cole, brakeman; S. J. Cross, conductor. They look as if the climate out west agrees with them.

It is probable that a hockey club be organized this winter.

It might be suggested that a ladies' hockey club would be a success here, as there is first-class material, and a number of games could be arranged with the surrounding towns. It is believed that Campbellford is organizing one.

Mr. Wm. Barlow, of Toronto, spent a few days in town last wek, the guest of his parents.

Owing to a number of dams having been put in up through the lakes which feed Round Lake and North River, the site of the power house of the Electric Light Company, there is no danger of having poor lights this winter.

Mr. Harry Roche, of Burkton, is now at this point operating for the C.P.R. on account of the illness of the agent, Mr. P. Cromar, who is laid up in bed with a bad attack of la grippe.

Owing to the town hall being so cold on last Thursday evening, a number of people of town are suffering with a bad cold. Possibly when there is anything on in the hall the council might see that the caretaker lights the fire a little earlier and not subject the people to have to sit all hudded up like a lot of sheep to keep themselves warm.

The question now is what is going to be the verdict on the first of January, when the ballots are counted? By the run of public opinion it is probable that a big change will be made.

Disorders of Digestion.

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs and other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food that built her up."

BABY'S AWFUL ITCHING ECZEMA

Sores and Scales All Over Face and Body—Could Not Tell What She Looked Like—Unable to Sleep—Grew Worse Under Doctors.

CURED BY CUTICURA IN ONE MONTH

A grateful mother, in the following letter, tells of another of those marvellous cures by Cuticura: "When my baby was four months old her skin broke out with a humour. I took her to a doctor, who treated her for eczema, but she kept getting worse. Her little face and body were so covered with sores and large scales you could not tell what she looked like. No child ever had a worse case. Her face was being eaten away, and even her finger nails fell off. It itched so she could not sleep, and for many weary nights we could get no rest. At last we got Cuticura Soap and Ointment, first bathing her in warm water with the Soap, and then spreading on the Ointment with soft cloths. I saw a change in a week. The sores began to heal, and she could sleep at night, and in one month she had not one sore on her face or body. Any mother having children with eczema or humours will find a friend in Cuticura Soap and Ointment. (signed) Mrs. Mary Sanders, 709 Spring Street, Camden, N. J., Aug. 14, 1904."

INSTANT RELIEF

For Baby and Rest for Tired, and Fretted Mothers

The foregoing statement justifies the oft-repeated assertion that Cuticura Soap and Ointment afford instant relief, and permit sleep for baby and rest for tired mothers, and point to speedy, permanent, and economical cure in the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, bleeding, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp humours of infancy and age, when all else fails.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props.

Paraguay President Deposed.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 11.—It is reported that Senor Juan B. Causa, President of the Republic of Paraguay, has been deposed by Congress, and that the Foreign Minister, Dr. Cecilio Baez, who formerly was Paraguayan Minister to the United States, has been appointed President. Telegraphic communication with Asuncion is interrupted, but quiet is reported to prevail there.

Katsura May Resign.

Tokio, Dec. 11.—The return of the Marquis Ito from Corea has been followed by a marked quickening in political circles. It is generally expected that Foreign Minister Katsura will resign before a hostile Diet assembles. This will enable him to point to four years of remarkable success and also to impose on the opposition the difficulties of post-bellum legislation.

Bazaar And Sale of Work At All Saint's

Most Successful Function Under Auspices of Senior Girls' Guild of All Saint's Church—Large Sale of Articles—Proceeds to go Toward Church Improvement Fund—Largely Patronized by the Church Members.

BUSY SCENES AT ALL SAINT'S SCHOOLROOM

The annual bazaar and sale of work, under the auspices of All Saints' Senior Girls' Guild, was held yesterday afternoon, commencing at four o'clock in the basement of All Saints' Church, and was a success in every particular. The affair was continued during the evening when the sale of work was large. The proceeds will be given to the fund for the church improvements.

The scene presented last night was very gay and attractive and the decorations which were very numerous and in keeping with the occasion were very artistic.

The Japanese tea room in particular was very pleasing in appearance and the decorations being most appropriate. The ladies in charge of this department were very becomingly attired in the costumes of the diminutive belles of the Orient. Tea was served during the afternoon and evening and the articles which were offered for sale were of excellent quality and found a very ready demand. The committee in charge consisting of the officers of the Guild:—Miss Dugan, President; Miss Whitcroft, Vice-President; Miss Cairns, Secretary; Miss Sabin, Treasurer, and who had the hearty co-operation of the other members of the Guild worked very energetically and it was owing to their splendid efforts that the affair was so successful.

The function was in a very worthy cause and it was no doubt on account of this that the church members responded so cheerfully and lent so much appreciated financial and other assistance.

Each table presented a very pretty appearance and was in charge of competent saleslaidies who catered in a most acceptable manner to the wants of their numerous patrons.

The fancy work table was presided over by Misses Cotton, Cairns, Sabin and Dugan; the candy table by Misses Hutchinson, Mullholland, Gilbert and Doolittle; the apron table by Misses Rickey and Sedgwick.

In the Japanese tea room, which was a great attraction to those who attending the bazaar and which evoked much favourable comment on the part of all who viewed and inspected its inside interior was in charge of Miss Best, who was assisted by a most able and industrious corps of young ladies in winsome Oriental costume.

The officers of the Guild wish to thank Mr. Stroud, the J. C. Turnbull Co., Mr. Chas. Garside, whose phonograph added so much to the evening's entertainment and Miss Ida Mulholland who capably presided at the piano, and all others who helped the Guild in any manner, their assistance being much appreciated.

Jas. Crowley's Narrow Escape Is Recorded

Buggy in Which He Rode Was Struck by C. P. R. Train Last Night—By a Miracle, Almost, He Was Saved From Death—Buggy Smashed But Horse Uninjured—Otonabee Resident Had Close Call—The Circumstances.

NO SERIOUS RESULTS ARE ANTICIPATED

A remarkable escape from death is the experience which Mr. James Crowley passed through yesterday afternoon at the Rogers street crossing on the C. P. R., and that he is alive to-day is due to an extremely lucky chance. Mr. Crowley had been in the city doing business in the afternoon and was driving home. He lives on the 13th concession of Otonabee, three miles from this city. Thinking that the C. P. R. train, due at 5.15 had passed, as it was then about 5.20, he did not look for the train as he was crossing the track, but it was a few minutes late, and just as the buggy was almost across the rails, it was struck by the engine with such force that it was completely demolished. Mr. Crowley was thrown about two rods and pitched against the fence. Fortunately he was not injured beyond a severe shaking up and a cut on his head and a bruised shoulder. The horse was not injured, but had the train passed a fraction of a minute earlier Mr. Crowley and the horse would have been killed.

As soon as possible the train was stopped and backed to the spot where the accident occurred, and the train men did what they could for the injured man. Dr. Gray was called to attend him, and ascertained that unless there was some internal injury his condition was not serious. He was advised to be taken to the hospital, but he refused, and a cab was procured and he was driven home.

Unless some complications develop it is expected that Mr. Crowley will have recovered in the course of a short time, but he will forever be able to look back upon the accident as a very narrow escape from a violent death.

Funeral of Late Mrs. A. Manning

Took Place in Toronto on Monday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alfred Manning took place from the family residence, Saxville street, Toronto, to Mount Pleasant cemetery, Monday afternoon. The obsequies were largely attended and many floral tokens bore silent evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Among those present from Peterborough were Mr. and Mrs. John King, parents of the deceased; George and John King, jr., brothers; Mrs. C. F. Manning, Mr. Ed. Manning and Mr. and Mrs. George Manning.

One of Inventors Of System Here

Mr. G. W. Lorimer, of Piqua, O., one of the members of the Lorimer Automatic Telephone System, was in the city last night and inspected the system installed here by the Canadian Machine Telephone Company. He was greatly pleased with the work done here, and is of the opinion that the company had made splendid progress with the installation, in view of the circumstances.

Mr. Lorimer left this morning on the 8.15 C. P. R. train, and will return on Friday.

Mr. Lytle stated to The Examiner that the work of placing in the new 'phones was resumed this morning, and they will be connected up as quickly as possible.

Deceased Was Former Resident

This afternoon Mrs. W. J. Martin of this city, received a telegram from Williscroft, Bruce county, advising her of the death of her only surviving brother, Mr. William Jeffrey, which occurred last night at his home. Deceased was 81 years of age.

The late Mr. Jeffrey was well known to many in Peterborough, having lived here a number of years ago, and visited friends in the city almost every year.

The funeral will take place tomorrow from the late home of the deceased to Paisley.

Deputation to Urge Completion Of Trent Canal

The City Council to Head a Movement to Induce the Government to Place Enough in the Estimates to Open Both Ends—Other Municipalities Will be Interested in Matter—A Monster Deputation Projected.

THE ROUTE QUESTIONS ARE IMMATERIAL

The City Council will head a movement to send a deputation to Ottawa next year, probably early in the year to induce the Government, if possible to place in the estimates at the coming session of Parliament a sum sufficient to complete both ends of the Trent Canal, and to place them under contract. This action on the part of the council was decided upon last night, and it is probable that steps will be taken immediately, at least not later than the end of this week to organize the deputation. It will be one of the largest that has ever visited the Capital, and the endeavour will be to impress the Government very forcibly with the necessity for the early completion of the Canal.

After the committee, which will go to Ottawa to-night in connection with the proposal to construct the dock along the river front at the river from the C.P.R. bridge to Hunter street, has returned, the council will be in a better position to know how to act, because while in Ottawa the members of the council will make an effort to ascertain, if possible, what the intention of the Government will be as to the Trent Canal completion. After this committee returns, the campaign will be organized, and it is probable that the municipalities will be at once communicated with with a view of enlisting their support in the project, which support, of course, it will not be difficult to secure.

The matter was considered in the Finance Committee meeting last night. This committee was given the authority by the Council to complete arrangements for the deputation, and the meeting last night was for the purpose of discussing plans of operation. Ald. Mason suggested that in the first place the help of the County Council, the Board of Trade and the Trent Canal Association be secured. And in the event of this being done all the towns and municipalities taking the proposed route be invited to send delegations to add to the deputation.

Duty of the Deputation.

Ald. Adams thought that what the deputation wanted to do was to impress the Government with the immediate necessity for the completion of the canal at both ends, and to this end that the deputation urge that a sum sufficient to accomplish this be placed in the estimates and that the contracts be let.

The mayor introduced the question of the route, and was of the opinion that the city should advocate the Trenton route. In the past the city had spent money to support the contention that this was the most feasible, and he thought that it would not do to throw it down now. Ald. Adams, however, did not agree with this position. He believed that nothing should be said about the route. The main thing was to get it completed.

Personally he was of the opinion that the Port Hope route was the better from the standpoint of this city, but he thought the less said about the route the better. The moment the question of the route was brought up the old controversy would be introduced again, and the effect would be an undesirable one.

The Route Immaterial.

Ald. Mason inclined to Ald. Adams' view. He thought that the main object should be to induce the Government to place in the estimates enough to finish the canal, and to let the contract. Since the Government had engineers reporting on the route they would be in a much better position to say which route was the better, and it would not help our cause any to be advocating a route which would be recommended against by the engineers. The great thing was to get the deputation to Ottawa, and to get it there before the estimates were struck.

The city clerk advised that circulars setting forth the intentions of the council should be sent out to the County Councils, Township Councils, City, Town and Village Councils in the area to be affected by the Canal, and they should be asked to consider the matter at the first meeting of the council in January, and arrange for the delegation from their respective councils. Then, when the date had been arranged for another circular could be sent to the councils again instructing them when to send their men.

This was accepted as a good suggestion, but the Mayor advised the council to wait until after the return of the committee from Ottawa this week, and in the meantime that committee could, probably learn something as to the intentions of the Government, which would affect its action in reference to the deputation. This was agreed to.

The present intention of the Council is apparently to leave no stone unturned to induce the Government to carry out the work of completion at an early date. There is a feeling of assurance in the attitude of the Government, and, with a view of clinching the decision which it is stated the Government has practically made, the deputation will visit the Capital.

Foot Caught In Hay Press

Mr. Thos. Cunningham Injured in Emily Township.

While assisting to operate a hay press on the farm of Mr. William Magahey, in Emily Township, yesterday afternoon, Leo Cunningham, son of Mr. Arthur Cunningham, of South Ops, a young man about 21 years of age, met with a painful and rather serious accident. While a bundle was being packed he inadvertently made use of the toe of his boot to raise part of the machinery, and the foot was caught and badly crushed.

The young man was conveyed to Lindsay in the evening and taken to Ross hospital.

MASON, THE FLORIST

Alderman Mason Says The Ministers Made Mistake In Presenting Resolution

Asking for Reduction of Liquor Licenses---States That One of the Members of Association Said They Would Withdraw It--By-Law Passed Council Last Night---Electors to Vote On It On January 1st Next---Supporters of By-Law Refuse to Recede From Their Position.

"Are you in favour of a reduction in the number of liquor licenses for the city of Peterborough?"

This is the question which the electors of the city will vote on at the municipal elections on January 1st next.

At a special meeting of the council held last night the bylaw providing for the submission to the people of the question as to whether the number of licenses should be reduced, was passed, though not with the necessary two-thirds vote of the council. No direct vote on the bylaw was called, but, had it been so desired, it could have been killed. The vote on the adoption of the report of the Committee of the Whole, presented by Ald. Johnston, recommending that the question be submitted to the people, stood 6—3; and six members supporting the bylaw would not have been sufficient to pass it had those opposed to it been inclined to kill it.

The whole question was discussed again, and Ald. Mason and Ald. Adams gave their reasons for opposing the bylaw. Ald. Johnston, however, was bound to stand to his guns and refused to change his front, the result being that the report of the Committee of the Whole on the bylaw passed the council.

Those present at the meeting were Mayor Best, Ald. Tovey, Batten, Begley, McIntyre, Adams, Scott, Crowe, Mason and Johnston.

Question for Commissioners.

The question of the proposed reduction of the liquor licenses was introduced by Ald. Mason, who said that while he did not favour either the hotel keepers or the temperance people, he thought that the council should not deal with the matter. The ministers had made a mistake and had taken hold of the question at the wrong end. The council had not had an opportunity of considering the question. They could not decide whether there were too many licenses, or what hotels, if any, were objectionable. There was not a sufficient number of hotels in the city to-day to accommodate the trade offering, and on Saturdays the hotel yards are crowded, and the farmers cannot find room to accommodate their horses. He thought that if any of the hotels were cut off the churches should be willing to open their sheds to the farmers. In some places these sheds were locked.

Since the Ministerial Association had asked that licenses be cut off they should name the objectionable hotels to the Commissioners, and if the latter find that they do not keep the law, it should be for them to cut off the licenses.

Ministers Sorry Now.

One of the ministers had told him that he was satisfied to withdraw the resolution, and to recommend the Commissioners to take the licenses from the hotels which do not keep the law. He did not think that the council should deal with the matter or submit it to the people.

The mayor said that even if it carried there was no assurance that the new council would act, and would the Commissioners act? There was reason to believe that they would not in the face of the statement by the chairman that he believed there were none too many hotels in the city.

Ald. Batten was of the opinion that the question of shed accommodation had nothing to do with it. Some of the hotels had no sheds at all; others had theirs rented out. At the Cavanagh House on Saturday the sheds and yards were full to overflowing.

Commissioners Are Powerful.

Ald. Adams was opposed to the matter being dealt with by the council. The Commissioners could do what they liked with the matter, without regard to what the council did. They could either give more licenses than the number fixed by the council or less. They had done both right in this town in the past. He suggested that the council refer the matter to the Commissioners to deal with.

Ald. Johnston supported strongly his motion to adopt the report of the Committee of the Whole. There was no use, he thought, in bringing the question of accommodation into the discussion. There was plenty of accommodation. The hotel keepers had themselves to blame for the situation, because they had not kept the law in the past. He would not recede one-eight of an inch from the position he had taken before. As a member of the council he would be prepared even to say what hotels should be closed. He moved the adoption of the report.

To the People.

Ald. Crowe favoured submitting the question to the people, but at the polls he would vote against the reduction of the licenses.

The report of the Committee recommending that the council submit the question of reduction to the people was passed. Ald. Johnston, Crowe, Tovey, Begley, McIntyre, and Batten supporting it.

Ald. Johnston then moved the first reading of the bylaw, in accordance with the report, and it was given its three readings.

The Smallpox Epidemic In Apsley Is Stopped

Special to The Examiner.

Apsley, Dec. 12th. — Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus McFadden on the birth of a son, Nov. 27.

School closed in S. S. No. 2, Burleigh, on Nov. 30th, for the winter months.

An oyster supper was held at Mr. Isaac Lean's on Monday of last week, and a very enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. Alfred Smith is improving the appearance of his premises by the addition of a summer kitchen to his house. Mr. A. Coones has also made some improvements on his buildings.

Mr. Youmans of Chandos, who was taken sick in Moffatt's camp was brought to this village on Monday of last week, and under the care of Dr. Bell was taken home on the following morning. Since that time we are sorry to learn of his untimely death. His many friends have our deepest sympathy in their sad affliction.

Small-ox and vaccination are the topics of the day.

A case of smallpox has originated in our village, and two cases a short distance from the village. The patients are doing as well as can be expected under the treatment of Dr. Bell. All persons who have been in any way exposed to this malignant disease have been quarantined and no further outbreak is feared.

Mr. Harry Mellmoyle is suffering from a felon on his hand.

Mrs. Isaac Lean and Miss McGrath were visiting friends in Burleigh recently.

Mrs. Kilbourn, sr., and Miss Gladys have left for Brookville to see the former's sister, who is very ill.

Miss A. McGrath was the guest of Mrs. Esau Tucker on Sunday of last week.

The Auxiliary Water Main Is Completed

To-day the new twelve inch water main, which the Water Commissioners have been laying on Water and George streets to Smith street, is practically completed, and to-morrow the connection will be made.

To-morrow morning, while the connection is being made the pressure on the mains below Smith street, will be low by reason of the fact that the large main will be shut off, and a smaller pipe used. In another columns the Commissioners insert a notice to consumers, notifying them of the fact, and asking them to govern themselves accordingly. It is expected that if the weather permits the connection will have been completed by noon, and the normal pressure restored.

With the new main a very much larger flow of water will be possible. The work under Mr. Henderson has progressed favourably, and the improvement in the service will be appreciated by the consumers, as well as affording increased pressure and flow for fire or domestic purposes.

The Machinery Is Now Being Installed

To-day the work of installing the machinery in the factory of the Pre-Payment Meter Company was commenced, and as rapidly as possible it will be placed in position in the factory buildings on Hunter street at the creek.

The greater part of the machinery is at the station, and a force of men will be started on the installation. The intention of the Company is to proceed as rapidly as possible with this work, and in the course of a short time, after the intricate machinery has been placed in position, the work of manufacturing will be taken up.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since." Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont.

Summer School Is Projected For Chemong Park

Rev. J. G. Potter Has the Matter Under Consideration and Will Probably Organize the School—Will Follow Lines Similar to Schools in Northport—The Scheme as Proposed by Those Interested—Support to the Proposal.

OF LOCAL AND NATIONAL INTEREST

Rev. J. G. Potter, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, has been requested by a number of Christian workers, temperance and evangelistic, to organize a summer school at Chemong Park, a beautiful summer resort, six miles from Peterborough.

Chemong Lake is one of the chain of lakes known by the name of "Kawartha," and the location of the park, with the bathing and boating facilities, makes it far superior to Northfield or Winona.

A property most suitable to the work of a summer school is obtaintainable, and the promoters of the scheme have three weeks option on the property.

It is within the scope of the work proposed to have lectures on the English Bible, and such other branches as will be helpful in the training of students for mission work, so as to provide a number of workers, of different churches, for home mission fields in winter. Mr. Potter, who is a very busy pastor, has not yet definitely decided to undertake the task, yet he is not only sympathetic with it, but feels that in Canada at present, there can be done for missionary and evangelistic efforts, what Moody and Chapman have done at Northfield and Winona respectively.

The present need would be one hundred subscribers taking shares at $100 each, which would secure the property and equipment. Last year a handsome revenue was derived from the property in question, so that from the beginning of the new venture the investment would realize five or six per cent. Some ten or twelve have already offered their support to a scheme of such local and national importance.

Died as Sequel Of an Operation

Demise of Mrs. Patrick Coursey This Morning at Nicholls Hospital.

Mrs. Patrick Coursey, (nee Miss Maggie Clark, of Lakefield,) passed away at Nicholls Hospital this morning at 11.40 o'clock, death following an operation performed a week ago. week ago.

Deceased, who was 34 years of age, had been ailing about two years previous to her death.

Her father is Mr. Thos. Clark, of Lakefield, but she was predeceased by her mother some years ago. Besides her father she is survived by three sisters and two brothers, and also four children. The sisters are, Sarah, Mary and Carrie; the brothers, William and Charles, and the children, Hannah May, Francis James, Margaret E., and William Thomas. All the above relatives of the late Mrs. Coursey reside in Peterborough.

The funeral, which will take place on Friday, will leave the family residence, 76 Chamberlen street, and proceed to the Little Lake Cemetery where the remains will be interred.

In religion, the deceased was a Methodist and a member of the Charlotte street Methodist church.

Oratorio At St. John's Church Last Night

Farmer's Oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," Presented Last Night—Large and Appreciative Audience in Attendance—Distinct Musical Triumph Was Scored, Evidencing Gratifying Progress in Local Musical Effort.

AUDIENCE WAS HIGHLY DELIGHTED

A distinct artistic triumph was scored last night in the presentation at St. John's church of the sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers." The attendance was large and represented the highest circles of musical culture in the city. That the effort made in the production of the oratorio won a general appreciation was manifest in the many favourable comments evoked on every side.

The performance was equally delightful in every feature, and the excellent result may be ranked as one of the most gratifying, musically speaking, which has been known in Peterborough for some time, evidencing as it does the distinct advances made in the art. The beautiful composition was interpreted throughout in a manner displaying intelligent and sympathetic appreciation, and reflects the greatest credit upon the musical direction of Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, to whose energy and untiring efforts are due in a large measure the splendid success attained. In the production of a treat of such a nature the choir has engaged in a field of music attempted all too seldom in Peterborough, and, as might be expected, the departure was attended by no little difficulty and work, and in view of this is the result the more gratifying.

Among the assisting artists were numbered many of the first-rank vocalists of the city, whose singing, both in solo parts and in the delightful ensemble effect of the choruses, was equally excellent.

Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot was never heard to better advantage than in her solos of last night. The offertory duet, "Saviour of My Soul," by Centemeri, rendered by Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot and Mr. H. Morphet was perfect in expression, the voices blending in the production of a most exquisite effect. Miss Helen Davies' solos, "Hark, a Thrilling Voice Is Sounding" and "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," created the genuine delight which her singing invariably gives, the full, well-rounded quality of her voice being brought out with spendicularly fine effect in the former. Miss Pedlar sang "Our Blest Redeemer, Ere He Breathed" with beautiful effect, in expression and tone quality.

Mr. Herbert Morphet, Mr. Hague Sawers, Mr. Alex. Elliott and Mr. J. Halpany took solo parts in a manner which, in every instance, won a marked appreciation.

Quilts For The Children's Shelter

The Children's Aid Society wishes to acknowledge from Mr. W. C. Switzer's Bible class, of the George street Sunday school, two beautiful quilts. These are much appreciated gifts.

London Street Bridge Closed

Ald. Johnston called to the attention of the Council last night the condition of the residents on the east side of the river, north of the bridge at London street, and asked at their request that the Council open the bridge at London street for horse traffic to accommodate them. It was explained to Ald. Johnston, however, that it would make the city liable for any damage which might occur. No action was taken on the request.

The Deputation Goes to Ottawa

Five members of the deputation to Ottawa in reference to the proposal to construct the dock from the Hunter street to the C.P.R. bridges, left to-day on the noon C.P.R. train. They were the Mayor, Ald. Mahn, Ald. Johnston, the City Clerk and the City Engineer. To-night Ald. Mason and Messrs. G. M. Roger, J. C. Shook, W. H. Moorhouse and B. F. Ackerman will leave on the midnight train for the Capital.

To-morrow morning a meeting with the members of the Cabinet will be held in reference to the proposal to construct the dock referred to.

"THE SETTLING OF PETERBOROUGH."

BY MISS EDITH CONNOR.

The author of the story published below is fifteen years of age. She is a daughter of Mr. Thos. P. Connor, Superintendent of the Canadian Cordage Company. She attended the Convent de la Congregation de Notre Dame at Kingston, and since she came to Peterboruugh two years ago has been a student of the Institute. She is in the Second Form.

The August afternoon was drawing to a close. Far away over the top of an all green hill the sun was setting. How beautiful the land around looked! The soft, fleecy-looking clouds in the central heavens, with crimson, gold and different tinted ones in the western parts. The sun, like a huge ball of fire, scattered its dying beams on the myriads of trees, and on the dancing blue waters. The golden shafts were caught by the grand old oak, while they were also reflected on the branches of a tiny fir. Now and then, when a gentle breeze rustled the thousands of leaves, the old willow would bend its graceful branches into the water, and when they sprang back they looked as if covered with diamonds.

The stillness was broken at intervals by the weird scream of some wild bird or animal, or perhaps the fish hawk as he darted swiftly into the water, returning triumphantly with his prey, and by the continual lapping of the water on the rocks at the shore.

The sky grew darker, the sun disappeared. Only the outlines of the oaks, maples, chestnuts, elms poplars, firs and other trees were discernible in the increasing dusk.

What a pity that this beautiful land was not inhabited! Sometimes wandering tribes of Indians pitched their ash and birch-bark tents for a few days as they travelled to their hunting-grounds in the north.

Little did they think how soon the solitude would be broken, and a part of their grounds become a busy hive of industry.

For one day, towards the close of this lovely summer season, a pale face, Adam Scott, with a few white men and some Indian guides, came and took possession of a piece of land, around which has grown up the city of Peterborough.

Adam Scott was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1796. At the early age of sixteen he came to America and settled in Delaware County, in the State of New York, where he practised his trade, which was that of a millwright. Adam was a veritable giant, being over six feet high, and his strength was in proportion with his height. Soon after his arrival in the new world he married Miss Mann, a lady of Yorkshire, England.

Mr. Scott remained in New York State for about six years, when he decided to move to Canada and try his luck. He first settled at Smith's Creek (now Port Hope). There he had very bad luck, losing all his money by undertaking the contract for building a mill, which he was unable to do without using his own resources.

Leaving his wife at Smith's Creek until he could make a home for her, Mr. Scott started for the north in company with a small party of men. After cutting their way through trackless forests, and paddling some, they decided to stop at the next place which could be easily cleared. Not long after, they saw land covered thickly with huckleberry bushes, with a few evergreens scattered among them, and here they jumped out of their canoes and began to prepare a home for themselves.

A few began to hew the thick bushes, while the first engaged themselves in getting sheets of bark from a wood close by with which to make a kind of wigwam. The next day they began to build a log cabin, using the bodies of the trees cut down the previous day, and again using the bark as a protector.

During this time they lived on some of the supplies they brought, together with berries, wild game, birds and different kinds of fish, which the Indians (were expert at catching in the lakes or the river, which was not then filled with the refuse from mills.

Soon Mr. Scott proposed to build a mill for the use of the few settlers who had settled near Smith Township about two years before. The pioneers had to carry their grain to Port Hope, which was the nearest place to where they lived.

But when Mr. Scott's mill was built the soon went there, and as the land on which he lived had no name, they called it "Scott's Plains."

Adam's mill was of a very primitive kind, but it was soon replaced by a more modern one. Soon after the erection of the first mill, his family came to live with him, and a short time after their arrival his daughter Jeanette was born. She was the first person born in the real Peterborough.

His wife died in 1825 of cholera, which (it is supposed) she contracted from some of the Robinson emigrants. In 1827 Mr. Scott became in debt, and it was necessary for him to leave Scott's Plains. He moved to a farm two miles from Port Hope. Two years later he moved to Cavan Township, where, on February 7, 1838, the great pioneer died.

Sometime before this, in 1825, there was a large emigration from the British Isles to Scott's Plains and vicinity. Over four hundred families were given grants of land in this district. As this great benefit to this part of Canada was caused by Hon. Peter Robinson approving of certain plans spoken of regarding the emigration, and as he was one of the chief agents and helpers to the emigrants, the people showed their gratitude and acknowledgment of his help by naming what was then a small village, but now a great city, after him. So in 1827 they changed the name Scott's Plains to Peterborough, which is the name it still has.

EDITH CONNOR.

"OF SUCH IS CANADA."

BY MISS EILEEN COUGHLIN.

Miss Coughlin is fifteen years of age, and is a daughter of Mr. John Coughlin, of this city. She was born in Belleville and lived there until ten years ago. She attended the Convent School prior to passing the Entrance.

In the early fifties there settled in Canada in the southern part of the County of Peterborough, several families of considerable local importance, and, prominent among them was a family called Staunton. A few years previous to the time of writing, the father and mother, with hundreds of others left their native land in search of a place where they could make a comfortable living for their children, and where they could reap the reward of their own thrift and industry, and all this they found in Canada.

But what difficulties the early settlers had to overcome! How they had to toil to cultivate their little clearing! They enjoyed none of the advantages of the present day in the way of mowers, reapers or binders. The grain had to be cut and bound by hand. Another difficulty they had to contend with was the clearing of the land. Their mode of clearing was to hew down the trees and then set fire to the stumps. This was not only hard, work but it was also exceedingly dangerous, as the wind would often rise and sweep the flames over the country, thereby endangering the farmer's house and barns, and for days at a time all the nearby settlers would be busy fighting the flames by digging up the fresh earth and in this way cutting off the headway of the fire.

The Staunton family was a typical, God-fearing family of those early days, and it is to such people that we, citizens of Peterborough, are largely indebted for the prosperity and progressiveness of our young city and the surrounding country. The father of the Stauntons was a sturdy man who worked incessantly in the interests of his home and family, and it is little wonder that after years of hardship and privation we find him well-to-do and prosperous. It was such men as he who overcame the difficulties, which to men of modern times seem insurmountable.

The mother was a refined, intellectual woman of a very kindly nature. Such a one as Thackeray must have had in mind when he wrote, "There is no other woman like a mother." From their infancy she had formed high ideals for her children. In fact her daily life was one long instruction to them.

At evening the family would gather round the huge hearth, which in those days was not a luxury but a necessity, and within that magic circle of light the children would listen to the tales of folk lore and history, and always with an intention of filling their young minds with an appreciation of integrity and honour.

At this time, Hugh, the eldest son, a bright boy of ten summers, had started to school, at the little wooden schoolhouse with the patched windows and the broken-down fence. What a simple beginning for a youth; and yet, if a person could imagine themselves in a school of long ago, and picture the dunce's cap in the corner gayly bedecked with coloured paper; the nine-tailed strap on the teacher's desk, and the teacher himself with his book, imparting his knowledge to the urchins on the long wooden benches before him, one would see at a glance that the familiar saying is true, "Great oaks from little acorns grow." For on looking around the room and on seeing the simple country lads who could tell what distinguished position awaited them in the unseen future?

The teacher of the school which Hugh Staunton attended was a typical school master met with throughout Ontario at that time, a man of more than ordinary ability, full of humour, gentleness and goodness, who spent his time and talents unselfishly, a man whose example could not fail to have an elevating influence on the growing intellects of his pupils. He was imbued with an intense love for Canada and at every opportunity would impress on his hearers the advantages of living in such a great and free country, and he would frequently remind them that in no other country in the world would they find such freedom and in return they should serve Canada faithfully and well. "Canada will be what her sons make her," was a favourite expression with him.

Growing up in such an atmosphere it was, as had been expected, that Hugh Staunton was fired with true patriotism and looked on it as a duty to serve his country not from any sordid motives or for self advancement, but solely for love of Canada. The only recompense he looked for was the approval and gratitude of his fellow countrymen. Thus, we find him grown to manhood at a time when his country most needed the services of broad-minded men, men of unbiased judgment, and men who valued their country's welfare above all self interest; with the admonition of the school master still fresh in his memory 'Canada will be what her sons make her."

Many a time he sought election in one of the neighbouring constituencies and he was always victorious. It did not take the voters long to distinguish between the man who was ambitious for himself, and the one who was ambitious for his country, and when once they had distinguished they voted accordingly. Thus we find him in the first parliament of Canada after Confederation, where his youth, his eloquence and his irrefutable arguments amazed his hearers and called forth their respect and admiration. For who is it, no matter how partial he may be, who does not respect a youth such as Hugh Staunton. But consider his dearest friends, his parents and the school master, now aged people, how proud they are of him and how they rejoice on seeing that the seeds so carefully sown in his youth should produce such an abundant harvest.

Yet Hugh Staunton, though he had won such honour from his fellow countrymen, still remained the simple lad of old, frequenting the haunts of his youth with the old school master who had taught so many boys who were now holding responsible positions in life, and the majority of whom were setting up the foundation upon which our city was built. And when at last the aged teacher was released from this life his chief mourner was Hugh Staunton, who had followed so carefully the guidance of his former instructor, and of whom it could be truly said, "He served his country and he loved his kind."

EILLEEN M. COUGHLIN.

BOILS ALL OVER HIS FACE AND NECK

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS DID FOR HIM WHAT FOUR DOCTORS FAILED TO DO

KERWATIN, ONT., July 20th, 1905.

MESSRS. THE T. MILBURN CO., LTD., TORONTO, ONT.

DEAR SIRS:—I am writing to let you know what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. I am a young man, twenty years old, and a year ago last March I began to feel dull and sick, and was greatly troubled with boils coming out on my face and neck, mostly on the latter. I would no sooner get rid of one than I would have, perhaps, two or three more appear.

I had four doctors trying to cure me but they had very little success. They would stop them for a month or six weeks and then they would be as bad as ever again.

Almost every patent medicine, advertised to cure boils, I could get hold of. I tried most still without success. At last one day, last spring, someone happened to say; "why not try taking Burdock Blood Bitters for the blood?" I was willing to try anything and immediately sent for a bottle, but at the time was doubtful if it would be of any use. However, I used that bottle and while I was taking it I began to feel better, although I still kept having a few boils but not nearly such bad ones. I did not miss any work, while otherwise, I used to miss, sometimes, a week out of every month. I kept on taking the medicine until I had taken six bottles, and needless to say, I was not sorry I did so when I tell you I have not had a boil appear for the past three months. Everybody was surprised when they heard that Burdock Blood Bitters had done for me what four doctors failed to do. If any sufferers are afflicted with boils, I would strongly advise them to use B.B.B. It makes you feel like a new man. I always keep a bottle in the house, now, as I think it is a medicine that should be in every household.

Yours truly,
HENRY A. SMITH.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women Make Healthy Women.

Upon being taken into the stomach, the various ingredients are absorbed by the blood, and then find their way to every organ and tissue.

Some reach the uterine system. These allay inflammation, stop all drains on the system and make women regular.

Some strengthen the stomach. They help digestion and increase the appetite.

Others act on the bowels. They cure constipation.

Other ingredients stimulate the liver and kidneys in carrying off impurities from the system.

Others reach the nerves. These tone up the nervous system and supply vital energy, thereby curing the nervousness, irritability, and melancholy, to which so many women are subject.

The full effect of all the medicaments in the tablets is to arouse the entire female system to renewed life and vigor.

Improvement is noticed the first week.

The Ladies' Aid Of St. Andrew's Score Success

Their Annual Sale of Work and Oyster Supper To-day is a Gratifying Success—This Enterprising Society Adds of Their Reputation by To-day's Delightful Function — Large Numbers Patronize Ladies' Bazaar—Lunches Served.

THOSE IN CHARGE OF THE AFFAIR

The annual sale of work and oyster supper under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's church, is being held this afternoon and evening, and the event is a gratifying success. The sale is taking place in the S.O.E. hall, Hunter street, which for the day has been transformed by deft fingers into a bower of beauty.

The ladies of this Society, which is proverbial for its enterprise, are to be congratulated upon the success which they have achieved in this, their annual sale.

Judging from appearances the ladies have worked long and hard to accomplish so much. There are fancy goods of every description, besides many useful articles and candy. In the fancy goods line will be found beautiful sofa cushions, daintily worked and according to the latest decrees of fashion. Then there are hundreds of pretty pieces of fancy work, such as doylies, centre pieces, bedroom slippers and many of those dainty things which men look at, and only women know how to make.

The display of tissue paper articles is most extensive, including pretty lamp shades and tables covers. Altogether the ladies have a fine exhibit, artistically arranged, and each department is confined to its own attractive booth. The booths are all in charge of ladies who are well acquainted with their goods, and whose smiles and courtesies add very much to the pleasure of the shoppers.

Those who are in charge of the various departments are:

Fancy work, Mrs. Robinson and Miss Hall.

Tissue paper work, Mrs. Chas. McClellan and Mrs. J. D. Tully.

Dolls, Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mrs W. R. Thompson.

Candy, Miss A. M. Wills, Mrs. R. McWilliams.

Handkerchiefs, Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Mrs. J. Shanger, Mrs. A. Elliott.

Plain sewing, Mrs. John Scott, Mrs. F. Atkinson.

At the noon hour the hall was a very popular place, many business men taking their lunch there. Oysters and the appetizing dainties were served by the ladies from 12 o'clock to 2 this afternoon, and during this time the ladies were particulary busy.

Mrs. T. C. Elliott has charge of this feature of the bazaar, and to her enterprise and energy considerable credit for the success is due. Everything was well managed and nothing but credit reflects upon the ladies for their work.

To-night from 6 to 7 o'clock tea will be served.

Presentment of Grand Jury

Made This Morning at County Court and General Sessions.

The presentment of the Grand Jury at the County Count and General Sessions in progress at the Court House, was handed in this morning to His Honour, Judge Weller.

The Grand Jury was composed as follows:—

Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, Peterborough, (Foreman.)
Wm. Barrie, farmer, Douro.
John Butcher, sexton, Peterborough.
Peter Campbell, bank manager, Peterborough.
F. J. Lillicrap, lumberman, Lakefield.
John Matchett, farmer, Otonabee.
John Mahony, blacksmith, Douro.
W. J. McMahon, farmer, Galway.
Joseph McKee, farmer, Smith.
John Northey, farmer, Burleigh.
Robt. W. Payne, farmer, Dummer.
John Preston, farmer, Smith.
Samuel Roseborough, farmer, Smith.

The presentment made was as follows:—

To His Honour Judge Weller:

The Grand Jury beg to present the following presentment:—

We beg to compliment the County on the noticeable absence. Our duties have been very light, only two cases having been brought before us. Our work in connection with these, having been finished, we visited the jail, and here found everything clean and in good order, showing that the officials had been careful and energetic in the performance of their duties. We found several persons incarcerated for various crimes, all being satisfied with their treatment.

We also noted, and with regret, that a number of aged persons were detained here, not for crime committed, but because fate had been unkind to them, linking poverty with their old age. We earnestly hope that within the coming year a building may be erected, wherein Ont's poor and unfortunate may be placed, and where the clang of the prison bars shall not ring in the ears of those innocent of crime.

(Signed.) J. W. MILLER, Foreman.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Appeal Was Won By "Dr." Harkness

Aftermath of the Fraud Case at the Fair.

Yesterday the case of an appeal made by the man Harkness, who was fined $60 and costs by Magistrate Dumble last September, for carrying on a game of chance at the Fair Grounds, was heard at the county court.

It will be remembered that two men, Gagnon and Harkness, at the Fair Grounds, occupying a back, were selling or preparing to sell, packages of medicine wrapped in bills running from one to five dollars each. Gagnon was arrested and pleaded guilty, being fined $60 and costs. The next day an information was laid against his partner, Harkness, who was also fined $60. Harkness appealed the case, putting up the cash to ensure costs. Yesterday he was represented by Mr. Kerr. Mr. E. H. D. Hall, represented the crown, and by consent the appeal was allowed.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

APPRECIATION.

To Editor of Post Card Column:

As one of those fortunate enough to enjoy the remarkably striking presentation of "Enoch Arden" in the Opera House on Monday I feel impelled to express my sense of the pride which we may reasonably feel as citizens in the striking attainment won in his profession by an old Peterborough boy, Mr. Walter Clurman. While the audience had high expectations founded on reports of his success achieved in England, we were, I think, I may say, unprepared for the high degree of artistic polish and finished effect which marked Mr. Clurman's quite remarkable performance. His stage presence and manner are easy, unaffected and refined, and his voice clear and musical.

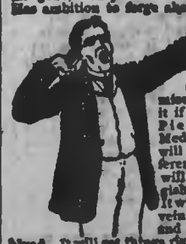
But it is not on the merit of the performance that I desire to dwell so much as the fact of its having been given by one so closely identified with our city. It is only the fact of this association which brings him back and we may well assure him of a hearty "welcome home".

This was happily brought off by Rev. J. C. Davidson in a short address during one of the intermissions of the programme. He expressed the pleasure which the friends of Mr. Clurman felt in meeting to-night to welcome him back to Peterborough. They had watched with interest his career in the Old Country, and now having heard him they could add their personal congratulations to one so highly gifted who had in so short a time attained such a high position in his chosen profession. He promised for Mr. Clurman a successful future, and suggested that as a Peterborough boy his friends would always follow his career with interest and good wishes.

PETERBOROUGH.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead left you the world in? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great experience has come from his wide experience and varied practice.



O. A. Castleveter, Esq., of Infant Union, Montgomery Co., Pa. (Box 92), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Don't be swindled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good."

HOCKEY

Some of the Bankers are putting in good practice on the river after bank hours and are rounding into shape for their game with Peterborough on New Year's day.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

NOTES.

The T.A.S. seven are yet to be heard from.

There were never so many juvenile teams in Peterborough as there are this winter.

The Bankers have a particularly strong team and should be fast enough this winter to trim the majority of intermediate sevens.

There are more open air rinks in Peterborough this year than ever before.

A Junior City League will be an innovation in Peterborough hockey circles.

The Guild League should furnish some exciting games this winter.

Although multitudinous teams have organized there are plenty of others to be heard from.

Jack Frost, so far, has not been particularly friendly to the hockey people. But he may take a decided change for the better pretty soon.

Hockey has a stronger hold upon the people of Canada than any other game that's played.

Peterborough should be somewhat near the top when the intermediate season is over. Local enthusiasm's felt rather blue at the beginning of the year as to the team's ability, but now the clouds have passed away.

According to the Post, Lindsay will have a good season this year. This may be true, but its hard to believe. Lindsay is such an "eg"-cellent hockey town anyway.

Two Y.M.C.A. teams will probably play in the Junior City League.

So its easily seen that hockey, in Peterborough anyway, is assuredly on the boom.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and Firm, Healthy Flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with Firm, Healthy Flesh and Remove Wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrow.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking, after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

ON SALE AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

SPECIAL OFFER. The regular price of DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is $1.00 a box, but to introduce it into thousands of new homes we have decided to send Two (2) boxes to all who answer this advertisement and send us $1.00. All packages are sent in plain wrapper, postage prepaid.

FREE. A Sample Box—just enough to convince you of the great merit of DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD—will be sent free for 10 cents, which pays for cost of mailing. KEEP AN EYE ON IT.

(Brockville Recorder.)

The Cobalt graft in the Gillies limit, that almost appears to be in complete working order, apparently is not the only good thing in sight for certain prominent and enterprising members of the Conservative party. Rumour is that application was recently made to the Whitney Government in respect to a white pine claim that is very promising in results, though heavy with the moss of more than half a century. Back about the 40's, someone whose grandchildren are probably long since dead and buried, applied for a timber limit on the Upper Ottawa. In those days when what now sells for seventy-five cents a foot, brought only sixpence, a nominal bonus merely was paid in addition to ground rent. The application was not entertained by the then Commissioner of Crown Lands. Thirty years later it was renewed. The berth in the meantime, with the advance in the price of pine, had become of great value, and the modest request to be granted it for the price of an old song, was refused by the little tyrant Sir Oliver. Now parties claiming rights under the original owner are renewing the mossy application; and back of them urging the claim on the Government can be seen the shadows of a bunch of chaps who would not carry away anything that is spiked down. The success of that application would probably mean hundreds of thousands for the boys, who, recognising the good thing, are said to be pushing it along very energetically. The people of Ontario will soon really learn to appreciate the services rendered by the Liberal party that successfully fought off through every court in the Empire those who sought to seize her timber and mineral territory and parcel it out among friends.

WATCHING OUR TRADE.

The remarkable expansion of the total trade of Canada since 1895 has been attracting the attention of the London Statist, with special reference to the growth of the imports into Canada, to which cause the Statist attributes the general prosperity. In 1895, when trade was very depressed, we imported for home consumption, excluding bullion and specie, only $109,000,000, while in the twelve months ended last June the value of our imports totalled $259,500,000. In the United States, in 1894, trade was also depressed and imports fell. Since then they have almost doubled. Germany is quoted as teaching the same lesson, that increased imports mean better all-round business.

Dealing in more detail with the causes for this result, it is pointed out that the growth of imports into Canada in recent years has been brought about by the importation of large amounts of capital which have necessarily to be received in the form of commodities; and this capital and these imports have provided the fund by means of which a vast army of labourers have been employed throughout Canada in the work of developing its natural resources.

When similar conditions were operating in Australia the Commonwealth was, upon the whole, prosperous, and the present depression and trade inactivity is traced to the falling off in the imports. The Statist sums up its argument by saying: "It is beyond question that large imports are attended, not by trade depression, but trade activity, that instead of displacing labour they give employment, and that this law applies to countries of every kind and description. If there were any such countries, it would apply to lands which merely exchanged produce, and neither imported nor exported capital. It certainly operates in all countries which exchange produce and either import or export capital. There is no foundation for the statement that imports of produce or of manufactures reduce the volume of employment. We have shown, the contrary is the true condition—large imports increase the demand for labour in the countries importing the produce."—Montreal Herald.

CANADA AS A FIELD FOR INVESTMENT.

Winnipeg Free Press.

Yesterday comment was made upon an article which complained of the limitations placed upon insurance companies in the investment of their funds. It was pointed out that although the Canadian companies were limited to Canada, and to certain classes of investment in Canada, it would be no hardship to them, as within the Dominion itself there was ample scope for investment. In this connection the attention of the Free Press was drawn to one notable instance of practical appreciation of Canada as a field for investment by a British company.

According to the last published report of the superintendent of insurance in Ottawa, the domestic life assurance companies has assurance in force, and invested funds in the Dominion, as follows:

Assurance in force... ... ..$400,000,000
Investments in Dominion 91,000,000

A ratio of $227 of invested funds to each $1000 of assurance in force. One British company has assurance in force and funds invested in the Dominion, as follows:

Assurance in force (Canada) $21,600,000
Investments in Dominion 14,400,000

A ration of $667 of invested funds to each $1000 of assurance in force. In other words, this company's ratio of invested funds to assurance in force is nearly three times as great as that of the combined Canadian companies.

The Standard Life Company, to which the reference is made, not only re-invests in Canadian securities the premiums received from Canadian policy-holders, and the interest from investments, but, in addition, draws money from Edinburgh to invest here, showing conclusively the confidence the company have in Canadian securities.

As far as the appreciation of the security value of real estate in Canada is concerned, the domestic companies are decidedly in the lead. According to the insurance superintendent's report, the loans on real estate for 1904 were as follows:—

Canada Life...	$4,506,711.29
Confederation	4,083,551.47
Continental...	85,835.00
Crown Life...	600.00
Dominion Life...	682,424.72
Excelsior...	602,867.83
Federal...	701,935.95
Great West...	2,009,719.39
Home Life...	56,785.76
Imperial Life...	808,863.89
London Life...	1,315,720.61
Manufacturers' Life...	1,228,153.19
Mutual Life of Canada... ...	3,760,617.53
North American...	982,817.47
Northern...	250,581.32
Sun Life of Canada	2,529,160.00
	$23,573,875.02
British companies, total	7,325,859.75
American companies	663,150.00

In the case of the Standard Life, about $9,000,000 is invested in stocks and bonds, municipal and corporation, and about $3,500,000 in real estate. These amounts are distributed all over Canada. Other companies, notably the Great West, invest almost wholly in the West, and their interest earnings compare very favourably with those of any other company. As stated yesterday, it is hardly time to complain of being limited to Canadian territory for the investment of the funds of Canadian insurance companies.

INVESTIGATE THE COMBINES.

(Montreal Herald.)

Since there was found to be no way of starting the next session but one of Parliament in November, it was undoubtedly the part of wisdom for the Cabinet to decide to go on with the work of tariff revision at the next session, because, now that the work of revision is under way and revision itself a certainty, all branches of mercantile and industrial enterprise must be more or less disturbed, and must continue in that state until the new tariff has been brought down. The members of the Cabinet were no doubt impressed with the gravity of the revelations now being made concerning the operation of combines, and the desirability of having a thorough investigation into the facts. On the other hand it is to be conceded that the whole method of operation of these combines, if it has not already been exposed, will be exposed when Mr. Curry gets to work before the courts. Mr. Curry is now in possession of evidence showing the existence of some forty of these combines, and it is next to impossible that the time between now and the middle of April should pass without a fund of information being put at the service of the Cabinet. There is always, moreover, recourse to a specially appointed tribunal supposing it is found not practicable to bring out the evidence in the criminal courts, and, failing that, there is still the recourse to a Special Committee of Parliament, which we may be certain will be demanded if all other means to get at the truth shall have failed. This levy upon so many of the necessaries of life for "glue," under the protection of the tariff, is the most vital revelation that has been made in many years, and its full meaning and bearing must be understood before any new tariff proposals can be made with the hope of their receiving general approval.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Curry-comb was a good thing to make the "plumbers" "sit up" — be plumb. Paying their $5,000 fine must have felt like paying one of their own plumbers' bills.

The Conservatives of Quebec have been holding a big convention. That need not alarm the Liberals, for such a convention has about as much political significance as a pink tea, and the office of the new leader carries about as much responsibility as the honourary presidency of a tennis club.

The London Advertiser nominates ex-premier Ross for the Senate. If Mr. Ross would accept a senatorship he could, the Hamilton Times thinks, doubtless have the first vacancy. His thirty-three years continuous service of the country merits some recognition at her hands. Already many who, deceived by lying detractors, voted against him at the Ontario elections, bitterly regret their folly. The time is coming when Ontario will do Mr. Ross justice, and rebuke his slanderers.

Philadelphia has a shut-in society which looks after people who are bed-ridden, or confined, through illness, to their homes. We have so few societies in Peterborough that we might, for variety, organize another—a shut-in society—to keep young persons, young girls, especially, shut in at night, to keep them off the streets. Such a society, effectively working would be a powerful auxiliary to the Children's Aid Society, which would soon have less need for funds, for the supply of vicious children would soon become limited.

A Bon-Bon Concert.

Under the auspices of the Charlotte street Guild, will be held on the Sunday school room on Dec. 14th. At this concert the Examiner trophy, will be presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton to the Charlotte street baseball club, champions of the Guild League, 1904-05. Everyone attending this concert will be presented with a box of bon-bons, which are on exhibition in Mr. Long's window. Admission, adults 25c; children, 15c.

People Knew Mayor Best

His Picture Was in The Examiner Last Night.

The picture in last night's paper was much easier than that of Saturday, but still there was some little guessing, Ch. Treasurer Brownscombe, Dr. Scott and Wm. Taylor, being among the names suggested as the gentlemen the picture represented.

The first to name the men was Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell, who telephoned in at 5.45 that it was Mayor Best. At the council meeting last night the Mayor remarked that a number of persons had called him up by 'phone during the interval between the publishing of the Examiner and that time to tell him that his picture was in the papers.

Mrs. Conroy was the second person to send an identification to this office, and Dr. Burnham followed her. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was the next, and others who telephoned in were Ald. Johnston, Mr. J. Fenning and Mr. John McPherson, and Mrs. George Singleton. About seven o'clock a lady telephoned to the office to say that Mayor Best's picture was in the Examiner; she declined to give her name, but said that she lived on London street, and that she had been out of the city for some years, returning only a short time ago. In her absence she had not forgotten the Mayor but recognized his picture as soon as she saw it.

Personally Conducted Tours to Mexico

Handled by Reau Campbell, the author of the Only Reliable Guide to Mexico, and Manager American Tourist Association, are being arranged to go via the Grand Trunk Railway System. Particulars will be announced later. Mr. Campbell has had twenty-five years experience in Mexican tours, and they are the only ones that positively take in all the interesting points, and are not covered by any other parties. MUSIC AND DRAMA

The "Standing Room Only" sign was out at an early hour at the Grand Opera House last night, when the Edward E. Rice Dramatic Company opened its two nights' engagement with the presentation of the "Sign of the Four." The attendance was by far the largest since the opening of the new opera house, and the company certainly scored a distinct success. The play was a bright and vivid presentation of the thrilling story, which has lost nothing of its intense interest in the dramatization.

Mr. Goldwin Patton, as Sherlock Holmes, gave an excellent portrayal of the character, his treatment being strong, and evidenced great dramatic power. In the boathouse scene in Act III. his work was particularly good.

Miss Pearl Landers was also most effective in the role of Mary Morston, and her work elicited much appreciation. Miss Rosalie De Vaux as Mrs. Sholto, and Miss V. Beach as Bessie, won the favour of the audience by the presentation of their parts, which were portrayed with exceptional ability.

The role of Dr. Watson, as presented by Mr. R. Kirkpatrick, scintillated with many happy hits. The comedy work in some parts of the play had a slight tendency to become tiresome, introducing an element of extravagant Americanisms which jarred upon the more subdued atmosphere which one associates with Sherlock Holmes. However, these could scarcely be classed as serious defects, occupying, as they do, a very minor place in the plot.

The company will to-night present "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde" at popular prices, and will probably attract a large audience.

Mr. H. M. Field, piano virtuoso, will, on the occasion of his next visit to the Conservatory, on Saturday, remain in the city over Sunday.

Young Men's Guild took place last night before a fair attendance of members and visitors.

Howard Peters On Trial To-day For Theft

At the County Court and General Sessions Before Judge Weller Appeal in Barrie Case Was Dismissed With Costs to Appellant—Testimony Taken This Morning in Peters Case —Alleged to Have Stolen $145.00.

BARKER CASE WILL BE THE NEXT HEARD

The conclusion of the hearing of the appeal in the case of Michael Barry, of Douro Township, who was convicted and fined $2 by County Police Magistrate Edmison, was reached yesterday afternoon at the County Court and General Sessions now in progress at the Court House before His Honour Judge Weller.

The appeal was dismissed, with full costs to be paid by the appellant, the conviction of Judge Edmison being thereby sustained. The charge was laid under a clause of the Vagrancy Act, for the interference with passengers upon the public highway by the use of gross and abusive language. E. B. Edwards, K.C., solicitor for appellant; W. H. Moore for defendant.

The criminal case of Howard Peters, of Havelock, who is charged with the theft of $145 from James Rannie, treasurer of School Section No. 2, Belmont, was proceeded with this morning. The case for the Crown is being conducted by Crown Attorney Wood, and for the defence by Mr. F. D. Kerr.

The evidence taken this morning was all from Crown witnesses. Crown Attorney Wood addressed the jury briefly, after which the examination of witnesses was proceeded with.

James Rannie testified that the $145 alleged to have been stolen had been drawn by him from the bank account of S. S. No. 2, Belmont, of which he was treasurer. There were fourteen ten-dollar bills and one five. He placed the money in a pocketbook, which also contained a Government grant of $30 and other papers. He paid Manley Parsons, the contractor for the new school, $15 on Saturday night.

On Sunday he was visited by Mr. Peters and his cousin, Maggie Stacey. The former complained of being sick, and went into the bedroom to lie down about 12 o'clock, remaining there till 12.30, when he came to dinner. After this they proposed going for a drive, and witness accompanied them, arriving home about three-quarters of an hour before the others. Peters, upon his return, stated that he had seen some tramps. When witness arrived home he saw Peters behind the barn in a stooping position, with his hands in the grass. Witness afterwards found the pocketbook sixty feet from this place. He found in it the Government check, and also some bits of a Massey-Harris note, which was torn. The girls, his daughter Ethel, and Maggie Stacey went in the afternoon across the fields to the school.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kerr, witness affirmed that it was in a small lane leading from the barn to the railway in which the money had been found. Peters had told him that he had seen some tramps in the lane. Peters had been to his house often. Witness could not say how long since he had been there last.

Mr. Kerr—But surely you can tell if your prospective son-in-law had been there within two months?

Witness—He was not a prospective son-in-law; he had never said anything about that to me.

He was, witness thought, there within two months. Witness took the money from a shelf in the dining room on Saturday night, and, after paying Parsons, placed the remainder in the desk in the bedroom. He had never mentioned to Peters that he had a sum of money in the house. When he went away on the Sunday in question he left the house unlocked.

Mrs. Rannie called, corroborated the testimony of her husband regarding the denomination of the bills. Peters, and possibly her daughter, Gertie, had been the only persons in the room where the money was placed. She heard Peters make a remark about seeing two tramps near the railway track. She had seen no tramps all summer.

Gertrude Rannie, daughter of Jas. Rannie, testified that on the Sunday in question she had accompanied Peters from Havelock. The party had gone for a walk on Sunday afternoon through the fields to the school house. She did not know the money was in the house.

Jermyn Sills, liveryman, of Havelock, testified that Peters had paid him a bill of $5 which he had owed for some time, tendering a $10 bill. Several other witnesses also gave evidence as to receiving $10 bills from Peters in payment of accounts.

Ephraim Cooper, who resides near Marmora, testified that Peters, accompanied by a man named Robinson, had called at his residence late one evening, and in connection with a horse "deal," had tendered him the sum of $120, consisting of twelve $10 bank notes, which he counted out upon the lap of Sarah Spence, his housekeeper. The latter added similar testimony.

Final Sitting Tuesday Night

Closing of Mock Parliament of St. Paul's Young Men's Guild.

The final sitting of the mock parliament in connection with St. Paul's Young Men's Guild took place last night before a fair attendance of members and visitors.

The Lieut.-Governor, Rev. Dr. Torrance, delivered the Speech from the Throne. This was debated at some length by the mover of the address in reply, Mr. Clark; the seconder, Mr. Ross Cameron, the leader of the Opposition, Mr. R. F. McWilliams, and the Premier, Mr. E. S. Clarry.

A number of Government measures received their first reading, including the following:

A Bill to amend the Liquor License Act.

A Bill to incorporate the village of Chemong.

A Bill to prevent crying babies at church.

A Bill to prevent the bounding of deer.

A number of questions were asked the members of the Government, and answered by the various ministers.

The debate of the evening took place on the Bill which came up for its second reading, and which was introduced by Mr. W. F. Davidson, entitled "A Bill to amend the Franchise Act by extending the franchise to women."

Mr. Davidson made a lengthy argument in favour of the Bill, and was followed by Mr. Hodson. Messrs. Van Blaricom, Dr. McCollough and Clarke followed for the Government, and Messrs. Fife, Rosenburg and McWilliams for the Opposition.

The Premier moved the adjournment of the debate, and Mr. Davidson moved the adjournment of the House.

C.M.B.A. Held Its Annual Meeting

Election of Officers Took Place Last Night.

Branch No. 30 of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association of Canada held its annual meeting last night when the officers for the coming year were elected. Those who will have charge of the affairs of Branche No. 30 for 1906 are as follows:—

President—Richard Sheehy.
First Vice-President—Joseph Hickey.
Second Vice-President—Alex. Vinette.
Recording Secretary—P. M. Leahy.
Assistant Recording Secretary—T. P. Connor.
Financial Secretary—T. J. Doris.
Treasurer—H. Carveth.
Marshal—E. Bennett.
Guard—P. Gorham.
Trustees—Jas. O'Brien, H. Phelan, Jos Picard, A. Vinette, John McDonald.

Installation of officers will take place on the second Tuesday in January, 1906.

The "AT HOME" in aid of the Deep Sea Mission, on the evening of Jan. 15th., will be held in the Oriental Hotel, instead of the Ashburnham Town Hall, as announced on the invitation. Tickets may be had from Mr. Dickenson, Bank of Commerce.

Concert Of The Mission Band

The Mission Band concert of the Park street Baptist church promises to be an interesting event to-morrow (Thursday) night, if its popularity among the young people and the recitals and exercises every night mean anything.

There are to be three or four selections from a rising young elocutionist of the north end. Also the lilliputian tenor, and a drill of considerable merit.

An extra number of very choice recitations carefully prepared; also a chorus by young men. After such elaborate preparations the young people should be encouraged. The Home and Foreign Mission Fund should feel the effect of a full house.

The chair will be taken at 8 o'clock by Rev. A. H. Brace, supported by the president of the band, Miss Maggie Mann and the Executive. A silver collection will be taken.

Mr. V. Guerin Returns Home

Mr. V. Guerin, a former resident of Peterborough, who has been living in Western Canada for about twenty-five years, has returned to the city and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Guerin, 71 Ware street.

This is the first time that Mr. Guerin has been in Peterborough for eight years, and he says that while he is very much impressed with the progress of Peterborough, he is of the opinion that western places of much smaller size are very much more progressive than this city.

Mr. Guerin, who lives in Blairmore, Alta., is in the lumbering business. He thinks that the West is the place for the energetic and industrious young man.

He will be the guests of his parents for about three weeks.

The Clergy And The Reduction Question

Rev. J. C. Davidson Writes a Letter In Which His Position is Set Forth—His Opinion is Defended.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir, — In view of the public action lately taken in reference to the liquor traffic in Peterborough, and many misconceptions in regard to the matter, I think it well to bring certain facts before your notice, and to make certain suggestions for the public weal, which I believe will commend themselves to all unprejudiced men.

To begin with, let me say that I speak personally, and not as a member of the Ministerial Association.

First, as being licensed by them, the public have a definite interest and voice in the way in which the liquor traffic is conducted. That the conduct of this business in Peterborough is unsatisfactory may for the present be taken for granted. Our grounds of action are unfortunately only too strong. The fact was generally conceded by the councillors last Friday.

Clergy and Moral Reforms.

Is it reasonable for the clergy of the city to take steps to call attention to such abuses with a view to improvement? Not if the people regard their clergy as men to be kept (like unused family Bible) under an ecclesiastical glass case, restricted to their church services and afternoon calls upon the ladies of their congregations. For myself, I choose, instead of this, the conception of our mission voiced by a prominent citizen, who, in answer to the objection that this was a painful position for clergy to occupy, said, "it is the very position where we should expect to find the moral leaders of the community doing their duty." Again, the "drunkards who are "formed" by present conditions, are largely turned over to us to be "re-formed," and our intimate knowledge of home life brings the results of such abuses directly and constantly before us.

If then we, with all this direct connection and knowledge, shrink from tackling such public difficulties of a moral nature, to whom may people look for leadership and action?

Mending and Ending.

Passing from this point, there are two different means being employed for removing the difficulties of the liquor traffic as it is too often conducted to-day.

Into the question of the efficiency or inefficiency of prohibition as applied to our city, I do not now enter. But granted that it is inadvisable to attempt the ending of the traffic in Peterborough, the only alternative would seem to be to do something towards its mending under conditions as they are to-day, with the added probability that these will become much worse when prohibition is adopted in the country around us. With the rapidly increasing public determination for moral reform as shown in the two movements throughout the Province to-day (for prohibition in the country and increased regulation in the city), clearly the only chance the liquor men have to save themselves from the executioner's axe is to check abuses and to raise the whole tone of their business, and the better class of them should be heartily thankful to us for bringing public pressure to bear with this object in view.

Improvement the Object, Not Attack.

This brings me to an entire mistake which has been made about our movement of last week. We did not go to the Council to attack the liquor sellers, nor did we, as officers of the association, use harsh or extreme language about them. Indeed, I've had no such feelings towards our fellow-citizens, with whom we felt it a privilege to confer in a frank and friendly fashion as to the important issues between us. We were entering upon no crusade against these men, and until the vote of the Council no feeling was aroused. I had previously stipulated that if the Council should see fit to ask the question of the ratepayers, I would ask no voter in public or private to answer in one way or another, and I was not alone in this determination.

What was our object, then? It was definitely, as stated, the improvement of present conditions and the moral betterment of the city: We refuse to inform against any individual or to specify how many licenses (if any) should be cut off. We simply laid down certain principles which are conceded to be of a broad and reasonable character, for the guidance of the Commissioners if (with the public support they ask for) they should choose to exercise their power of reducing the number of licenses. No one would thus be cut off except through their own failure to do what was right and reasonable. If many of us believe that some reduction of the number of licenses would help to improve present conditions, as cutting out the lowest hotels, this belief is held by a very large number of citizens, and surely it may be expressed by their clergy, especially in this very moderate fashion.

On this point of reduction, however, I know that there is a difference of opinion. What I now urge most strongly is just what was most strongly urged on Friday evening that it is imperatively necessary in the public interest, that there should be a very considerable improvement, not only in the keeping of the law but also in the whole tone of the liquor business; and I bring out in this letter our broad and conciliatory attitude toward the hotelkeepers because I would have them work with us in bringing about a better state of things.

The Significance of the Vote.

The popular vote, which was not the point in our minds, is, after all, not a very important matter. If answered in the affirmative it will not necessarily affect anyone, but simply give the Commissioners the support they ask for in case they may need to use it. If a definite number had been set down, some injustice might have been done. Now, as it is, the Commissioners are left perfectly free, and we are assured that if any men are cut off it will only be because their method of conducting their business is evidently illegal or irresponsible, dangerous and degrading. The policy of the Commissioners through their chairman has been most clearly and strongly stated. In them we feel a thorough confidence and with them we leave the issue confident that justice will be done to all, and that advantage is certain to result to the public good.

Yours truly,

J. C. DAVIDSON.

Mission Band Elects Officers

Annual Meeting of St. Andrew's Band Held Last Night.

The annual meeting of the Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church, was held last night in the school room of the church. There was a fairly large number of the members present and a most successful meeting was held. The reports of the year were presented and showed a most satisfactory condition.

The receipts last year were in the neighbourhood of $50, which has been handed to the Women's Missionary Society of the church to be devoted to missionary objects. Plans were laid for the work of this year, and it was decided to take up the study of Japan. The members will also meet an hour earlier at their meetings to sew clothing.

The election of officers then took place and resulted as follows:

President—Miss Bertram.
1st Vice-President—Miss D. Longford.
2nd Vice-President—Miss Amy Kerr.
Secretary—Miss Ada Thornton.
Asst. Secretary—Miss May Lang.
Treasurer—Miss M. Thompson.
Convenor — Curating Committee, Miss C. Anderson; Social Committee, Miss L. Allen; Music Committee, Mrs. P. A. Kerr.

The prospects for the coming year are very bright.

A Very Pretty House Wedding

Miss Margaret Edith Pollock Married to Mr. Alex. Johnston.

Yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Robt. Pollock, Dufferin street, a pretty wedding took place when his eldest daughter Margaret Edith was united in marriage to Mr. Alexander Johnston, of Harwood, in the presence of about thirty-five guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, the bridal party standing before a bank of palms, the drawing room being decorated with the same. The wedding march was played by Miss Elsie Pollock, sister of the bride. The bride was dressed in white crepe de chine, and carried white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Pollock, who was dressed in white German taffeta, and carried pink carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Walter Johnston.

After the ceremony a dainty dejeuner was partaken of and the bride and groom left later in the day for their new home at Harwood. The groom's gift to the bride was a set of sable furs and to the bridesmaid, a gold bracelet.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY

—MR. DENNISTOUN SAYS—IS DOING EXCELLENT SERVICE

At the Annual Meeting Held This Afternoon the Affairs of the Society are Being Discussed—Report of the Secretary Gives Interesting Resume of the Work of Past Year—More Work Accomplished Than in Any Previous Twelve Months—Some of the Cases Dealt With—A Gratifying Report—Opportunity to Help Afforded.

This afternoon the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society, is being held in the council chamber. The president, Mr. J. J. McBain, is occupying the chair, and there are a number of the friends of the society in attendance at the meeting.

The presentation of the annual reports of the officers is, as usual, one of the most important, as well as the most interesting features of the meeting.

It is gratifying to learn from these reports that the work of the society is prospering. It would indeed be hard to over-estimate the value of the service which is being performed by the self-sacrificing gentlemen who hold office, or who otherwise assist in this most commendable work.

During the past year the demands upon the funds of the society have been very heavy, and the result is that the year's close finds it with a small overdraft, but it is pleasing to record the fact that the citizens are evidencing an interest in the work in a most gratifying manner, and numerous contributions are being made.

The report of the secretary of the society, Mr. R. M. Denniatoun, who has spent considerable time in furthering the work, is a most interesting document, and is reproduced in full below:—

To the President, Officers and Members of the Children's Aid Society, of Peterborough.

Ladies and Gentlemen.—I have the honour to present my 5th annual report as Secretary of your Association, and am glad to be able to state that more work has been done during the past year than has been accomplished in any previous year of the Society's history.

The work has been of a character similar to that done in previous years, and there are but few facts in connection with it which stand out prominently.

We began the year with a substantial balance in the treasury and we finish it with a small overdraft. This does not by any means indicate an unsatisfactory condition of affairs, but simply

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT

The city council is brilliant in its moribund days and promises to have the curtain of 1905 ring down with red fire effects. With commendable enterprise, promptitude and decision, they have inaugurated the crusade for Trent Canal construction. They have seized the psychological moment for action. All things favour the successful issue of the canal completion campaign. The magnificent Northwest harvest has developed transportation exigencies that megaphone the call for increased transportation expansion. Every existing avenue is congested to the point of inflammation, with moving wheat, that moves all too slowly. There is the need of an enlarged grain spout. The hopper is growing in size like a gigantic mushroom, while the spout —the ways of transportation—remains at the same size, practically. There is the need — persistent, conspicuous, outstanding — of increased means of moving the harvests of the West. So plain is this, that the boldest will not dispute. All admit it, and out of this outstanding need comes recognition from a quarter where the power lies. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and his Government, are well affected towards the national work of improving Canada's internal water communication, not in any loose theoretical or academic way, but with practical ideas and aspirations. In this relation, the following article from the Globe, touches the situation at the vital points, as regards the relations of Peterborough, and the district, to Trent Canal completion. The Globe, under the heading of "Work for the Nation," has the following:

To those of us, who think that the improvement of Canada's internal water communication is one of the most important subjects that can occupy the attention of the Government, it is encouraging to find Sir Wilfrid Laurier reaffirming that it is not secondary even to the great railway transportation projects to which the Government is committed. "Not only," he said, "would the channels be deepened between Montreal and Quebec, but also between Lake Superior and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Whatever difficulties that would arise would be faced, and every opportunity would be afforded for the development of the country's great resources".

For the rapid and steady development of our resources facility and economy of transportation are the first considerations. Our unrivalled internal waterways are the keystone of the transportation arch. The influence they exercise is not always appreciated. It is not sufficient to ask, how much is transported by them. The question is, what influence have they had all these years on the rates of land transportation? Every obstruction removed, every facility added, has had its corresponding effect on the rates for land transportation.

It is specially gratifying that the Premier himself is convinced of the national character of the work of improving these waterways. It happens that more than one department of the Government is concerned in the matter. It is the Department of Canals, for example, that is preparing for the erection of a two-million-bushel elevator at Port Colborne, while the Department of Marine is charged with the care of the St. Lawrence from Montreal to the sea, while the Public Works has supervision of other features of it. The interest of the Prime Minister in the subject, however, serves to unite and concentrate all interests, just as in the case of the construction of the Transcontinental Railway, Sir Wilfrid Laurier took the matter into his own hands, feeling that it was a national project that transcended the bounds of departments. Canada at this juncture has incurred enormous obligations, but they are fructifying obligations. Of none of them could this be said more truly, than of the work of making straight the paths of our continental railways. They will contribute to the building up of the nation, and so multiply our population that the burdens will be easily borne. We are spending on great vivifying national works the capital that other nations have blown away in powder and shot.

In view of the existent facts and the conditions thus set forth at potent factors in influencing the solution of the transportation problem, there never has been a time in the modern history of the Trent Canal enterprise, so favourable to pushing the question of its completion to the front. There never was a time when all things worked together in such complete harmony, as at present, to favour the success of a campaign of compelling action. Never was the iron at such a white heat, inviting the stroke. The city council is to be most heartily commended for its action in deciding to "carry the war into Africa"—into the citadel of the capital, the government stronghold. The time is ripe as well as opportune for every son of a mother who has an interest in canal completion, and an ounce of influence, to translate his interest into action, and bring his influence to bear, wherever there is the slightest chance of creating pressure. Not an effort should be spared, not a stone left unturned. And there is more reason, more incentive, to work to the end at heart, because the end is in sight. There is every cause to believe that the government contemplates constructive action. Let us unite to keep them to the mark—to uphold their hands; for the more the Trent Canal demonstrates its absolute necessity as a link in the chain of water communication, the nearer its accomplishment draws, the more strenuous will be the opposition of powerful interests, which will incidentally be affected in proportion as the national interests are respectively served by the amplification and cheapening of transportation facilities, and transportation rates. Strike while the iron is hot.

Doctors Neglect Smallpox Cases Says Dr. Sheard

On Return From His Trip of Inspection in Vicinity of Peterborough—Members of Medical Profession Open to Censure—Difference of Opinion Cleared Up—Result of Trip of Dr. Hodgetts and Dr. Sheard to Northumberland and Hastings

THE SITUATION IN THE PROVINCE

Last week Dr. Hodgetts, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, and Dr. Sheard, of Toronto, were in the city on their way to Hastings County, where they were sent to report on the smallpox situation by the Provincial Secretary. They presented their report, and the following statement was issued yesterday by the secretary of the Provincial Board of Health:

"Considerable difference of opinion having existed for some time, not only amongst the general public, but amongst the medical profession regarding the true character of the contagious diseases which have been prevalent in the townships, more particularly, of Seymour and Sidney in the Counties of Northumberland and Hastings, and which had been pronounced by Dr. R. W. Bell, Medical Inspector of the Provincial Board of Health, as smallpox, the Hon. W. J. Hanna, the Provincial Secretary, instructed Dr. C. A. Hodgetts and Dr. Charles Sheard to visit the district and report upon the character of the outbreak. The inspection was made last week and an examination obtained of some of those who had been quarantined by Dr. Carlaw, Medical Health Officer of Seymour Township, for smallpox as far back as August last. The report of Dr. Sheard was received by the Minister to-day.

Not Reported.

"The medical experts report having found distinct evidence of some of the recovered patients having had smallpox. They further report having found cases in two houses in Seymour Township of persons suffering from the disease, which cases had been treated as chickenpox and had not been reported to the local health authorities."

"In the Township of Sidney people were seen who had recovered from smallpox, and others were examined with a typical eruption upon them, thus confirming the previous diagnosis by Dr. Bell, the medical inspector of the Board. In the latter municipality Dr. Hodgetts ordered employment by the authorities of additional sanitary police to maintain the quarantine, and notified the reeve that if the request were not complied with the Provincial Board would do it at the expense of the municipality.

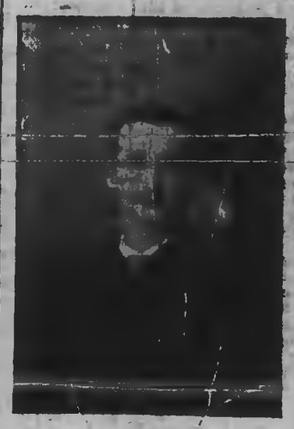
"While it is quite true that the disease is of a mild type in these places, yet from the careless and indifferent manner in which it has been treated many persons have been exposed, and also bearing in mind the fact that the law regarding vaccination has been almost entirely neglected, there is every probability that the disease will spread further, as pointed out in the report made by Dr. Sheard.

"The Provincial Board of Health at a special meeting held December 1, after hearing the reports upon the spread of smallpox, passed a resolution which pointed out the necessity that existed for greater care on the part of medical men in regard to diagnosing the disease and the necessity of general vaccination throughout the Province. The caution was also thrown out that so-called cases of chickenpox be treated with suspicion.

"The report of Dr. Sheard emphasizes the necessity that exists for these recommendations of the Board.

"It is to be hoped that the opinions of the two experts sent by the Government to these districts will do much to strengthen the hands of medical health officers and Board of Health in carrying out the provisions of the Public Health Act, and also enforcing vaccination."

WHO IS HE?



The gentleman pictured to-day is not quite so young now as he looks. When this picture was taken about 22 years ago, he was less than 20 years of age. He was born in Peterborough and has lived here ever since. His life has not been without its distractions too. He has received at the hands of the people a position of responsibility, and has tried to fill it to the best of his ability; and, with a conscientious regard for the interests of the people who elected him.

Whether he is at present occupying that position is a matter which those who see this picture will be asked to decide. He doesn't know himself that his picture is in this paper to-day.

An Appeal Has Been Entered By Defendants

In the McWilliams-Dickson Company Case—Counsel for the Former Receives Notice To-day of Appeal—Findings Which are Appealed From—Claims That Plaintiff Has no Right to Receive for Value of Timber, Also Cost of Cutting.

JUSTICE STREET'S JUDGMENT QUESTIONED

This morning Mr. R. F. McWilliams, counsel for the plaintiff in the McWilliams-Dickson Company suit, received notice through his agents in Toronto of the appeal entered by the defendants in the case against the judgment of Mr. Justice Street, on November 14, 1905, in which he found that the plaintiff was entitled to recover the value of the timber cut upon certain lots in the Township of Cavendish, and entitled to the cost of cutting and handling the timber on certain other lots in that township, and decided on a reference to ascertain the amount to which the plaintiff was entitled in respect to the timber.

It is against the judgment in respect to the plaintiff's right to payment that the appeal is made, and, of course, if that is allowed there will be no occasion for a reference because there will be nothing to refer.

The appellants have four days in which to furnish the respondents with reason for the appeal, and the latter the same number of days in which to give reason against it.

This case will be heard in the Ontario Court of Appeal from one of the judges, in which permission had to be secured to enter appeal.

Prize Ring Rules Governed Contest

The Fight Was Adjourned and Finished.

A lively bout was "pulled off" a few days ago in Norwood, governed by the most approved usages of the prize ring, and the participants, two Dummer men, named Peter Ferguson and J. Morrow, will probably gave a detailed explanation in the course of a few days, before Judge Edmison, of the affair.

The "mill," it appears, was the outcome of a previous encounter of a more informal nature, which took place in the country. Neither appeared to be thoroughly satisfied with the result of the former gladatorial "mix-up," and a date was arranged and unwritten articles entered into, for an adjourned session, which took place in the yard of a local hotel. Ferguson, though qualifying as to weight, appears to be somewhat beyond the usual age limit, being, being past the alloted three score years and ten. He, however, proved game, and things progressed favourably until the appearance of the village constable, when all bets were "declare! off."

An information was laid by the guardian of the peace, and the gladiators of the ropod arena will probably be haled before the court in the course of a few days.

New Method of Financing

A New Departure Being Effected in the Management of the Finances of the Church—Joint Boards Hold an Important Meeting Tuesday Night—Special Committee Reported, Giving Details of the New Scheme—Financial Secretary to Replace Pew Steward and Envelope Steward—New Officer Will be Paid—Finance Committee for the Year.

On Tuesday evening, December 12, at the George street Methodist church, an important meeting of the Trustee and Quarterly Official Boards was held, to receive a report from a committee, which had been previously appointed to inquire into the matter of church financial systems. This committee consisted of Mr. J. Jeffries, chairman,; Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, A. W. Cressman, B. Shortly and F. Brownscombe.

There was a large and representative attendance of the members of both Boards present. The report of the committee was read and carefully considered—clause by clause. The utmost kindliness and harmony characterized the whole meeting, and the report, as published below, was unanimously adopted:

Peterborough, Dec. 12, 1905.

The Quarterly Official and Trustee Boards of the George street Methodist Church, Peterborough:

Brethren, — Your committee, appointed to inquire into the subject of church financial systems desire to state that they have carefully and impartially applied themselves to the consideration of the various details lying within the scope of the inquiry. They have compared our own methods with a number of well-managed and prosperous churches, and they have sought and obtained the advice of men known to have special capacity and ripe experience in church financing.

They have unanimously concluded that it is both expedient and opportune to introduce now certain changes in our financial methods. These changes, if adopted, would not be of an experimental nature, as they have been thoroughly tested in a number of progressive churches, with results eminently satisfactory to all concerned. They therefore beg leave to submit to you the following recommendations:

1. Consolidated Fund.

That all the church funds be consolidated except those of missions and

Investigation To-day Before Mr. Holgate

The investigation in connection with the Peterborough life lock is proceeding to-day in the office of the superintending engineer. Mr. R. B. Rogers was being examined to-day, the examination being conducted by Messrs. D. O'Connell and R. J. MacLaughlin. Mr. Holgate stated to the Examiner to-day that there was nothing of public interest being brought out at the investigation, the evidence being of a technical nature.

It is probable that the investigation will continue to-day and to-morrow, when Mr. Holgate will take the evidence and prepare his report to the Government from it.

This Celestial Was Subjected To Massage

Havelock Youths Trample Upon an Almond-Eyed Resident Because He Refused to "Talk English—His Conversational Powers Were Limited—Countenance Not Improved by the Process--Information Laid Before Magistrate Matheson.

THE CASE BEING HEARD TO-DAY

The heathen Chinese long ago established a reputation for traversing "ways that are dark," but he appears quite as frequently to have his baggage plastered with the labels of the "Hard Luck Route."

Such was the rough and thorny path, in which at least one Celestial recently fell. This particular gentleman of the almond-shaped optics, resides in Havelock, which has recently been a storm-centre of infractions of the public peace.

That cleanliness is not placed in its usual secondary position among the virtues is evidently the case in the eastern village, as is evidenced by the treatment accorded the Celestial mentioned a few days ago. John's ability in the realm of the wash-tub appears never to have been called in question. But it was in his conversational powers that he fell into difficulties. His mode of expressing himself gave rise to indignation among some youths of the village, who, in the hope of leading him from linguistic darkness, hurled him to the ground and trampled vigorously upon this anatomy, his face, it appears, being a "stamping ground" particularly favoured.

John's countenance, while probably painful to himself under normal conditions, was not materially improved by the massage, and no very distinct improvement is noticeable in his accents, notwithstanding the repeated commands of his chastizers to "speak English."

When he had recovered sufficiently he wended his way to the office of Magistrate Matheson and laid an information against a number of those who utilized him as a cross-country steeplechase course, and the case is being heard to-day.

WEDDING BELLS

SCOTT—SUTTON

A very pretty marriage was solemnized last evening at the residence of Mrs. Ernest McCabe, Division street, the contracting parties being Miss Fannie, daughter of Mrs. G. Sutton, Smith's Falls, and Mr. Jno. Scott, of Peterborough. Rev. J. C. Davidson, pastor of St. John's church, was the officiating clergyman, and only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony took place at 6.30 o'clock, in the drawing-room, which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion, the wedding march being played by Miss M. McCabe.

The bride was becomingly dressed in white silk trimmed with silk embroidery, and both parties were unattended. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, the company sat down to a sumptuous repast. The bride has lived in Peterborough for some years, an dejoys the privilege of counting many friends, and the groom is a native of this town and is well and favourably known.

The happy couple will spend a couple of weeks visiting in the vicinity, after which they will go to Souris, where the groom has a home prepared for their arrival. Many handsome and useful presents were received by the bride.

ROBERTSON—COX

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday in Lakefield, when, in the Methodist church, in the presence of a number of the contrasting parties Miss Alma Cox, of that village, was married to Mr. Hugh Robertson, of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T W. Leggott.

The bride was dressed in white silk, beautifully trimmed, and carried white roses. She was attended by Miss Lizzie Faux, of Peterborough, who was gowned in crepe de chine. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groomsman was Mr. J. W. Gordon of this city. After the wedding a dainty dejeuner was served and later in the evening the happy couple left for their home in Peterborough. They will reside on Bonacord street.

Greatest European Authority on Skin Diseases, Says It's a Germ.

The old idea that dandruff is scales of skin thrown off, through a feverish condition of the scalp is exploded. Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a germ disease. The germ burrows under the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle, and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Not only cures dandruff, but stops falling hair and permits a luxuriant growth. Delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Peterborough's Chances For Securing Dock Facilities Are Particularly Bright

Special Wire to The Examiner

OTTAWA, ONT., Dec. 14th.—Peterborough stands every chance of getting the dock which it is asking the Dominion Government to build. Between eleven and twelve o'clock this morning the strong deputation waited on Hon. Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Hyman. They were well received, and were presented to the Ministers by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. for West Peterborough. The Council was represented by Mayor Best and Ald. Mason, Hicks, Johnston, also Engineer Hay and City Clerk Armstrong. The Board of Trade representatives were Messrs. Meldrum, Shook, Rogers, and Ackerman; Messrs. Hall, Best, and Meldrum explained the situation to the ministers, told them Dredging was being done and asked that the material be made use of to build a dock from King to Hunter streets. The minister promised serious consideration and the deputation gathered that their chances are exceedingly bright. Mr. Hall, M.P., also impressed this on the Examiner's representative. Mr. Hyman told them he would have an engineer, Mr. Sing, of Toronto, proceed to Peterboro at once and fully investigate and report to him. This is to be done immediately. The Deputation made such a strong representation that there is not a reasonable doubt that their visit will spell the word "success." This afternoon the Peterboroites visited the House of Commons, Senate and other points of interest. They are at the Russell House and return home to night.

Isabella Valancy Crawford Canada's Sweetest Singer

The Collected Poems of Isabella Valancy Crawford, edited by J. W. Garvin, B. A., with introduction by Miss Ethelwyn Wetherald, Toronto, Wm. Briggs, 1905. Price, cloth, $1.50.

If there had existed any scintilla of doubt as to Canada possessing a poetical literature, it vanished, as the tardy stars at the rising of the day, with the appearance in collective form of the poems of Isabella Valancy Crawford. On Saturday, December 9th, 1905, William Briggs, Toronto, publisher, issued the collected poems of Isabella Valancy Crawford in book form. This little volume of 300 pages is clearly printed on the best of book paper, with the beautiful, soul-lit, face of the poet as frontispiece. Excellent as the book is, judged by the book-maker's art, its material form is but the rock and shale that hold the gold of a mine of literary treasure.

The poems have been well edited by a former—and present— Peterborough citizen, Mr. J. W. Garvin, who has collated and arranged the poems of the collection with good judgment, grouping them in "books" in a way to differentiate the distinctive, but always beautiful, character, form and qualities of the poet's work. The book contains eighty-six poems of a wide range of subjects from the simple to the sublime; all however, touched with the refining fire of genius, which transmutes their hidden ores into the silver of sweet speech.

In the limited space of a hurried newspaper notice, one cannot undertake what would be the delightful and congenial task of putting on paper in any sort of detail, the meed of praise—the inevitable kindly criticism—that a reading of Isabella Valancy Crawford's poems, almost compels and justice, quite, demands. In an exquisite introduction Miss Ethelwyn Wetherald herself, as sweet a singer as she is a generous judge and sympathetic appraiser, in an analysis of the poet's style and deep poetic insight,—her moods, methods and achievements—who is the reader's appetite for the feast of intellect, soul and emotion, a reading of the succeeding poems will assuredly represent.

However, it is vain now, in one way, to sing the praises of Valancy Crawford's poems; for her ear, which was never gladdened with the earthly tones of adulation or even recognition, except in a very circumscribed sphere, is now deaf to earthly sounds. She sings now where her lyre draws inspiration and sense of beauty direct from the great Source which thrilled its chords and woke its tones to supernal sweetness even amid the dimness and coldness of the days of clay. A volume containing about thirty-five of Miss Crawford's poems was published in 1884, and though it received high praise from great critic, including Lord Dufferin, whose valued autograph letter of commendation appears in fac simile in this volume—yet the public did not take to the book and it did not pay the cost of publication.

But it is worth while to urge the reader to a study of the volume, not only for the pleasure and profit, the mental illumination and up-lift of soul, that will thus accrue, but to meet the demonstration of the fact that there has risen in Canada a singer meet to take rank not only with the foremost of our Canadian poets, even in the van, but also worthy, in many ways, to share the laurels of the great poets of the past. Isabella Valancy Crawford has a double title to be ranked as a Canadian poet. Of the thirty-six years of her bitter-sweet life — bitter with sorrow and sweet with song—three fourths were passed in Canada where she lived, where she suffered, where she sang; where she breathed in the spirit, and sucked in the soul and form of Nature, where she made bosom friendships with the tenderest and grandest elements of divine expression and made herself kin with the beautiful in nature and the good in men. Then she sang of all these things, with a sweetness, tenderness and truth, with an inspiration that has been vouchsafed to no other Canadian poet.

It is permitted to easily believe in Miss Crawford's genius when one reads in with her poems the life she lived—the prodigal affluence of its dark days and the few stray glints of sunlight—from without her soul, at least. Living under almost wholly subjective influences—apart from the contacts which her dull, strait life of enforced asceticism afforded—it is otherwise marvellous how she could get the materials to paint the pictures that grew into beauty and grandeur under the strokes of her poetic brush, from the pearly lustre of "The Rose" to the weirdly sombre canvas, glooming with the Jovian thunders of "Old Spookse's Pass" where —"the crash was enough to put Life into the dust of the sleepin' dead."

Could Isabella Crawford have got inspiration to sing as she sang, so true to tune in nature's many keys, except from the promptings of a genius which must have been made the twin of her soul when her soul was made? To find how she has warrant to rhapsodize thus, one must, as the reader is invited to do, read the poems of one of the greatest, if not the greatest of Canadian poets—some of these poems not surpassed in tenderness by Tennyson, some as near and true to nature and as true to man as Wordsworth. There is far more fire, and far more patriotic impulsion in one stanza of Crawford's "The Rose of a Nation's Thanks"—written on the return of the Volunteers from the North-west Rising of 1885—than in cantos of the laureate-forced laureate verse we oddlings wot of.

To the people of Peterborough, where Isabella Crawford lived many years; where she was personally known to many, her poems should especially appeal—for it is an honour to have touched one hand that has poured such beautiful thoughts, in such beautiful forms, as are contained in her poetic works.

The literature-loving public owe much to Mr. Garvin and Miss Wetherald for the present reproduction, in amplified form, of the poems of Miss Crawford; but it would be ungrateful to forget that to a Peterborough literary lady, Mrs. McFarlane—Maud Miller — Wilson's initiative is somewhat due the recently revived interest in Miss Crawford's poems as well as interest in perpetuating her personal memory, represented by the beautiful Celtic cross, standing in Little Lake Cemetery and bearing the poet's name—a work of loving supererogation for Isabella Valancy Crawford. If her gentle, modest soul would let her, could, with reference to her poetic works, justly adopt the lyric boast of the Horatian bard—"Monumentum exegi aere perennius".

The new volume of poems should meet a good demand in Peterborough, especially for the reason stated. Its publication comes most seasonably, for nothing in book form would make more appropriate Christmas present. It may be obtained at the Peterborough Bookstore, A. H. Stratton & Co.

The Non-Com's Smoker Was Much Enjoyed

Jolly Social Event Last Night at Non-Com's Mess — Excellent Programme Was Presented — Refreshments Afterwards Served—Enjoyable Winter Season in Prospect for the Non-Coms — Improvement at the Rooms.

THE EVENING WAS GREATLY ENJOYED

The non-commissioned officers last night held the first of a series of smokers arranged to take place during the winter months, at their mess rooms, Simcoe street. Last night's affair was of a delightfully informal nature, and was thoroughly enjoyable, viewed from every aspect. The non-coms. are entering upon the present season with more than ordinary enthusiasm, and there is every prospect of an increasingly successful series of social events. An assembly will be heard at an early date.

The bright and comfortable mess rooms have been improved in many respects, and a new piano was added to the equipment a few days ago.

A most pleasing programme was presented last night, and the members of the mess enjoyed themselves thoroughly amid the translucent and fragrant haze which rose from about forty pipes and cigars.

The chair was occupied by Col.-Sergeant Sturgeon in his usual happy manner. The evening was opened with a speech on military matters by Lt.-Col. J. W. Miller.

The following programme was then rendered, each contributor acquitting himself with the utmost credit.

Song—Mr. Albert Lucas.
Banjo solo—Mr. Wm. Dundas.
Song—Staff-Sergt. Edwards.
Recitation—Sergt.-Major Brittain.
Song—Ex-Sgt.-Major Peters.
Song—Mr. W. S. Davidson.
Recitation—Sgt. V. LeBar.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mr. T. Hooper, who fully sustained his invariable high standard of quality in the commissariat.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National anthem.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The dramatized version of Robert Louis Stevenson's unique novel, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, is probably one of the strongest sensational dramas on the American stage to-day, and, as presented last night, at the Grand Opera House, held the continuous attention of the large audience that was fortunate enough to witness this splendid production.

Mr. Goldwin Patton was particularly happy in the dualrole of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, and received splendid support from Miss Pearl Sanders, as Sybil Howell, the parson's daughter, as well as from the balance of the caste. As Dr. Jekyll he was superb, and also portrayed the gruesome character of Edward Hyde in a very realistic manner. Mr. R. Kirkpatrick, as Inspector Newcombe, gives promise of becoming a splendid actor, and last night was the very embodiment of naturalness. Mr. Lewis Edwards impersonated Poole, the butler, in a very true to life, laughable manner, his actions and gesticulations being typical of the character he represented.

Although the play called for considerable loud talk, and very strenuous action, it was by no means exaggerated in any detail. Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde is an exacting role, worthy of the very best of actors, and it will be remembered that Richard Mansfield, who is probably without a peer on the American stage, has represented this character upon the boards.

Altogether the play was very satisfactory, and Manager Bradburn is to be commended upon securing so good a production.

Bon-Bons Free.

The Children's Aid Society

ly means that the work has required all the available funds, and I trust and believe that we will always be able to make use of all the money that comes to us in extending and enlarging the operations of this Society.

Although it is against the fixed rule of the Society to take as wards infant children, we were this year obliged in defiance of our own rule to take two infant children; the reason being, that in both cases the mother had died and there was no person upon whom the care of the infant would devolve who was capable of rearing it. Rather than allow these infants to perish we broke the rule and have thereby incurred very heavy expense. One child has been placed in a comfortable home, and I anticipate that the other will be taken off the Society's hands before the close of the year.

Some Interesting Cases.

As usual I give a brief review of some of the cases dealt with during the year in order that the varied character of the work may be appreciated.

1.—Harry ——.—This was an English boy who was kept in the Shelter for two months while his mother was preparing a home, which she finally succeeded in doing.

2.—Alice ——.—The mother of this child was simple minded and dissolute. The child was kept in the Shelter and finally placed with her own people.

3.—Margaret, Flora and Mary ——. —These children were under the care of the Society for two weeks while the mother underwent an operation in the hospital.

4.—Emma, Bertie and Charles ——. —These children were placed in the Shelter because the father would not work and the family were in need. We brought the father before the Magistrate in March and again in April. On the latter occasion he was committed to gaol for two months. The family is now doing well.

5.—Arthur and Laura ——. —The mother of these children, who was a widow as known to the police and had been before the County Magistrate. She was quite unable to bring up the children in a proper manner. They were, therefore, transferred to the Society. All three have now been placed in good homes in the country.

6.—William Hamilton ——.—This boy gave us a lot of trouble and finally escaped from our Shelter. He was too big a boy for our methods, which are only to be relied on with the smaller children.

7.—Joshua and Clarence ——.—This was an interesting and unusual case which came to us from the Indian Village at Chemong Lake, and which involved the question of guardianship of two handsome little motherless boys. The Society having investigated the case and reported through the Indian Agent to the Department at Ottawa the recommendations made by the Society were adopted by the Department and the question of guardianship satisfactorily settled.

8.—Ernest and William ——.—These were two fine little boys from a neighbouring township. They were transferred to the Society upon demand made for good cause. One has been satisfactorily placed and the other is still in the Shelter.

9.—Casuals.—Many children have been taken into the Shelter for temporary periods, some only long enough to be fed and warmed, others have been fitted out with clothing kindly sent in by parents of children who have no further use for the same.

Upon several occasions mothers and children left stranded at the railway stations on Sundays have been looked after, and as usual children who have been placed in homes in former years have been returned to the Shelter and have remained there pending transfer to other quarters.

Demand for Children.

The demand for intelligent, healthy children seems to be unlimited, but it does not always happen that the children who come under our care are attractive or strong, many of them must be kept in the Shelter and nourished there until they thrive sufficiently to enable us to offer them to foster parents.

The criminal side of the work has been carried on as in previous years. All cases in which boys under fourteen years of age were concerned, and all cases affecting girls under sixteen years of age have been watched in the Police Court by an officer of the Society. Children on remand have been committed to the Shelter instead of to the gaol as formerly, and the children's court has been held in private instead of before a gaping public as in former years. No child under the ages mentioned has been necessary to send two to the Industrial School.

The thanks of the Society are due to the City Council and the County Council for grants of money without which the work could not be carried on. We are also indebted to the ladies for work done at the Shelter and to many kind contributors upon whom we depend for a continuance of their support.

The Magistrates, Mr. Dumble, K.C., and Mr. Edinison, K. C., have, as in former years, acted in entire sympathy with the spirit of the legislation under which our work is carried on. With the Magistrates in sympathy with the work the machinery of the law works smoothly and with pleasure to all concerned. With the Magistrates out of sympathy with the work it would be a difficult matter, indeed, to carry on the work satisfactorily.

We also acknowledge with thanks the services of Chief Bowzel and his constables which have been at our disposal at all times.

A Reminder.

Our friends are now reminded of the Christmas distribution to the children, which will be conducted this year in the same manner as in former years. Any person who is anxious to spend a little money in providing Christmas gifts and good cheer for children who will receive none otherwise, are requested to hand their contributions to Mr. Cochrane, our Agent, who will distribute the baskets where they will be greatly appreciated.

The management of the Shelter has been excellent. Your officers have nothing but satisfaction to express with the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Henry have performed their duties.

In Mr. Cochrane we have a most efficient, painstaking and conscientious agent, and I have pleasure in testifying to the fact that his heart is in the work and that his salary is no recompense for the time and effort which he devotes to the cause.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. M. DENNISTOUN,
Secretary.

Concert At Chesterville

The Chesterville Record reports:

"The concert held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church proved to be one of the finest that the Chesterville people have ever been favoured with. The star of the evening was Mrs. Annie Cochrane. Mrs. Cochrane possesses a voice of great range and sweetness. Her interpretation of her songs was very sympathetic and showed careful study. Her enunciation was perfect. One does not expect to find much new in the old songs, but Mrs. Cochrane's rendering of "Annie Laurie" was a surprise to those most familiar with the song. To point out any one song as particularly worthy of mention would be a mistake, for they were all well rendered. Mrs. Cochrane is at home in the light Japanese songs as well as in the heavy, martial air of "The Camaron Men." Should Mrs. Cochrane again visit Chesterville a full house will greet her."

Mrs. Cochrane is a sister of T. C. Elliott, of the Port Hope Knitting Works here.

How Is Your Cold?

Every place you go you hear the same question asked.

Do you know that there is nothing so dangerous as a neglected cold?

Do you know that a neglected cold will turn into Chronic Bronchitis, Pneumonia, disgusting Catarrh and the most deadly of all, the "White Plague," Consumption.

Many a life history would read different if, on the first appearance of a cough, it had been remedied with

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

This wonderful cough and cold medicine contains all those very pine principles which make the pine woods so valuable in the treatment of lung affections.

Combined with this are Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other pectoral herbs and barks.

For Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness or any affection of the Throat or Lungs. You will find a sure cure in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Mrs. C. N. Loomer, Berwick, N.S., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for coughs and colds, and have always found it to give instant relief. I also recommended it to one of my neighbors and she was more that pleased with the results."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup 25 cts. per bottle at all dealers. Put up in yellow wrapper, and three pine trees the trade mark. Refuse substitutes. There is only one Norway Pine Syrup and that one is Dr. Wood's.

education. In accordance with this plan, all revenues for local purposes, and also for general purposes, except for the support of missions and education, shall be pooled, and taken charge of by one treasurer.

2. Pew Holders.

That the practice of letting pews and sittings be discontinued, and that the income heretofore derived in that way be raised through contributions by envelopes, preferably weekly. It is therefore recommended that the holder of a pew or sittings place in one envelope weekly his or her contribution towards all the expenses of the church, local and general, except for missions and education. To safeguard the adoption of this new method against financial loss, it is further recommended that the scheme be clearly laid before the people, and that each of our present pew holders be personally solicited for a weekly offering at least as large as his present average weekly offering, for all the purposes of the church above mentioned. That when an applicant presents himself hereafter for sittings, advantage be then taken of the occasion to secure his definite promise on paper to fulfill his obligation towards the support of the interests of the church. That the Trustee Board shall reserve the right to withhold any pew or sittings, and that on default of payment of contributions for three months the Trustee Board shall have power to declare the pew or sittings of the delinquent forfeited.

3. Pew Committee.

That a pew committee, consisting of five members, shall assign sittings to applicants according to some definite rule to be adopted, shall appoint ushers and see that they faithfully and efficiently perform their duties, and shall name those whose office it will be to take up collections. This committee will be appointed annually by the Trustee Board.

4. Finance Committee.

That a Finance Committee of eight members shall be entrusted with the supervision of the church finances. It shall be their duty to certify to all accounts, devise means of providing revenue, execute plans of raising money, and apportion amounts to connectional funds. That the Recording Steward and Secretary of the Trustee Board, be ex-officio members of this committee. That the remaining six members be elected, three by the Trustee Board, and three by the Quarterly Official Board, one of the latter three to be a representative of the Sunday schools. That the Recording Steward shall be chairman of the Finance Committee.

5. Secretary.

That the offices of Pew Steward and Envelope Steward shall be abolished, and that in their stead the office of Secretary shall be created. That he shall be appointed annually by the Trustee Board on the recommendation of the Finance Committee, and shall be designated the Financial Secretary. His duties shall be to act as Secretary to the Finance Committee, receive and hand over to the Treasurer all moneys that belong to the general fund, keep an account of all moneys received, supply all contributors with envelopes, keep an envelope account with each subscriber to the general fund, make out and deliver to each contributor by envelope, on the first Sunday in each quarter, a statement of his account for the preceding quarter, and render each quarter an intelligible report to the Trustees and Quarterly Official Boards of all the aggregate and weekly average subscriptions and collections of the preceding quarter, the total number of subscribers, the new and cancelled subscribers for the quarter, amount of arrears, if any, etc. He shall be paid by the Treasurer such salary as the Finance Committee may decide upon.

6. Treasurer.

That the Treasurer of the Trustee Board shall take charge of all moneys belonging to the General Fund, make all payments provided for by that Fund, and keep a record of all amounts received and disbursed by him. He shall make all payments by cheque, and, except in case of fixed salaries, only on the written order of the Secretary of the Trustee Board or the Recording Steward, or the Secretaries of the Sunday Schools.

7. Church Year.

That the Church Year shall coincide with the calendar year, terminating on the 31st of December.

8. Sunday Schools.

That the Sunday Schools shall be a charge on the General Fund, the financial assistance given to them to be determined by the Finance Committee. All collections and other receipts of the schools shall be handed over to the Financial Secretary and apportioned by the Finance Committee to local and general church purposes. The Sunday School Boards shall be allowed the privilege of making recommendations to the Finance Committee regarding the appropriation of funds raised by them.

9. Date to Take Effect.

That this scheme as adopted shall take effect from the first day of January, 1906. That the Pew Steward take the necessary steps at once to have collected all pew rents due up to January first, 1906.

10. Auditing of Books.

That the financial books of the Trustee and Quarterly Boards, and of all the subsidiary organizations of the church shall be closed and balanced at the end of this and each future civil year, and shall be audited as soon as possible thereafter by two auditors, one appointed by the Trustee Board, the other by the Quarterly Board.

Signed by
J. J. JEFFREE,
Chairman.

On the adoption of the report the following were elected the Finance Committee for 1906:—Mr. A. W. Cressman, Chairman; Messrs. A. E. Dixon, M. C. Stabler, B. F. Ackerman, B. Shortly, F. Brownscombe, G. Robertson and Mr. J. Jeffries, Secretary.

The five members of the Trustee Board who are on the Finance Committee will form the Pew Committee for 1906. They are: Mr. B. Shortly, Chairman; Messrs. B. F. Ackerman, F. Brownscombe and A. E. Dixon. Mr. Jeffries was appointed Financial Secretary.

The Street Railway Rink, Jackson Park, will be open for skating tomorrow evening. Fifty-seventh Regimental Band in attendance.

North Monaghan Institute Meeting

A Most Successful Gathering of Farmers Held.

The meeting of the Farmers' Institute held at North Monaghan on Friday night was well attended, about one hundred persons being present.

President Hunter opened the meeting with a short address, and called on Mr. Arnott for a selection on the graphaphone.

Mr. Shearer then gave his address on "A Dairy Herd." He first touched on the importance of weighing the milk of the cows in order to ascertain which of the cows were paying and which were only boarders—giving an instance of a herd that produced milk worth on the aggregate $50 each, but in the same herd on a test, one cow produced $75 worth while another only reached $25. This showed conclusively that it paid to test the cows and weed out the cows that were boarders. Farmers should keep only the best to raise calves from. No cows should be kept that gave less than 1,000 lbs., and we should improve up to 5,000 lbs. A farmer should not be satisfied, he said, until he had reached the 6,000 lb. mark. Grade up your herd to suit your business. Let it be for the factory when paid for by test or otherwise by choosing the breed you want, but use a thorough bred sire and continue on that line. Do not cross from one breed to another. Mr. Shearer said that his plan of raising calves is to feed for at least two weeks on whole new milk, then add a cup full of skim milk, gradually increasing the latter, and add a little cream equivalent or other like food, mixed in the milk. After a while give them a little hay and a little crushed oats. Keep calves in during the day time but let them out at night. In the winter they will be ready to eat a like ration and will come out in good condition in the spring to turn out on the grass. It is very important to handle the calves and groom them some, so that they may get accustomed to kind treatment. They will then require very little breaking to milk; at any rate you will not require a stick to accomplish your purpose.

The speaker said, that he had good results from Holsteins, although he said they were voracious feeders. If large returns were wanted good feeders were required. You can feed clover, hay, straw, silage, roots, oats crushed and bran.

Mr. Arnott gave another selection on the graphophone.

Miss Rose followed with an address, "One Eye on the Field another on the town."

After another Graphophone selection Mr. Nash gave his address on "How Plants Grow." His was a good all-round address to the young men advising them to stick to the farm and equip themselves to do everything with an eye to improvement. The farmer to-day to be successful must work along advanced and intelligent lines, to get the best results, or keep up with the procession.

The Concert At Warsaw Was Much Enjoyed

Clever Young Artists Delight a Large Audience in the Village —Mr. John Gow, Father of Charles Gow, Seriously Ill—Farmers' Institute Meeting of East Peterborough—An Interesting Gathering of Farmers—Notes of Interest.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM WARSAW

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, Dec. 12.—Mr. D. A. Fraser, of Norwood was here on business on Tuesday.

Mrs. A. W. Kidd, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. O. B. Earle in Toronto, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald and Miss Smith, of Lakefield, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Mark on Friday last.

Miss Higgins spent Sunday at her home, Lakefield.

A party consisting of Mr. John Duff, Miss Duff, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hall and Miss Shearer, of Indian River, attended the concert here on Friday evening.

Mr. T. B. Wilson was in Norwood on Wednesday last attending the political addn's.

The regular monthly meeting of Court Warsaw, C.O.F., was held on Tuesday last.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson attended the dinner and concert at Havelock Presbyterian church on Friday last, and reports an excellent time.

Mrs. O. G. Williamson, of Omemee, is visiting relatives here.

Rev. A. E. Camp, of Havelock, will conduct the services in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday next at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m., and at Cottesloe at 3.30 p.m.

Mr. Jas. Kidd has purchased a farm near Lakefield and will move next March.

Mr. W. H. Dunford has purchased Mr. Kidd's farm and will take possession in the spring.

The splendid skating during the week just brought a great many to the river. There is some talk of a rink being erected.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present at the Christmas tree entertainment at Cottesloe on Monday, Dec. 18th.

The many friends will be sorry to hear of the serious illness of Mr. John Gow. Expression of sympathy are heard everywhere.

The concert given by Miss Gertrude Trotter, A.T.C.M., assisted by Miss Thompson and Mr. Jas. Dyer, of Bellaville, proved to be one of the best given here in recent years. Miss Trotter gave a number of readings, humourous and pathetic, and won the appreciation of the audience from her first number. In her rendition of "Christmas at Black Rock," the audience was transferred to the actual scene by the vividness of the description, while the selection "Jes 'fore Christmas" was provocative of roars of laughter.

Miss Thompson in several vocal selections, showed herself possessed of a sweet and well cultured voice, while in her instrumental numbers the result of much study was in evidence. The number, "Statue Posing," taken by Miss Trotter and Miss Thompson was much appreciated and displayed the results of the combined study of physical culture and art. The vocal selections of Mr. Dyer were received with applause, each calling forth an enthusiastic encore. A commendable feature of the entertainment was the giving of free admission tickets to the school children.

Farmers' Institute.

The first meetings, for this year, of the East Peterborough Farmers' Institute, were held in the town hall on Monday afternoon and evening. Instructive and interesting addresses were given by Miss Laura Rose, of Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and Messrs. C. W. Nash, of Toronto, and W. C. Shearer, of Bright. Miss Rose was entertained at the home of Mrs. S. R. Payne, where the Women's Institute met in the afternoon. About thirty members were present and had a talk on the "Making of Bread and Buns." Miss Rose gave a great many new ideas and showed a thorough acquaintance with the subject.

The afternoon meeting of the farmers although not largely attended was representative of the best stockmen in Dummer. Mr. E. Hawthorne, Vice-President, occupied the chair. Mr. J. O'Reilly, Secretary was also on the platform. In opening his address on "Stock-raising," Mr. Nash told of old time dairying. The difficulties of finding a market for produce of the dairy, and of a means of transporting the same to foreign markets. For a long time short horn stock was used, these were good beef animals but poor milkers. A change was made throughout the country, and the Ayrshires were brought in. These, said the speaker were a good all round cow. However, as time went on a good deal of dissatisfaction was expressed by dairymen on account of the means by which milk was tested at the factories. Then the Babcock test was introduced only to remain in use a short time.

The Holstein cow was next brought in. These are fine milkers as to quantity but the quality is not very high. Now these three strains have cultivated the most mongrel herds on earth to-day. In a great many herds in Ontario these strains are to be seen and show the result of careless breeding. A person who wishes for the welfare of his country must procure high bred stock. Before procuring stock an important question is, what is this farm or district best adapted for? Mr. Nash strongly advised a community to all breed as nearly as possible the same grade of stock as higher prices will be the result. When a buyer is able to come to a section and buy a shipment of cattle all of the same breed, instead of going all over the country to hunt them up, he can afford and will pay a higher price. Another question to ask yourself before buying is, what do you like yourself? The speaker then explained some of the features of the different breeds.

The Ayrshires will pay well on rough land and is much liked by cheese-makers because of the good quality of the milk.

The Jerseys are also noted for the superior quality of the milk, although in quality they are lacking. If there were any man who sold milk in the town, he would advise them to use Holstein cattle, then they would not have to depend on the pump. The Bates shorthorn is considered one of the best all-round cows in Ontario. Mr. Nash then spoke on horses for a few moments, and answered several questions asked on various subjects, and brought his address to a close amid much applause. Mr. P. Fitzgerald then spoke for a few moments. Mr. Fitzgerald claimed that there was more money in raising hogs than horses.

Mr. Shearer was then called upon to speak on the subject, "The Bacon Hog and Its Feeding." The speaker thought the hog the best paying animal on the farm when the whey and skimmed milk from a dairy can be easily procured. The packer wants hogs weighing from 160 to 200 pounds, the long, slim, sloped hog, but not the specimen known as the fish-back. Mr. Shearer then spoke of the feeding and rearing of young pigs. First of all, a warm dry pen is necessary then the food regulated to suit the growing stock. During the winter hogs should have a condiment of some kind. A mixture of charcoal, sulphur and ashes is good. Try to have your hogs ready for the market in August, when invariably the best price is obtained. The Tamworth is perhaps the best bacon hog, although the Yorkshire and Berkshire are close seconds. Mr. Shearer then gave instructions regarding the building of hog pens, and explained the plans of a pen that he recently built, and which he thinks is a good model. The pen should be so constructed that (the windows would face the south, and should be flooded with light. Cement floors are the best, and these should be well sloped. The speaker then answered a number of questions asked by the members, and the afternoon session was brought to a close.

Evening Session.

The evening session was one of the most successful ever held by the society here. The hall was crowded with a mixed audience, and the rather lengthy addresses of the delegates were listened to with much interest and appreciation. The Women's Institute furnished a splendid programme of vocal and instrumental music which did much to liven up the proceedings. Mr. Shearer was the first speaker to be called upon, and in his address, "Pure Bred Poultry for Boys and Girls," showed a great familiarity with the subject. Throughout the address the speaker tried to impress upon the farmers the importance of allowing their sons daughters to do a little business for themselves. Fowl raising is one of the best branches of farm work upon which to commence. The speaker then explained how to properly set a hen. Do not have the nest too dry. Place some earth in the bottom to hold the moisture. For young chicks great care must be taken regarding the feeding. For the first week hard-boiled eggs and bread crumbs ground up are good; after that the chicks will thrive on what scrapings. When you have some fowl ready for sale, advertise them in some good farm journal. The speaker then gave instances of how several boys of his acquaintance had made a good start financially from the poultry business.

After several musical numbers had been rendered, Miss Rose was called upon, and in a very free and easy manner delivered an address on things generally. The successful farmer these days must have one eye on the field and the other on the town, said the speaker, and, following these lines, a very interesting address was given, calling attention to the fact that the old Ontario farmer must cultivate a business ability.

"The Enemies of the Pea Crop and How to Deal With Them," was the subject from which Mr. Nash spoke. The pea weevel is the worst enemy of the pea crop, but this can be effectually controlled in several ways. Then the history of the pea weevel was given, and several ways of destroying the pests, the principal one of which is the use of the bisulphate of carbon. It is estimated that the loss each year in Ontario by the weevel field mice, hession fly, codling moth, weeds and other pests is from ten to twenty-five per cent. The

A WOMAN'S BACK IS THE MAINSPRING OF HER PHYSICAL SYSTEM. The Slightest Backache, if Neglected, is Liable to Cause Years of Terrible Suffering.

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is constantly more subject to kidney disease than a man's, and what is mind, a woman's work is never done—her whole life is the continuous strain.

How many women have you heard say "My, how my back aches!" Do you know that backache is one of the first signs of kidney trouble? It is, and should be attended to immediately. Other symptoms are frequent thirst, scanty, thick, cloudy or highly coloured urine, burning sensation when urinating, frequent urination, puffing under the eyes, swelling of the various ankles, floating specks before the eyes, etc.

These symptoms if neglected, in time and cured at once, will cause years of terrible kidney suffering. All these symptoms, and in fact, these diseases may be cured by the use of

Curling Skips to Choose Rinks

To-night the Curling Club will meet to choose the rinks for the season. The prospects at the present time are that this season will see the greatest interest displayed in the roarin' game in a number of years and that the club membership will be large is certain.

The ice will be ready in a few days if the present cold weather continues.

THE TURF.

Mr. Alf. Brown, Taylor and Emory, Niagara Falls, have written Mr. R. J. Munro, President of the Turf Club and have secured accommodation at the Munro House for three horses that they wish to race in Eastern Circuit races this winter. The horses will arrive here in a short time. And still they come.

* * * *

A number of local horses worked out yesterday afternoon on the Turf Club track. Trainer H. A. Cook and Espellet Miss Paisley and Little Jap there and Mr. Martin Connors' fast mare. Lady Gothard, was also speeded around the ring.

The pedigree of the fast Canadian-bred pacer, Texas Rooker, (2.05¼-4), has never been cleared up in the Year Book, says The Horse Review, so our thanks are due Friend E. A. Cuff, of Barrie, Ont., for recent information on the subject. Mr. Cuff writes:—Rooker's sire was the pacing stallion of the same name, Texas Rooker (2.10¼-4) who was by paper Texas Jack (2.19¼-4). The dam of Texas Rooker (2.05¼-4) is given as by Lexington, thoroughbred son of a mare by Black Billy, trotter, son of Lexington, the immortal son of Boston. The mare in question is apt to take high rank as a producer, being also the dam of the fast pacer Collingwood Rooker (2.13¼-4), besides two promising younger foals by Reflection (2.07½-3). Collingwood Rooker made a record of 2.14¾-4, in 1904, and is given in the Year Book as by Rooker, Jr. Mr. Cuff states this to be an error, as the gelding is an own brother of Texas Rooker (2.05¼-4).

Texas Rooker only race in Peterborough this winter at the Turf Club's Ice Races. At anyrate he will race in Ottawa.

HOCKEY

The Eko Camp Hockey Club is out to-day with a challenge to the C.D.A. Club. The clashing of these two teams two years ago is still remembered by those who saw the conflict and the next game will be awaited with interest goes without saying.

SASKATCHEWAN ELECTIONS.

The latest election returns received from Saskatchewan indicate the return of the Scott Government by a majority of four, with the results in three constituencies in doubt — that is Premier Scott, who, with all his cabinet, is elected. has a following of fourteen, and Mr. Haultain, who is also elected, has a following of nine. Owing to the large area of the new province, and the imperfect means of communication in many constituencies, it may be some days before absolutely definite results will be ascertained.

CONDEMNED BY HIS FRIENDS

(Hamilton Times.)

The Times has not omitted on numerous occasions to take the Toronto News to task for its support of Whitney by unjust attacks upon his Liberal predecessors, and to point out how it silently, or approvingly, saw the Premier violating his loud promises of fairness and high principles, and introducing the spoils system, ousting Magistrates, marriage license issuers and other officials wholesale. It is fitting then that we should recognize the News' late awakening to a realization that the spoils system is the end and aim of the party nominally led by Whitney, but actually led by the spoils hunters of the Beattie Nesbitt type. The News has of late spoken out plainly in condemnation of the doings of the man and party it used every fair and unfair means in its power to elect. Its idol has proved to be very base clay. Here is what it has to say of the dismissal of William McKim, registrar of Dufferin, 25 years, and it should be read as the words of a friend:—

The official order for the dismissal from the Department of the Provincial Secretary reads: "I am commanded by his Honour the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to inform you that he has been pleased to remove you from office as Registrar of Deeds for the County of Dufferin. A copy of the order passed is enclosed herewith." The order was as follows: "Upon consideration of the report of the Honourable the Premier and President of the Council, dated 30th of November, 1905, the Committee of Council advise that for the reasons therein stated, Mr. William McKim be removed from the office of Registrar of Deeds for the County of Dufferin."

It was thus after some years of service that Mr. McKim was summarily removed from office. If any charge was laid against him he was not given an opportunity to defend himself. He was treated as no self-respecting employer would treat an office boy.

After pointing out that Mr. McKim says that Whitney, a few weeks ago in the course of an interview gave him a pledge that he would not be dismissed without being given an opportunity to defend himself against any charges that might be laid against him—a pledge that was violated, the News says:—

We, of course, know nothing of the reasons for Mr. McKim's dismissal. But on its face the whole proceeding is brutal and callous to the last degree. Surely a public officer, who has given twenty-five years of service, and at an age when he is at least partly unfitted for any other pursuit, should not be robbed of his employment without a formal trial before a judge or a legal Commissioner. Surely the Government can offer some explanation for this extraordinary proceeding. On its face it seems to have exhibited a brutal disregard for the common considerations of decency and humanity. Even if it has an explanation to offer to the public that explanation should have been made, and the Registrar should have been made familiar with the whole story before the dismissal was ordered.

Strong words these, and fully justified. What a pity the News' efforts helped to make the scandal of such ruthless spoilsmanship and such shameless untruth in Cabinet officials possible in Ontario! But late as it is its words may do good. They may make it clear to some of the recreant Liberals who were misled into a betrayal of their party how completely they have been sold. And that will be in the interest of decent politics and fealty to good leaders.

The Street Railway Rink, Jackson Park, will be open for skating tomorrow evening. Fifty-seventh Regimental Band in attendance.

Argument In Appeal Case

The Goodfellow Christian Scientist Case in Toronto.

The Toronto Globe has the following report on the appeal of the Goodfellow Christian Scientist case, which has aroused so much interest in Toronto:

Rex. vs. Goodfellow.—H. Cassels, K.C., for defendants Sarah Goodfellow, Isabella Grant, and Elizabeth Lee. T. C. Robinette, K.C., for defendant, William Brundrett. J. R. Cartwright, K. C., for the Crown. Case reserved by Magee, J., on a joint indictment for unlawful conspiring and agreeing together and with other to deprive Wallace Goodfellow of the necessaries of life, to wit, proper medical care and nursing, whereby his death was caused. Upon this indictment the jury found defendants guilty of conspiracy. The questions reserved were (1) Whether the first count of the indictment should have been quashed on the ground that on its face it disclosed no offence known to the law; (2) Whether evidence to show specific cures effected by Christian Science treatment was properly rejected, (3) Whether the judge should have ruled that there was no duty upon defendants to supply the deceased with medical care and nursing, (4) Whether there was evidence for the jury that defendants were guilty on the first count; (5) Whether the charge was erroneous. Upon the request of the Crown a question was also reserved as to whether the second count of the indictment was properly quashed. Argument not concluded.

Howard Peters' Long Term For Stealing $145

Judge Weller Sentences Belmont Man to 23 Months in Central Prison for This Offence--Money Taken From Home of James Rennie, Treasurer of School Board--The Evidence in the Case--A Heavy Sentence Imposed.

DARRELL BARKER IS MORE LUCKY

A verdict of "guilty" was rendered yesterday afternoon by the jury in the case of Howard Peters, at the County Court and General Sessions in progress at the Court House. Peters, who resides in Havelock, was charged with the theft of $145 from James Rennie, Treasurer of S. S. No. 2, Belmont, upon the occasion of a Sunday visit paid to the latter's residence.

Peters was sentenced at noon to-day by His Honour Judge Weller to a term of twenty-three months in Central Prison, Toronto. In delivering judgment His Honour remarked at some length upon the unsavoury past reputation of the prisoner, as well as the mass of evidence pointing conclusively to his guilt.

The jury in the case of Darrell Barker, charged with the theft of a number of drills from the C. G. E. Works, returned with a verdict of "Guilty, with a strong recommendation to leniency." After administering some wholesome advice, His Honour announced his intention of allowing Barker to go upon suspended sentence.

Considerable evidence was taken in the case, which consumed the greater part of the day. The evidence taken in the afternoon was largely that submitted by the defence, the most important witness being James Stacey, uncle of the prisoner, Peters, who testified to having advanced to the latter the sum of $75 which, it was understood, was to be used in the purchase of a horse, to be used by his mother. This evidence was advanced by the defence in an effort at an explanation of the origin of the money which Peters had paid to many witnesses, who had previously testified.

Evidence which placed the prisoner in a decidedly unfavourable light was given by Mrs. Sarah Spence, an invalid, in whose lap he had counted twelve $10 bills. Mrs. Spence testified that before leaving Havelock she had been spoken to by the prisoner, the latter requesting that she might secure a medical permit of absence from Court. She was again approached by him after her arrival in Peterborough, the prisoner this time gently insinuating that she might "let him down light" in the case, for which he made a somewhat vague proposal as to remuneration, the only stipulation being that she should "tap him light." The witness, however, did not acquiesce in the proposed arrangement and revealed the details under oath.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, counsel for the prisoner, made a strong and forceful plea on behalf of his client, and his management of the case for the defence was considered particularly able, in view of the overwhelming mass of incontrovertible evidence presented by the Crown. Particular stress was laid by Mr. Kerr upon the loan of the $75 to the prisoner by his uncle, and also upon the wide range of possibility that the money had been taken by a person or persons other than the prisoner. The many opportunities afforded for this through the careless handling of the money were pointed out.

County Crown Attorney Wood gave a concise and clear-cut presentation of the case for the Crown, which was based upon circumstantial evidence of the strongest possible nature. The chain of incriminating circumstances forged around the prisoner was such as left no possibility of escape.

His Honour Judge Weller charged briefly, embodying in his address a most impartial presentation of the leading points arising in the evidence.

The jury retired at about five o'clock and after deliberating for about an hour returned a verdict of "Guilty."

O.G.E. Theft Case.

The case of Darrell Barker, charged with stealing, on Oct. 18th, a quantity of drills, the property of the Canadian General Electric Company, of which he was an employee, was next proceeded with. Barker was committed for trial by Police Magistrate Dumble, some time ago.

The examination of Crown witnesses was concluded yesterday afternoon. The first witnesses called were John McGlynn and Fred Rochea, of the tool room of the Works. Others testifying were Francis Taylor, Chas. Peters and P. C. Adams. The evidence was a repetition of that taken at Police Court in the preliminary investigation. Barker, as will be remembered by those familiar with the case, was captured while leaving the Works, and was locked in the Gate House, from which he, though under surveillance, made his escape by a rear door, but was secured later by the authorities at Cobourg.

This Morning's Session:

At the opening this morning of the County Court and General Sessions, the case of Darrell Barker was proceeded with. The case for the Crown having been concluded last night, the examination of defence witnesses was proceeded with. Practically no evidence having a direct bearing upon the circumstances of the alleged theft was submitted, the defence in the case resting almost entirely upon the testimony of a number of witnesses as to the previous good character of the prisoner.

The first called was Rev. J. A. H. Bruce of the Park street Baptist church. His evidence went strongly to show a decidedly favourable past record. Other testimony of a similar nature was given by a number of other witnesses, several being from Port Hope, Barker's former place of residence.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams, counsel for the defence, addressed the jury orately. Mr. McWilliams maintained that the prisoner, according to the evidence submitted, even though he had the stolen goods in his possession, was not necessarily guilty of theft, and cited a number of precedents in support of his contention. The evidence of McGlynn was also commented on, and in an effort to show several inconsistencies. Particulare stress was laid, in closing, upon the previous good character of the prisoner.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood attacked in vigourous terms the defence which had been advanced in the prisoner's favour, and ridiculed the attempt to place the evidence of Mr. McGlynn in an unfavourable light. The strong circumstantial evidence against the prisoner was epitomized clearly and with force.

His Honour Judge Weller briefly summarized the facts of the case, giving a lucid and thoroughly dispassionate presentation of the essential points, after which the jury retired, returning after a short deliberation, with a verdict of "Guilty with a strong recommendation to leniency." Barker was then allowed his liberty upon suspended sentence.

This concluded the cases upon the Court docket, and adjournment followed.

Lamented Death of Mrs. D. McNevan

Deceased Was a Highly Respected Resident of the City.

A life-long resident of this county passed away last night in the person of Annie C. McNeil, wife of Mr. Duncan McNevan, 271 Sherbrooke street, after an illness extending over a period of 15 years. Deceased, who was a daughter of the late Peter McNeil of Otonabee was stricken with paralysis at that time and has never recovered fully, although she has not been confined to bed recently until yesterday. Up to five years ago Mr. and Mrs. Nevan resided in Otonabee, removing to Peterborough at that time and living here ever since.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, two daughters, Elizabeth and Catherine, both being at home. Her mother is still living, and two brothers, James of Otonabee, and John of San Francisco, and three sisters, Mrs. McCartney, of Bethany; Mrs. Eakins, of Marmora; and Miss Catharine C., of Keene. The deceased was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 10 o'clock, from the family residence, 271 Sherbrooke street, to the Keene cemetery.

Emily Loses A Respected Resident

Mr. Wm. Sullivan Died on Wednesday Night.

Last night at his home in Emily Township the death of Mr. William Sullivan occurred at the age of 66 years. Deceased had been ailing for about two years, his death being due to heart failure. The late Mr. Sullivan was one of the most highly respected residents of Emily, having lived there all his life, and by his upright dealings made many friends, who will learn with deepest regret of his death.

He was twice married, his first wife being Margaret Hickey, and his second, Elizabeth Flynn, both of whom are now dead. By the first wife he had three children, John, Minnie and Hannah, the first mentioned being on the homestead, the second in Rochester, and the latter in this city. By his second wife he also had three children, two of whom, Dennes and Florence, are living on the homestead, and the third, Ambrose, died recently near Regina, from asphyxiation.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence, lot 21, con. 9 of Emily, to St. Martin's church, Ennismore, where requiem high mass will be sung, and interment will take place in St. Martin's cemetery.

He Said He'd Quit Drinking.

At the police court this morning a man by the name of Brogan pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly. "Where do you come from?" said the court.

"Fraserville, sir," was the reply.

"Well, get back there at once," said His Worship, "and if you come up before me again I will not deal so lightly with you. Let whisky alone," was his parting advice.

"I will," solemnly promised the prisoner.

Returns After An Absence Of 29 Years

Mr. James Miller, a Former Well Known Resident of Peterborough, Comes Back From Alaska to Spend Winter With Friends—Is Living in Katchekan—The Prospects for That County in Mining are Bright—Facts About the West.

GOLD OUTPUT IS ON THE INCREASE

After an absence of 29 years, a former well-known resident of this city returned to pay a visit to the scenes of early days. Mr. Jas. Miller, now living in Katchkan, Alaska, was from 1852 to 1876 a resident of Peterborough. He was in the blacksmith business with Mr. John Lockhart, and their shop was near the Central Park. Twenty-one years ago he left Peterborough and went to the West, living in Victoria, B.C. for 10 years, and afterwards going to Alaska, where he has lived for nearly 20 years.

This is Mr. Miller's first visit to Peterborough since he left here, and he naturally sees a great change in the town in that town. In fact, he stated to the Examiner that the change was so great that he hardly recognizes the place at all. He, however, meets many old friends who recognize him, for time had dealt kindly with Mr. Miller, and there are few, if any, gray hairs to indicate that more than a quarter of a century has elapsed since he left Peterborough. He was, before he left here, a prominent member of the Presbyterian church, and was presentor before the days of choirs. He is here to spend the winter, visiting his brother, Mr. Andrew Miller, of Smith Township, and other relatives, including Mr. W. H. Donnolly, of the Examiner, who is a nephew. He is so well pleased with the West that he has no thought of remaining in the East, although he has retired from business, which is now being conducted by his sons, who succeed him. He has been engaged in the salmon fishing industry, which in that country is an important one.

In Katchkan, which is situated at the southern end of Alaska, there is a population of 2,000, and it is a mining and fishing town, a large copper and gold mine being located at the town. This industry is a growing one, and Mr. Miller states that all over that country there are rich deposits of gold and copper quartz, which branch of mining is carried on exclusively. Katchkan is the most southern port in Alaska, and is the point at which all the boats going north to the Klondike call. It is 400 miles south of Skagway, and 1,000 miles from Dawson. It is also 700 miles north of Victoria. It will be seen, therefore, that this is a country of great distances, and Mr. Miller states that the people of the East have no idea of the extent of territory embraced in British Columbia and Alaska. Mr. Miller gave some interesting information about the Indians, who form a large proportion of the population. They are he states, much superior to the Indians of the plains, being industrious and good citizens. There are a number of Japs in Alaska, too, and they resemble very closely the Indians, both in appearance and mode of living. Both are good citizens, and could not be dispensed with very well.

The mining industry in Alaska is rapidly assuming large proportions. Last year $7,000,000 in gold was sent out from Fairbanks, and about the same from Nome. To show the faith which the capitalists have in the future of the industry, it is only necessary to state that a ditch 92 miles long is being projected to supply water for placer mining.

In Victoria Mr. Miller happened to run across Mr. J. R. Ormond, a former Peterborough gentleman who is living in that city.

Mr. Miller's residence in that country has not been unattended by its troubles. About a year ago Mrs. Miller died, a fact which the many friends of that estimable lady will regret to learn. She was well known here, being a sister of Mr. Duncan McDonald. Mr. Miller will in all probability remain here for the winter.

Robert Tedford Passes Away

Demise This Morning of Respected Smith Township Resident.

The death occurred this morning at his residence, Smith Township, of Robert Tedford, at the age of sixty years.

The deceased was born in Otonabee Township in the year 1845, removing to Harvey in 1869, and was married two years later to Susan Nesbitt, of Otonabee. His demise occurred at the farm which he purchased some time ago from Mr. Coleman Blewett, situated upon the 8th concession of Smith Township.

Left behind to mourn his loss are, besides his wife, four daughters and five sons, as follows: Robert, of Smith; William, and Mrs. J. Wilson, of Harvey; Mrs. Thomas Hervie, Mrs. Byron Westaway and Richard, of Fenelon; John and George, of Smith; and Mrs. Wm. Hawes, of Peterborough. One daughter, the late Mrs. Wm. Arnott, died about two weeks ago. The death will come as a great shock to the community, the deceased being one of the most highly respected residents of the township.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 12 o'clock.

Canada Machine Telephone Co. Gets Franchise

Telephone Committee of the City Council Decides to Recommend that Franchise to Town Company be Given—By-law Has Yet to Pass the Council, However—Terms Not Yet Arranged—Will Place 'Phones in Townships.

PRICES OF 'PHONES ARE $25 AND $15

The Brantford Expositor says:—The telephone issue in this city is still in doubt. The phone committee of the council last night decided to give the Canada Machine Company a franchise, but only three members of the seven came out boldly in favour of the company. Of course, others may follow. But the danger point is at the council meeting next Monday night. There is but one more meeting of the council this year, and in order to pass the by-law a two-thirds vote will be necessary. The question is, are there ten men in the council who will support the by-law?

Last Night's Session.

The special telephone committee of the City Council have decided to recommend to the council that the Canadian Machine Telephone Company be given a competitive franchise in this city. At their last meeting the committee decided in favour of a competitive system as being for the best interests of the city. They had two companies to choose between, the Canadian Machine and the Ontario Telephone Company. The former is the same company that has the franchise in Peterborough, and it is the one the aldermen favoured, or, at least, a majority of the committee. No amendment who offered, the aldermen voting for the Machine Company being Lyle, Watt and Schultz. Last night the committee along with the city solicitor and Mr. McKay, of the company, went as far as to draft the clauses of a rough by-law, which will be further considered in committee on Friday evening.

Some Questions.

At the outset Ald. Leitch explained his position. He said he was opposed to the granting of a competitive franchise. Competition was all right on equal footing, but any new company would not be on an equal footing with the Bell. He intended throwing in his lot with the company to which the aldermen decided to give the franchise, and try to see that as favourable an agreement as possible was entered into. The question of an interchange of service was brought up, Mr. McKay assuring the aldermen that his company's phones could carry on an interchange with any others. He was also asked if they could run a party line and the answer was that they could with additional equipment, but they discouraged party lines.

Term of Franchise.

The term of the franchise, which is to be a competitive one, caused not a little discussion. Even at the close it was not exactly clear what term the aldermen favoured most. The company wanted twenty-one years, with the city having the option of buying at the end of ten years or after. Ald. Watt raised the question of municipal ownership. He stated that some understanding might arise so that the city might want to take over the plant at the end of three years. The company finally agreed, or practically agreed, to let the city have the plant at the end of three years, provided they paid the valuation of the plant, plus the valuation of the franchise up to the end of the ten years, and after ten years at the valuation of the plant alone. Ald. Leitch and Beddoe wanted a straight ten years' competitive franchise, but they were the only ones voting for such a term, since it was thought to be hardly fair to the company, as the franchise was not an exclusive one. As yet the aldermen are not exactly clear on the point regarding a term of years, and it may be changed at a later stage.

Prices of 'Phones.

An attempt was made to have the residence 'phones reduced from $15 to $12 a year, but the company officials stated they could not consider such a suggestion and make the proposition pay. The prices remain $25 for business and $15 for residence. The company agree to have the plant in operation inside of twelve months with a capacity of 500 'phones, and an unlimited capacity for many more. They will commence outside operations by May first.

Underground Construction.

As yet not a great deal has been settled with reference to underground construction. The city engineer will designate certain streets for underground work before the By-law is submitted to the council. A question was also raised by Ald. Schultz about the use of poles, and doubtless some restrictions will be placed upon the company in this regard.

'Phones in Townships.

Mr. McKay stated that it was the intention of the company to put telephones in farmers' residences in the surrounding townships. These 'phones would be at the same price as the city 'phones, and would be on the same circuit.

J. W. Hutchinson Almost Won Prize Fish Rod

His Small-mouthed Bass Weighed 7 Pounds—Popular Proprietor of Idyl Wyld Entered Competition for the Toronto Star Prize Rod—Prize Was Won by Toronto Man—The Fish Was Caught at Trent Bridge.

STORY OF CAPTURE TOLD BY CAPTOR

(Toronto Star.)

The prize rod, reel, and line offered by The Toronto Star to the person catching the best small-mouth black bass in Ontario waters during the past season has been awarded to Mr. Harry C. Baker, of Toronto. His fish was caught near Trent Bridge on August 16, weighed 6 lbs., 11 oz., was 26 1-2 inches long, and girthed 16 1-2 inches. This is the fifth year that The Star has awarded a prize rod for the best black bass properly caught and reported; and this is the first time a Toronto man has won the trophy, although a great many expert anglers go from the city after bass to places no matter how distant and difficult to reach. The bass is a perfect specimen. It was brought to the city, mounted, and for a month was on view in The Star office alongside that of Mr. J. Diamond, of Savannah, Ga., which was also left in care of the fishing editor, while Mr. Diamond went into the far north after big game. Between these two splendid bass there was little difference in measurement, an dbut an ounce and a half of difference in weight.

Conditions Not Complied With.

It was necessary to pass over two entries of black bass claiming greater weight than the one to which the prize is awarded. The conditions were not complied with. In one case the weight was given, but not the length and girth; in the other case the weight an dlength were given, but not the girth. Those entries were:

A black bass caught near Gore Bay, August 23, by Miss Alpheratta Wismer, 374 Palmerston avenue, Toronto. Weight, 7 lbs. 2 oz.

A black bass caught in Rice Lake, June 21, by J. W. Hutchinson, Idyl Wyld, Muskoka. Weight, 7 lbs., length, 20 inches.

The requirement was that not only the weight should be sent in, but also measurements of the length and girth—the one to check the other. Fish are sometimes weighed on deceptive scales. In regard to Miss Wismer's bass, no measurements were taken, and neither that young lady nor those who witnessed the weighing could supply the measurements later on, as the fish had been eaten. It was the same with Mr. Hutchinson's bass. Its weight and length were given, but not its girth. Its weight was given as five ounces heavier than Mr. Baker's bass, but its length was 2 1-2 inches less, and the girth which might have supplied the explanation, was not given. There was nothing to do, therefore, but to exclude these two entries. Miss Wismer and Mr. Hutchinson had not seen the printed conditions of the contest previous to entering their fish, and so failed to comply with the requirements.

How Mr. Barker Caught Him.

"I have been fishing for thirty years," said Mr. Barker, in telling how he caught the big fish, "and that was the largest bass I ever saw. I thought at first that it was a lunge, but when he leaped out of the water and I had a look at him, I said to the men at the oars, James Cook, of Trent Bridge, 'Jim, we've got the fish if we can land him' caught him at a spot well known to anglers, an open space in the Trent River, two miles below Trent Bridge, and between Birch Point and Slaughter Island. It was about ten minutes to twelve. In fact, I have caught all my big ones about the middle of the day.

"I was fishing with a steel rod, an automatic reel and an artificial bait. He ran down stream, and I put my finger on the spring. Then he started back, and jumped into the air. He was certainly a beauty. I played him for ten minutes, and he put up a game fight. Finally I drew him alongside the boat, and Jim made two attempts to get him in. He used a trout net, but it was egg-shaped, and the bass refused to double up. In the struggles Jim lost the net. Then, leaning over, he got hold of the line near the hook, and landed the fish into the boat. The line broke, but the bass dropped inside, instead of outside.

"What I said to Jim for monkeying with the line and running the risk of spoiling everything—well, I guess I'll not tell you. However, the big fellow was about played out, and I might have saved him, anyway, but it was a blunder."

Wesley L. O. L. Elects Officers

An Enjoyable Evening Spent by Members of This Lodge.

The annual meeting of Wesley L. O. L. No. 419 was held in the Orange Hall, Smith Township, on Monday evening, December 11, for the election and installation of officers for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected:

Brp. W. J. Perry, W.M.
Brp. Jno. Harrison, D.M.
Bro. Albert Northey, Chap.
Brp. C. E. Kennedy, R. S.
Bro. Gilbert Northey, F.S.
Bro. Miller Northey, Treas.
Bro. John Northey, Secy.
Bro. J. W. Blewett, 1st Com.
Bro. A. B. Northey, 2nd Com.
Bro. John Montgomery, 3rd Com.
Bro. Aldis Northey, 4th Com.
Bro. Geo. Croft, 5th Com.

The officers were installed by Bro. S. Harrison, past County Master.

At the conclusion of the election of officers a dainty supper was given by the wives and sweethearts of the members. After justice had been done to the good things on the table a short speech was given by the Rev. D. R. Clare, and S. Harrison, after which the National Anthem was sung and the meeting closed.—Com.

The Results Were Most Satisfactory

A meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. was held last evening when a vote of thanks was tendered to the four gentlemen who so kindly and ably assisted the Auxiliary on the occasion of their recent concert, by acting as door keepers. The financial result of the concert was found to be very gratifying. The proceeds will be applied on the furnishing fund of the association room.

Grand English Concert Company Cause Trouble

By Their Attitude in Refusing to Appear on Stage With Bert Harvey and Leroy Kenney—Obliged to Take Part With Comic Singers—Trouble in St. Catharines Tuesday Night—The Singers Were Hissed by Audience.

WILL NOT PERFORM ALONGSIDE COMEDIANS

The principals in the story from St. Catharines told in the following despatch are all well known in Peterborough, the Concert Company having been heard here last week:—

St. Catharines, Dec. 13.—The four members of the English company, consisting of Madame Beatrice Langley, violinist; Miss Myrtle Meggy, pianist; Miss Hope Morgan, contralto, and Stanley Adams, baritone, refused to give their programme at the Veterans' Association's annual concert at the opera house last evening, it Leroy Kenney and Bert Harvey, two Toronto comedians and comic singers, were allowed to take part. Messrs. Harvey and Kenney were down for several comic songs. The Veterans' letter telling the English people about the addition of the comedians to the programme, failed to reach them, and they got a surprise when they saw the names on the programme on arriving at the Grand last night.

It was finally decided, after quite a long delay, to give the programme without the Toronto men, but "the gods" received the announcement by Chairman O'Donnell with exceedingly bad grace. The gods and even some people downstairs displayed their indignation all through the evening, hissing and hooting the Old Country people when they appeared on the stage.

After the musicians had gone through their parts of the programme Mayor Sweet announced that the comedians would give theirs. They did, and were given a great reception.

The English musicians, in excuse for their action, declared that they had never before performed alongside of comedians, and they never intended to. Their action has created a great deal of indignation here.

Provisional Government Set Up In Riga At Livonia.

GOVERNOR IS IMPRISONED

Armed Peasants Burn Estates and Kill Owners—Russian Government Sends a Dictator to the Baltic Provinces, In Which a State of Civil War Almost Exists, to Try to Restore Order There.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 13.—(Evening, via Helsingfors and Berlin, Dec. 13.)—Two messengers who arrived here from Riga to-day, having walked about 130 miles to catch a train at Plock, not only confirm the report that a provisional government has been set up at Livonia, but they say that many of the troops have gone over to the insurrectionists.

Dwina Fort, commanding Riga harbor, is in their possession, and the Governor and other Russian officials are prisoners. The messengers said that the Provisional Government exercises authority throughout Livonia and part of Courland. The new Government has declared the separation of the Lithuanian people from the Russian Empire. They have chosen new local officials, and have decreed the closing of the spirit shops and breweries and the annulments of the contracts between the peasants and landowners. There is a general uprising of the native peasants, who are traveling in armed bands, attacking the estates and driving off or killing their owners.

"Invisible Government" Program.

The League of Leagues, now termed the "Invisible Government," has elaborated a project for a constituent assembly of 982 members elected from districts of 140,000 inhabitants, which upon its convocation, shall assume entire sovereignty, executive, legislative and judicial.

The news drifting in from the interior shows that violence is decreasing, but that the ferment is unabated.

Every class of society is organized parties and elaborating political programs. In some places the landlords threaten that unless the Government suppresses the agrarian disorders they will refuse to pay taxes, or interest, to the nobility or banks for loans, etc., and will take the law into their own hands, organize guards to protect their property and, if necessary, to make reprisals by burning the peasants' villages.

Soldiers Make Pledge.

On the other hand, a meeting of 6,000 workmen has been held in Moscow, at which it is stated soldiers were present, who pledged themselves to fight to the last drop of blood to secure the downfall of imperial rule, an eight-hour working day and a division of the land to the peasants.

Ner Ouglich agitators are urging the peasants to attack the estate of Count Sheremetier, a noted reactionary, cut down the forests, burn the family mansion and annex the lands.

Twelve thousand Cossacks have been despatched to the Baltic provinces.

SENDS DICTATOR.

A State of Civil War Almost Exists in Baltic Provinces.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 12.—(Morning.) via Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, Dec. 13.—The restoration of cable communication with points abroad yesterday lasted only a few hours. Before midnight it was reported that the cable was cut and that despatches must again be forwarded by courier via the German frontier. Nevertheless the outlook is clearing. The Government is breathing freer with a fighting chance that Premier Witte will yet be able to steer his way through the rocks which beset his path. The situation in the Baltic provinces is now the most grave of the Empire's conditions. It approaches civil war, and the Government has been forced to appoint a Governor-General with sweeping administrative powers to try to restore order. All the troops in the provinces have been placed under his command. The importation of arms, which have been entering the country in large quantities, and the sale of weapons have been prohibited, and the authorities are even empowered to arrest for three months under an administrative order persons having arms in their possession.

At the same time the Government recognises that crushing the growing rebellion by force will not suffice, and some sort of local self-government will alone quiet the population. Therefore it has ordered the convocation of representatives of the various classes of the provinces, including the peasants, to work out a scheme for the creation of a zemstvo to control local affairs.

There'll Be No Strike.

The threat of a general strike in the immediate future has disappeared, and the telegraph strike not being supported is going to pieces in spite of the wild appeals of the union to stand firm. At Moscow the tie-up remains complete, but at many other places communication has been re-opened, although in a precarious fashion. The real leaders of the workmen and other proletariat organizations realising fully their weakness and lack of preparations for a decisive struggle have carried the day over the hot-headed strikers. They have, however, placed themselves on record to continue the organization, and equipment of the fighting legions which the old president, Krustaleff, began, thus virtually furnishing the Government with evidence confirming its charges that the criminal code, prohibiting participation in associations, the object of which is armed revolt, and the punishment for which is death, have been violated by the strikers' head organization. It is likely, however, that the Government in order to discount attempts to save M. Krustaleff, will simply charge him with the misappropriation of the funds of the workmen in using them in founding a Socialist paper, which the Government claims can be substantiated.

Catholic Clergy's Protest.

Warsaw, Dec. 14.—A meeting of 417 Catholic clergymen of Russian Poland, after ten hours' session during Tuesday night, resolved yesterday morning to demand autonomy for Poland, with its own Parliament, general secret ballot, the reinstatement of the Polish language in Government offices, the abolition of capital punishment and full amnesty for political prisoners.

Two prominent men of Odessa have declared their readiness to take a formal oath that Gen. Kaulbars, Governor-General of Odessa, said on Oct. 19 that all the Jews in Odessa must be massacred.

The police of the first district of this city have struck, and the authorities have been ordered to arrest eleven of the leaders. They are confined to their barracks.

Panic on Bourse.

Moscow, Dec. 12.—A veritable panic prevails on the bourse. The complete collapse of business in the provinces has been attended by many bankruptcies.

The agrarian disturbances are extending almost to the gates of this city. The country mansions of many nobles, including that of Count Shakhovsky, have been burned.

Aberdeen Not Represented.

London, Dec. 14.—(C.A.P.)—At the Aberdeen harbor board a strong objection was taken to the constitution of the executive committee of the Canadian Cattle Association of Great Britain, in respect that no representative of Aberdeen had been appointed. Daniel Mearns said Aberdeen held the fourth place in the kingdom in importation of cattle; he was amazed Aberdeen had been overlooked. Lord Provost Lyon thought it would be very inadvisable that they should use threats.

Rebels Have Captured a Russian City

Latest Figures, 14 Liberals; 11 Provincial Rights.

LEADERS BOTH ELECTED

Haultain Carries South, Scott the North County—There Will Be Many Recounts, and the Challenged Votes Will Play a Large Part in the Final Returns — The Vote Was Taken on Wednesday.

Regina, Dec. 14.—All the returns received so far from the constituencies indicate a remarkably close and strenuous battle for supremacy in the first Legislature of Saskatchewan between the Scott Ministry and the Provincial Rights party, led by Hon. F. W. G. Haultain. Owing to the vast territory involved and the isolated sections remote from telegraphic connection, it was impossible to secure a definite standing of the parties last night, but at 11.30 (central time) the Government are leading in thirteen constituencies out of 24, and have besides one seat (Humboldt) by acclamation, which is a fair criterion of the interesting struggle. The returns are coming in very slowly.

Ministers All Elected.

The Liberals are sanguine, and at present expect to carry sixteen seats, which will give Mr. Scott a working majority of seven. It is evident that all the Ministers have been returned. Premier Scott had a runaway accident in Lumsden. The election of Hon. J. A. Calder in South Regina and of Hon. W. R. Motherwell in North Qu'Appelle is conceded. Hon. J. H. Lamont has carried Prince Albert in the face of heavy odds in a three-sided contest, after a great fight by a majority of 8.

An idea of the trouble in collecting the returns may be obtained from the fact that some of the outlying constituencies have anywhere from 42 to 58 polls, and the majority of these have to be reached by driving. This it is that makes a forecast impossible, as early majorities may easily be shattered by the final returns on either side.

The Protested Votes.

A feature of the election in the more closely contested seats is the very large number of protested votes. The voting is governed by the same conditions as in the old Territories, there being no regular list, but every voter may swear to his qualifications. If challenged his vote is sealed in an envelope and laid by, to be considered at a scrutiny afterwards, and the challenged voter must prove his right to vote before a magistrate or his ballot is not counted.

THE RESULTS.

Liberals Probably Elected.

Batoche—W. G. Grant, 254 majority.
Battleford—A. Champagne.
Cannington—J. D. Stewart.
Humboldt—D. Neeley (acclamation).
Lumsden—Hon. Walter Scott, 140 majority.
Moose Jaw (District)—John Sheppard, 100 majority.
Prince Albert (City)—Hon. J. M. Lamont, 8 majority.
Qu'Appelle (North)—Hon. W. R. Motherwell.
Regina (South)—Hon. J. A. Calder.
Redberry—George Langley.
Rosthern—George Ens, 185 majority.
Saskatoon—W. C. Sutherland, 19 majority.
Saltcoats—Thomas McNutt, 50 majority.
Yorkton—A. Garry, 100 majority.

Provincial Rights.

Grenfell—Dr. Argue, 100 majority.
Kinistino—Dr. Shadd, 170 majority.
Maple Creek—D. J. Wiley, 30 majority.
Moose Jaw (City)—J. H. Wellington, 48 majority.
Moosomin—Dr. D. Ellis, 141 majority.
Prince Albert (District)—E. Donaldson.
Qu'Appelle (South)—Hon. F. W. G. Haultain, 70 majority.
Regina (City)—H. W. Laird, 16 majority.
Souris—J. T. Brown, 300 majority.
Whitewood—A. B. Gillis, 100 majority.
Wolseley—Dr. W. Elliott, 140 majority.

PERKINS RESIGNS.

Peabody Elected President of the Mutual Life and Will Institute Insurance Reforms.

New York, Dec. 14.—Two incidents affecting the life insurance situation in New York yesterday overshadowed the Legislative Committee investigation. While the committee was inquiring into the conduct of the Prudential Life Co. and the Metropolitan Life, George W. Perkins resigned as first vice-president and chairman of the finance committee of the New York Life. He was succeeded as first vice-president by Alexander E. Orr, president of the New York City Rapid Transit Commission and as chairman of the finance committee by John Claflin, head of the H. B. Claflin Co.

The board of trustees also announced the appointment of this committee of investigation: Thomas P. Fowler, Norman B. Ream, Clarence H. Mackay, Hiram R. Steele and Augustus C. Paine.

A statement was issued which declared that the executive officers had exercised too broad a discretion in expending money. The committee is instructed to inquire especially into payments made to Andrew Hamilton and to use every effort to secure a proper accounting from him. It is instructed to engage expert accountants to examine the system of bookkeeping now in use by the New York Life.

Peabody is President.

Another important move was the election by the trustees of the Mutual Life of Charles A. Peabody to succeed Richard A. McCurdy as president at $50,000 a year. McCurdy's salary was $150,000. Peabody is a lawyer, the American representative of William Waldorf Astor and a director in several banks and other corporations, of which one is the Illinois Central Railroad Co. Peabody also was nominated as trustee of the Mutual Life Co., to succeed Justice Rufus W. Peckham, and Emery McClintock was nominated to succeed Elihu Root.

He issued a statement to policyholders saying:

"The new administration stands pledged to economy, to lawful methods and to reform of existing abuses. Much has already been accomplished to carry out these pledges and all will be done that is necessary to fully redeem them. The board of trustees is harmonious and united upon these matters. The company possesses financial resources far beyond its liabilities. Lapse and surrender of policies means abandonment of accumulations and the savings of years of thrift. Policyholders are urged to continue their policies in the company and not to withdraw from it."

A Financial Deal.

Just before adjournment yesterday Haley Fiske, vice-president of the Metropolitan, told of an incident in which that company commissioned W. A. Read to buy 333 shares of railroad stock for the company. Fiske said that Read the same day sold the stock to a company of brokers at $10 a share less than the broker sold to the Metropolitan. Fiske said he had tried to get the money back, but Read refused to surrender it.

John K. Gore, actuary of the Prudential, said the amount paid into the Prudential Co. in premiums since its organization is about $347,000,000. In the same time its earnings, apart from premiums, were $19,500,000. It paid to policyholders in that time about $92,000,000.

Unemployed See New Premier.

London, Dec. 14.—Another demonstration of the unemployed occurred yesterday but the diminished number of the participants and the absence of spectators indicated waning interest in these operations of the Social Democratic League. The Premier, replying to the deputation, said he greatly sympathized with the men who were out of work, and he would give the fullest consideration to the question.

The Pursuit of Banwell.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—Edwin S. George Banwell, the runaway teller of the Crown Bank, has not been located, nor have the police ascertained anything reliable regarding his movements. Circulars giving descriptions of both Banwell and Miss Hector were sent out yesterday, offering a reward of $250, and stating that a warrant had been issued for his arrest.

MIDDY SENTENCED.

Confined to Academy For One Year and Publicly Reprimanded.

Washington, Dec. 13.—Midshipman Meriwether, who was tried by court-martial for causing the death of Midshipman Branch, has been sentenced to confinement to the limits of the academy for one year and to be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy.

Meriwether was acquitted of the charge of manslaughter and found guilty of the other two charges, namely, violation of the article for government of the navy, which prohibits midshipmen from engaging in fisticuffs, and conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline.

Canada Could Compete.

London, Dec. 13.—The report of the Tariff Commission on the woollen industry, with analysis and summary evidence and statistical tables and diagrams, was issued yesterday. One witness said the latest reduction in preference from that of 1904 will affect the tweeds made at Huddersfield. British manufacturers selling them, witness calculated, would lose £7,000, as it will enable goods to be made in Canada now made in Yorkshire, and unless we have some bargain with Canadians they will undoubtedly increase their duties.

Ladies After York County Loan.

Toronto, Dec. 13.—A petition for the winding up of the York County Loan & Savings Company was filed in the County Court yesterday morning by Messrs. Laidlaw, Kappele, Bicknell & Bain, on behalf of Mrs. L. Sutherland, Mrs. Elizabeth Todd and Mrs. N. Miller, shareholders, who also represent a number of other shareholders. They desire that the company shall be wound up under the Ontario act. W. M. Douglas, K.C., counsel for the loan company will oppose the application on Friday.

Medicine Kills Child.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 13.—The infant son of Wm. Duncan died after being treated for apparent colic with Chamberlain's Colic Cure, an American proprietary medicine. Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart stated last evening that the medium dose for an infant, as by the bottle directions, would be fatal to any child. Opium is used in it.

Alleged Insurance Combine.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—City Attorney Ether is communicating with the Toronto authorities to find how they started proceedings against the plumbers' combine, and it is quite likely that the city will follow the same course against the alleged insurance combine if any evidence can be secured.

Soldiers Go to Halifax.

Toronto, Dec. 12.—There was a spectacular reminder of the military days of five years ago, at the Union Station last night, when 120 infantrymen of the Royal Canadian Regiment from Stanley Barracks departed on the regular 10.15 Grand Trunk train for Halifax, where they succeed the British regiment which has garrisoned that fort for years. Forty men from London also passed through on the C. P. R. train.

Fatal Indulgence.

Toronto, Dec. 12.—Because he was deprived of whiskey through, it is said, the order of the license inspector rendering it impossible for him to secure spirituous liquor on Sunday, Frederick Volt, a piano polisher, took about eight ounces of wood alcohol and died yesterday from the effects of it. He was in the habit of drinking a certain amount of liquor every day and when deprived of it became sick.

MINING CONVENTION.

Told By Hon. Frank Cochrane That "Pull" is Dead—Royalty Opposed By the Miners.

Toronto, Dec. 13.—Upwards of 100 mining men attended the opening meeting of the miner's convention yesterday. The feature of the day were Hon. Frank Cochrane's speech, in which he declared that "pull" was dead and the debate on the mining royalties, which the mining men will ask to have abolished. A new association will be formed.

Hon. Frank Cochrane asked the mining men not to ask too much legislation so as to make other people jealous, so to speak. "Some declared there is a pull at Cobalt," said the Minister of Lands and Mines. "I want to say pull is dead. Equity and justice will come first always." He believed that the alterations last session had benefited the miners.

A resolution committee was formed to boil down the suggestions contained in the various resolutions from the preliminary meetings in the mining centres.

At the afternoon session the royalty question was threshed out and it was decided to ask for the abolition of extra taxes on mining property.

The resolution committee, through Geo. Marsh, Port Arthur, recommended a general law.

BANK TELLER TRACED.

Tried to Dispose of Forged Bills—Not Yet Captured.

Toronto, Dec. 13.—E. S. Banwell, the absconding bank teller, and the girl who accompanied him, have been traced to Niagara, on to Buffalo, and late yesterday afternoon General Manager O'Grady received a message that he was in New York. He had entered a broker's office Monday and attempted to buy some securities with the notes, to which he had forged the name of the general manager. The rule there not to accept Canadian bank bills foiled him. He was joined by a pretty girl with dark hair corresponding to that of Miss Hector.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Crown Bank was held yesterday afternoon. It is said some of the young man's friends have intimated their willingness to make good the shortage. The bank, however, by their contract with the London Guarantee Co., compels them to prosecute.

Young Banwell was only receiving $650 a year, and it would have been some years before he would have attained the required amount upon which to marry. This fact has gained for him considerable sympathy around town.

Brazil Lodges Complaint.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—The Brazilian Minister lodged a complaint with the Foreign Office over the proceedings of the German cruiser Panther, averring a breach of international rights. The Foreign Office replied that the incident would be investigated fully and with entire impartiality, and that if the Germans were in the wrong full satisfaction would be given.

No More Poles Or Wires.

Montreal, Dec. 13.— Instructions have been issued by the city authorities to at once arrest any persons found erecting poles or stringing wires on Montreal streets. This mainly affects the Montreal Light, Heat and Power Trust, and a test case will be made to establish the legality of the bylaw.

Taught the Queen Music.

San Francisco, Dec. 13.—Henry Holmes, formerly musical instructor to Queen Alexandra of England, and for the past 17 years a resident of San Francisco, died at his home in this city on Saturday last. He was born in London in 1839.

The York Loan Co.

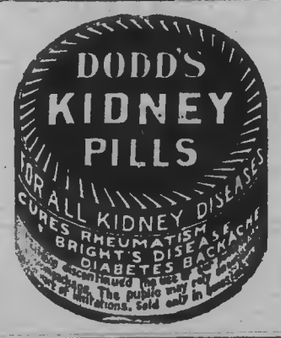
Toronto, Dec. 12.—Yesterday Attorney-General Foy, left town for a day or two. Before going he received a letter from certain shareholders asking for an investigation into the affairs of the York Loan Co. He said the matter would be determined after his return. Meanwhile certain shareholders at Brampton are taking legal proceedings.

Asking Way, Drops Dead.

Bowmanville, Dec. 12.—A terribly sudden death occurred on East King street, opposite McClellan & Co.'s lumber yard yesterday, when a man driving a span of horses to a wagon containing some furniture toppled over on the seat as he was enquiring of a workman named John Fice the way to S. C. Hewlett's. The dead man was a Manvers' farmer, named William Forsythe. Heart disease was the cause of death. He was in his 67th year, and has a family.

Preston's Appeal Dismissed.

Toronto, Dec. 12.—The court of appeal was yesterday occupied with the petition of W. A. Preston, Conservative, who in the Port Arthur and Rainy River election, was defeated by Hugh Kennedy. Justices Maclennan and Teetzel dismissed Preston's petition. Many corrupt acts, such as treating and bribery, were proven, but the judges were of opinion that the persons committing them were not proved agents of Kennedy.



RATES OF THE RAILWAYS.

Business Men, Millers and Manufacturers Allege Discrimination.

Toronto, Dec. 13—Before the Railway Commission yesterday, C. B. Watts spoke for Wright and Co., millers, of Owen Sound, who alleged unfair rates, and discrimination in switching charges. His clients were charged $15 a car, while other millers obtained a rate of $1 and $2 a car. The wheat was loaded on the cars at the C. P. R. elevator and delivered at a public switch a half mile distant.

"The Wright mills are not being charged at switching rates," said Mr. MacMurchy. "They are being charged the rate for short hauls or hauls under ten miles. It is just as much trouble to take the car the full distance as a half mile."

"As the milling company cannot haul grain directly to the elevator," said Chairman Killam, "why not deliver to the siding on a through rate charge and eliminate the local charge?"

The railway was given ten days to file a reply.

A. B. Petrie, for the Petrie Manufacturing Co. of Hamilton, applied for a reduction of the rates on cream separators manufactured by his firm. The present rate was not consistent. The board promised to make some ruling after they had time to compare the rates.

The commission left for Ottawa last night. The final argument on the new car service rules will be heard in Montreal on Thursday.

The commission consented to the granting of an order by Justice Burbidge to Wallace Nesbitt agreeing to the appointment of Judson Harmon of Cincinnati as receiver for the Pere Marquette Railway, which operates in Canada the Lake Erie and Detroit, Huron and Erie and London and Port Stanley lines. The only two Canadian creditors have already been settled with.

THE WINTER FAIR.

Streets of Guelph Thronged — Entries Exceed Those of Previous Years.

Guelph, Dec. 13.—Yesterday was the opening day of the Ontario Provincial Fair and last night the streets were thronged with visitors from all over Ontario, more remote parts of the Dominion and from the United States. Excellent hotel service is being supplemented by that of private citizens and an energetic reception committee assures ample accommodation. The exposition, however, will shortly demand a much larger building.

The list of entries is in excess of any preceding year. In cattle they number some 250, while in the dairy test class 50 are entered. In poultry the show is phenomenally large, rivaling, it is said, that of St. Louis and numbering 3,600. Sheep are represented by 550 entries and swine by 300, and as representing the rapid advance in the breeding of pure bred stock the show is great. Many ladies are in attendance, a large number being members of women's institutes.

The first of the series of lectures of the Western Ontario Poultry Association was held last night, the speakers being William McNeil of London: W. J. Bell, Angus; W. R. Graham, of the O. A. C., and Lawrence Baldwin, of Toronto, continued the discussion.

At the Agricultural College a reunion of the students and ex-students was held, at which an address was given by Hon. Mr. Monteith.

UNATTAINED AMBITION.

Montreal Woman Suicides in New York—Life a Disappointment.

New York, Dec. 13.—The World yesterday says: Disappointed apparently in her ambition to rise higher in the social scale and in intellectual pursuits, Mrs. Christina Peloquin, wife of Otto Peloquin, an expert machinist employed by a firm of manufacturers of automobiles, killed herself in the Grand Union Hotel.

So intense was her determination to die that the revolver, the muzzle of which was pressed against her right temple, was held in such a death grip that the coroner's physician had to pry her fingers apart.

The theory of disappointed ambition was advanced by Romer Peloquin, the son.

The Peloquins came to New York from Montreal five years ago, the husband going to live with friends and the mother to Morsemere, N. J. Mrs. Peloquin was educated in one of the most exclusive seminaries in Montreal. She was ambitious to excel in literature and her husband was anxious to aid.

Neither father nor son knew that she was in New York.

Quebec Conservatives Organize.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—Six hundred delegates gathered at the Jacques Cartier Club yesterday afternoon, and constituted themselves into the first Conservative convention that has been convened in Quebec Province for thirty years. G. N. Ducharme, president of the Provincial Bank, was elected chairman. Arthur Prieur and J. H. Jacob were appointed secretaries, and F. D. Monk made an excellent speech in English. It is understood that a declaration of principles has been prepared.

Torontonian Asphyxiated.

Buffalo, Dec. 13.—Frank F. Stuart, 35 years old, a former employe of the Canadian Flavoring Extract Co., was found dead in bed in his room at 33 West Tupper street yesterday morning. A gas jet in the room was turned on full. Stuart's home was in Toronto, Ont., where his wief and nine-year-old daughter now live. He came here a week ago and was about to enter upon a business venture with his uncle, J. A. Stuart of this city.

SEATS OF THE MIGHTY.

Of all the chairs of church or state—
Bench, woolsack, throne, or what you will—
'Tis written in the book of fate
The high chair is the highest still.

Lolled in his office chair there sits
The master of a thousand mills;
Men toil or rest as he permits;
Men fail or prosper as he wills.

Perched on the polished bench, where strife
Cries to condemn or pleads to save,
Sits one, and blots the light from life,
Or nods another to the grave.

Squat in his place of power behold
The monarch of a mighty land!
And destinies are lightly told,
Toyed in the hollow of his hand.

But over all and over each
Another sits, who must be reckoned;
The eternal woman comes to teach
The first of men he is but second.

Yet hardly is her realm begun
Till she must learn as she has schooled;
For lo! there comes the helpless one
And rules the ruler of the ruled.

For chairs of church or seats of state—
Bench, woolsack, throne or what you will—
Are only relatively great;
The high chair is the highest still.
—St. Nicholas.

ANKLETS WORN AGAIN.

Modern Women In London Return to Ancient Ornament.

The anklet, after hundreds of years, has returned to favor, and is to grace the slender ankle of the belle of to-day.

The modern anklet resembles the plain gold band first worn as a sign of bondage.

Being a slave no more, women, as is her habit, is only too glad to play with the symbol of slavery, provided the symbol is becoming. Therefore, the anklet graces the foot of the girl who wants to be just a little more than merely up-to-date.

Oriental anklets are much in demand, and in many instances these are supplied with a hinge and clasp, and slip round the foot easily.

Some of the new anklets are the tiniest gold bands inscribed with ancient charms, said to defend the wearer from all diseases and from evil of every kind.

Other anklets are made of precious stones strung together. These are worn under the stocking, and scarcely show through, so fine and small are they.

Phenician glass or beaten gold anklets carved in hieroglyphics are very popular, and will probably be worn at winter dances in London this year.

Sea Water and Colds.

The delusion that sea water does not give cold is accountable for much harm. A chill may be caught by wetting from sea water as quickly as by wetting from any other water. There is a certain stimulation to the skin from salt, no doubt, but that does not prevent chills from indiscriminate exposure to wetting by salt water, and chills are fertile causes of illness. Chill to the lower part of the body is always dangerous to any one. It is much more so to a child than to a grown person, though many people seem to think the reverse is the case.

Sandy's Warning.

A volunteer sham fight took place in England. During the retreat a Scotch volunteer in scrambling through some bushes stuck fast in a hedge. One of the advancing foe, seeing the situation, for a joke, came toward the unfortunate volunteer at full charge, with his bayonet fixed and a ferocious look on his face. The poor fellow in the hedge, seeing the threatening aspect of affairs, bawled out at the top of his voice: "Haud on, you idiot! Dinna you ken it's only in fun?"

Mother Livesey's Well.

In the grounds of Livesey Hall, near Blackburn, there is a spring called "Mother Livesey's well." The curious thing about this well is that the water only flows during nine months of the year and is quite dry during the other three months—June, July and August—however wet the weather may be. The water always commences to flow on the same date each year, and never freezes even during the hardest frost.—Leeds (England) News.

Like a Miracle.

"The age of miracles has gone," declared the cynic.

"No, it hasn't," said the woman. "My husband told me this morning that he noticed I was wearing last season's hat and gave me money to buy a new one."

Heredity.

"Oh, hubby, dear, what do you think are the first words our baby will say?" gurgled Mrs. Matron.

"Well, if she takes after you, they will probably be, 'This is a nice time to come home,'" said the brute.

Mr. Devlin's Seat.

London, Dec. 13.—The Canadian Associated Press understands a movement is on foot in Galway to induce Sir Anthony McDonnell to stand for Galway City in room of Charles Devlin. C. R. Devlin, former Canadian commissioner, was elected unopposed for Galway City at the bye-election March 9, 1903. Sir Anthony McDonnell was under secretary to the lord lieutenant of Ireland, and whose resignation was a recent result of the Irish agitation against Secretary George Wyndham's reform measures.

Prince Louis Breaks Record.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 13.—News from Gibraltar is to the effect that Prince Louis of Battenberg's flagship, the Drake, made the voyage from New York to Gibraltar in seven days seven hours and ten minutes. This beats all records for warships by an average of half a knot an hour.

Bovril at Luncheon

The luncheon menu puzzles the cook more than that of any other meal. BOVRIL is a wonderful help in solving the difficulty. It gives a delicious flavor to any luncheon dish by adding to it the strengthening essence of prime beef.

BOVRIL

Eight pounds of prime beef is concentrated in four ounces of BOVRIL.

BACON AND RICE FRITTERS.—To half a pound of rice boiled as for curry, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, a pinch of cayenne and white pepper, mix in a few ounces of boiled bacon (streaky) in small dice; dissolve a full saltspoonful of Bovril in a tablespoonful of hot water, and add together with a beaten egg. To Fry.—See that the fat is smoking, dip the spoons in the fat each time, then the mixture will slip out easily. As soon as golden brown they are done.

Sir Henry Irving's Kindness.

Stories of Sir Henry Irving's goodness of heart to the members of his company are innumerable. Mr. Mellish cited an occasion when he had been ill and called to see the actor regarding his further association with the organization.

"You look as though you need a change," said Sir Henry. "Go to the treasurer and get three weeks' salary. After you have spent it come back and start to work."

The actor, after receiving the money discovered that it contained $25 more than the three weeks' stipend. He so informed the treasurer.

"Oh, yes," said the official. "I forgot to mention it. Sir Henry said you looked as though you needed plenty of sun and air. The extra money is for carriages so you won't tire yourself out while you're looking for it."

The O. A. C. President.

Mr. George Christie Creelman was recently elected president of the American Farmers' Association at the convention of the association at Washington. Mr. Creelman is president of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, and was born at Collingwood on May 9, 1869, and was educated at the Collegiate Institute there. He entered the Guelph Agricultural College in 1885, and took associated diplomas in 1887, and graduated B. S. A. at the University of Toronto in 1888. Since then he has taken special courses in biology at Cornell University, 1891; at the University of Michigan, 1892, and at Michigan Agricultural College, 1893. He was appointed assistant professor of biology at the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1889, and was placed professor of biology there in 1892. Mr Creelman was largely instrumental in having botany introduced in the public schools of Mississippi.

FALLING TO RUIN.

England's Historic Edifice at Winchester, 400 Years Old, Near Decay—Another One In Peril.

Two famous old English churches, Winchester cathedral and Cripplegate, the burial place of John Milton, are in danger of becoming ruins. They are suffering from old age. The dean and chapter of Winchester recently engaged a trio of architectural and engineering experts to examine the edifice and their report discloses "the danger which threatens one of the grandest and most historical cathedrals in the country."

The decay is most serious in the south wall of the presbytery and is of long standing. For at least 400 years there has been from time to time a settling of the east portion of the building and the movement has been of late more marked. This is attributed partly to the untrustworthy foundation which rests upon a bed of soft marl only ten feet below the surface and which permanently is washed by water.

Other walls show signs of subsidence, while the spires and pinnacles of the west front are in a dilapidated if not dangerous condition.

To effect requisite repairs at least $30,000, and probably more, will be required, but, as the dean and chapter possess no fabric fund, they appeal to the nation for help in securing the safety of what is a national possession—a church which contains the bones of Saxon Kings, and in wealth of historical association and architectural beauty is almost without a rival.

The bells in Cripplegate Church can't be rung now without causing such vibration as to loosen stones and shake them out on the roadway, to the danger of the passersby. The tower is nearly 800 years old, but the damage is not considered anything like so serious as at Winchester. Still, a great deal of money will be required to save from ruin what is considered the historical city monument in Jewry street, Aldgate.

The demolition of some old buildings has brought to light a splendid specimen of the old Roman wall of London in a good state of preservation. It was found about eight feet below the street level, and is about eight feet high and nine feet thick. There are three tiers of tiles, the other part being built in cubes, and the wall is a perfect specimen of Roman masonry. Great care has been taken to preserve the wall as a memorial of early London.

Getting Even With Them.

"He mortgaged his place to give his daughter a musical education."

"It is awful when a man has it in for the neighbors as bad as that."

An Odd Wager.

A queer wager is one popularly believed to have been won by Sir Walter Raleigh from Queen Elizabeth, on the debatable question of how much smoke is contained in a pound of tobacco. A pound of the article was weighed, burned and then weighed in ashes, and the question was held to be satisfactorily settled by determining the weight of the smoke as exactly that of the tobacco before being burned, minus the ashes. The fact that the ashes having received an additional weight by combination with the oxygen of the atmosphere was unthought of by Elizabeth and the knight.

The Princess Royal.

While the Duchess of Fife, who is one of the most shy and unassuming of women, probably cares little about the title of "princess royal" conferred upon her by her father, King Edward, she cannot but be gratified by the grant of the title and rank of princess to her two daughters, who, although they come immediately after the children of the Prince of Wales in the line of succession to the Crown, have hitherto had to be content with the mere courtesy prefix of "lady" to their Christian names, and with the status of commoners, says the Marquise de Fontenoy. The elder, Lady Alexandra, now Princess Alexandra, is near 16 years of age, and is the heir to her father's dukedom of Fife, which her son will in turn inherit if she marries and has male issue. The young daughter, Lady Maud, now Princess Maud, is 12. The title of Princess Royal was last borne by Empress Frederick and is usually held by the eldest daughter of an English Sovereign.

British Premier In a Breakdown.

An interesting story of the English Premier and Sir Thomas Lipton comes from Garstang, near Preston. Mr. Balfour was automobiling with Sir Thomas, from Scotland, in the latter's car when it broke down while passing through the village and an old woman who had witnessed the accident asked them to come into the house and warm themselves by the fire while the car was being repaired, an invitation which the two gentlemen accepted.

They listened to some little children recite and sing songs and partook of tea. The old woman did not know who her visitors were until the chauffeur revealed the identity of one of them by calling out:

"The car is repaired, Sir Thomas."

The gentlemen thanked the old lady warmly for her hospitality, gave the children half a sovereign ($2.50) each, and Mr. Balfour promised to show his hostess around the House of Commons whenever she came to London.

Time For a Change.

What shall we do with our parents? There is my father ruining himself and me by his willful ignorance and my mother ruining us by her extravagances. It is a great development of the times that the ordinary child who is past twenty is altogether better educated, more experienced and wiser than are his parents! It has occurred to me to suggest that after the eldest child reaches twenty the parents should therefore come under the control of the children.—Letter in London Graphic.

MIDDLE AGE.

The Harvest Season of Life According to Ian Maclaren—Then Man Knows Himself.

"Ian Maclaren" writes: Captious people will ask at once the date, forty or sixty? and one had better admit at once that middle age is not a fixed frontier which divides every life into the same size of provinces, but varies with each person. Some children are old at 16, with precocious talk and solemn faces, and some men at 30 have the air of 50. They are stout in body, they amble in their walk, they drop oracular remarks, they endure with an effort the gayety of youth. There are others who defy time and put the record of the registrar general to confusion.

With most of us there is a turning point in life like the watershed on a railway journey. For so many years we are climbing up, for a little we run on a level, and now we are beginning to go down, only beginning, but going down. Say at 50 years if an exact and pedantic reader must have a date. Our body changes about that time; we give up every game except golf, we puff slightly when we hurry to catch a train; we do not care to stand for a long time if we can get a seat, our walk grows more impressive.

We are not old now, but we are not young, we are half and between, we are middle-aged, and our mood corresponds.

The man has come to know himself, and that is the first great necessity of successful living. He knows what he can and what he can't do, and therefore he is not intoxicated when he is praised, because this was his strong point, and every man surely has some strong point, and if he is not dashed when he is censured, if a neighbor blames him, the chances are he is quite right, for that was his weak point, and every man is weak somewhere. If he were to praise him why that would be too friendly. The fact is the man has no illusions. They have been dispelled as morning dreams. He has weighed himself and understands how he stands, and where he is, and so there comes over middle age a certain mood of calmness, which has not, of course, in it the force of youth, but has its own compensation in contentment. Instead of the flush of spring there is the mellowness of autumn.

Akin to this mood is a gracious magnanimity. When one is young he is of necessity fighting for his own hand to win a prize, to obtain his degree, to establish a business, to acquire a practice, to make himself secure. Every man is his rival, if not his enemy, and he is not inclined to rejoice in other people's success, for it may be at his expense, or at least it may be a reflection on his failure. Nor has he leisure to concern himself about other men's reverses or to give them pity. He was down himself yesterday, and if he does not take care he may be down again to-morrow in the dust of defeat. When his battle has been fought and the struggle is over, especially when he has won and reached the crest of the hill, then he has time to rest and to observe and to take an unselfish interest in his comrades. When a man is running his race it is not possible for him to consider the other runners or wish them well. He needs all his breath for his own race. When he has come in and put on his coat, having won or lost, but all the more if he has won his prize, he stands by to applaud the panting runners as they pass the goal, the goal he has already passed. Renan had all his life prided himself upon not pushing but preserving calmness amid life's fiercest fight. "If a man shoves me," he used to say, "I say pass, monsieur," and it is not wonderful that as he grew old he was entirely satisfied. "His unimpaired curiosity continued to interrogate the universe," but he was full of rest, he suffered terribly, but he had not abdicated. "I have done my work," he said to Mme. Renan, "I die happy."

When one has had his fill of work and has had some moderate reward he wishes the younger men coming up behind him to have their share of things, and earn their wages. This is not so much charity on his part, it is justice, it is not to be ascribed to religion, but to middle age.

And so comes another mood, which one may call altruism, or living for other people. The middle-aged man (or woman) lives not for himself, but for his children. He does not care what men say about him, but he is desperately concerned about their judgment on his sons. If some one praises the boy the father is lifted for days, if they run the boy down, the father is cut to the heart. He boasts about his son's success, he tries to cover his son's defeat, he would willingly pass on his own gain to his boy and bear his boy's suffering. He has died to himself and is alive again in his family, and if he is spared to be a grandfather he grows preposterous in his pride over that child, and his admiration of all its doings. No doubt there is such a thing as a disappointed and bitter middle age, when men profess to have seen the end of all perfection and to believe neither in man nor woman. There was an old prayer, "Lord preserve me from a young judge," and one expects an old judge to be broad in charity and pitiful towards humanity, but there are old men who spend the last quarter of their lives in carping and complaining, in sneering and discouraging. This is the opprobrium of middle age, but when one sees this ungracious spectacle let him be pitiful, for the man has most likely failed. He has been a victim of circumstances or perhaps his own enemy. He has never reached the crest of the hill; he has never passed the goal post; he has been thrown out by the wave, he has been trodden underfoot. And now he has a vendetta against the young who are full of hope, because they mock him; against those who have succeeded, because he thinks it has been at his expense, and against human life because it has been such a deceit and mockery. Pardon his sourness, he is one of the failures of humanity, fruit which has never ripened. Deal gently with him. And turn to that big-hearted man who did great things in his day, and now is ready to lend a hand to every struggler, and to give a cheer to every winner. Who wishes well to all men in their place, and blesses God that life on the whole has been so kind to him, and that the best of it is yet to come when the sun, already beginning to sink, will set gloriously behind the western hills.

"David Harum," the novel written by the late Edward Noyes Westcott, netted the author's estate about $125,000, according to a statement made in the surrogate's court, Syracuse, N. Y.

NELSON'S FIGHTING MEN.

Had Few Pleasures and Faced Death With a Jest.

Of the "wooden walls of England," the great sailing ships in which Admiral Nelson won his victories, and of the men who worked them, a critic writes: "Though beautiful to behold and terrible to fight with, those old men-of-war were more often than not abodes of tyranny and wretchedness. The violence of the press gangs, which seized men of all ages and occupations, was but a prelude to the oppression that followed. Decent men were herded indiscriminately with ruffians, the rights of free born Englishmen were rudely snatched from them—for them thenceforward there was no law save the will of the captain and the dread articles of war. Shore going leave was nonexistent, the food was atrocious and scanty, punishments were barbarous, and the only thing served out with any liberality was rum, on which the men got drunk and then were flogged for that offense at the gratings next morning.

"In Nelson's time the seaman had few pleasures save the prospect of a hot fight and his daily pint of rum. But to these must be added the vainglorious satisfaction he took in his clothes. When rigged out in his best he frequently wore rings in his ears and silver buckles on his low shoes, his short blue jacket would be decorated with gold buttons and colored ribbons sewed down the seams to give an additional gayety, his waistcoat might be red or canary, and a black silk handkerchief would be knotted loosely round his throat. As the finishing touch his hair would be hanging in a cue down his back. The broad collars were first worn as a protection against the grease and pomatum used in dressing the pigtail.

"But all these fripperies were discarded when the guns were cast loose from their lashings and the linstocks were lighted. It was the custom of the men when going into action to strip to the waist. They took their black silk handkerchiefs and bound them very tightly round their heads over their ears, so that the roar of the guns might not deafen them for life. It was remarked that men going into action always wore a sullen frown, however merry they were in their talk.

"Methods followed in that day were curiously primitive and tollsome, but the results were undoubtedly satisfactory save to the nameless and numberless sailors who met grim death on the black and blood stained decks or in the dark horror of the cockpit. That those hardy and careless men often faced death or disablement with a jest or a cheer only renders their unconscious heroism the more impressive."

Four Good Reasons.

An amusing incident happened the other day at a club which had hospitably thrown open its doors to two other clubs. A certain well known officer in the brigade of guards was guilty of the offense of smoking in the morning room. As a matter of fact, he was under the impression that it was the smoking room. A brother officer told him of his mistake. He went up to the only other occupant of the room, an old gentleman dosing in a corner, and apologized for having inadvertently broken one of the rules of the club. The old gentleman replied, without haste, as follows: "My dear sir, pray do not apologize. In the first place, I am sure you would not have smoked had you known that it was prohibited; in the second, I should be the last person to blame you if you had done so; in the third, I am not a member of the club, and in the fourth, I have just been smoking myself."—London Globe.

The Empire of Dollars.

Wall street is the capital of the empire of dollars. Like all other capitals, it has its intrigues, its favorites, its duels, its cabals and its camarillas, and, like all other capitals, it gives its color to those who spend their lives there. It has even a sort of patriotism—"wolf honor"—which brings its citizens together at times in defense of the dollar and of property rights. The empire of dollars is not altogether a noble spectacle. We are not thrilled at the mere thought of those Venice bankers who "financed" the crusaders. We do not like to think of those Wall street manipulators who tried to corner the gold supply during our civil war, when the nation needed gold.—Samuel Merwin in Success Magazine.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted, but while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Rheumatic pains, sore or swollen joints, eruptions of the skin, carbuncles or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes purified, enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. Quick-Change Artist Plays a Trick.

Mr. Fregoli, the quick-change artist, who is performing at the Barrasford Alhambra, in Paris, played an amusing joke on the public and police on Sunday afternoon, telephones The London Express Paris correspondent.

As crowds of passengers were streaming out of the Metropolitan Station, on the Place de la Republique, an old Italian woman suddenly raised an outcry that her purse had been stolen. As usual in a Parisian crowd, everybody gave evidence, and the police arrested two men on suspicion.

But on examination no purse was found on them, and when the old lady was wanted to answer further questions she was nowhere to be found.

Five minutes later the ticket-collector was replaced by an authoritative person in the Metropolitan uniform, who insisted on passengers giving him their tickets instead of throwing them into the box at the exit, as is usual.

One of the passengers happened to be a director of the line, and suspecting the man's bona-fides, he went to fetch the stationmaster, but on his return the ticket-collector had disappeared.

Ten minutes afterwards a police magistrate, with the tricolor sash round his waist, came down, examined the two men arrested and ordered their release.

It was only when Mr. Neighbor, the Alhambra manager, came round later in the evening to apologize, that the director and the police realized that the old woman, the ticket-collector, and the magistrate were Mr. Fregoli, who wished to see if he could deceive the public without the aid of the footlights.

England Revives Spelling Bee.

Now that winter has set in in earnest it appears that the progressive spelling bee, which has been out of sight and out of mind for years, has made its reappearance as a social pastime in England, but it is a spelling bee in a new and more complicated form, and one which offers greater opportunities for the exercise of ingenuity and resource than were provided by the old form of the game.

In the new game, which is known as the double demon spelling bee, the novel point is that each player, when it comes to his or her turn, has the option of either affixing or prefixing a letter, and this opens up all sorts of new opportunities. Thus, in a case where the fifth player had to continue the letters "s t l f," he would be able to get out of his difficulty by prefixing the letter "a," thus turning the growing word in the direction of "mastiff."

Some people display great ingenuity in playing double demon and discover all sorts of unexpected ways out of difficulties. Thus the other day a well known lady had to continue the letters "s c a l." She might have added another "l" and continued the word in the direction of scallop, but the next player, happening to be a Conservative politician, she had the happy idea of prefixing the letter "l" to "s c a l," and the gentleman, to every one's amusement, was so appalled by the imminence of the dreaded word fiscal that he overlooked his means of escape, which lay in prefixing the letter "m" and diverting the same toward the word "miscall."

BULLER WAS INJURED.

A Remarkable Statement Regarding South African Operations.

The Court Journal refers to the movement for bringing about the recall of Gen. Sir Redvers Buller to the active list, and says: "The following facts have, we believe, never been made public: That Lord Roberts' plan of campaign was identical with that Sir Redvers Buller had decided upon had he been able to follow his own judgment; that he eventually attacked and relieved Ladysmith in spite of Lord Roberts' orders not again to attempt it; that the Minister whose duty it was to defend or condemn Gen. Buller in the House of Commons never asked him one single question as to his operations, and when the documents concerning them were laid before the War Commission no pains were taken to get from him the full correspondence, but only certain copies of telegrams—which were incorrect in many instances—were given to the commission. It is also not generally known that if it had not been for Sir Redvers Buller's remonstrances Sir George White, after his first failures, would have been superseded. The Government afterwards made Sir George a Field Marshal, and bestowed upon him every decoration it was possible to give. Lastly, the public does not know, because the fact was suppressed by Sir Redvers, that during the action of Colenso he was struck on the upper part of the body by a shrapnel bullet, and as a result from breast-bone to back-bone was one huge bruise, which caused him acute agony for days. When the Government and every principal commander in South Africa, from Lord Roberts downwards, made mistakes, and we know that he who makes no mistakes makes nothing, it is only fair for the nation to insist that justice should be done to Gen. Sir Redvers Buller."

Unpleasant Practical Joke.

A practical joke of a peculiarly unpleasant nature was perpetrated at Portsmouth, England:

A large quantity of phosphide of calcium, a chemical which when brought into contact with water diffuses exceedingly noxious fumes, was dropped into a drain.

In a moment the whole thoroughfare reeked to such a degree as to be uninhabitable. They was a general stampede of pedestrians. Many diners in a large restaurant quitted their seats, and the place had to be temporarily closed. Other shops near by put up their shutters for at least half an hour.

As the chemical is largely used in the navy in connection with night torpedo practice, it is believed that the "joke" was the work of some one in the navy.

The Word "Cad."

When did the word "cad" come to have its present odious meaning? In 1837 it was applied to a London omnibus conductor without the slightest disrespect. In a letter from Carlyle to Abraham Hayward in that year occurs this passage: "When you have time to write answer, pray pack up the quarterlies along with it; send your famulus into Fleet street, and he will see a Chelsea omnibus; the cad will bring it me for sixpence within an hour."

Oil on the Waters.

Instructions are given by the British Admiralty Office regarding the manner in which oil should be poured on "troubled waters." It is recommended that the oil be dropped overboard in small perforated canvas bags capable of holding from one to two gallons, each bag depending from a line whose position differs according to the nature of the sea and direction of the wind. Running before the wind one hangs out the oil bags from either bow. Crossing a bar with a flood tide the oil is sent on ahead. For boarding a wreck oil is thrown to windward of her. Waste from the engines seems to be the best oil, though all animal and vegetable oils will serve.

The Point of View.

"Henry, if I were a young man like you and expected to have to make my own way in the world some day I should try to make my expenses come within my income."

"Father, if I were as rich as you are and had only one son I'd try to bring his income up to his expenses."

Origin of the Blue Jackets.

The use of the blue uniform faced with white, which originated with the British navy, but which has been widely copied, was suggested by a riding habit worn by the Duchess of Bedford.

It had been determined to clothe the sailors of the navy in a distinctive uniform, and George II. deputed the matter to the then Duke of Bedford, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Admiral Forbes. At the conference the admiral suggested that red with blue facings, or vice versa, would be the most appropriate, since these were the national colors.

The duke agreed with him as to the appropriateness of the suggestion, but explained that His Majesty had that morning seen the duchess in the park in a riding habit of blue faced with white and had given orders that the uniform of the navy should carry out this idea.

Other nations, seeing the effectiveness of the combination, adopted the idea, and now in most navies of the world the uniform is the same.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior

Interest In Winter Fair On Increase

Guelph Winter Fair of Great Educational Value.

MANY PUBLIC MEN ARE THERE

Judging of Shorthorn and Grade Cattle Concluded—Premier Whitney Characterizes Hon. John Dryden as a True Friend to Agriculture, and Says He Will Encourage Fair in Every Possible Way.

Guelph, Dec. 14.—The winter fair grows in interest and attendance. Every in-coming train yesterday brought crowds of farmers and their wives. As an educational factor the show is a great success.

The presence of Premier Whitney and Mrs. Whitney on the grounds yesterday afternoon, together with that of Hon. Sydney Fisher, J. P. Downey, M. P. P., Hugh Guthrie, M. P., and other notables was the signal for hearty applause.

Hon. Nelson Monteith presided at a meeting of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association. "Plant Breeding" formed the basis of an address by C. A. Zavitz of the O. A. C. Experiments conducted at the college had served to prove conclusively that in order to maintain a high standard of seed grain it was not necessary for farmers to exchange seed with each other.

Hon. John Dryden, presided at the afternoon session, when the topic, "Beef Cattle," was introduced by D. Anderson of Rugby.

Jesse W. Dunn of Toronto and J. T. Gibson of Denfield concluded the judging of shorthorn and grade cattle yesterday afternoon.

Women's Institutes.

The annual convention of the Women's Institute was opened in Macdonald Hall with the largest attendance in history. The secretary's report showed a membership of 6,000, as compared with 5,433 last year. There were 68 district institutes, with 280 branch societies, as compared with 149 district and branch societies last year. Miss Laura Rose gave an address on "The Womanly Sphere of Woman." Hon. Nelson Monteith spoke briefly.

Last night Hon. Nelson Monteith called the public meeting of live stock men to order. Joseph Downey, M. P. P., welcomed the delegates.

Hon. John Dryden was happily received. The Winter Fair had, he believed, found a permanent home in Guelph. As to the bacon industry, Mr. Dryden declared that the action of the hog packers was so manifestly unfair as to demand some redress. Cheap, safe transportation was what the farmers required

Hon. John Dryden.

Premier Whitney said the Ontario Government would aid the fair in every possible way. Mr. Dryden he characterized as a true friend of agriculture.

It is from Guelph, and Hon. Sydney Fisher, that the most advanced and progressive methods of agriculture in Canada have emanated. The scarcity of hogs, he said was brought to the attention of the Government on Tuesday by a deputation of packers. The situation was a critical one and demanded attention.

Hon. Mr. St. John eulogized the fair as the greatest educational factor in the province.

His Excellency the Governor-General will arrive this evening. He will also attend the live stock show in Chicago.

WHIRLED AROUND SHAFT.

Youth Meets An Awful Death In Machinery Shafting.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Horace Calkins, 20 years old, was killed in a terrible manner at the plant of the Carter Crume Co. at noon yesterday.

The young man was engaged in lacing a belt caught on the shafting and winding about young Calkins pulled him up and whirled him about in a shocking manner. Both of his legs were torn from his body and he was almost decapitated.

The young man resided with his parents at Michigan avenue and Tenth street.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered stomach are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness dependency. No person will have all these symptoms at once.

The restoration of the stomach to sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses until the functions of the stomach are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet and strong, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear.

"Please accept my thanks for the benefit which my child received from your medicine," writes Mrs. W. A. Morgan, of Silica, Ma. "He had been troubled for nearly a year with liver complaint, indigestion and constipation. I gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and they did him great good. I gave him the 'Discovery' about eight months, and several vials of the 'Pellets.' He seems to be perfectly well now."

If you want a cure accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These ORIGINAL Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago, have been much imitated but never equaled. They're made of purely vegetable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure foul, torpid and deranged Stomachs, Livers and Bowels and their attendant distressful ailments. One or two a laxative, three or four a cathartic.

YOUTH SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS.

Has Bad Record and Judge Gives Him a Severe Lecture.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—Lawrence Smith, the young Galt desperado, was given the longest sentence ever imposed on any prisoner by Judge Chisholm, yesterday.

The prisoner pleaded guilty to a charge of hold-up and two charges of shop-breaking and theft. On the first charge he was given ten years' imprisonment in Kingston Penitentiary, and on the other two charges two years and one month each, to run concurrently with the ten years' sentence.

He was allowed suspended sentence on three charges of house-breaking and theft, to which he pleaded guilty a year ago.

Smith was given a very severe reprimand by the Judge, who characterized him as an incorrigible criminal and a villain of the worst type.

President C. N. R. Successful.

New York, Dec. 12.—William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway, and B. E. Walker, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, were passengers on the turbine Carmania, which arrived here from Liverpool yesterday.

"Yes," said Mr. Mackenzie, in answer to questions, "I was quite successful in floating the common stock of the Canadian Northern. I disposed of one million two hundred thousand pounds worth of common debenture bonds through various English agents."

Election Appeal Date.

Ottawa, Dec. 12.—In the Supreme Court yesterday, Feb. 1 was fixed as the date for hearing the St. Antoine election appeal.

Rev. George G. Ware, rector of the Episcopal church of Lead, S. D., has been indicted for alleged complicity in defrauding the government out of $25,000,000 acres of land.

NAVY OF THE DOMINION.

Affected by British Change of Government—Hon. Mr. Prefontaine and Hon. Mr. Lemieux Dined.

London, Dec. 14.—(C. A. P.)—Hon. Messrs. Prefontaine and Lemieux were the principal guests of a dinner given by the Canada Club last night. Mr. Prefontaine, responding to the toast of the Dominion, told of what Canada had done for the navy. It was yet in its infancy, and his Government thought they should establish a navy reserve organization which, little by little, should become part of the naval defence of the British Empire. He was at present in England negotiating with the Admiralty with a view of taking over the docks at Halifax and Esquimalt, which had cost the British Government millions of dollars, and which would be the nucleus for a Canadian navy. His negotiations would, he had hoped, have by now been finished, but the change in Government still kept him in London. He was pleased, however, that the new Government seemed favorably disposed towards his plans.

Reverting to the parade of the unemployed, which was held yesterday, he thought a portion of the funds subscribed for their relief should be devoted to helping able-bodied men emigrating to Canada, where employment could be found.

Mr. Lemieux, in an eloquent speech, emphasized the loyalty of the French-Canadians, and also the advantages of the entente cordiale.

Col. Sam Hughes, M. P., replying for the Imperial forces, dealt upon the advantages of scholastic training and hoped to see an Imperial Parliament with representatives from Westminster, B. C., sitting at Westminster.

Donald McMaster, K. C., Thomas Skinner, F. W. Taylor of the Bank of Montreal, Archer Baker, Major G. E. Talbot, M. P. P., Duff Miller and J. G. Colmer were amongst those present.

Admiral Archibald Douglas, described as the first Canadian to enter the British navy, was in the chair.

Disappointed Man Suicides.

Montreal, Dec. 13.—R. C. Dalleny, an Englishman of 29, employed by the C. P. R., shot himself in the head yesterday and will likely die. He was disappointed over having to work for small wages, after having read glowing accounts in England of what could be done in this country.

Six Children Burn to Death.

Dubers, Pa., Dec. 13.—Six children were burned to death at Lindsey, near Punxsutawney, early yesterday, and Wm. Morgan and wife, the parents, with their two remaining children, barely escaped with their lives.

Cold-Blooded Murder.

Fernie, B. C., Dec. 13.—Frank Amantas, an Italian, shot and killed a fellow-countryman named G. Chesa, at Momsey mines, Monday. The murder was cold-blooded and brutal. Amantas is now in jail here.

Are Your Nerves In Health?

STUDY HERE THE INDICATION OF A FAILING NERVOUS SYSTEM

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is surprising what hosts of people are suffering as the result of an exhausted nervous system and do not know the nature of their ailment.

They cannot sleep at nights — are restless and fidgety in the daytime—their tempers are easily irritated—little things worry them—they cannot concentrate their minds, and find their memories failing — there are spells of nervous headache—the digestion is impaired—pains and aches of a neuralgic nature afflict them—feelings of discouragement and despondency come over them at times, and they get in the way of looking at the dark side of things.

If this describes your experience you will be interested in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for this great food cure gets at the very foundation of nervous troubles and cures in the only natural way, by enriching the blood, revitalizing the wasted nerve cells, and building up the system generally.

Diseases of the nerves take different forms in different people, but they slowly and surely lead to nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia or paralysis — to weakness and helplessness of mind and body.

Mrs. F. Turner, 686 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed at the Hamilton Foundry, writes:—

"For some months past I found myself growing nervous, and gradually becoming a victim of sleeplessness and subject to frequent attacks of nervous headaches. About six weeks ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and cannot speak too highly of this medicine. I can sleep well now, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that my system, generally, has been improved greatly by the use of this treatment."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food acts strictly in accordance with the laws of nature in creating nerve force in the body, and you can use it with positive assurance that every dose is at least of some benefit to you. Prove this by noting your increase in weight. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MISSIONARY SERMONS IN METHODIST CHURCH

Special to The Examiner.

Norwood, Dec 11.—The regular monthly meeting of the Norwood Council was held Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Those present were Reeve C. E. Pakenham, and Councillors B. W. Squire, A. B. Greenbank and C. Elliott.

Minutes of last regular and special meetings were read and confirmed.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Geo. Peters, drawing gravel, $3.50.
David Harrison, work on streets, $3.52.
W. P. Plant, two grates, $4.
John Crowley, work on streets, $2.16.
Jas. Jotcham, half year's salary, $10.
Wm. Morrow, work on streets, 75c.
Thos. Linton, splitting wood for Mrs. D. McMullen, $1.
H. McLaughlin, work on streets, $3.37.
Fred. Lennox, work on streets, $3.37.
Jas. Calder, salary as clerk, $50.
Jas. Calder, postage and stationary, $6.
Jas. Calder, selecting jurors and making returns, $3.
Jas. Calder, salary, sec. B. of H., $5.
Chas. O'Reilly, selecting jurors, $2.
C. E. Pakenham, selecting jurors, $2.
Geo. Keifer, municipal printing, $45.

Moved by Co. Elliott, seconded by Co. Greenbank, that the accounts as read be paid.—Carried.

By-law No. 298 to appoint deputy returning officers and fix polling places for municipal elections and taking the votes on the by-law re assessment of Messrs. J. Finlay & Son, received its usual readings and was passed, the blanks being filled as follows:

Polling Sub-Division No. 1, Town Hall, Robert S. Patterson, deputy returning officer.

Polling Sub-Division No. 2, Armoury Room in High School building, F. H. Best, deputy returning officer.

The by-law granting aid for promoting a manufacturing industry by fixing assessment of certain property belonging to John Finlay received its first and second reading, and will receive its final reading within six weeks should the electors assent.

Moved by Reeve Pakenham, seconded by Co. Elliott that the above by-law be published in the Norwood Register for three successive weeks, commencing this week, and that five copies be printed for posting up.—Carried.

The Reeve reported that the Board of Health had had a remarkably good year so far as the health of the village was concerned, and that the expenses so far for the year had only been $7.

On motion of Co. Greenbank, seconded by Co. Elliott, the Council adjourned to meet on the 15th of December, at 8 o'clock p.m., at the clerk's office.

Mr. Gordon Moffat, accountant in the Union Bank of Canada at Wiarton, spent Sunday and Monday in town.

Miss Lynch, of Tweed, was the guest of her friend, Miss Kennedy, over Sunday.

Mr. Chas. Mun, Mrs. Munn and daughter, Miss Lexie, of Indian River, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Neibel on Sunday.

Mr. Ivison Tucker, of Havelock, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home here.

Mr. Thos. E. Rorabeck, who has been working in Mr. H. G. Buck's lumber camp at Stony Lake, met with a very serious accident last Tuesday. He was chopping down a tree, and before he could get out of its way it fell on him, but owing to a depression in the ground where he fell, the weight of the tree was kept off his body. However, he sustained quite serious internal injuries, and as soon as possible was conveyed to his home in Norwood, where under the attendance of Dr. Ford he is now making quite favourable progress towards recovery.

A somewhat similar accident happened to Mr. Will Taylor, Spring street, on Thursday last. He was conveying a load of commercial trunks to the station, when a couple slid out of place and he was crushed between them. Mr. Taylor has been confined to the house ever since, but we are pleased to hear that he is also recovering.

Mrs. George Patterson died at her home near Chester, Vermont, on Friday December 8. She was born in Prince Edward County, but spent nearly all of her married life up to the last three years in or near Norwood.

She had been ill for seven months, first of nervous prostration, and since that time she suffered from a paralytic stroke which eventually caused her death.

Mrs. Patterson was a sister of the late Mr. Wm. Minaker, and Mrs. Dr. Cannon, of Chariot Lake. She leaves three sons, one daughter and a husband to mourn her loss.

On Sunday, December 10, Rev. Egerton Ryerson Young preached missionary sermons in the Methodist church. Large audiences were present at each service, which were both profitable and instructive. On Monday night he gave his lecture on "Life Among the Red Men," which was very much appreciated.

Last Friday evening a number of Norwood people took advantage of the good roads and moonlight night and drove over to Havelock to the Presbyterian dinner, where they spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. Geo. Neibel is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Alice Nesbitt, of the Model School, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. Moore, Indian River.

The Model School students begin their ordeal of writing on their final examinations on Tuesday, December 12. On Friday evening they will hold their closing entertainment.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. Donald McNaughton, Hastings road, had his right arm broken just below the elbow while attempting to replace the belt which had come off the separator of his threshing machine while at work at Mr. M. O'Shea's, Asphodel.

Miss Ella Andrews has been in Lakefield visiting her sister, Mrs. Fred. Richardson.

Messrs. James Cummings and W. L. Cameron, late of this village have purchased a business at Lloydminster, Sask. In the very near future Mr. Cummings' family will leave for the West.

Mr. Geo. Andrews, who has been visiting in Havelock for the last few days, returned home on Sunday.

Mr. Ivison Tucker, of Havelock, spent a few days with his parents last week.

Miss Stella Scaright was in Havelock on Sunday.

Miss Beatrice Finlay, who is teaching at Blairton, was home over Sunday.

Capt. W. V. Reynolds left for Toronto for a few days, whence he intends returning to Cuba for the winter.

Mrs. W. V. Reynolds and family left Tuesday to spend a couple of weeks with her parents in Toronto Junction.

Mr. J. C. Grylls leaves Thursday for Cuba where he will spend the winter.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, of Peterborough, was in the village Tuesday.

Mr. Gus. Sawers, of Peterborough, was in the village Tuesday.

The ladies of the Women's Institute, of which Mrs. Gale was a prominent member, presented Mrs. Gale with a handsome camera as a token of their esteem on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Gale having sold their farm will leave shortly for Washington Territory.

Mr. A. S. Butchart spent a couple of days in Toronto this week on business.

Master Clayton Bidpath is spending a few days in Toronto, the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Bidpath, of that city.

Miss Tate left last week for Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where she intends spending the winter.

Mrs. Russel of Hamilton, who has been visiting her two sons at the Lakefield Preparatory School, left for her home Monday.

Mr. Belcher, of Peterborough, was in the village on Tuesday.

Mr. Lionel Farrar, of Michigan, is in the village, and intends spending a couple of weeks here.

Mrs. Bert Hatton, of Winnipeg, formerly of Lakefield, is back to the village, the guest of her grandfather, Mr. Mathews.

Mr. R. P. Davidson is spending a couple of days in Toronto this week.

Mr. Phillips, of Toronto, was in the village Monday.

Mr. Thompson, of Mount Julian, was in the village Tuesday.

The regular monthly meeting of the Lakefield Council was held in the town hall Monday evening, Dec. 11. Present, Reeve Tanner, in the chair, and Councillors Cornish and Kidd.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

The Finance Committee presented the following report:

To the Reeve and Councillors of the Village of Lakefield:—

Gentlemen,—We, your Finance Committee, having examined the following accounts and finding same correct would recommend payment of same:

H. C. Garbutt	9 45
F. J. Moore	$ 15 00
Lakefield Light and Power Co.	36 85
Wm. Charlton	1 10
Lakefield News	11 50
Bell Telephone Co.	40
E. A. Tanner & Son	2 95
Jas. Biggott	5 [illegible]
J. Biggott	140 80
Total	$224 71

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. W. CORNISH, Chairman.

Moved by Councillors Cornish and Kidd, that the report of the Finance Committee be received and adopted.—Carried.

Bylaw No. 410, to make provision for the election of a Reeve, Councillors and School Trustees for the Municipal Corporation of the Village of Lakefield, received its several readings and was passed.

The council then adjourned to meet at the call of the Reeve.

That there will be change in the personnel of Lakefield's municipal council for 1906, seems imminent. Reeve Tanner has signified his intention to retire from the field at the end of the present term. Much regret is expressed at this decision, but it is coupled with the hope that he may at some future date consent to give the town the benefit of his energy and ability. Nomination day is Friday, Dec. 22nd.

Mr. David Butchart and Mr. Geo. Kilbourn are in the village this week inspecting the cement plant.

Mr. J. A. McPherson of Peterborough was in the village this week.

Prospects For New Docks Are Excellent Now

Hon. H. S. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, Will Give Request of City Favourable Consideration — Engineer Will Report on It At Once--Prospects are That City Will Get Docks—Deputation's Visit to the Capital.

REPORT THAT THEY WERE WELL RECEIVED

The deputation which went to Ottawa Wednesday in connection with the proposal to construct the dock along the river front from Hunter street to the C.P.R. bridges, returned this morning, and they express themselves as pleased and satisfied with the result of the trip. As was stated yesterday in a special despatch from the capital in the Examiner, the matter was laid before the Minister of Railways and Canals and the Minister of Public Works, and the latter, in whose department the matter is, promised to give it consideration. From the manner in which he expressed himself the deputation gathered that he was prepared to consider it favourably. The prospects, according to the members of the deputation seem to be bright for the dock as proposed.

They spent an enjoyable day in the capital, and returned quite satisfied.

They were introduced to the Ministers by Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., who opened the matter for them.

To Secure Power From Dam No. 4 Is Now Proposed

Mayor Best Asked Minister of Railways and Canals Yesterday if City Could Secure Lease of No. 4 Dam for Civic Purposes---Mr. Emmerson Promises to Consider the Matter--Municipality Given First Chance.

NEW SCHEME FOR PETERBOROUGH

The city may go into the development of electric power for the promotion of industries in the city. Yesterday at Ottawa Mayor Best interviewed the Minister of Railways and Canals in reference to the lease of dam No. 4, south of Lakefield on the Otonabee River, for the purpose of developing power.

He asked if the city would be able to procure a lease from the Government in case it was decided to embark in the enterprise. Hon. Mr. Emmerson said that the question of the power along the canal was now being considered; and that he could not say whether or not the Government would be prepared to lease the power to anyone, but in answer to a question, stated that if it was a question of a municipality or a private corporation, the former would get the preference. This was a satisfactory answer and the prospects are that the city will now take up the question and secure information as to the probable cost of developing the power.

Enjoyable Dance At Bethany

Citizens Annual Function Held on Wednesday.

The annual dance given by the citizens of Bethany, which took place on Wednesday evening was a most enjoyable affair. It was attended by about 75 couples.

The music was supplied by Messrs. Wilson, Wesley and Armstrong, of Peterborough, and Mr. Archie Moore officiated as Director of Ceremonies. The dance was in every respect most successful.

Many of those in attendance came from a considerable distance.

A Pioneer of Cavan Died This Morning

Late Mrs. James Howden, of Ida, Cavan Township, Was One of Most Highly Respected Residents—Came to Canada in 1841—Two of Her Daughters Live in This City—Deceased Had Reached Age of 85 Years.

A RESPECTED LADY GONE TO HER REST

Mrs. James Howden, one of the most highly respected and best known residents of Cavan, died this morning at 8.30 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jos. F. Staples, Ida, with whom she has lived for a number of years. The late Mrs. Howden, whose maiden name was Sarah Swanston, had reached the age of 85 years, 64 of which had been spent in this county, and all but eight in Cavan Township. She was the eldest of a family of six, and was born in Ireland, in November, 1820, coming to Canada with her parents in 1841 and settling at Perrytown, Hope Township. Nine years later she was married to her late husband, and removed to Cavan with him, remaining there until her death. Although she had reached an advanced age, she was in comparatively good health until a week ago, when she was taken ill with pneumonia, and the disease took a firm hold upon her enfeebled constitution, and she gradually sank until her death, which came peacefully.

The deceased lady was widowed 26 years ago, since which time she had lived with her daughter, Mrs. Staples. She was a member of the Methodist church, and until advancing age made it impossible, was regular in attendance upon the services of that denomination.

She leaves to mourn her loss eight children, five daughters and three sons, as follows: Mrs. Thos. Morrow, Peterborough; Mrs. Alex. Walsh, Perrytown; Mrs. J. A. Storey, Peterborough; Mrs. J. F. Staples, Ida, and Mrs. C. Lowes, Drayton, Ont. Messrs. Richard, Robert and John Howden, all living in Cavan. One brother, Edward Swanston, lives in Moosomin, Sask.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock from the residence of Joseph S. Staples, Cavan Township.

Chandos Smallpox Scare Has Been Ended

Special Wire to The Examiner.

Toronto Dec. 15.—Dr. Bell, Medical Health Officer for the Township of Chandos, Peterborough County, reports that of 162 cases of smallpox in the township all are recovered but two, which still remain under observation. There is one other case, which is in a lumber camp, which has been isolated in a separate building erected at the camp and is under proper care.

Supreme Secretary Making Arrangements

Mr. Foster, supreme secretary of the Canadian Order of Homo Circles, is in the city to-day making arrangements for the annual meeting of the Supreme Lodge, which will be held here in March next. This will be the first time that this meeting has been held east of Toronto, but the claims of Peterborough were pressed so strongly by the delegates at the last annual meeting that it was decided to come here.

There are about 400 circles in Ontario, and these are each entitled to one delegate. The probability is that there will be about 300 delegates in attendance. Mr. Foster was greatly pleased to-day when speaking to the Examiner, with Peterborough. He anticipated that the meeting here next March would be one of the most successful to the circles of the order. He was very favourably impressed with the city and with his reception here, and remarked that he thought the people of Peterborough very hospitable. Dr. Morgan took him in hand and showed him around the city, pointing out its many interesting features. The members of the local circle are planning to give their brethren a right royal welcome when they come here, and if the meeting is not a pleasant one it will not be their fault.

A Talk About Headache.

Husband—What will cure my wife's headaches?

Doctor — There are several drugs that will stop headache, but they affect the heart, nerves, and stomach.

Husband—Is there no safe remedy?

Doctor—Yes; there is the vegetable remedy, Zutoo Tablets. Most women are discarding the drug cures and using this. It is the only safe remedy I know of.

Husband—Is it used for anything but headaches?

Doctor—Yes, many women are using it to stop monthly pains; some use it to break up colds.

Husband—This must be the vegetable remedy my neighbor's wife takes and praises so highly. I'll buy some.

Doctor—You can get it at medicine dealers or by mail postpaid from B. N. Robinson & Co., Coaticook, Que., for 25c large size, 10c for small.

Should be Murder or Nothing, Said Mr. Justice Meredith

Interesting Discussion in the Court of Appeal Thursday Morning Regarding the Goodfellow Christian Science Case—Is There a Charge at All?

The Toronto News, referring to a case in which considerable local interest has been taken, says:

"I do not know myself what the charge is," remarked Judge Meredith this morning when the Christian Science case was before the Court of Appeal, "so I don't know how the accused can know."

Sarah Goodfellow, Isabella Grant, Elizabeth Lee and William Brundrett had been found guilty by the jury of "unlawfully conspiring and agreeing together and with others to deprive Wallace Goodfellow of the necessaries of life, to wit, proper medical care and nursing, whereby his death was caused." Judgment, however, had been reserved on five points. In the case before the Court of Appeal the three women are represented by Mr. Hamilton Cassels, K.C., and Brundrett by Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C. Mr. J. R. Cartwright, K.C., appeared for the Crown.

The first question reserved had been as to the form of the indictment, holding that if charged manslaughter, Judge Meredith remarked: "If you set out to conspire to kill a man it is murder and nothing else."

Mr. Cartwright held that the charge did not state a conspiracy to kill, but a conspiracy, the result of which had been the death of the man.

Then the question was raised by the court as to what section of the Criminal Code covered the charge. Judge Garrow pointed out that under section 209, for anyone to be liable, he must be "under a legal duty to supply that person with the necessaries of life."

Mr. Cartwright—"If there is a conspiracy to deprive a person of the necessaries of life, whether the person dies or not, and whether there is a duty to supply these necessaries or not, I submit that a criminal act has been done. It is the agreement, the conspiracy, that is criminal."

Judge Meredith—"Why were not the persons charged, as under section 209, with depriving Goodfellow of the necessaries of life, instead of introducing the idea of 'conspiracy' at all?"

Chief Justice Moss—"Wouldn't it be necessary to show that accused were under legal obligation to supply these necessaries?"

Judge Meredith—"It is not a crime to deprive a man of the necessaries of life, unless there is an obligation to supply them. The indictment charges a conspiracy to do something that is not a crime."

Mr. Cartwright—"This is a conspiracy, not to commit a crime, but to do something which resulted in a crime, and hence is manslaughter."

Judge Meredith — "Manslaughter must be without malice."

Judge Maclaren—"Should not the link between the conspiracy and the result, namely, the death of the man, have been indicated?"

Judge Garrow raised a new point for Mr. Cartwright. The indictment reads "to deprive." The learned judge wanted to know whether "deprive meant "failure to give," or a "taking away from." He held that if it meant a "failure to give" the necessaries, that the duty involving on the accused must be shown.

Judge Meredith added: "There is no magic and no offence in the word 'conspiracy' in itself."

Judge Garrow—"It is not alleged that the young man was unable to help himself."

Judge Meredith objected further that the prisoners had not been informed of the nature of the charge. "Why, I do not even know myself what it is."

Mr. Cartwright replied that they knew what it was for they had come prepared to defend themselves against the charge. He went on to re-affirm his former statement that while not under any special section, the charge of conspiracy was, in general terms, a criminal one. "I argue that in general law, to conspire to deprive anyone of the necessaries of life is a criminal offence."

Judge Meredith—"Is that a 'trade combination?"

Judge Maclaren—"Is there indeed a charge at all against these people?"

Mr. Cartwright re-affirmed his former position that their conspiracy resulted in death.

Judge Meredith—"Did they conspire to kill?"

Mr. Cartwright—"No."

Judge Meredith—"They conspired rather to cure."

Mr. Cartwright—"Yes, but a conspiracy to cure by means that resulted in his death."

Judge Meredith—"Might not the man have died if all the medical men in the world had been there? There has been no evidence given to show that he would have lived, anyway. If medical testimony cannot tell this what right have we to ask a jury to make a guess on the subject? You cannot recover damages from a medical man under similar circumstances."

Mr. Cartwright—"The doctor at the post-mortem examination testified that the man was literally starved."

And so the argument went on, and is being continued this afternoon.

Guild League Champions Are Given Trophy

An event which has practically developed into an annual affair is the Bon-Bon Concert given by the Charlotte street Young Men's Guild Base Ball team. The second annual gathering of this kind was held last night in the school room of the church and was a gratifying success.

The new lecture room was filled, and a delightful evening was spent. The programme was one which did the Guild credit, and the reputation which this organization has attained for conducting successful entertainments was fully sustained. The Examiner trophy which the baseball team won this year was presented at the concert last night, and was acknowledged suitably by the captain of the team, Mr. N. E. McWilliams. For the second year in succession this team won this trophy, donated to the Guild League by Hon. J. R. Stratton, the team going through the season without a loss.

The chair was occupied by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., pastor of the church, and in his opening address he referred to the organization under whose auspices the concert was held. It was one of the most progressive societies in connection with the church, and its work among the young men had resulted in considerable good being done. The Y.M.C.A. orchestra then favoured the gathering with a selection. A piano duet by Miss Clarry and Miss Campbell, was one of the most enjoyable numbers on the programme. Little Miss Annie Christie captivated the hearts of the audience at once with her recitation, "Jess 'fore Christmas." She responded gracefully with an encore. Miss Clara Belleghem gave a vocal solo in her usual excellent voice and was enthusiastically recalled. An interesting feature of the programme was a tableau, "Baseball Game," given by the members of the Charlotte street team. It represented the various stages of a game, and it was well executed. After the tableau and while the members of the team were still on the platform the cup was presented by M. J. Hutchinson, in the unavoidable absence of Hon. J. R. Stratton. The trophy was accepted and acknowledged on behalf of the team by Mr. N. McWilliams, the captain.

He said that he was sure that it was unnecessary for him to say that the trophy which had been presented to the baseball team was appreciated. In acknowledging it on behalf of the team he wished to express in the first place the thanks of every member of that team, as well as their satisfaction. Those who were there last year when the same trophy was presented would remember that there were some prophecies made then. Some of these prophecies were not fulfilled, but one of them was. The Charlotte street representative who acknowledged the receipt of the cup cup last year, made the statement then that he felt certain that it would again be won by this team, and it was, he was sure, gratifying to every supporter of the Charlotte street team to know that that was no idle boast, and that it was warranted by the facts.

On behalf of the team of which he had the honour to be captain, he accepted the cup, and at the same time wished to express to the donor, Hon. Mr. Stratton, the sincere thanks of every member. The hope that at the close of the season they would be the possessors of the beautiful trophy had inspired the players to do their best, and the fact that their expectations had been realized was a source of great satisfaction to them.

They felt, as he was sure, all present felt, that the team won the cup cup on their merits, and had it not been for this fact there would not be the same satisfaction evidenced as he saw expression of last night. Hon. Mr. Stratton's action in donating this cup to be competed for had won the gratitude not only of the members of this team, but of all those interested in the Guild League, which had developed into one of the most commendable organizations of its kind in the churches.

They were proverbially modest, the Charlotte street people, and did not profess to be prophets, but some of them would be surprised if about this time next year, they were not gathered on a similar mission, in that room, the only difference being that on that occasion the cup would be presented as the absolute property of the team, by reason of the fact that it would then have been won three years in succession.

On behalf of the Charlotte street Baseball team he wished to express their deepest gratitude to Mr. Stratton, and only regret that it was impossible for him to have been present in order that the thanks might have been extended personally.

The second part of the programme opened with a selection by the Y.M.C.A. orchestra, and it was followed by a duet, most pleasingly rendered by little Miss Josie Callander and Master Harry Thornton. They sang "Coming Through the Rye," in costume, and delighted the audience, who demanded an encore. Miss Annie Christie was again heard, and in her recitation, "Some Girls that Mamma Knew," she again gave evidence of more than ordinary elocutionary ability. Master Fred Hall's whistling solo was fully appreciated, as was evidenced by the fact that he was obliged to respond to an encore. The duet "Maying" by Miss Clara Belleghem and Mr. J. Legge, rendered in a thoroughly musicianly manner, brought to a close one of the most delightful evenings possible to imagin.

The committee in charge of the arrangements, with Mr. A. Brown, chairman, is to be congratulated on the success of the evening.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Let the mother take Scott's Emulsion for the two; it never fails to benefit them both. One can eat for two, but nourishing two is a different thing. It calls for a degree of internal strength that the average woman lacks. People of luxury are not very strong by habit; overworked people are weak in some functions from exhaustion or their surroundings. Scott's Emulsion can be depended upon to overcome such conditions. It is a wonderful food for a mother and child.

GRAVE DISEASES, DUE TO STANDING

Facts About Miss Merkley's Dangerous Illness and Complete Cure

Have you ever thought why so many women or girls rather walk an hour than stand still for ten minutes?

Miss Margret Merkley

It is because most women suffer from some derangement of their delicate organism, the discomfort of which is less trying when they are in motion than when standing.

In some states laws compel employers to provide resting places for their female employees.

But no amount of law can regulate the hard tasks of these women. They must get the strength which this work demands or run the risk of serious diseases and the surgeon's knife.

Read about the experience of Miss Margret Merkley, 375 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis.:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Gradual loss of strength, nervousness, bearing-down pains and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration of the womb, and advised an operation if I wanted to get well. I objected to this and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I soon found that all the good things said about this great medicine were true. The ulceration soon healed, backache, headache and nervousness disappeared, and in a short time I was strong, vigorous and perfectly well. I wish every working girl who suffers would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and strengthens the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the case of any sick woman as with Miss Merkley.

Children's Aid Society Meeting

but the actual work of the society, is to rescue children of tender years from lives of neglect and suffering, and remove them from vicious surroundings, which must contaminate them morally, and which, if continued, cause them to lead vicious lives; and also to place them in virtuous and comfortable foster homes, where they will have opportunities of becoming useful members of society. On the other hand, the other societies mentioned, confine their duties to caring for those whose lives of usefulness are over, and whose future, for either good or evil, is limited. While the Government most properly gives financial aid to these charities, the claims of the Children's Aid Society to similar practical recognition should not be overlooked.

From my experience as Agent of the society, I have had abundant opportunity of seeing the evil results which follow the dangerous practice of parents permitting their children, especially girls, to frequent the streets at night, without restraint, and without escort of a proper character. I have reason to know that this practice is the first step in a downward career, leading to shame and sorrow, and parents are urged to set a higher value upon their responsibility in the matter. By neglect of this responsibility, parents are trifling with a double risk—of sorrow and shame to themselves, and of ruin for their children.

All of which was respectfully submitted.

GEORGE COCHRANE, Agent.

The report was adopted.

The Treasurer's Statement.

Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer of the society, next presented his annual statement, which was as follows:

Dec. 1, 1904, Balance on Hand	$ 86 52
Receipts for year.....	780 85
	$867 37
Disbursements for year... ...	$862 42
Dec. 1, 1905, Balance on Hand	4 95
	$867 37

The report was adopted.

The report of Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, secretary of the society, as published in yesterday's issue, was read and accepted.

Resolutions.

Some discussion arose with regard to the action to be taken to secure an annual Government grant to the society. Rev. Dr. Crothers remarked that he considered the present a most opportune time in which to make the request. Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., would, in his opinion, look favourably upon the proposal. He also felt the utmost certainty that the Premier, Hon. J. P. Whitney, would also regard this request with the favour which he invariably manifests in a good cause.

The following resolution was then unanimously passed:

Moved by Rev. Dr. Crothers, seconded by Rev. Mr. Langfeldt, that a committee composed of Messrs. J. H. Burnham, R. M. Dennistoun and P. Campbell be appointed to devise ways and means to secure a grant from the Provincial Government for the society.

The Sewing Society.

The matter of the Sewing Society in connection with the shelter formed the subject of considerable discussion, and an effort to reorganize the society, which has in the past done such valuable work, will be made.

It was moved by Mrs. Hest, seconded by Mrs. Ward, that Mrs. Birdsall be appointed as superintendent of the sewing society, and that she be requested to make enquiries and take any steps possible toward reorganization.

A resolution was also passed, unanimously, expressing the thanks of the society to Mr. J. J. McBain, the retiring president, for his efforts on its behalf during his term of office.

A resolution of appreciation was also passed to the Press.

Election of Officers.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, the following being the result:

Hon. President, Hon. J. R. Stratton.

President, Mr. J. H. Burnham.

Vice-Presidents, Mrs. Birdsall, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot.

Secretary and Solicitor, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.

Treasurer, Mr. Peter Campbell.

Agent, Mr. Geo. Cochrane.

Representative on Charity Board—Mr. Geo. Cochrane.

Board of Management—Mesdames Best, Peck, Garvin, Davis, Wood, O'Sullivan, Montgomery, Potter, Eardley-Wilmot, Harding, Jessie Bernie, Miss Gow, Miss Dixon, Miss Boucher, Miss Barlee, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. J. G. Potter, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. Dr. Crothers, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, Rev. W. Major, Rev. F. J. Scott, Rev. A. H. Brace, Mayor Best, Dr. Geo. Burnham, Mr. D. Hughes Charles, Mr. John Butcher and Mrs. Lloyd.

Several of the speakers during the meeting made appreciative reference to the efficient and satisfactory manner in which Mr. Wm. Henry, custodian of the Shelter, had discharged the duties of that position, Mrs. Henry also coming in for her share of praise. The Examiner's knowledge of the circumstances justifies such expressions of commendation.

A rich man died the other day. He died in the very midsummer of life, and he left his family $1,000,000. The doctor's certificate showed that death resulted from typhoid fever. The doctor himself said to a friend: "That man was a suicide. He had a splendid constitution. I could have pulled him through if his stomach had been sound. But he ruined his stomach by hasty meals, snatched in intervals of business and by neglect of symptoms which have been warning him a year past, that his stomach was failing in its duties."

The symptoms of a disordered stomach are, among others, variable appetite, sour risings, heartburn, undue fullness after eating, dull headache, dingy complexion, discolored eye, fluctuations in physical strength, nervousness, sleeplessness dependency. No person will have all these symptoms at once.

The restoration of the stomach to sound health, begins with the first dose of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The cure progresses until the functions of the stomach are in healthy operation. Then the nerves are quiet and strong, the appetite healthful, the sleep restful, the eye bright, the complexion clear.

"Please accept my thanks for the benefit which my child received from your medicine," writes Mrs. W. A. Morgan, of Silica, Ills. "He had been troubled for nearly a year with liver complaint, indigestion and constipation. I gave him your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and they did him great good. I gave him the 'Discovery' about eight months, and several vials of the 'Pellets.' He seems to be perfectly well now."

If you want a cure accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

These ORIGINAL Little Liver Pills, first put up by old Dr. R. V. Pierce over 40 years ago, have been sugar coated ever since. They're made of purely vegetable, concentrated and refined medicinal principles, extracted from native American roots and plants. They speedily relieve and cure dull, torpid and deranged Stomach, Liver and Bowels and their attendant distressful ailments. One or two a laxative, three or four a cathartic.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I notice in the news despatches that in St. Catharines the English Grand Opera Company refused to sing on the same stage with alleged comic vocalists, and that the audience resented this decision and with a preference for the froth of entertainment, hooted the concert company. Now I can easily understand this situation. I heard the concert company here and the style of music they furnished was of so high a character as would have made the intrusion of "comic" vocalists an outrage. How would it be to interpolate a vaudeville "turn" in Haydin's "Creation"? It speaks little for the musical taste and culture of St. Catharines that vaudeville comicalities should be preferred to the highest class of music performed by high class artists. I'm afraid such an incident as the London one might be repeated in Peterborough.

Yours, etc.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Personally Conducted Tours to Mexico

Handled by Reau Campbell, the author of the Only Reliable Guide to Mexico, and Manager American Tourist Association, are being arranged to go via the Grand Trunk Railway System. Particulars will be announced later. Mr. Campbell has had twenty-five years experience in Mexican tours, and they are the only ones that positively take in all the interesting points, and are not covered by any other parties. His own dining car, "Quantzintecomatzin," and open top observation car "Chilillili," are largest and finest in the world.

Ald. Johnston Was Identified

His Picture Was in The Examiner Last Night.

Ald. Johnston must be pretty well known in this city. His picture in the Examiner last night was recognized by a large number of persons, and the telephones in this office were ringing incessantly, and the replies from five to six o'clock, were something like this, "Well, how is Ald. Johnston to-night?" Mr. Geo. Wesley, of Lang & Maher's, was the first to send word, and at 5.12 he communicated with this office, identifying the picture. Inside of three minutes Mr. Jos. Pirard had a similar story to tell. Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell was beaten out slightly last night. He is usually the first, and last night he came third, but he soon called the office up after he received the Examiner. Others who telephoned in were Messrs. T. Cavanagh, Webber Turner, Howard Warren, Robt. Fair, Fred. Cook, J. Jayes, G. H. Williamson, F. W. Bates, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, W. Burnham and Dr. Scott. Miss Daisy Conroy and Miss Grady also identified the pictures.

This series of pictures has aroused considerable interest among the public, and the subscribers are apparently appreciating the feature.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1905.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Mr. George Cochrane, the energetic and sane agent of the Children's Aid Society, of Peterborough, not only makes an excellent executive officer, but he has ideas. His idea suggested in his annual report, made yesterday, and printed in these columns today, that the Government should add to the effectiveness of the work of the society, by making an annual grant, something similar to that made to the Protestant Home and the House of Providence, is timely, and reasonable, as well. The argument he suggests in support of his idea, should appeal strongly to the authorities. When we consider the work the society is doing in the rescue of suffering and neglected children, from the claws of vice and suffering, in giving them happy and virtuous homes, and thus strengthening the foundations of society, and relieving the state from the burden of maintaining criminals, it claims to recognition, in the way of financial support, cannot reasonably be ignored. In the form of a Government grant, the whole community, which derives the benefit of the work done by the society, is made to contribute. If dependence is placed entirely upon private contributions, the whole burden of providing means for the society's work, falls upon a few, in addition to the other burdens they have to bear; for it happens that a comparatively few in every community can be depended upon to put their hands into their pockets to support the various other good causes that appeal. As the agent, in his report points out, the work of the society is constructive. It aims at, and succeeds in, making — practically creating — new citizens, and good ones, too, while the other charities mentioned, confine their work to the mere animal function of maintaining those whose days of usefulness are past. This is a noble and a necessary work, but it has not the present, as well as future, significance and importance, of the work of the Children's Aid Society. It is to be hoped that the committee appointed, as a result of Mr. Cochrane's suggestion, will succeed in impressing upon the Government their duty in relation to financially strengthening the hands of the Children's Aid Society. Apart from the moral obligation involved, there is a practical idea involved. Political economists tell us that every citizen gained to the state is worth a thousand dollars. Therefore, the society, which every year saves in this city many—and, in the province at large, thousands of citizens — not only preventing them from becoming criminals and, therefore, burdens upon the state, and menaces to the peace and safety of society, but putting them in the way of becoming virtuous, useful, and productive citizens — has a very large sum standing to its credit, demanding a liberal disbursement of public funds, if there is an effort made to balance the account.

SASKATCHEWAN SAFE.

After the smoke of battle has cleared away in the new province one gets a clearer idea of the situation and more reliable information is obtainable. By latest intelligence available at the time of writing, the Liberal Government of Hon. Walter Scott has been safely placed in harness. The latest returns give Mr. Scott fifteen supporters. Mr. Haultain nine, and one seat still unplaced owing to incomplete returns. The strength of the Liberal party came from the farmers, from whom one expects the most sane, considered and deliberate opinion.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is to be assumed that the Toronto News has completed its job of reforming the Whitney Government—it is now trying to reform the Senate.

Premier Whitney is fond of big round periods. He spoke of the winter fair at Guelph as "the pendulum which represents to agriculture the great heart throb of the Province of Ontario." What a nice sentence he could turn by declaring that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt represents the great heart throb of the Conservative graft element of the Province of Ontario.

In regard to a communication republished in this issue, opposing return to the old system of constituting county councils, it might be recalled that the county council of this county at its last session refused to give its support to a petition asking that a change be made. An intelligent body such as this council, should know what is best in the interests of the constituents they serve.

Dr. Reaume, Minister of Public Works in Mr. Whitney's Government, is attending the fish and game convention in Montreal. Dr. Reaume was the mouthpiece of the Whitney Government in the declaration that no officials would be slaughtered out of season — without investigation. How this promise has been kept is well known, and it illustrates the needlessness of the Minister to attend fish conventions to learn how to tell fish stories.

Mr. Wm. Gray, of London, has resigned the presidency of the London Conservative Association for business reasons. The politician who lets business interfere with politics will not be a success as a statesman. Success in politics demands undivided attention. Dr. Beattie Nesbitt makes a business of politics, and see how he swings cabinets into line and makes them do his work. Behold what a behemoth he is as a ward boss. In his hands Mr. Whitney is as clay in the hands of the potter, and he breaks a power like Mr. Flavelle as he would a rotten reed.

Word comes from Woodstock that the new Provincial Hospital for Epileptics, which has been erected in that city, will be ready for a formal opening about the middle of January. At present the province makes no provision for epileptics, unless of a dangerous character, and these are sent to the lunatic asylums. The new institution which, by the way, has been provided in pursuance of the policy adopted by Hon. Mr. Stratton, when he was Provincial Secretary in the Ross Government, will, doubtless, under proper management, yield satisfactory results as it will permit of the specialization of the treatment of epileptics, whose peculiar form of ailment, renders successful treatment in an insane asylum unsatisfactory. In the United States much progress has been made in the treatment of this disease, and now that the work can specialized we may expect correspondingly satisfactory results.

A SAN FRANCISCO PHYSICIAN

Uses Herpicide Successfully in Treating Sycosis of the Beard.

He says: "I recently treated a case of sycosis (similar to 'barber's itch') of the lower lip, with Newbro's Herpicide. There was an extensive loss of beard, with inflammation extending well down on the chin. The result of the application of Herpicide was most gratifying. The loss of beard ceased, and a new growth of hair is now taking place over the once inflamed area.

Drill Concert In Knox Church

A Most Successful Event Held Last Night.

Last night the Mission Band of Knox church gave a most enjoyable and successful Drill Concert in the church, which was taxed to its utmost capacity. A programme of great merit was presented by the young ladies and gentlemen of the church, about sixty taking part in the various drills, in which they gave evidence of much proficiency. The Mission is to be very heartily congratulated upon the success of the entertainment last night, and future similar events under the same auspices will be awaited with interest.

The chair was occupied by Mr. R. E. Wood, who, in his opening address referred to the gratifying progress which this young church has made during the last few years. The success which had attended the efforts of the members was ample proof of the fact that it was a wise move when the church was opened in that part of the town. The prospects, he said, were very bright for the future, and he looked to the time when Knox church would be one of the largest in the city.

A delightful programme of music and drills was rendered, as follows:

Maple Leaf..... .....The Misses Bartley
Broom Drill .... 18 girls
Chorus ....24 voices
Paddle Drill..... ....10 boys
Instrumental... ...Miss Edith Aylmer
Chorus, "Jack Frost".....24 boys and girls
Dumb-bell Brigade..... ...7 young men
Chorus ....24 voices
Indian Club Swinging...Mr. R. Burns
Shepherdess' Drill ... 16 young ladies
Solo, "Long Live the King,"...Mr. Wm. Blackwood
God Save the King.

After the programme a bazaar was held and in this the promoters were very successful and a satisfactory sum was realized from the sale.

North Bay Church Opening

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Dr. O'Brien Will Take Part.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Rev. Dr. O'Brien will leave to-morrow for North Bay, where they will take part in the ceremonies in connection with the opening of the beautiful new church at that place.

The church will be known as St. Mary's-on-the-Lake. It is a large edifice, and has just been completed. It will replace the old church there, which proved inadequate in size to meet the demands of a large and steadily increasing congregation.

The opening ceremonies will include Pontifical High Mass, which will be celebrated by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. At the morning mass, Bishop Lorraine, of Pembroke, preaches the sermon in French and Rev. Dr. Teefy of Toronto, in English. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, will preach in the evening. A large number of the clergy of the church, from different parts of the province, will be present at the opening.

The lighting fixtures in the new church were installed by Mr. F. R. J. McPherson of this city. The contract was a large one, and was carried out in a highly satisfactory manner.

Ald. Johnston's Year's Record

Ald. Johnston was seen this morning by the Examiner on his return from Ottawa, in reference to the report that the Labour Council were not satisfied with his action in the council this year. He stated that he had no knowledge of having acted in any way during the year detrimental to the labour interests, and would like to be told on what occasion that he did.

He is of the opinion that if they were not satisfied with his work they should have told him so, which, he says, they have never done.

Was Presented With a Ring

Mr. George Morris Honoured Previous to His Departure.

Mr. George Morris, of the C.G.E. Works, will leave to-night for Edmonton, Alberta, where he has accepted a position in the construction service of the C.P.R.

Mr. Morris has, during his residence of two years in Peterborough, made a large number of friends who will greatly regret his departure. He was a popular member of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, by members of which he was presented on Wednesday night with a handsome ring as a parting token of esteem.

Anniversary Is Postponed

The missionary anniversary services in connection with the George and Charlotte street churches, announced to be held on Sunday, have been unavoidably postponed. The reason for this postponement is the fact that the services in George street on Sunday will be held in the Sunday school room because of the repairs which are being made to the organ, and which will not be completed until next week. The pastor of George and Charlotte street churches will exchange pulpits at the morning service.

Judge O'Leary's Wide Territory

His Honour Judge O'Leary, of Port Arthur, arrived in town last evening and was kept busy to-day meeting and greeting old friends. The judge looks well, although he has been a very busy man since his elevation to the Bench, owing to a large number of cases having piled up while the position was vacant. He presides judicially over a territory that is as large as half a dozen German principalities, the eastern and western boundary points — White River and Fort Frances, Rainy River—being a full day's journey by fast express train from each other. Judge O'Leary will remain in town over Sunday in order to wind up certain business matters.—Lindsay Post.

State Of Progress Of The Lift Locks Investigation

The investigation into the causes contributory to the defective conditions that have developed in connection with the Kirkfield and Peterborough lift locks is taking more time than the public expected, the Department being evidently determined that it shall be thorough. The taking of evidence in connection with the Kirkfield lift lock is not yet completed, the contractor and others having yet to be examined, and it is doubtful if this part of the investigation will be completed this week. This will be followed by the investigation in connection with the Peterborough lift lock, and those in a position to know, say that good progress will be made if the evidence will be taken complete before Christmas day.

It seems justifiable that the necessary time and attention should be given the matter, both in the interests of the superintending engineer, who has requested the investigation, as well as in the interests of the public, who are concerned in discovering the causes of the conditions of leakage, whether due to structural defects or other causes, of most important parts of a great public work. Of course, the public cannot expect to be informed of developments arising in the course of the investigation. They will have to be satisfied with the assurance that the investigation will be thorough, and will have to wait for results till the report of the investigating authorities is made to the Department, and the resulting information made public in the ordinary course.

Prospects Are Good For The Roarin' Game

The Rinks for the Season Were Chosen at Last Night's Meeting of the Skips—Thirty Rinks and Many Unattached Members—Curling Will Start To-morrow.

Last night the skips elected by the Curling Club for the season met at the rink and choose their rinks, which number thirty with a number of unattached players. The prospects this year are that the club will have the most successful season in its history. The club membership will be large and greater interest is being taken in the game than has been manifested in a number of years.

The rinks chosen last night were—

A few more rinks will be arranged in a few days and any person who desires to join the curling club will kindly leave their names at the curling rink on Charlotte street, with R. M. Waddell, sec., phone 42, or T. Brightman, president, phone 59.

It was decided to extend complimentary tickets to the clergymen of the city, and they are all invited to avail themselves of the privileges. There will be curling to-morrow.

Guild Hockey League Meeting

The Guild Hockey League will meet to-night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall. This will be the annual meeting of the league and the officers for the year will be elected as well as plans for the season discussed.

The prospects are that this year the league will be even more successful than it was last season. The games will be played on the Brock street rink, which will give the supporters of the different teams a better opportunity of witnessing the performances of their favourites.

HOCKEY

The outfits of the different juvenile teams that will play in the city this winter are very elaborate. The Central School seven have ordered their sweaters which will be in Lang and Maher's window in about a week. The sweaters are blue with a white band across the body and sleeves with white border at the bottom and white cuffs.

The Murray Street Separate School have organized a hockey team for the coming season, and have elected the following officers:—

Hon. President—Rev. W. J. McColl.
Secretary—Mr. M. J. McDonnell.
Captain—Fred. Conroy.
Manager—Jimmie O'Brien.
Mascott—Frank Grady.
Committee—V. Morrow, V. Hayes, A. Primeau, R. Sheehy, F. Conroy, Capt.

The boys would like to arrange a game with the Central School as soon as possible. All communications should be addressed to the secretary, Mr. M. J. McDonnell.

The Port Hope Burglars Are Nervy Enough

Midnight Robbers Enter Ben Olver & Company's Store and Change Their Old Clothes for New Wearing Apparel—One of a Series of Daring Robberies Which Have Taken Place Recently—Large Haul Was Made.

AN UNENVIABLE REPUTATION GAINED

The Port Hope Guide, of last night, said:

A daring burglary was committed at the Gentlemen's furnishing store of Ben. Olver & Co., at an early hour this (Thursday) morning. When Mr. Norman Olver opened the store about eight o'clock it looked as if a cyclone had struck it and upon investigation it was found that numerous articles were missing. The thieves endeavoured to gain entrance from the door at the west side of the store. The screen door is still hanging there, and by means of a knife they cut the wire in this and raised the latch. They then proceeded to cut through the pannel of the next door, but this was too much of an undertaking and they finally worked their way through the cellar window. The cellar door opening into the store was bolted and had a large bar placed across, but notwithstanding this, they pried it open and proceeded to fit themselves out with the best of clothing. Suit after suit was hauled down and thrown on the floor, and it appears that the thieves were very particular as to quality, size, etc. At the south end of the store they made a sweep in the boot boxes, and were not satisfied until they found the patent leather. A couple of suits of underwear was also necessary, and to make their paraphernalia complete they visited the window and selected some nobby neckties and fur caps. Everything was now ready for the change and they quietly retired to the rear end of the store and donned their new garments leaving their old ones behind. This done they departed and no doubt to-day they are cutting quite a dash.

Mr. Olver, as yet, is unable to state what his loss will be, but one thing certain the thieves went away well supplied. They searched the till, but fortunately this was empty.

The past few months there have been numerous robberies perpetrated here, but last night's was the boldest. The lights were burning in the store and in the windows but notwithstanding this, the thieves removed a large rack from the window and made a careful selection of the neck wear which was displayed in the east window.

Park Street Mission Band

The annual concert of the Park street Mission Band was held last night, and was well attended, the church being filled to overflowing. The programme as rendered was appropriate and gave evidence of careful preparation.

The motion song by ten little girls and the doll drill by fourteen girls deserve special mention. They were particularly meritorious. Miss Mabel Gillespie had given much time to their training and deserves great credit for the proficiency which they evidenced.

Miss Maud Titterson rendered four numbers admirably. The last, a Japanese song, in character, being particularly effective. Her sister Jennie played the accompaniment for her during the evening.

The pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, occupied the chair, and was supported by M. Braund. The following programme was rendered:

Recitation...Miss Gertrude Killingbeck
Instrumental ... Miss Hazel Gillespie
Recitation ... ... Miss Ada Barrie
Solo... ... Master William Tranter
Recitation ..... Miss Maud Titterson
Motion Song..... ... ...Ten little girls
Recitation... ... Miss Alethia Smith
Recitation ... ...Miss Rebecca Juby
Solo..... .....Miss Maud Titterson
Recitation ... . Miss Florence Smith
Chorus ....Fourteen little girls
Recitation ..... Miss Maud Titterson
Address ....Miss Maggie Mann
Japanese song ...Miss Maud Titterson

A vote of thanks to Miss Titterson was moved by Deacon Haddow and seconded by Deacon Inkpin, which was unanimously tendered.

Earlier in the evening the Refreshment Committee entertained the children, who were well supplied with dainties.

Credit is due the Executive Committee for the great success of the gathering.

Teh report of the year's work was read by Miss Helen Hudson, and will be published to-morrow.

Warminster Cheese Factory

The annual meeting of the Warminster Cheese Factory was held in the factory on Wednesday, December 6th. There was a good attendance of patrons and the reading of the report, with the handsome cheque, gave general satisfaction. A few of the figures are as follows:—

Total pounds of milk 1,555,909
Total pounds of cheese 138,668
Total amount of money ... ... $ 14,618.07
Average per lbs. of milk... ... $25.71

General regret was expressed on the death of the late proprietor of the factory, Mr. Warren Taylor, a man beloved by the patrons, one and all, for his kind and liberal dealings with them these many long years, performing the duties of salesman shipping cheese and treasurer of the factory free of charge to the patrons and a man of splendid business ability.

It might not be out of place to give a brief history of the factory, which is situated two miles north of Warsaw, the old building being erected over thirty years ago, being one of the first factories built in the county, being taken down some eight years ago and replaced by a modern up-todate structure with stone basement for cool curing and latest improvements for the manufacture of both butter and cheese.

The following are the officers for 1906:—

Mr. David Taylor, proprietor, acts as treasurer and ships all cheese free of charge. Mr. Robert Bullock was re-elected secretary of factory and salesman. Mr. G. A. Graham is still the popular cheesemaker.

The meeting closed in great harmony with bright prospects for the future.

A Problem Solved

Ozone is ozone and in buying it the problem is to get the purest form. "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is the purest form in which Ozone is put up In addition each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free, and it is well known that you should take "Celery King" along with Ozone.

We put "Celery King" coupons in our Ozone bottles because no other firm can give "Celery King" with Ozone. By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" you get the purest and most concentrated form of Ozone, and in addition, you save the expense of buying "Celery King" to use with it.

No other kind of Ozone offers this advantage. Ask your druggist for it, and if he hasn't it, write to the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE. 4

IT'S WELL NAMED THE
"PERFECT IDEA"

If you see it you won't forget it. It possesses new and pleasing features that is making it "sell like hot cakes." Besides being a handsome looking Range and easy on fuel, it has these five valuable points:

1—All Nickle-plating is removable, and can be easily lifted off without turning a screw or bolt.

2—It is fitted for a gas attachment at the back so that it can be used as a Gas Range in summer.

3—Gas connection can also be made under the oven so as to bake with gas in summer.

4—It has the Patent Duplex Grate.

5—Made for coal and wood in all sizes.

It is bound to be a popular Range and the Guelph Stove Company have appointed us Sole Agents for Peterborough.

Walter Scott Increases His Lead To Six

Liberal Triumph in the Saskatchewan Assured.

THE LATEST RETURNS SHOW

Fifteen Liberals, Nine Opposition Elected, and One Seat, Kinistino, Still In Doubt—Final Scrutiny Will Award Regina City and Moose Jaw City to the Liberals—Some of the Majorities.

Winnipeg, Dec. 15.—Returns received here up to 6 last evening indicate the election of fifteen Liberals and nine Opposition in Saskatchewan, with Kinistino still in doubt. Regina City and Moose Jaw City, the Liberals claim, should be in the doubtful column, as the final scrutiny will assuredly award those seats to the Government.

In Regina South, Calder's majority is now 64 with six polls to hear from which will increase it to 85. Cannington and Prince Albert district are safe for the Government.

All belated returns continue favorable to the Liberals, and it is probable the Scott Government will hold sixteen seats, Kinistino being considered as likely to be found in the Liberal column.

Returns from North Qu'Appelle are very incomplete, but enough is known to insure Hon. Mr. Motherwell's re-to insure Hon. Mr. Motherwell's election.

In Yorkton, Garry (Liberal) has 318 majority, with five polls to hear from, which will likely increase it. Brown's majority in Souris is 320, with four polls to hear from.

Grant's majority in Batoche is 582, with five polls missing. The vote in these is small, and will give Liberal majorities.

Hon. Mr. Haultain's majority in South Qu'Appelle is 400, being unexpectedly large.

All but two polls heard from in Lumsden give Scott a majority of 199. The two remaining polls are expected to increase this majority by 50.

Moosomin—All polls heard from give Ellis a majority of 36. There are one hundred contested ballots.

Rosthern—Ens' final majority is 210.

Wolseley—Elliott has a majority of 25 on final counts.

Saltcoats—McNutt (Liberal) leads by 187, with 16 polls to hear from. Thompson will lose his deposit.

The latest returns show:

Liberals elected—Battleford, Batoche, Cannington, Humboldt, Lumsden, Moose Jaw District, Qu'Appelle North, Prince Albert City, Prince Albert District, Redberry, Regina South, Rosthern, Saltcoats, Saskatoon, Yorkton.

Conservatives elected — Grenfell, Maple Creek, Moose Jaw City, Moosomin, Qu'Appelle South, Regina City, Souris, Whitewood, Wolseley.

Shot Hodgins to Protect Wife.

Ottawa, Dec. 15.—County Chief of Police Hamilton yesterday arrested Adam Greene of Fitzroy Township for shooting George Hodgins with a shotgun in a squabble over Hodgins' wife, who had gone to Greene's to escape her husband's alleged cruelty. The prisoner is a respectable and prosperous farmer. He is out on $10,000 bail in two sureties of $5,000 each.

Coal Miners' Convention.

Shamokin, Pa., Dec. 15.—The anthracite coal miners' convention began its sessions here yesterday. About seven hundred delegates were present when John Mitchell, President of the United Mine Workers of America, called the convention to order. The miners' leaders plan, through the convention, to request a conference of the operators.

Woman Killed, Another Hurt.

Three Rivers, Que., Dec. 15.—At a woman named Boisclaire, and her daughter, residents of the Village of Montcarmel, fifteen miles from Three Rivers, were driving home yesterday afternoon, they were struck by an engine in crossing the C. P. R. track in this city. The daughter was instantly killed, and Mrs. Boisclaire severely injured.

An Absconder Arrested.

Queenstown, Dec. 15.—Alfonso Lissner, a passenger on the Cedric, which arrived yesterday from New York, was arrested on a charge of absconding with $6,500. Lissner's wife, who did not accompany her husband ashore, proceeded on the Cedric to Liverpool in ignorance of his arrest. Lissner had $6,077 when arrested.

Next Convention in Rome.

Philadelphia, Dec. 15.—The central committee, representing the World's Sunday School Convention, held this year in Toronto, in charge of the interests of 250,000 Sunday schools, with an enrollment of 26,000,000 members, has voted to hold the world's fifth convention in Rome, Italy, May 20, 1906.

The Torch Is Being Applied By Peasants

Lettish Peasants Running Wild In Baltic Provinces.

SAILORS JOIN IN STRIKE

Revolt, Entirely Successful In Riga and Venden, Now Spreading to All Parts of Courland—German Nobleman Is Murdered Near Riga—German Landlords Are Standing a Regular Siege.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 15.—The Government advices yesterday from the Baltic provinces forwarded part of the way from Riga by courier are of the most alarming character. Bands of thousands of Lettish peasants are roaming the country in the vicinity of Riga putting the torch to the houses on all estates and even threatening the town of Riga itself.

The districts of Riga and Venden are entirely in the hands of the insurgents.

The revolt is spreading to all parts of Courland. All railway communication with Riga is cut. The insurgents have seized a number of sections on the three railroads leading from that city and are advancing against others.

According to the Government's information all the sailors from the commercial steamers in the harbor of Riga have joined the strike.

In the Baltic provinces many of the German landlords who have not fled are establishing a net work of small forts and are standing a regular seige. There has been much killing and burning.

Inhabitants of the Baltic provinces who are now residing in St. Petersburg were immensely gratified at the publication of the Imperial ukase promising local self-government, which they say means the abandonment of the Russification policy begun in 1867 to destroy the unity of the old provinces of Lithuania.

The Government is sending several columns of troops to the Baltic provinces of Tsthonia and Courland and Riga. In response to appeals from the German embassy demanding the protection of German subjects, the Government has replied that ample troops were now on the way to insure the protection of all foreigners.

August Von Hennings, a prominent member of the Baltic nobility and assistant chief of his district, was atrociously murdered at his residence near Riga by a revolutionary band. Two dragoons, who were detailed to guard the residence also were killed. A servant, who walked 60 miles to catch a train, brought the details of the horrible event here.

CARELESSNESS A CRIME.

Found Guilty for Accidentally Shooting Man For a Bear.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 15.—Mattie Penanen has been found guilty of killing Thomas Wilde in violation of the state law making it a crime to accidentally kill a man in the woods by carelessness while hunting.

The maximum sentence fixed by law is ten years. The jury recommended Penanen to the mercy of the court.

Penanen said that when he fired the shot that killed Wilde he thought that he was a bear. The shooting took place at night.

Indicted For Rebating.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 15.—The federal grand jury yesterday found true bills of indictment against R. D. Wood & Co., the Great Northern Railroad Co., the Mutual Transit Co., C. E. Campbell, freight agent of the Great Northern; L. W. Lake and Paul J. Diver of the Mutual Transit Co., charged with giving and receiving rebates on a shipment of pipe to Winnipeg.

City of Ottawa Wins.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Chancellor Boyd yesterday gave judgment in favor of the City of Ottawa going ahead with their electric lighting undertaking. That no company has a right to obstruct them is the judical dictum.

Ottawa purchased the plant of the Consumers' Electric Company in July last for $200,000. The Ottawa Electric Company brought action to restrain the city from operating its plant.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, K.C., appeared for the vanquishing party.

May Be Investigated.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—The York County Loan affair was the topic of discussion at the Cabinet meeting yesterday. Hon. J. J. Foy introduced the subject and some time was given to it, but as there are several points to be yet considered by the Attorney-General, no definite action was reached. It is believed, almost certain, however, that an investigation will be ordered and a competent official auditor placed upon the company's books, to make a report to the Government.

Protection of Game Fish.

Montreal, Dec. 15.—The discussion in the fish and game congress yesterday morning was on the question of the better protection of game fish. The lease system to clubs was defended. Although the farmers objected to the principle at first, they are now, it is claimed, beginning to see its advantages.

Rugbyists Were Dined By President

Delightful Banquet Tendered the Victorious Team Last Night by President of the Local Club — Thirty-two Guests Were in Attendance Function Was Most Enjoyable—Informal Toast List Many Interesting Speeches.

MANY ENJOYABLE POST-PRANDIALITIES

PETERBOROUGH RUGBY CHAMPIONSHIP RECORD.

ONTARIO	1899, 1901, 1902, 1905
CANADA	1899, 1901

In keeping with the festival character of the approaching yule-tide was the dinner tendered last night by President A. A. Hollingshead to the victorious Peterborough Rugby Club, O.R.F.U. champions, 1905. Thirty-two guests assembled around the festive board at McCallum's restaurant, the members of the hockey team of last season also being guests.

The affair was a thoroughly delightful one in every respect, whether from the material view point of the recherche menu, or from that of the feast of reason and flow of soul, which followed. President Hollingshead's action in tendering the banquet was characteristic of his generous attitute toward sport in Peterborough for many years, and it is felt that to his active and sustained interest in the Rugby Club during the past season, its success was in no small measure due. His executive ability was of invaluable assistance in the direction of the affairs of the club.

Mr. McCallum fully sustained his past reputation in the excellence of the menu provided. The souvenir card was of a dainty character and typographically neat.

The duties of chairman were performed by Mr. W. Crowley in his usual happy manner.

The toast to "The King" was honoured with the usual enthusiasm.

"Our Host," proposed by the chairman, was honoured amid enthusiasm, and gracefully responded to by Mr. Hollingshead.

A charmingly executed mandolin solo by Mr. L. Mendel was much enjoyed.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams then gave a short talk on rugby, tracing most interestingly the progress of the game in Peterborough since the year 1899. The speaker, by reason of his past associations with the game, was well qualified to speak upon the subject, both in a thooretical and practical sense. Mr. Mendel contributed another mandolin solo, which was enthusiastically applauded.

"Our American Cousins" was responded to by Mr. Poe, who gave an interesting talk upon "Our Game Across the Border." Mr. Poe won his rugby spurs in what is probably the most strenuous field of rugby upon the continent, and his phenomenal feat, in which he was alone directly responsible for the winning in two successive years, of the championship for Princeton, is one of the best known pieces of sport-lore in American rugby circles.

"Sister Sports" brought Mr. R. M. Glowen to his feet, and he gave an interesting talk upon conditions and prospects among other branches of sport, speaking with particular reference to hockey.

"The Ladies" brought a number of felicitous replies, those having this pleasant duty to perform being Messrs. C. G. Graham, W. Cavanagh, F. Whitcroft, E. Dillon, and "Doc" Shaw. Mr. E. Crough, through Mr. W. Crowley, gave an interesting rendering of a college yell.

The evening was brought to a fitting conclusion by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Children's Aid Society Will

ASK INCREASED GRANT From Provincial Government

Annual Meeting Was Held Yesterday Afternoon at Council Chamber—Reports Were Presented and Officers Elected —Attendance Was Representative--Several Resolutions Were Passed.

The annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon, at the Council Chamber. The attendance was fairly large, and of a representative character.

The reports of the various committees were presented and were of a gratifying nature, in so far as the work accomplished by the society during the year is concerned.

The inadequacy of the funds at the disposal of the society was the subject of considerable discussion, and it was decided to make an effort towards securing an increased grant for the coming year. The officers for the year were also elected, the personnel remaining, with few exceptions, the same as those of the present year.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. H. Burnham, who presented the agent's report. Speaking with regard to it, Mr. Burnham said that the suggestion that the Government should be asked to give financial assistance to the society, was both timely and proper. The report explains that while charities like the Protestant Home and the House of Providence, receive Government help, the Children's Aid Society is not yet on the Government's lists, and, in view of the great amount of work to be done, it is absolutely necessary that the Government should extend its system of financial aid to it.

Mr. Burnham added that he desired to express the thanks of the Society to the Chief Executive Officer, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, for his services in connection with the work of the Society during the year. Although he was well aware that Mr. Dennistoun did not look for praise, still, it was their privilege to thank a man for a great work, well done. The ends and aims of some movements were accomplished by the aid of heart work, and some advisory help, but the Children's Aid work required head work as well, and it was also necessary that the Secretary should be a lawyer. It was wholly impossible to act promptly and effectively and yet require to get legal advice. He had much pleasure in expressing the thanks not only of the Society but of the community in general.

The Agent's Report.

The report of Mr. George Cochrane, agent of the society, was as follows:—

To the President, Officers and Members of the Children's Aid Society of the City and County of Peterough:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I take pleasure in presenting my sixth annual report as Agent of your society, and in doing so will give you a brief outline of the work done during the past year in my department.

The Shelter has been under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Henry, and, I think, you will agree with me, when I state they have performed their duties in a very satisfactory manner. Although we have had a much larger number of children to care for during the past year than any year since the society was organised, still they have all been looked after by Mrs. Henry in such a motherly way that there has been no cause for complaint, which certainly speaks well for our matron.

I am sorry to have to report that our Sewing Society, so well conducted by Mrs. Birdsall, the vice-president, has ceased to exist. This is very much to be regretted, and we can only hope that some one will be found to take Mrs. Birdsall's place, and re-organise our Sewing Society, as it has been a great help in carrying on the work, in addition to being a great saving of our funds, which have not been sufficient to carry on our work during the year.

In the last twelve months I have travelled over 1,100 miles throughout the county, and have made 74 visits to investigate complaints. Communications have been received from people in different parts of the county, and action has been taken where deemed necessary. Persons giving such information need have no hesitation in doing so, as they may rest assured that it will always be treated as strictly confidential.

Following the custom adopted some years ago, I distributed 11 well-filled baskets, and 9 parcels of clothing; also, 16 parcels of clothing have been given to applicants, and 46 children who were not inmates of the Shelter, have been provided with same during the winter.

Fifty children have been admitted to the Shelter since the last annual report.

I should like to respectfully ask if there is any good reason why the Children's Aid Society should not receive a Government grant, similar to that made to the Protestant Home and House of Providence. All are worthy charities, but, in view of the comparative value of the work done, it would seem that the claims of the society should appeal most strongly. The object, and, not only the object,

HIS FIRST X MAS

Ring up the Pole and telephone
Without a moment's pause,
Or by the wireless make it known
To dear old Santa Claus,
That Papa's Boy and Mamma's Joy,
And Sister's Precious Mite,
While glad bells clang, will gaily hang
His stocking up to-night.

"Ting-ling! Ting-ling! Hello, hello!
Is that you, Santa, dear?
Be sure your reindeer hear you 'Whoa!'
When you are passing here,
What's that? You'll come and bring a drum,
A jumping-jack and ball.
And other toys for little boys?
Dear Santa, you're best of all!"

'Tis Christmas morn, and to his sheep
Old Santa homeward flies;
'Tis five o'clock, but open pop
The baby's roguish eyes.
We're dead for sleep, but out we creep,
And dress at once to get
What Santa kind has left behind
For Toddlekins, our pet,

From Pole to Pole there's surely not
A babe more pleased than he,
And how he crows the happy tot,
And gurgles in his glee.
The jumping-jack, the ducks that quack,
The drum, the horns, the ball,
The chicks that peep, the horse, the sheep,
He tries to eat them all.

On this, his first Christmas lark,
The toys with blocks he pelts,
He makes old Noah wish the Ark
Had landed somewhere else.
A soldier blue, he breaks in two,
A puncture gives the drum,
He fills the air with legs and hair,
And then—he sucks his thumb!

"The Sand Man's surely come to town,
And soft is mother's lap;
Clear up the wreck and snuggle down,
'Tis time to take a nap.
Then rock-a-bye, close each blue eye,
Rest, my darling, rest!
He's fast asleep, with baby sheep
Hugged tight against his breast!"

WILLIE CONVERTS SANTA CLAUS INTO A CIDER FOUNTAIN

Dear Tommy—I wish you had been here Christmas. Maudie's beau was Santa, and I made a magic jug for him—like this.

All the folks were there. Reggie came out, made a bow, and proposed that we all take a Christmas drink.

Everybody stood up, and to their astonishment Reggie filled all the glasses from the tiny jug.

But he didn't get the hang of shutting it off, and the jug began to squirt cider.

Then Reggie got rattled and dropped the jug, and immediately became a living cider fountain. Say, Tommy, it was awful! Yours, etc., Willie.

YULE TIDE IN OLDEN TIMES

By Laurence Hutton.

"Now I am in a holiday humour."
—"As You Like It," Act IV., Scene 1.

The Ghost of Christmas Past has a great deal more to show to the world at large than it displayed to Mr. Scrooge on that famous Christmas Eve when Marley had been just seven years dead. The Christmas carols which have been written, and printed, and lost and forgotten, would fill many volumes, while the prose literature devoted to Christmas would form a good-sized library in itself. And yet nobody knows anything about the origin of Christmas; nobody knows who first celebrated it, or when, or where or how; while more than half the customs and traditions of Christmas are involved in absolute mystery or are a matter of mere conjecture.

St. John of Chrysostom, who died in 407, in an epistle upon the subject of Christmas day, relates that St. Cyril of Jerusalem instructed St. Julius, who died in 352, to make a strict inquiry as to the exact date of the Nativity of our Saviour, and that the conclusion reached was that it occurred on Dec. 25. All these saints were likewise bishops of Rome.

Father Christmas as he has been naturalized in the United States, seems to have been of mixed and cosmopolitan origin. Our Christmas carols appear to have come from the Holy Land itself; our Christmas trees from the East, by way of Germany; our Santa Claus from Holland; our stockings, hung in the chimney, from France or Belgium; and our Christmas cards and verbal Christmas greetings, our Yule logs, our boars heads, our plum puddings and our mince pies from England. Our turkey is, seemingly, our only national contribution.

As Jeremy Taylor points out, the first Christmas carol was the glorious song of the angels at the birth of the Messiah. In the British Museum is an Anglo-Norman carol; and the earliest printed collection of carols was published, it is said, by Wynkin de Worde in 1521. Only one leaf of this book is known to the collectors, but it contains two specimens of verse, one "A Caroll of Huntynge," the other "A Caroll Bringing in the Boar's Head." Among the Hartleian MSS. is a carol written during the reign of Henry VI.

The chronology of the Christmas tree is very doubtful. Mr. Timbs finds its roots in the land of the early Egyptians. The Germans claim that it sprouted in their fatherland. Other authorities trace it back to the Roman saturnalia, and quote a line or two from the Georgics of Virgil to prove their theory.

In Jolly hymns they praise the god of wine,
Whose earthen images adorn the pine,
And these are hung on high in honour of the vine.

The translation is Dryden's. Still other authorities believe the tree to be a buddhist importation, and to date back to the fifth century of our era, and they tell us that it is a custom still observed in Asia for the people, on certain festive occasions, to stick trees in the ground, upon the branches of which they suspend their presents and their offerings.

A Christmas tree is known to have played an important part in a Christmas pageant given in honour of Henry VIII; and M. Greville in his memoirs, Dec. 27, 1829, says that "on Christmas day the princess (Lieven) got up a little fete such as is customary all over Germany. Three trees, in great pots, were put upon a long table, covered with pink linen; each tree was illuminated with three circular tiers of coloured wax candles—blue, green, red and white. Before each tree was displayed a quantity of toys, gloves, pocket handkerchiefs, work boxes, books and various articles—presents made to the owner of the tree. It was very pretty. Here (England) it was only for the children; in Germany the custom extends to persons of all ages."

Charles G. Leland, in "The English Gypsies and Their Language," published in 1874, prints a curious gipsy legend and of course an ancient one, which touches in a tender way upon the custom of church decoration at Christmas time. This is it: "The ivy and holly and pine trees never told a word where our Saviour was hiding Himself, and so they keep alive all the winter, and look green all the year. But the ash, like the oak, told of Him where He was hiding, so they have to remain dead all the winter. And so we gipsies burn an ash fire every great day."

The custom of decorating churches on Christmas Eve has been traced to the first lesson of the evening service of Dec. 24, in which occur these words from Isaiah 60; 13: "The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the fir tree, the pine tree, and the box together, to beautify the place of my sanctuary." But Dean Stanley says that the decoration of churches with holly is a religious observance which comes down from the time of the heathen, who suspended green boughs and holly about their houses, that the fairies and the spirits of the woods might find shelter in them.

The mistletoe was gathered by the Druids with no little ceremony at the end of the old year, and at the beginning of the new year it was distributed among the people. It was supposed to be an antidote to poison, and to possesses the mystic virtue of causing fertility.

There is said to have existed in mediaeval times a very serious proverb to the effect that if a maiden were not fortunate enough to be kissed on Christmas day she could have no hope of being married during the following year. And it is gravely recorded that in later days the mistletoe was excluded from the Christmas decorations in the English churches because the smacking was sometimes so loud that it interrupted the services!

There is a tradition and a fervent belief among the villagers of certain sections of England that the Christmas thorn blossoms on Jan. 6 (12th day,) and on that day only, and that that this curious fact—if it be a fact—if it be a fact—establishes the truth of that being the date of the birth of the Christ.

The origin of Christmas giving certainly goes back to the days of the Romans, and before the days of Christ; but one ancient theory of its application in Christendom is worth quoting in part. John Dunton, in his "Athenian Oracle" (1728) says that "it is as old as the word mass itself, which the Romish priests invented from the Latin "mitto," to send, by putting the people in mind to send gifts, offerings, oblations; to have masses said for anything they chanced to want. Thus the mass at this particular time of the year was the Christ's mass, and the money gathered was deposited in the Christ's-mass box, hence the term still employed in England, particularly among dependents, who were given something by their employers to help them buy a seasonable patronage of the church."

The Christmas card is comparatively a modern innovation, and it is said to have been patented about the middle of the nineteenth century, when the ordinary calling cards, containing the words, "A Merry Christmas," were supplemented by printed cards upon which were various forms of Christmas greeting, drawings of holly branches and the like. The oldest of these in existence, it is said, were published in London in 1846, and the custom is believed to have come from Germany.

The Yule-log is supposed to have been transmitted to the Britains from their Scandinavian ancestors, who, at their feast of the winter solstice, lighted great bon fires in honour of Thor. The fragments of one Christmas log were carefully preserved in the middle ages, to start the fire in the log of the next Christmas; and it was long a tradition that if a flat-footed woman, or a squinting person of either sex, was permitted to enter the house while the log was burning, bad luck to somebody was sure to follow.

The Christmas bill of fare in the brave days of old was rich and varied. The chief and most important dish was the boar's head, and the second was roast peacock, although it is by no means clear why either of them came to be associated with the occasion.

Christmas under the commonwealth was not a particularly cheerful or festive occasion. In 1647 the Cromwellian government ordered the common crier to inform the public that Christmas day, as being a superstitious and a hurtful custom, could no longer be observed; and that markets should be held on Dec. 25th. A few years later, on Dec. 24, "The House before they rose were presented with a terrible remonstrance against Christmas day, grounded upon divine scripture, in which Christmas is called Anti-Christ's Mass," et. The result was that Parliament resolved to sit on the following day, "commonly called Christmas."

In the Commons Journal for Dec. 24, 1652, we read the following: "Resolved that the Markets be kept To-morrow, being the 25th December. And that the Lord Mayor and Sheriffs of London and Middlesex, and the Justices of the Peace for the City of Westminster, and Liberties thereof, do take care that all such persons as shall open their Shops on that Day, be protected from Wrong or Violence, and the Offenders Punished. Resolved, that no observation shall be had on the 25th day of December, commonly called Christmas Day, nor any solemnity used or exercised in Churches upon that day, in respect thereof. Ordered that the Committee of Whitehall, do see that the Shops in Westminster Hall, be kept open To-morrow.

One of the Puritan tracts dated 1655, bears the following descriptive title: "Christmas Day; Taking to Heart the Heathen's Fasting Day in Honour to Saturn their Idol God. The Papist's Massing Day. The Superstitious Man's Idol Day. The Multitude's Idle Day. Whereon because they can do Nothing they do worse than Nothing." The name of the enthusiastic author of this publication is not given on its title page. This was one of the many published broadsides of the period, which laboured to prove that Christmas was comparatively a modern festival; that it had grown out of the ancient Saturnalia, the pagan feast of Saturn; that it is not enjoined in Scripture; and that—above all—it was forbidden by the parliament then sitting.

In a rare old pamphlet, called "Christmas Entertainments," dated 1734, we are told that "There was once upon a time Hospitality in the Land of Britain. An English Gentleman at the Opening of the Great Day had all his Tenants and Neighbours enter'd his hall by day break; the strong beer was brought and the black-jack went plentifully about with toast, sugar and nutmeg, and good Cheshire cheese; the rooms were embower'd with holly, ivy, cypress, bays, laurel and mistletoe, and a bouncing Christmas log in the chimney, glowing like the cheeks of a country milk-maid; then was the pewter as bright as Clarinda, and every bit of brass as polished as the most refined Gentleman; the Servants were there, running here and there with merry hearts and jolly countenances; every one was busy in welcoming of Guests, and look'd as snug as new-lick'd puppies; the lasses were as blithe and boxom as the maids in Good Queen Bess's Day; when they eat sirloins of roast beef for breakfast."

Another curious old tract, dated 1735, relates to "The Tryal of Old Father Christmas, for Encouraging His Majesty's Subjects to Idleness, Gluttony, Drunkenness, Gambling, Swearing, Rioting, and all Manner of Extravagance and Debauchery." The Tryal was held at the Assizes in the City of Profusion before the Lord Chief Justice Churchman, Mr. Justice JFeast, Mr. Justice Gamble, and several others of His Majesty's Justices of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery. The prisoner pleaded Not Guilty, but one Caleb Careful him that "he has eaten (Chrystmas has eaten, not Caleb) 1000, 1200 dozen of fowl, 1500 chines, 2500 sirloins of beef, 3000 gallons of plum porridge, bread in proportion, with strong beer, Geneva, brandy, punch and wine beyond all proportion," and all this in one day. The prisoner in his defence declared that he was about 1700 years old and never was questioned at assizes or sessions before. The jury without retiring found a verdict for the defendant, which verdict was greeted with "loud applause and shouts of the joyful crowd," and the judge cautioning Father Christmas to temper his hospitality with prudence, avoiding gluttony and excess, dismissed the case.

There is a tradition in Lancashire that at midnight on Christmas Eve the cows fall on their knees and the bees hum Old Hundredth. The hum of bees can be made to sound like any tune the listener is willing to fancy it, and cows on any night of the year, or one by day, get on their knees first on rising from the ground, as is their well-known habit.

A curious and effective Christmas custom is recorded in a "History of Carrickfergus," which was printed in the first decade of the past century. "Late on Christmas Eve," it says, "young men and boys (young men are generally boys) assembled and collect carts, cars, gates, boats, planks etc., with which they block up the Irish, or West, gate of this town. There is a vague tradition (like all Christmas traditions, it is vague) that the custom originated in the Protestant inhabitants shutting the gates on the Roman Catholics when they went out to mass on Christmas Eve.....Within memory it was common for boys to assemble early at the school house on the morning before Christmas, and to bar out the master, who was not admitted till he promised a certain number of days vacation. Early on Christmas Day the boys set out to the country in parties of eight or twelve, armed with staves or bludgeons, killing and carrying off such fowls as came in their way. These were taken to their respective school rooms and cooked the following day. To this feast many persons were invited, who furnished liquors or other necessaries (liquors in our time are looked upon as luxuries,) and the entertainments usually continued for several days. As civilization increased," adds the historian, "these marauding feasts became less popular, and the decline of the custom was much hastened (not by the increase of civilization, but) by the discovery that the cooks often purloined the best fowls to themselves."

Any tradition which takes boys early to school on any day in the year may certainly be set down as vague!

Christmas, for a curious reason, is said to have been a peculiarly sad day for the farmers and rural householders of Cheshire, for by an ancient custom which prevailed almost universally in that country half a century ago, all agricultural servants engaged themselves from New Year's Eve to Christmas day, by virtue of which agreement they took a week off for play and recreation; and left the families of their employers to wait upon and cook and work for themselves. Mr. Thomas Hughes describes these farm servants, men and women, as dressed in holiday attire and crowding the streets of Chester, with their week's wages in their pockets. "They invest their incomes in smock-frocks, cotton dresses, plush waistcoats, or woollen shawls, all of the gayest and most showy colours and varieties, and they hold high carnival in the small shops and lowest taverns. It is amusing to mix in the throng on such occasions," he added, in 1855, "and to watch these children of nature unadorned; their straggling gait, their fanciful apparel, to hear their quaint exclamations and their outlandish dialect, which few educated natives could understand without a glossary."

All this goes to prove that the creator of Scrooge and of Tiny Tim was not the inventor of Christmas. He merely revived and restored Christmas, with the aid of Washington Irving; and taught us, on this particular day of the year at least to do a little better to our fellowmen.

God bless us every one!

THE FIRST AIDS TO CHRISTMAS GIVING

The manner in which a gift is presented is often more important than the intrinsic value of the gift itself.

This is particularly true of Christmas presents, the most insignificant of which creates an excitment and stir if presented in a novel or amusing way.

What would the presents in the Christmas stocking have meant to the child if not surrounded with mystery and secrecy and visions of Saint Claus' reindeers and sleigh?

As one grows older the charm of all this mystery gives way before the cold prospect of paying Christmas bills, which possibly accounts for the carelessness of parents and friends in presenting holiday gifts.

It is certainly not always the most expensive gift that pleases the most and many people with limited incomes are searching rather for novel ways of presenting their presents than for new methods of stretching the family purse strings.

Last winter the mother of a large family hit upon a scheme which afforded more amusement to her household and her guests than the expensive party and presents given the year before, which had quite depleted the family exchequer.

The new scheme cost very little; it was chiefly dependent on the weather clerk, who for Christmas Day had kindly decreed snow and lots of it.

This particular family lived on the top of a hill in the suburbs of a large city.

The father and mother had made an excursion on Christmas morning, carrying baskets and bundles.

They had returned with a choice selection of snow shoes of every description from the kind made for decorative purposes to a short, stout plank with a couple of straps across through which to run the feet. The The guests had been bidden to wear their old and warmest clothing, and when they were all assembled each was given a pair of snow shoes, and ordered to put them on.

"Santa Claus left you presents at the foot of the hill, and you must walkon your snow shoes if you want to get them," announced the head of the family.

If you have ever seen the ludicrous attempts of the beginner on snow shoes you would have joined in the hearty laughter which accompanied the stumbling, rolling guests to the foot of the hill, where they eventually arrived, warmed by their unusual exercise and in the highest spirits.

A big bonfire, smelling of burning fir sap, awaited them, and each present was found hung on the limbs of a growing pine, which looked more beautiful in the firelight against the snow than any of its companions cut down to make indoor Christmas trees.

Though the presents were of the simplest, each one was hailed with joy, and the excitement of the snow-shoe walk and the beauty of the scene enhanced their value in the eyes of all. After partaking of hot coffee and cakes, the guests this time carrying the awkward snow-shoes, returned to the house, where a very informal meal was served and they voted this the happiest Christmas ever.

It often happens that Santa Claus for some reason or other fails to put in an appearance at the Christmas party—while every one regrets the inability of the dear old jovial saint to present his gifts in person, so long as he attends to the gifts, the distribution can be done by other less well known members of the family.

Then ther is Mrs. Santa Claus, a large benevolent old lady who is to officiate this Christmas at a children's party. She explained to me that sch was too busy, and truth to tell, too shy to face a room full of youngsters—so she is to undertake to hand out the gifts from an improvised sleigh, made of soap boxes covered muffs and the wheels of a bicycle.

Mrs. Santa Claus is really young and lovely, but her black hair is to be disguised under a gold wig with curls falling on both sides and tipped by a big mop cap. A voluminous calico dress and apron complete the costume.

Mrs. Santa Claus is to recite in verse her husband's excuses for his non-appearance at the party and also a verse for each child who hands out the gifts.

One devoted mother is arranging a Christmas manger in a small empty room. The decorations are to consist of green boughs and many candles, and the manger, surrounded by toy animals, is to contain the gifts.

An older sister who takes the place of mother to her orphan sisters and brothers gave a Christmas stock-ings tree party. As they lived in a flat with no possible chimney entrance for Santa Claus, the portieres between the two rooms were covered with greens between which hung the Christmas stockings, ornamented with ribbons and bows and filled with goodies and looking like some new kind of fruit.

Tissue paper and ribbon play a large part at Christmas time and the value of the gift is much enhanced by the artistic colour combinations in which it is wrapped.

Japanese paper napkins containing small presents can be tied with paper ribbons, made of strips of brushed tissue paper, giving an added individuality to the pleasant ceremony.

O MISTLETOE

By NINA PICTON

Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association

What could I do?

THREE times she passed beneath the mistletoe,
With face so arch and eye of blue,
And I, distraught, what could I do?
Rank coward—I turned round and let her go.
O mistletoe!

From every nook and corner blazed the light;
Eyes gleamed like stars in matchless ray,
Yet ne'er an eye of black or gray
Shone full and soft as hers that old year night.
O wondrous light!

Each one waxed bold as forth she came again,
And o'er her golden hair the bough
Of witchery hung. My hour came now.
I caught and kissed her like a man insane.
O happy swain!

She neither screamed nor smiled nor chid me then,
But brushed her cheek like thistledown,
And then a tiny, childish frown
Came 'twixt her brows. "At last!" cried she. "Oh, Ben, Slowest of men!"

No ear but mine heard that imperious blame.
The crowd had passed. We twain stood there
In perfect bliss, without a care,
And o'er and o'er I breathed her perfumed name—
O Rose aflame!

The joy bells rang. The old year crept away.
Lusty and young the new year stood,
Aglow with promise, life and blood.
Ah, never was such night or holiday—
For all they say!

I caught and kissed her.

The Christmas Fakir

By A. W. FERRIN

NO one welcomes the advent of the holiday season more heartily than the sidewalk merchant of the city, the street fakir, for, while he seems to flourish like a green bay tree all the year round, at Christmas time he reaps his great harvest of pennies, nickels and dimes. The hearts of even the most parsimonious open with the approach of Christmas, and purse strings loosen as at no other time. On every corner and between corners these curbstone nomads are surrounded by admiring and purchasing citizens, and "novelties," from rubber pigs which can be inflated to the size of a small balloon and in exhausting their airy contents squeal like a real porker, to elaborate mechanical toys, sell like hot cakes.

Every year distinct features of this queer trade come to the surface and are put on the market simultaneously by fakirs throughout the country. The factories in which these things are made work overtime to meet the demand of the shrill voiced "barkers" who personify Santa Claus to the children of the city. New York is the great headquarters of the fakirs, and they visit it at least once a year to arrange for the novelties of the ensuing season and to do a little business in the metropolis itself. There are several large jobbers in the city who deal exclusively with the sidewalk peddlers, and they issue voluminous catalogues describing thousands of articles suitable for sale on the street. Every fakir carries one of these books, and when he runs out of stock he sends an order to his firm, which is filled by return express.

On most of the things he handles the fakir makes a profit of 100 per cent and sometimes more than that. Articles sold for a dime are usually bought for a nickel, and those which sell for a nickel for 2½ cents. Occasionally, however, when some novelty makes a real hit, the manufacturers put up the price until the fakir's profit is only a cent on each sale.

The old time favorite, the jumping jack, evolved into a sailor who climbs a rope hand over hand; dirigible tin mice, kissing bugs, lobsters and crabs, papier mache frogs which jump like the hero of Mark Twain's famous story, all find a ready market, while cheap perfumery, Christmas cards and lead soldiers are peddled in vast quantities.

Just where the fakir gets his title is a mooted question. The real fakir, whose habitat is India, is a person of religious consequence and has nothing to do with "fakes" unless it be that he performs wonderful tricks which owe their success to sleight of hand rather than to the influence of the gods by whom the fakir is professedly actuated. However, fakir is as good a name for the itinerant vender as any other, and its etymology doesn't matter much. Some of the fakirs make enough by their petty trade to graduate into manufacturers of Christmas novelties or even into a higher line of business, and it is well known that one of the wealthiest men of New Orleans, who owns sugar plantations, stores and factories, once peddled shoestrings.

Carrying his capital in his pack, the wandering salesman is independent to a degree rarely equaled except by the idle rich and Weary Willie. In the olden days, before the invention of the newspaper and the telegraph, mediaeval merchants, traveling from palace to palace and from town to town, shared with the troubadours the profession of disseminating the news.

Alone at Christmas.

If in this age of organizations innumerable there is room for one more, it is for an organization which would bring together, especially on Christmas, those who are alone in the world, particularly women, says the Ladies' Home Journal. Many of us who have our kin closest to us on Christmas day do not stop to realize what our feelings would be if they were not with us. It is so hard to imagine ourselves in a position other than the one we are in. We remember some poor family at Christmas, but at least it is a family. It is together. The one is company for the other even in poverty. We remember the sick, and God blesses those who do. Would that some of us might cast a look around and give a thought to those who are not sick, who are not perhaps poor as the world judges, yet who are alone—some girl, perhaps, alone; some woman, alone; some young man, some old man, alone! Alone at Christmas!

Boiled Turkey and Oyster Stuffing.

Take a medium sized turkey and stuff it with the following ingredients: Chop four ounces of suet very fine, mix it with six ounces of breadcrumbs, the grated rind of half a lemon, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, salt, cayenne pepper and grated nutmeg to taste. Take the beards off two dozen oysters, add them and their liquor, strained, and lastly two eggs. Truss the bird, tie it in buttered paper and then in a cloth. Place the turkey, breast downward, in boiling water; let it come again to boil, skim it well and simmer gently for an hour and a half or longer, according to the size of the bird. Serve with rich white sauce.

Immune.

"You know, they say," remarked Mr. Sloman, gazing dubiously at the mistletoe above her head, "that kissing really spreads disease sometimes."

"Yes?" replied the sweet girl. "By the way, did you know I was vaccinated recently?"

What's in a Name?

Waggles—For heaven's sake, don't put any lighted candles on that Christmas tree!

Mrs. Waggles—Why not, dear?

Waggles—Don't you see it's one of those patent noninflammable ones?

Lots of White House Turkeys.

Nearly 1,500 pounds of turkey were distributed last year by direction of the president to the officials and employees of the White House.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women

They are the prescription of a specialist.

This is an age of specialists, men who give all their time, study, and practice to some particular branch of medicine. There are specialists of the eye, specialists in diseases of the lungs, specialists in diseases of women. It costs something to get a prescription from a specialist, but it is worth all it costs, when you get it.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women are the prescription of Dr. Hugo, of Paris, a specialist of forty years' experience in diseases of women.

It embraces the latest medical discoveries of the other skilled physicians in the world. It might be called a compound prescription of the world's best specialists.

No ordinary physician can prescribe such a remedy. The better the physician, the nearer will be his prescription to that of Dr. Hugo.

Thousands of women in Europe have paid $50 for a consultation with Dr. Hugo and got the same remedy. Considering the benefit they received from it, it was worth $50, but it costs women now only 50c. for six dozen tablets—enough for an extended treatment.

It is a compound remedy containing all the tonics and alteratives that any woman can need, no matter what her condition. For women suffering from a run-down condition, or any weakness peculiar to her sex, it is now acknowledged to be beyond doubt or question the best remedy available to-day. It makes healthy women.

CHRISTMAS IN THE VAL DI ROSE

By WALTON WILLIAMS

IN mediaeval times, when learning was rare and confined mostly to the regular clergy living in monastic communities, it became the fashion to illustrate the gospel narratives [illegible] by realistic dramatic representation. This method of instructing the unlettered was borrowed from the old heathen mysteries, and the monks and nuns who devised the pious scheme made every effort to impart a reverential understanding of the subject illustrated. This is the origin of the mystery or miracle plays and also of the sacred tableaux vivants which in time were enacted in the rural churches. These living pictures always illustrated some Biblical subject and were probably of great spiritual benefit to those who could not read.

It was thus that the great features of the Christian religion were made intelligible to the public. The practice began early in the tenth century and grew in favor for at least 200 years. In the thirteenth century, however, the custom had become so subject to abuse that the clergy began to frown upon it, and finally they prohibited all forms of Biblical representation in the churches.

In time most of the Easter mystery pictures disappeared from the churches, but many of the Christmas illustrations had acquired such a firm hold upon the popular heart that they remained and have been brought down to the present day in a somewhat modified form. Such is the "Bambino," which is seen today in all parts of the Christian world and which has come to possess almost a ritualistic significance.

Another Christmas mystery which still survives, although its perpetuation is confined to a limited region, is the quaint and decidedly impressive Christmas ceremonial known as "the offering." This custom has been repeated for centuries on Christmas day in the churches of the Italian highlands. It is illustrative of the visit of the magi to the infant Jesus at Bethlehem. A little boy is chosen to represent the Saviour. Dressed in a white robe, wearing a gilded crown and holding a globe in his hands, he stands upon an altar surrounded by olive branches and a multitude of lighted candles. Votive lamps hang above him, and abundant offerings of fruit and flowers are at his feet. A crowd of peasants, both men and women, clad in festival attire and wearing the picturesque head coverings of the Tuscan mountaineers, bring oranges and pomegranates from their tiny gardens and offer them devoutly to the weary little representative of the Lord of the harvest.

THE OFFERING IN THE VAL DI ROSE.

AN UNEXPECTED GUEST.

The Butterfly That Lived In a Christmas Tree.

Papa, Archie and May went to the woods to get a Christmas tree and found just what they wanted—a little pine, bushy and straight.

"There is something I must cut off," said Archie. He pointed to a little gray bunch on one of the twigs and pulled out his knife.

"No, no!" cried May, holding his hand. "Let it stay. It's a poor little caterpillar's house."

May was right. One Indian summer day a caterpillar, dressed in brown velvet, was taking a walk in the woods. At last he came to the little pine tree and thought to himself, "What a nice place to spend the winter!"

So he made himself a little house. He made it very tight and close, of fine, soft thread, and fastened up the door. He did not leave himself even a window to look out. If there had been one, how it would have surprised him to see that he and his house and the pine tree were riding in a sleigh with papa and May and Archie.

He would have been still more surprised if he had seen the tree standing in the parlor, covered with toys and trinkets and little candles.

"It must be spring at last," he thought, for it was very warm in the parlor.

So he poked a hole in the wall of his house, and out he came. But what do you think? He was not a caterpillar.

"Oh, see the lovely butterfly!" cried May.

He flew to the tiptop bough, and the children said there was nothing else on the tree so pretty as the butterfly.

"He must have come down the chimney with Santa Claus," said May. And she never guessed that he came out of the caterpillar's house.—Youth's Companion.

MAKING CHRISTMAS TOYS.

A Thriving Industry In Germany, France and Switzerland.

In parts of Germany, France and Switzerland every humble householder takes more interest in Christmas than the average American boy. This seems like a strong statement, for Christmas is pretty thoroughly appreciated by the young of America. But, great as the festival is to them, it is not essential to their existence. They could get along without Christmas, but the toymakers in Switzerland, the Tyrol and south Germany would starve without this midwinter holiday which makes a market for their goods. There are wood carvers, doll dressers and toymakers in every hamlet and home of the Tyrol. They depend upon the small wages they make from these toys to put bread and butter in their mouths.

All through the winter season every boy and man carves out wood animals and toys for the factories. Everything is handmade. A Noah's ark of twenty or thirty wooden animals that retails for a quarter in this country does not pay the carver more than a few pennies.

The boys are taught to handle the knife early, and they learn to cut out wooden ducks, hens, horses, cows and other toys before they have reached their teens. Working all through the early winter days and nights in their little homes, they make the wooden toys that delight so many children throughout the world.—New York Mail and Express.

A Hawaiian Christmas.

Before the missionaries and the American settlers went to Hawaii the natives knew nothing about Christmas, but now they all celebrate the day and do it, of course, in the same way as the Americans who live there. The main difference between Christmas in Honolulu and Christmas in New York is that in Honolulu in December the weather is like June in New York. Birds are warbling in the leafy trees; gardens are overflowing with roses and carnations; fields and mountain slopes are ablaze with color, and a sunny sky smiles dreamily upon the glories of a summer day. In the morning people go to church, and during the day there are sports and games and merrymaking of all sorts. The Christmas dinner is eaten out of doors in the shade of the veranda, and everybody is happy and contented.—St. Nicholas.

A Grand Medicine for the Kidneys.

Don't suffer—don't experiment—don't waste money on unknown, untried remedies. There is one quick cure—one certain cure—one cure that everybody knows does cure Kidney Trouble. That's Gin Pills.

"I have been a sufferer with Kidney Trouble for years. Have tried medicines and doctors' prescriptions, but could get no permanent relief, my case being pronounced chronic. As it is generally known that the properties of gin without the alcohol is good for the kidneys, I decided to try Gin Pills, but must admit with very little faith. From the very first pill I got relief, and have since taken nearly four boxes and am COMPLETELY CURED, but am going to continue them a while longer. No dull, sickening pains in the back—no low spirits—am increasing in weight—and more vim and vigor than I have had for years—is what Gin Pills have done for me.

"H. P. HERBERT, Ottawa."

Be well and strong. Be free of pain. Be able to enjoy all the good things of life, with all your old-time vigor and enthusiasm. Gin Pills will cure those sick kidneys. Start now—to-day—and see how much better you feel to-morrow. 50c box—6 boxes for $2.50—and your money back if they don't cure.

Special offer: If you send us your name and address and tell us the name of the paper in which you read this we will send you a trial box absolutely free and post prepaid. Write today and get the medicine that cures.

Christmas Cake.

Sift ten ounces of flour into a basin; weigh one-half pound of powdered sugar, two ounces of candied citron, one-fourth pound of raisins and one-half pound of butter. You need, besides these, four eggs and a lemon. Beat the butter (washed and squeezed dry) to a cream with your hand; add to it a tablespoonful of flour, one of sugar and one egg; mix thoroughly and then go on in the same way, using the materials gradually until they are all in; grate the lemon and add the fruit, warmed and floured; line a tin with buttered paper, using two thicknesses at the bottom; bake in a moderate oven two hours.

Wanted All That Was Coming.

"That Bifferblatt is an absentminded fellow."

"So?"

"Yes. When I handed him a Christmas present he said, 'I beg your pardon, but do you give trading stamps?'"

The Boar's Head.

The great event of the old Christmas dinner four or five hundred years ago was the entry of the chief cook bearing the boar's head, garnished with rosemary.

Is to prove the wicked doctrine that there is no Santa Claus.
—Chicago News.

Eight Millions For Toys.

The real amount of cash money paid out in the United States alone for toys that on Christmas morning gladden the hearts of American children is conservatively estimated at $8,000,000. This means about 60 cents apiece for the something like 13,000,000 of five to twelve year old children. The children of no other country on the globe have anything like so lavish an average amount of money expended for toys for them, not even the children of Germany—Germany, the home of toymaking and toy giving. Verily, indeed, the lot of the American child has been cast in the richest sort of clover when it comes to toy getting and not a few other things in the bargain.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Jumping at a Conclusion.

Tommy—Santa Claus is coming to dinner tonight.

Elsie—Oh! How do you know?

Tommy—Ma told me a white haired old gentleman was coming and we'd have to be very good.

Christmas the Real Turkey Day.

Christmas, not Thanksgiving, is the real turkey day. Last Christmas Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces took care of about 1,500,000 more turkeys than they did on Thanksgiving.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING

FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water, draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN roll it in a tight roll, lay in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.

Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work.

NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't add any more soap; don't scald or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, rub some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes.

LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.

For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of Boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without rubbing. Squeeze out dirty water without twisting and rinse thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.

☞ The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

Conservative Leader Honoured

Toronto Borden Club Banquets Federal Chief.

MR. R. L. BORDEN'S SPEECH

Conservative Assurance of Fidelity to Leader in the Commons—Mr. Borden's Vigorous Reply to Criticisms by Prof. Goldwin Smith—Indemnity Bill and Other Subjects of Public Interest Discussed.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—Last night the Borden Club here had their leader as guest. About 350 sat down at the banquet at the King Edward, and, in addition to Premiers McBride of British Columbia and Whitney of Ontario, there were present Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P., and a host of nearer-by representatives in Parliament and Legislature. Mr. Borden, who was received with cheering, said in part:

Mr. Borden's Speech.

"The inspiration of your presence and your enthusiasm makes my task to-night an easy one," said Mr. Borden. "This banquet was tendered to me during the campaign of a year ago, but I was unable to accept. Since then we met defeat in the general election; we have passed through a session of Parliament which has aroused very great public interest, and recently we have fought four bye-elections which have afforded us distinct cause for encouragement.

"Parliament was called upon to consider a Government measure providing for the establishment of two new provinces. I need not recapitulate to-night the extraordinary circumstances attending that bill. It seems to have been prepared and even presented to Parliament without the knowledge of two very important members of the administration. Its most notable provision was not submitted to Mr. Haultain until within a few hours of its introduction, although he was fully consulted on every other detail of the bill, and had been invited to Ottawa to present his views upon its provisions. I took issue with the Premier with regard to the educational clauses, so far as I could comprehend their purport from a somewhat confused statement on the second reading. I took a stand which I believe to be right, constitutional and just from every standpoint. The Prime Minister and his colleagues, while professing to abide by the constitution, deliberately departed from it.

"In certain quarters my position has been denounced as weak. In others I am accused of intolerance and bigotry. Is it intolerance to trust the people of the Northwest in the same way that we trust the people of the Maritime Provinces, to believe that the people of the west will deal fairly and justly by the minority? To abide by that constitution which the great fathers of Confederation framed for us? If so, I must plead guilty. To the charge of weakness I answer this: No argument advanced by the Government was not fully and effectively met. No objectionable provision of the bill remained unattacked. No resolution for the purpose was omitted. Will some wiseacre enlighten us as to the brilliant results he would have accomplished, and tell us what we omitted?

The Indemnity Bill.

"Public attention," continued Mr. Borden, "has also been specially directed to certain measures passed at the close of the recent session. In justice to members of Parliament who have been assailed in no measured terms, it is only fair to point out the extraordinary demands upon their time and upon their energies, which have been made during recent years. For the last five years the average length of the sessions has been nearly six and one-half months. From the commencement of the session of 1903 to the end of the session of 1905, a period of twenty-eight months and nine days, Parliament was in session for nearly nineteen months. Besides this each member had a campaign of at least two months besides, so that for his personal affairs there was available no more than seven months out of the twenty-eight.

"Under these conditions you can thoroughly realize that as a leader I have been very frequently confronted with the reluctance of representative men to enter public life and with the desire of others to retire from Parliament and devote their time to personal affairs.

"Before the recent legislation a member was entitled to $1,500, and a mileage of ten cents. The provisions as to attendance of members was particularly small and especially so during the last session. In truth, I believe that the present allowance will not increase the burdens upon the revenues of the country if the attendance of members does not improve. Under the present arrangement no allowance can be paid to a member, except upon a sworn declaration before the clerk of the House as to the number of days of his attendance. A fine of $15 per day is imposed after the first fifteen days of non-attendance.

"I believe, however, that the conditions should be made still more stringent, and that the clerk of the House should keep a daily record as is done in the Senate.

Opposition Leader's Indemnity.

"Let me say that I never suggested or initiated in any way the idea of a special indemnity to the leader of the opposition. The question was raised among some members of the House. When brought to my attention I censured some of my friends for taking steps without first consulting me. I never saw the round robin to which so much reference has been made, but hearing that it alluded to the leader of the opposition I at once required that such allusion should be eliminated, and was so assured. The question was then taken up by a committee of the Conservative members, representing all sections of the country who decided that the proposal should be adopted. I have never made allusion to any pecuniary sacrifice involved in my leadership; upon these one must count in entering public life. I speak impersonally, because I have no vested right in the leadership of the Conservative party, and moreover, that party does not intend to remain in opposition after the next general election. To restrict the choice in a country like Canada to men sufficient wealthy seems to me unduly and undesirably to limit that choice. We have no leisure class trained to public affairs, as in England. The criticism that a leader's independence is sacrificed by the latter course, as suggested by Goldwin Smith, for instance, does not seem to me very cogent.

Paid by People.

"The leader of the opposition is paid not by the Government, but by the country. He is paid just as judges are paid by authority of an act of Parliament out of the consolidated revenues of Canada. His duty is to criticize the measures of the Government, and to oppose these when they do not seem to be in the public interest. Are the judges in the pay of the Government because they receive salaries? Was it wrong for them to accept the recent increase of salary? Are they, therefore, pensioners of the Government because there is a provision in the statute for a sessional indemnity? Let Dr. Smith, who seems somewhat anxious to cast aspersions, explain himself, or forever hold his peace on this subject. He is further of opinion that a salary should be provided for the leader of the opposition by his party. Does he really believe that this is desirable? Might it not be apprehended that such a salary, if available at all, would be supplied by the corporate and moneyed interests?

Repudiates Obligation.

"I utterly," said Mr. Borden, "repudiate any such sense of obligation. If this measure has been passed under any such impression, or with any such belief, I take this public opportunity of warning the Government that the sooner it is repealed the better.

"For such insinuations, whether uttered by a man of Dr. Goldwin Smith's high position, or by the lowest political heeler in the country, I have nothing but measureless contempt. It would be just as decent and just as fair for me to suggest that Dr. Smith's pessimistic views as to the destiny of Canada are inspired by pecuniary inducements emanating from the United States. He ventures the assertion that the opposition to the autonomy bill was feeble. I venture the statement that he never read the whole of that debate, that he does not know to-day what resolutions were proposed by the Conservative party, and by what arguments they were supported.

Ex-Cabinet Ministers' Pensions.

"The act providing pensions to ex-Cabinet Ministers was very hurriedly drafted and very inadequately considered. The Government has announced, through its new Postmaster-General, that this measure will be reconsidered. I believe that all these measures should be reconsidered, including that which provides a special indemnity to the leader of the opposition. I say this, not because I am opposed to all these measures, or to all their details, but because I believe that they should not have been brought down and passed in the closing hours of Parliament, when there was no opportunity for free expression of public opinion.

"Let me say, however, that while welcoming the aroused public interest which these measures have occasioned, I regret that the same public interest has not been awakened by infinitely more outrageous measures driven through Parliament by the present administration in the closing hours of estimates amounting to $13,000,000, comprising many hundreds of items brought down to be considered, criticised, examined within five or six days of prorogation. Indict the Government of Canada, aye, the press of Canada as well, for their indifference, which may have had not a little influence in bringing about the very measures which have evoked so fierce protest."

The Intercolonial.

Continuing, Mr. Borden reviewed the G. T. P. proposals, and pointed out the unsatisfactory condition it is in, and spoke of the necessities of developing and protecting the St. Lawrence River route. Recent disasters might have been avoided had the Government adopted proper measures. The status of the I. C. R. was next dealt with.

"We favor business management and freedom from party control," he said. "Our opponents cling to the system of patronage and political interference and the continuance for many years to come of the growing deficits upon this great public asset."

The position of the civil service, Mr. Borden next declared, was not satisfactory.

"When the Liberals attained power in 1896, after eighteen years in opposition, they dismissed Conservatives very freely. In some cases the dismissals were just, in other cases absolutely unjust. Men were dismissed upon the mere dictum of a Liberal member. Conservatives were dismissed from nearly every important position in the Department of the Interior. This policy apparently looked forward to that exploitation of the public domain which has had such happy results for some prominent friends of the party now in power.

Civil Service Reform.

"In the Federal civil service reform is very desirable. Great Britain has led the way and the United States has in some measure followed. We lag behind. Government influence in this country is more powerful than in Great Britain. The system of granting appropriations for so-called public works, or rather the granting of such appropriations without any system whatever for purely partisan purposes is used unscrupulously and boldly by the present administration to influence communities as well as corporations and individuals. We should also insist that public officials should not be employed at the public expense as election agents of a political party. The Government for very shame's sake were obliged to accept Mr. Lake's resolution on this subject, although much against the wishes of the Ministers of Interior, but that resolution has been absolutely disregarded by the administration in the recent campaign in the west. Public officials have been boldly and unblushingly employed as the instrument and agents of the party machine. The machinery of the Interior Department has been freely used. It is only a repetition of what took place at the Federal elections of 1900 and 1904. This is not politics. It is simply political buccaneering."

In concluding Mr. Borden spoke in praise of the Borden and similar clubs in the country and the work of the young men in the party; and referred to the presence of Premiers Whitney and McBride and of Horace Bergeron, M. P., in glowing terms; and, finally declared that while the Government was stronger numerically, it stood lower to-day in the opinion of its friends than ever before. Its leaders had a less secure hold upon the followers than at any time since 1896.

Premier McBride, Premier Whitney, J. G. H. Bergeron, M. P. for Beauharnois, Dr. Daniel and Hon. G. E. Foster also responded to toasts.

DISCUSSED GILLIES' LIMIT.

Mining Convention Found It Too Important a Matter to Advise Upon, So Government Will Decide.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—The miners convention yesterday morning was devoted mostly to a continuation of the discussion on the discovery question.

A resolution was passed providing that for every adjoining five locations, or less, held by one or more licensees, and which are principally valuable for base metals, all such development operations may be carried on upon one or more of the locations.

At the afternoon meeting a vote was taken upon the question of forming an Ontario Mining Association, independent of the Canadian Mining Institute. Thirteen voted for and five against, and a number refrained. Mr. Chown remarked he had fees from only nineteen members.

A resolution was introduced dealing with the Gillies' limit. In view of the anxiety as to whether the limit will be thrown open or not, there was a hot discussion, but it was pointed out that the Government had in it the most difficult question on their hands, and it would be foolish for the mining men to attempt to advise off-hand. The resolution was laid upon the table. It read:

The Gillies' Limit.

That the northerly 6,400 acres of the Gillies' timber limit, comprising 64,000 acres, be conveyed by the province to a company to be incorporated with capital of 900,000 shares of $1 each, 300,000 to be issued free of charge, but fully paid up pro rata among the licensees in the Temiskaming mining division prior to Dec. 9, 1905, 300,000 of the shares to be sold at par to the citizens of Ontario, and deposit 10 per cent. of the price at the time of making application, so that money may be secured to purchase the pine thereon, and carry on development operations, and to make suitable reward to persons who know of the existence of minerals on the said lands.

A resolution was passed unanimously asking that the departments of Crown Lands and Mines should be separate, with a Minister for each.

The following resolutions were passed:

"That although it is highly desirable that assistance be given by the Dominion Government, by granting bounties on pig iron smelted in the Dominion, we wish to protest strongly against the present system of paying bounties on pig iron smelted from foreign ores, and we ask that the same be discontinued when the present law expires in June, 1907, but that the bounty on pig iron made from domestic ores be placed at $3 per ton for the next five years.

"That all mining partnerships shall be recorded at the recording office in which the mining claim is registered, and a simple method for the registration, dissolution and enforcement of other rights of the partnership shall be provided.

Coal Free of Duty.

"That the Dominion Government be recommended to admit coal free of duty, if used to make coke for use in smelting, or treatment of iron ore.

"That the price of mineral lands should be uniform throughout the province at the rate of $2.50 per acre for surveyed territory.

"That the province should erect a smelter and refinery for silver-cobalt ores, and should make provision for the treating and refining of copper and nickel ores.

"That all affidavits required under the act may be sworn to before any justice of the peace, notary public, commissioner for taking affidavits in the high court, and any agent appointed under the act, or any crown lands agent."

The convention resumes this morning at 10 o'clock, and will likely conclude to-day.

Nova Scotia Conservatives.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 15.—A Liberal-Conservative provincial convention convened here yesterday. It is very largely attended, delegates being present from every part of the province. Most of the time yesterday was taken up with the discussion of a platform for the province. The convention will meet again to-day.

CHRISTMAS TREES.

From Time Immemorial Part of the Holiday Celebration.

From time immemorial a tree has been a part of the Christmas celebration. It may be seen outside the traditional mangers in the missals and early paintings of the preraphaelite Italian school. In the tree or near it are seen angels in flowing robes singing out of a scroll of illuminated paper the "Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men" or "Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!"

The correct German Christmas tree always has an angel or a Christkind on the topmost branch, with a tinsel star at the end of a staff, like a pantomime fairy, and if the tree belongs to a very orthodox family there is usually at its foot a small toy group representing the Saviour's birth in the stable at Bethlehem.

The lights on the tree are said to be of Jewish origin. In the ninth month of the Jewish year, corresponding nearly to our December, and on the twenty-fifth day, the Jews celebrated the feast of dedication of their temple. It had been desecrated on that day by Antiochus. It was dedicated by Judas Maccabeus, and then, according to the Jewish legend, sufficient oil was found in the temple to last for the seven branched candlestick for seven days, and it would have taken seven days to prepare new oil. Accordingly the Jews were wont on the 25th of Kisleu in every house to light a candle, on the next day two, and so on till on the seventh and last day of the feast seven candles twinkled in every house.

It is not easy to fix the exact date of the Nativity, but it fell most probably on the last day of Kisleu, when every Jewish house in Bethlehem and Jerusalem was twinkling with lights. It is worthy of notice that the German name for Christmas is Weihnacht (the night of dedication), as though it were associated with this feast. The Greeks also call Christmas the feast of lights, and, indeed, this was also the name given to the dedication festival, Chanuka; by the Jews.—New York Mail and Express.

CHRISTMAS CARDS.

W. A. Dobson, R. A., It Is Claimed, Was Their Originator.

Until now most people who took an interest in the matter would have credited either the late Sir Henry Cole or J. C. Horsley, R. A., with the production of the first Christmas card, and they would have put the date down as 1846. But a new claimant is now put forward, the late W. A. Dobson, R. A., and his claim is supported with circumstantial detail.

The birth of the Christmas card is put back two years, to 1844. Mr. Dobson was a lonely young man, who one day conceived the idea of acknowledging the kindness of a friend by sending him a picture illustrative of the festive season—a cheerful family group surrounded by the familiar Christmas accessories.

The distant friend was delighted, showed it to other friends, and Mr. Dobson was encouraged the following year to secure the aid of the local lithographer. Then came imitators one after another until ten years later the business man stepped in to make money out of what was originally a work of love. But the ambitious Christmas cards of today are a long remove from the primitive Father Christmases and Robin Redbreasts of sixty years ago.—London Chronicle.

CHRISTMAS CANDIES.

Recipes Which the Amateur Confectioner May Find Useful.

Peanut Candy.—To make peanut candy, shell and break into small pieces with a rolling pin one quart of peanuts. Boil for ten minutes, stirring constantly, one pound of light brown sugar and six ounces of butter. Just before taking from the fire add the peanuts. Pour into flat, buttered tins and set away to cool.

Peppermint Creams.—Boil together, without stirring, two cups of sugar and half a cup of water. When thick enough to spin a thread remove the tin to a basin of cold water and beat the mixture rapidly until it becomes of a white, creamy consistency. Flavor with peppermint and squeeze through a pastry tube into quarter dollar sized drops on waxed paper.

Chocolate Peppermint Creams.—Make like the above, and when the drops are almost cooled dip into a pan of melted and sweetened chocolate. These are particularly delicious.

Hickory Nut Creams.—Boil sugar and water as for peppermint creams. Cool, beat, and when the mixture is white stir in one cup of hickory nut meats. Turn into a flat, warm tin and cut into squares.

At the Spanish Court.

Christmas in Spain begins with the midnight mass, when the king and queen mother, accompanied by the grandees of the court, magnificently attired, go in state procession to the chapel royal of the palace in Madrid. On Christmas morning the king and court again attend mass in state, after which the day is spent in merrymaking. In the afternoon the adoration of the manger takes place, when a representation of the scene in Bethlehem is unveiled in the great hall of the palace. There is also a Christmas tree, from which Alfonso distributes gifts. Throughout the ensuing twelve days the court is all benevolence and gayety, and every great institution in Madrid shares in the royal almsgiving. The festival closes Jan. 6.

A Perpetual Christmastide.

The solution of the social question would be found in a perpetual Christmastide, provided our generous throughtfulness were not confined merely to our own kith and kin. Let us be assured that when the world reaches up to the highest and holiest conception of relationship it will discover that there is but one family and that the human brotherhood cannot be divided into classes antagonistic to each other. The reign of the golden rule will be the true Christian millennium.

'Tommy Atkins' Christmas

How King Edward's "Thin Red Heroes" Celebrate Their Holiday.

NO matter where he may be or in what circumstances he may be placed, Tommy Atkins never fails to make a special effort to celebrate Christmas day in a befitting manner. Four years ago saw thousands of British soldier lads spending the festive 25th round camp fires on the South African veldt, but they enjoyed themselves, nevertheless, in spite of their surroundings and the difficulties under which the Christmas dinner was prepared. It is Christmas in barracks, however, which Tommy enjoys best of all, next, of course, to spending it with those who are dear to him. Comrades unite with comrades, and each contributes his share of help toward making the occasion one of joyous festivity.

Early Christmas morning sees the soldiers busily engaged in turning their respective barrack rooms into dining places. Bed cots, which at ordinary times would be standing at right angles to the walls, are ranged lengthwise, and with the aid of spare palliasses and gay bunting borrowed from the stores for the occasion are transformed into luxurious looking divans. The companies vie with one another to make their rooms as attractive as possible.

The homely custom of spreading festoons of pink, blue and green paper from wall to wall is duly carried out, while mottoes, usually of a military character, abound. These mottoes, by the way, are often dedicated to popular officers, the following being examples of the favorite forms: "Long live Colonel and Mrs. ——," "God bless the general," "Good luck to Lieutenant ——," etc.

In some regiments it is the custom to usher in Christmas morning with fifes and drums immediately after the sounding of reveille, and after breakfast Tommy has to prepare for church parade. This duty finished, he is at liberty to make a grand attack on the Christmas dinner. The soldiers are first of all marshaled and arranged in their places at the table in the company's dining room, which the captain then visits in order to make a brief inspection and see that "all's well" with the boys.

After that there is still another matter which Thomas has to attend to before he can start feeding, but it is a matter which is very agreeable to him. A few minutes after the captain has made his inspection the soldiers of the company are again called to their feet and to order by the sergeant major's "'Shun!" and immediately afterward the colonel, followed by the adjutant and other officers, enters. Needless to say, they are received with rousing cheers. The colonel will drink the health of —— company, a toast answered with wild cheering and the time honored refrain, "He's a jolly good fellow."

When the officers have gone it is not long before Tommy proceeds to sample the good things which have been provided for his enjoyment. Roast beef and mutton, turkey, goose and duck are usually included in the company's menu, not to mention such things as potatoes, greens, puddings and pies.

After dinner Tommy indulges in his favorite free and easy, enlivened with songs of all descriptions. Patriotism, of course, enters into the greater part of the music, although the comic song is also a great favorite. Tommy cares little what the song may be, however, so long as it has a good swinging chorus in which he can join. Thus the hours pass by, the day's enjoyment generally ending in the veterans of the company being called upon to relate stirring incidents which have won glory and renown for the regiment.—Pearson's Weekly.

KELPION

The Ointment That Heals

25 Cents.

A pure, stainless iodine ointment applied to cuts, burns or bruises to subdue pain and reduce inflammation.

Cancer and other malign growths often result from the slightest breakage of the skin.

"Kelpion" will kill the microbe of poison and prevent infection.

Private C. T. Mayes, who served through the Boer campaign with the Imperial Volunteers, has this to say of "Kelpion":

"The pot of Kelpion issued to our V. I. C. Kit was one of the few things we took from Cape Town to the front with us.

"It was very useful indeed; one of the finest and quickest remedies for cuts, sprains, skin diseases, wounds and bruises.

"Your Kelpion surprised every one who used it, for it cured foot sores, and it ought to command a large sale in South Africa if advertised for that reason.

"I have heard praises from all C.I.V's and Regulars who used it, and I guarantee every C.I.V. will recommend it."

WHAT KELPION WILL DO.

It will cure all skin diseases and eruptions, whether of the nature of eczema, an ulcer or a cold sore.

It will allay all inflammation, whether internal, as of the lungs, or due to rheumatism in the joints.

Will reduce swellings, whether due to sprains and hurts or from internal enlargements. 600

Red Rose Tea Uniformity

A TEA that is good to-day and poor to-morrow is unreliable.

Have you ever noticed variations in the quality of the tea you use? One package good, the next bitter, herby, perhaps weak and insipid.

A lack of expert knowledge by the tasters and blenders of that tea produced that result. There was a failure at a vital point, an ignorance of combining qualities in teas, poor judgment in the blending of that maker's teas, a weakness which invariably gives just such results as your poor tea.

Every chest of Red Rose Tea is tested at the gardens, again by the Eastern Red Rose shippers, then at the Red Rose warehouse upon its arrival before blending; after that an experimental blend is tested, and the final or actual blend is also tested before being packed.

Nothing is left to chance.

That is why that "rich fruity flavor" is always present in Red Rose Tea.

Why Red Rose Tea is always uniform, why

Red Rose Tea is good Tea.

We have planned for a greater week this week than ever before at the same dates. Something more must still be done to relieve the Bookstore of the Extra Heavy Double Stocks of Xmas Goods. Each day must see new price attractions to make quick selling; and with increased sales in each department, helpful service awaits shoppers.

A WORD ABOUT SELECTING HOLIDAY GIFTS—Those of our patrons who desire to select their Holiday Presents early and avoid the inevitable throngs that crowd the store later on, will find all the stocks AT THEIR VERY BEST NOW. Assortments are complete and everything is new, crisp and fresh.

CHRISTMAS CIRCULAR TO THE LITTLE ONES.

The following circular addressed to Children, by Santa Claus, from his Headquarters in the Peterborough Bookstore, will be keenly relished:—

Santa Claus Headquarters,
Office of Peterborough Bookstore

Dear Little Friend,—I have your esteemed letter of recent date and note what you say you want for Christmas.

I have written your order in my big gift book and hope to fill the order in time; anyhow, you will hear from me on Christmas Day—for I will be "At Home" until then at The Peterborough Bookstore.

Be sure and hang up your stockings.

With best wishes,

SANTA CLAUS.

The Christmas Triumph

By GEORGE LAY LAW

AFTER a little over 1,900 years from the birth of its founder Christmas has become the most generally observed religious holiday on earth. There is scarcely a land beneath the sun that does not witness some celebration of the day set apart to commemorate the birth of the Carpenter of Nazareth. While in many Asiatic countries few participate in these celebrations, there are yet enough so that all peoples are learning the significance of the ceremony. Then, too, the number of actual participants is increasing year by year, so that it takes no very great stretch of the imagination to picture a time when Christmas observances will be practically universal.

The charge of the Master to carry his gospel to all the world has been religiously obeyed, and the prophecy of the thousand years of peace which were to follow close on that consummation should be on its way. Of the six continents Christianity entirely dominates four and is rapidly winning its way in the other two. Both North and South America are Christian in every part. The same is true of Australia and the surrounding islands constituting Australasia. All Europe follows the same faith, with the single exception of the southeastern corner belonging to Turkey, and even a considerable part of the Turkish empire, including Armenia, Bulgaria and others of the Balkan states, embraces Christianity, while Christian missions exist in Turkey.

In Africa, where the British govern Egypt and all South Africa, while France has virtual control of Morocco and other European powers have colonies throughout the continent, the faith of the Nazarene has a larger following than any other religion.

Asia, teeming with its vast Chinese and Hindoo hordes, is practically the only continent in which Christianity is not the dominant faith, and even here it has incalculable political and strategic advantages that are rapidly working a transformation. Siberia, occupying nearly half of the entire continent, is ruled by a Christian power. India, on the south, is under the control of England, and the missionaries are gradually winning their way. Tibet, the stronghold of Buddhism, is under Russian influence and is being invaded by England from India. Palestine, Syria and Persia contain important Christian missions, though as nations they are still under Moslem control. The Boxer uprising was practically the last gasp of the virulent opposition to the advance of Christianity in China. The lesson received from Europe at that time, the important concessions granted in the chief ports to the great Christian powers, the invasion of Manchuria, the introduction of the railroad and the ever increasing numbers of missionaries, all of these things are gradually working a change in the Chinese empire. Mission work is rapidly increasing in Korea. Japan has borrowed most of her civilization from Christian nations and is seriously discussing the proposition of adopting their religion also. The Philippines belong to America, and a considerable portion has been Christianized.

Christmas morn in the year of our Lord 1905 will therefore have a meaning to more nations and more people than any previous Christmas morn in the history of mankind. The fact that this day will be celebrated by such widely variant types and in such widely separated nations gives a powerful suggestion of unity in the human race.

Willing to Try.

To find a man for Norway's king
They're looking everywhere,
In highways, byways, corner lots
And even in the air.

If they would send for Harry Lehr,
Would take and keep him, too,
So he would never more return
To dawn upon our view,

To those Norwegians we would
A grateful people be.
Their praises long and loud we'd sing
Across the sounding sea.

The Spirit of Christmastide

By ARTHUR I. BURDICK

Copyright, 1905, by Arthur J. Burdick

WELL, Christmas is here
With its chill an' cheer,
An' I am happy—an' broke!
My surplus has flown
To the "Great Unknown;"
I've not the price of a smoke.
But look at the smile on my Johnny's face,
An' listen to Molly's laugh!
An' I ain't regrettin' the cash I've spent
In my little ones' behalf.

YES, Christmas is here,
An' it's mighty clear
That I am cleaned out o' pelf;
But should I make moan
O'er cash as has flown
I would be ashamed of myself!
For Nancy is wearin' a happy smile—
With the dress I bought for her—
That's worth about twenty-five times the price
I am ready to aver.

"HAPPY AN' BROKE!"

AH, Christmas is here,
An' it's worth a year
O' servin', — an' slavin' too,
For to get the feel
O' the Christmas zeal
A-coursin' yer ol' heart through.
An' a glimpse o' the happiness I view,
He I've assisted to bring,
Is a recompense for all I have spent,
An' a lot to boot, I fing!

GIFTS FOR A SOUL FORLORN.

YES, Christmas is here
With its chill an' cheer,
An' I know one soul forlorn
He will dine today
In a diff'rent way
Than she figgered on this morn.
If I had not sent that basket down
To that widder, I would choke
A-eatin' my dinner, but now, ye see,
I'm happy, if I am broke!

IT.

Eny, meny, miny mo!
How we used to play
Hiding eyes and catchers' games
All the summer day,
Dodging 'round the corners,
Then we'd run a bit,
Till the catcher caught us fair—
Crying, "You are it."

Eny, meny, miny mo!
Still the catchers' game,
Though we've all grown up a bit,
Playing just the same;
Man with schemes for getting rich
Talks to me a bit,
Pretty bond—he gets my cash,
Smiling says, "You're it."

Eny, meny, miny mo!
Still the game I play.
Meet a maiden, pretty sweet,
Could love her for a day.
But ma is cute and scheming,
Doesn't let the hours flit
Till she lands engagement.
Daughter says, "You're it."

Eny, meny, miny mo!
Long years ago it seems
Since I played the catcher game,
Sweet are childish dreams.
Now a little youngster
Hides and runs a bit,
Falling, cries "Oh, papa!"
Papa! Yes, I'm it.

Birthrate in Canada.

The large birthrate of French-Canadians is receiving comment on account of the recent repeal of the law which in the Province of Quebec gave 100 acres of forest land to each man who had twelve children, says American Medicine. The desire to be more populous has led the French-Canadian Government into several schemes, mostly to facilitate immigration, although, curiously enough, the flow of population has long been out of Canada into the United States, as though the north were overpopulated. It was this exodus which alarmed the Quebec authorities, who thereupon revived their traditional policy to stimulate the birthrate by rewarding a large family, actuated no doubt, by a desire to make this part of Canada solidly French. It has been learned that the land grant was of no use to the father of such a large family, as he was anchored on his own farm and could not break a new one in the wilderness. The grants were consequently sold to lumber companies at ridiculously small rates, and the exodus of the younger element continues. It is now openly stated that it is no longer possible to support these large families. It was an easy matter formerly, for a large farm could be divided among the children, but the later subdivisions have made the farms too small. Migrations were necessary, and the easiest way was toward the south, to get employment in the factories. A large birthrate, then, is no longer of use to Canada, and is, indeed, rapidly diminishing. It is also stated that the death rate among the children has been inordinate, because it is not possible nowadays to give the proper care and attention to the infants, so that no matter what the number born it will never be possible to rear as many in one family as formerly. It is now recognised that Canada will not suffer from population if the present reduction of the birthrate does continue—her emigration will be less. Indeed, it is also recognised that density of population depends solely upon ability to make a living and the only way to increase it is to stimulate the productivity of a country—the present Canadian policy. He who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before, does more than he who brings infants into the world but cannot feed them.

A Dream's Fulfillment

The Rector's Christmas Charity and What Came of It.

By SALLY CHAMBERLIN

[Copyright, 1904, by Sally Chamberlin.]

BANG! Bang! Bang!

John Hare jumped from his warm bed into his dressing gown and slippers, switched on the electric light and was on the lower floor swinging wide the heavy, massive door before his eyes were fairly open. Through the blackness of the outer night peered the hard and forbidding faces of two roughly clad men. The taller man stated in gruff tones that his baby was dying and his wife wanted the child baptized.

In less than five minutes the young rector was dressed and back to the men, whom he had left sitting in the hall, and the three started out. The trip to the outskirts of the city through dark and strange streets was anything but pleasant. Finally reaching a little low cottage, set quite apart from any other dwellings and lighted by one small lamp which sent its rays through the narrow window, he followed the men through the door into a barely furnished room. On a cot in the corner lay a child, small and wasted, marked with death's stamp, and beside her sat the weeping mother. Some strange mystery haunted the room. What were these poverty stricken people trying to conceal? The clergyman shook off the feeling and opened his prayer book at the baptismal service.

Having performed his mission, accompanied by the two men, he was passing a clump of trees on his way home when one of them stopped suddenly and, pulling a long bladed knife from his pocket, flashed it before the young rector's face and instantly pointed it toward his heart. He uttered a piercing shriek.

* * * * * * * *

"Light" said John Hare as the sound of his own voice wakened him and he sat up in bed. "What an ugly nightmare!" Then, with a look at his watch, "It is high time I was up anyway, with fifty parochial visits before me. I must make sure that not a single family has a cheerless Christmas tomorrow."

His eye caught the picture of a girl's face, gentle eyed, yet cheery, hanging in a frame on his wall. "And if there's any persuasion in John Hare's poor eloquence he won't have a cheerless nor a lonely Christmas the next 25th of December."

This young rector had come to Spottsfield, a rising manufacturing city, three years before, after serving as curate in a large city parish. He had transformed his new congregation from a disgruntled, quarreling community composed of a few rich and many poor to a great family interested in each other and respecting his Christ-like principles. And incidentally his strict resolution for a busy bachelorhood had been somewhat disturbed by a pair of interested, laughing eyes which belonged to the daughter of a factory owner.

This energetic, but rather shy, young woman was famed and loved among the poor and sick of Spottsfield for her gentle and unpretentious way of helping when and where she was needed. Though of different faiths, she and John Hare met often while on excursions of mercy. He had seen her, too, at her father's home, where he was popular as a dinner guest because of his appreciation of a good cigar and his broad, forceful views on Christianity.

As he dressed that morning before the festive holiday he realized that the human heart cannot be denied its sustenance—one beating in touch and sympathy with it—and that one fair girl had woven her charms about him so completely that he could no longer refrain from telling her of it, even though of late she had rather seemed to avoid him when he crossed her path and was even chary of her conversation when he dined at her house.

During the long busy day she was constantly brought to his mind in the houses he visited. A forlorn old woman told of the coming of Miss Ruth with yarn for the next year's knitting and a box of sweets. A grateful mother told of the nights Miss Ruth had stayed and nursed the baby back to life. In the poorer homes he heard of the baskets of Christmas goodies she had brought, with toys and warm mittens for the children.

It was 10 o'clock before the rector had finished the day's task, and when he reached home he threw himself, quite worn out, on the couch in the library. Not ten minutes seemed to have elapsed when the sound "Br-r-r-r!" through his sleep wakened him suddenly to the realization that some one was ringing the bell with the evident intention of rousing the entire household, and as he stepped into the hall to open the door he was amazed to see the hands on the old fashioned clock pointing to 1.

"Sir, we've come to get Mr. Hare. The baby's dying, and my wife wants a minister," announced one of the two men who stood on the step facing the tired rector.

The memory of his vivid nightmare had not recurred to him since the morning, but at the words "baby's dying" it it all flashed before his mind, and he hesitated an instant with some misgivings. Quickly pulling himself together and throwing off the vision, he exclaimed:

"I'm Mr. Hare. Where is your baby?" In a harsh voice the larger of the two men mentioned the outskirts of the city, where the houses were small and low and widely scattered.

Again pushing aside the warning of his apparition, the rector incased himself in warm overcoat and arctics and, locking the door behind him, bade the men lead the way. For several blocks an occasional house showed lights from top to bottom or a stray light in the second story gave evidence that an eager youngster was awake examining Santa Claus' gifts. Then the houses became dark, and the three men trudged on through the gently falling snow. Hare's questions received but curt, abrupt answers, while the memory of his grewsome dream grew clearer with each step of the long dark walk till he reached the identical cottage of his nightmare, with one light shining through the window. A suggestion of cold perspiration stood on his forehead and a shiver ran down his spine as he thought of the sinister group and the suspicious and foreboding glances of the men in that dim scene which he had passed through before so realistically.

Entering the house behind the larger man, he looked instantly toward the corner for the cot and the child. They were there! The thin face of the child showed the same pallor of death, but the mother was not in the chair beside the bed. In her place sat a girlish figure, holding a vial in her delicate fingers.

"Thank you so much for coming," said a soft voice, and the Ruth of his day dreams lifted her eyes to his with a wistful, shy glance of comfort and relief. "The mother never would have been consoled for her neglect in not having had her child baptized, and I felt so sure you would come, even though it was at this late hour."

So the dying baby received the blessing of the church, and as the sun rose between two distant hills the child passed into its Saviour's arms. Two hearts were peaceful from a sense of finished duty. Unconsciously radiant with joy at being together, the man and the girl passed from the low roofed cottage into the clear frosty air of the blue canopied earth with its fresh carpeting of pure white snow. A Christmas happiness such as they had never known before illuminated the world for these two alone in the snow clad woods.

It was some time before the young rector felt inclined to speak, and then it was to recount his nightmare with its realistic reproduction up to the point where he had found her beside the dying child.

"And the knife aimed at your heart—that must have been a dreadful dream!"

John Hare paused, holding her with his strong magnetic gaze.

"The knife is in your hand. If you cannot love me, your 'No' will be the deathblow to my hopes and ambitions."

She smiled up into his eyes and held out both hands.

"See—there is no knife."

On Christmas Eve

When Pa and Ma Their Vigils Keep, and Little Boys Should Be Asleep.

LAST night I had a dandy time.
'Twas night 'fore Christmas too.
Ma put me early into bed,
Jus' like they always do
The night 'fore Christmas, an' I lay
As still as I could keep,
An' made my pa an' ma believe
'At I was fast asleep.

I SAID "BOO, MR. SANTY CLAUS!"

Well, by an' by I heard a noise,
An' then I seen my pa,
Who says to ma, "Is he asleep?"
"Uv course he is," says ma.
An' then they fetched a lot uv stuff,
A phonograph an' sled,
An' skates an' things, an' put 'em all
Beside my trundle bed.

An' then pa filled my stockin' full,
An' then both tiptoed near.
An' ma she tucked me in ag'in,
An' said, "The little dear."
An' then I set right up in bed,
An', oh, I had such fun!
I said "Boo, Mr. Santy Claus!"
An' pa an' ma both run.

THE FOREST OF THE DOMINION

CANADA HAS LARGER AREA THAN ANY LAND EXCEPT RUSSIA.

Northern Forests of the Dominion Cover an Area About Forty-Four Times Greater Than England — Serious Dangers Which Threaten Timber—Suffer Dreadfully From Fire—Causes of Forest Fires — Forestry Convention.

The value of the forests of Canada is being realized more fully with the increasing price of lumber and forest products. It is therefore opportune that a Forestry Convention should have been called by the Premier of the Dominion to meet in Ottawa in January next to consider how best to deal with this important national asset.

Canadians do not realize the large position the Dominion holds to-day in the eyes of the world. But if we consider for a moment what immense stretches of forest land there are in the Dominion the reason may be understood why such should be the case. The area of forest lands in Canada has been estimated at between 700,000,000 acres and 800,000,000 acres, although of this only one-third is covered by mature forest, or say 250,000,000 acres, the remainder being burnt over land, either entirely waste or in various stages of recovery. This is the largest forest area possessed by any country in the world with the exception of Russia. It has been figured that the northern forests of Canada cover an area about forty-four times greater than England.

There are, however, serious dangers threatening this timber. The northern forests are mainly composed of coniferous trees, spruce predominating, and are therefore easily burned. Hardwood forests offer considerable resistance to fire, but the soft woods with their resinous leaves and wood are a most inviting fuel. As has been stated, those who traveled our northern districts and have made close observation of the situation, make the statement that fire has at different times run over two-thirds of the country. If such should be the case again the wealth of these forests may easily be dissipated.

A recent writer speaking of Northern Quebec and Labrador states that the immense forests of those districts have suffered dreadfully from fire, and in many places the vegetable part of the soil has been so completely burned out that a couple of centuries must elapse before it is fully restocked. These fires are of annual occurrence and occasionally burn throughout the entire summer, destroying thousands of square miles of valuable timber to the south of the central watershed. It is authoritatively stated that at least one-half of the forest area of the interior of this part of Canada has been totally destroyed by fire within the past twenty-five or thirty years.

The same is largely true of every part of the northern forest area of the Dominion, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Any one who has traveled through the forest districts of Nova Scotia or New Brunswick or Ontario, will see the devastation which the fires have made. Northern British Columbia has suffered in the same way. Reports show that what explorations of some years ago indicated to be areas of splendid spruce forest, are now largely depleted and burned over.

The question arises whether anything can be done to prevent further destruction in these forests. The answer depends somewhat on the cause of the fires. Unquestionably fires occur through natural causes. Lightning is not infrequently a cause. It is sometimes surmised also that the friction of one tree against another may be sufficient to cause a fire, or that a globule of resin may be formed in such a way as to act as a burning glass. Much the larger number of fires are, however, occasioned by the action of man. It is along the canoe routes and the routes of travel that the fires usually start. The placing of warnings against fire along such routes and the presence of fire rangers patrolling them will do much to help. But the public who may travel through these districts are careless in handling fire, and if the Forestry Convention arouses public interest in such a way as to help the preventive work it will do much good.

There is another direction from which danger may come. The Dominion is expanding and is now preparing to build a transcontinental railway which will pass largely through the northern forest districts. The history of railway construction in Canada has as a rule been the destruction of the forests along the route. So important is it in these northern districts that the wood should be preserved that it is to be hoped means will be devised to prevent a repetition of what has so often occurred before.

THE MINING MEN.

Net Result of the Mining Conference Meeting Wednesday.

Toronto, Dec. 14.—When the mining conference resumed in the members' reception room of the Parliament Buildings yesterday morning Mr. George Marks, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, said that body had been unable to deal with many resolutions, having spent a good deal of time without reaching a decision on the following: "That any licensee may stake out a location without first making a discovery of mineral thereon."

The debate on this clause continued till 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Altogether there were 50 speeches on this question. Several amendments were introduced, threshed out and withdrawn. It was held by some of the speakers that the clause was too radical and should be qualified, while others wanted it passed, with further resolutions to qualify it later. Finally it was settled by compromise and the amended clause was as follows:

"That any licensee may stake out a location without first seeking a discovery of mineral thereon, under stringent working conditions to be decided by this meeting."

This passed by a majority of 18 votes.

Time Limit.

These two clauses were passed without much comment:

"That all locations shall be recorded within 15 days after staking, if within ten miles from recording office, but that one day additional be allowed for each additional five miles."

"All locations shall be forty acres, except in case of fractional location. In surveyed territory the location should consist of a fractional part of a lot, as mentioned in sub-section two of section 15 of the regulations for mining divisions governing the Temiskaming mining division."

The Working Conditions.

The working conditions will be taken up later.

The following resolution, giving the conditions relating to the previous resolution, was passed:

"That the licensee may stake out a mining location, square in shape, containing 40 acres, with posts at the four corners, also a post 6 feet southwest of the northeast corner post, to be called the recording post, with 6 inches faces and to be at least four feet above the ground.

"Where there are standing trees upon a mining location the licensee shall blaze the trees and cut the underbrush along the boundary lines of the discovery.

First Come.

"That during the period allowed between the date of staking and the date on which the said claim is required to be recorded in accordance with the preceding resolution, the licensee first staking the same shall be entitled to full possession of the said claim and to otherwise have his right fully preserved in respect thereof."

Station Constable Killed.

London, Dec. 15.—Dennis Regan, night constable at the Grand Trunk station, was probably fatally injured about 12.30 noon yesterday. Regan had picked up a conductor's O. S. slip from a passing freight when the wind blew the slip out of his hand. He endeavored to recover it and slipped in front of a work train. His leg was completely severed near the hip.

Constable Regan later in the afternoon died from the effects of the injuries he received.

Guelph Winter Fair.

Guelph, Dec. 15.—The attendance at the Winter Fair, and the subsidiary meetings, kept up to the record. Two hog packers denied that there was a combine among the packing houses. Earl Grey was entertained at dinner in the evening and made a tactful speech. Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. Nelson Monteith and Hon. Mr. Hanna delivered speeches.

Bennett Makes No Confession.

Brantford, Dec. 15.—Joe Bennett, the Indian murderer, will receive the full penalty of the law to-day. Spiritual advisers were with Bennett in the cell yesterday, but so far no confession has been made.

Banwell Still at Large.

Toronto, Dec. 15.—No word has been received of the whereabouts of E. St. C. Banwell, the missing Crown Bank teller, although the police of this country and the United States are working on the case.

CONSERVATIVES OF QUEBEC.

Convention Refuses to Appoint Leaders and Adopts a Platform.

Montreal, Dec. 14.—The Province of Quebec Conservative convention was brought to a close yesterday afternoon with the adoption of a platform, the resignation of Hon. E. J. Flynn as provincial leader, and the refusal of the gathering to follow the advice of the Young Conservatives to appoint leaders at Ottawa and Quebec. A committee of leading delegates was appointed to look after the question of local leadership and supervise generally.

Quebec Game Conference.

Montreal, Dec. 14.—The Quebec fish and game conference opened yesterday morning in the Windsor Hotel. A large number of the sportsmen of the province were present, as well as many Americans. Ontario was represented by Hon. Dr. Reaume. The president, Hon. Jean Prevost, Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries of the province, delivered an address outlining the scope and intention of the convention, which was to bring about a better fish and game protection system in Quebec.

A Swiss Election.

Berne, Switzerland, Dec. 15.—The Federal Assembly yesterday elected M. Forrer, the vice-president of the Federal Council and a Radical, to be president of the Swiss confederation in succession to M. Ruchet. M. Muller was elected vice-president.

Two Montreal Fires.

Montreal, Dec. 15.—Two fires yesterday morning caused about $20,000 damage in the downtown district. F. H. Eaton & Sons' printing establishment was gutted at a loss of $15,000. Allan's cheese warehouse was damaged, with a loss of $5,000.

Connaught Coming to Canada.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, who is on his way to Japan to bestow the Order of the Garter upon the Emperor, will return from that country by way of Canada. His royal highness was invited to do so by the Dominion Government, and has accepted the invitation.

HONEYBOY AND HONEYBUN A CHRISTMAS STORY

BY OLIVE HARPER

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY C. H. THE KINGSTON

"CLINTON, honeyboy, isn't it charming and awfully, delightfully wicked to go off on this spree all by ourselves?"

"Absurdly so," replied the still infatuated young husband, squeezing the plump arm tucked so confidingly under his.

"And Aunt Mary thinks we are in Connecticut, while Uncle James believes us to be in Canada and our mothers and fathers are sure we are in Florida. It is just too lovely for anything, isn't it?"

"And so we escape the deadly bother of a Christmas tree and the interminable dinner party and all the sticky children. And we will have our Christmas eve dinner all by our lonesome in the swellest place in town. And here we are, honeybun."

The happy couple stepped into the vestibule, shaking the flakes from their coats and stamping the snow from their feet. The light lingered lovingly on the pretty young face with its blue eyes and rosy cheeks and the snowy teeth showing between the smiling lips. And the same arc light looked on the handsome, clear cut features of the tall man with his fond and protecting air. "A fine couple," it spluttered. "A fine couple. Ah, I've seen many such, but they all end the same way."

With this pessimistic remark the light blinked wickedly. The door closed on the young couple as they walked slowly along the thick carpet waiting for that lordly personage, the head waiter, to assign them to a place. This astute personage instantly sized them up as a recently wedded couple and beckoned them to an ideal spot, a cozy little table in a corner, half surrounded by palms. There they were shut in from prying eyes and shut out of the hurry and noise of the rest of the world. As a work of supererogation the head waiter brought a bowl of white roses and with an unctuous smile, directed at no one in particular, set them in the center of the table, and this called up a pretty blush on the fair one's cheeks.

Clinton took the elaborate menu and with a hopeless glance at its foreign names handed it to his bride, saying in the blind hope that she understood it. "You order the dinner, honeybun."

Miriam glanced in the mirror and gave a cry of dismay.

"Oh, I am perfectly disreputable! Just look at my hair!"

She remembered the time when she tried to translate the menu to some friends in a restaurant, giving poisson aux eaux vives as "poison to the lively waters." She was not going to allow Clinton to gloat over her—above all, at this early stage of their married life. So she returned the menu to him with great apparent self abnegation.

"No; you order, honeyboy."

"I asked you to do it, honeybun!"

"Oh, well, I can't do it. I never had to order a dinner in my life. Father or some one always did." This last was said with just the least little bit of spirit. Besides, she was hungry; so was he. That fact may pardon this next words, spoken with what he thought a noble and masterful air:

"It is time you learned then. Now, honeybun, I don't want you to look at me in that grieved and frightened way. I am in the right. It is your duty—yes, duty—to learn to make out the dinner cards. You are not a child."

"Sir, I never had to do such a thing, and I won't so now! I think you are just going to turn out horrid, after all!"

"Now, honey"—

"Don't honey me! Please call me by my proper name. I am not a child. You just said so."

"Hon—dearest, don't do that!"

She was showing symptoms of tears, though she bravely tried to hide her feelings. She felt the eyes of the very respectable head waiter upon her. His portly back was turned, but she sensed the disapprobation in his attitude. The lights swam, and the hum of conversation was like the strange noises in deep forests at night. She winked furiously, angry with herself. She finally overcame her temptation to dissolve in tears, only to find that her honeyboy was sitting partly turned away in an attitude of deep dejection as well as set determination.

People came in from the snowy streets laden with parcels and carrying bunches of holly and mistletoe, and everyone beamed with joy and pleasant anticipations. Time passed, and the obstinate young couple grew hungrier and angrier, for now each began to nurse the situation as a real grievance. But, though the waiter hovered around with unmistakable anxiety, no one called him to give the order. The situation was growing tense. Honeybun was seriously thinking of getting up and going straight home to her mother, and honeyboy was wondering why men were fools enough to marry.

The old head waiter was sufficiently interested to watch them meditatively by means of mirrors, all unsuspected. Something in the air, or maybe it was the Christmas spirit, crept under his vest, and he felt a tugging at his heart. The bride was so pretty and the man so handsome he could not bear to see this discord, especially tonight. Suddenly he said to himself:

"Blessed, if I don't do it too."

He called the waiter and gave him a quiet order and then took from his pocket a small package of cards, each having either a bit of mistletoe or holly in colors in one corner. On these he printed in very neat characters:

"POTAGE—CHRISTMAS EVE. VERY PEPPERY."

The waiter came to him with the tray, on which were two plates of soup and all the concomitants belonging thereto and the proper wine. The waiter entered the tiny place and deposited the things with a grave businesslike air, putting a card at each place, and then discreetly retired. Clinton scarcely noticed the arrival of the man, but honeybun saw him. The soup looked good, and the little card caught her eye. She was the one woman in this generation with a keen sense of humor. She began to eat.

Clinton now turned squarely and looked at the table. He jumped to the conclusion that she had relented and had been adroit enough to give the order unperceived, but, though he would condescend to eat, and the soup smelled very good, he would not let her enjoy her triumph too soon, so he took his soup in dignified silence. The next course was ready as soon as he was. On one large platter filled with chopped ice were placed sixteen small clams arranged to spell the words:

"LOVE ONE ANOTHER."

One small clam officiated as a period. This arrangement was too obvious, especially as the waiter set the dish so the words should read. The little clams went where all good clams should go, and two hearts began to soften insensibly. Two squabs, nestling side by side on toast, were accompanied by two cards bearing the legend:

"PEACE ON EARTH."

The salad was delicious, the entrees a dream, and with each course came two cards with some sentiment calculated to remind the recipients of the day. Honeyboy pushed his cards ingloriously away, but honeybun gathered hers in a neat heap. The last course was ice cream—very pink—and molded into the shape of a large heart with a white ribbon tied in a true lover's knot around it, but the heart was broken through the middle and pressed apart deftly. A single card read:

"CHRISTMAS NIGHT.
PEACE AND GOOD WILL.
GET TOGETHER."

Even Clinton now saw, but he thought this was all the clever work of honeybun. He looked at her. She was all rosy and sweet, no longer pale and hungry. Maybe, too, the good dinner had something to do with it, but he beamed love on honeybun, and reaching over took her little left hand and kissed the wedding ring. Neither ever knew that the fat head waiter nearly danced in his retreat as he saw the broken heart drawn together and eaten from the same dish by both. He sighed as he whispered, "I have reunited them, but this house has lost two customers."

HE JUMPED TO THE CONCLUSION THAT SHE HAD RELENTED.

Hope.

"So you enjoy seeing your son play football?"

"Yes," answered Farmer Corntossel. "If he ever gets into the habit of workin' that hard, mebbe we'll make the farm pay yet."—Washington Star.

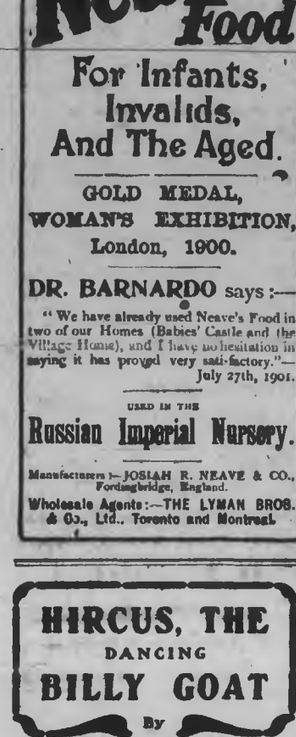
HIRCUS, THE DANCING BILLY GOAT

By MICKEY FINN

[Copyright, 1905, by Ernest Jarrold.]

IT was Christmas eve, and Patrick Doolan, the foreman of the gas works, had summoned a goodly company of his friends to celebrate the holiday season and the arrival of two barrels of Irish turf from his native town. A bushel of this peat lay glowing in the fireplace. While the snow was softly piling itself upon the window casings and the wind was taking liberties with the shutters Judy Callahan slyly pinned upon the lapel of Dick Walsh, the letter carrier, a sprig of Irish ivy. By inquiry from rheumatic Flaherty, who sat in the ingle nook nourishing his shins, Dick learned that the symbolic meaning of Irish ivy is "I cling to thee." Judy's shriek a moment later indicated that



"'TWAS THREE MONTHS O' STRAP AND CARROTS."

Dick had taken advantage of the information. Just then Jack Doolan, the youthful heir to the Doolan estate, put his head inside the door.

"Father, can I bring in the nanny? The snow is fallin' on her through the roof, and she's tremblin' wid the cowld."

"Of coorse, my son," said Mr. Doolan heartily. "Bring her in. We don't want our milk watered."

"That's a false taste you have there," said Flaherty. "How much milk does she give?"

"Two quarts a day, but she used to give three quarts a day before her husband died. She's pinin' away since that time, poor gur'rl. I think 'tis the lovesickness she has," said Mr. Doolan.

"Dear, dear, look a' that, now!" said Mrs. Reagan sympathetically. "I always said that nanny goats was nighamintle. And how long is the billy goat dead, Mr. Doolan?"

"'Tis five years the 24th day o' this month," replied Doolan. "Sorra day 'twas when we lost Hircus. A more gaynial nor a more willin' goat you would not find in all Hur-riem. Sure his death was a tragedy and a calamity."

"How was that?" quavered old man Dougherty, the stonemason.

"Well," resumed Doolan, "'twas a tragedy the way he was transhinted and a calamity whin his death took away the only chance I ever had o' makin' a fortune.

"'Tis quare about goats," continued Doolan. "They are born wid a certain amount of edjicashun. Show me the goat that wouldn't know a cabbage or a turnip whin he sees it. Of course a goat knows nothin' about machinery. There was a goat that used to stop the horses drawin' a street car, but whin they put a trolley car on the track you couldn't find that much o' the goat as would grease a griddle. But a goat can be eddicated wid sugar and a strap to do tricks. Now, I suppose none o' ye would believe me if I told ye that I taught Hircus to dance as fine a jig or hornpipe as ever you saw in a theater."

A chorus of disbelief arose.

"Yes," said Doolan, "and no Frinch lady could do a finer pas soo on her toes, as they say in the heathen language. You must remember that I was very poor, and I'd be layin' awake nights thinkin' o' some plan by way o' makin' a fortune, and whin my wife bought the two kids to start the dairy the idee came to me like a flash—I could eddicate the goat to dance. Whin I got that idee in me head I could think of nothin' else. Cassidy, how much money do you think a dancin' goat could earn on a theater stage?"

"Well," replied Cassidy, "I should think that $300 a week would be none too little for so dignacious a curiosity."

"There," resumed Doolan. "D'ye hear what Cassidy says? Three hundred dollars a week for half an hour's work a day! Faith, I felt the money in me hand! But 'twas weary work teachin' the goat. An old animal trainer told me that cruelty and kindness mixed would do the job. Whin the goat minded me I tickled his ribs and gave him carrots, but whin he got stubborn I lathered him with a strap. Mrs. O'Brien, you remember the time we had teachin' Hircus to walk across the room on his hind legs?"

"'Deed I do, Doolan!" said Mrs. O'Brien, with a reminiscent sigh.

"So'll excuse me, ladies and gentlemen," said Flaherty, rising and putting on his hat, "but I must leave ye. A dancin' goat is too much for my voracity. I couldn't swallow it."

When the door had closed Doolan went on: "Every night after supper the table was shoved back agin the wall and the lesson began. And, would you believe it, it takes three months to teach the goat to stand on his hind legs for five minutes! After that 'twas easier. There was a little gur-rl named Ellen next door that took a great interest in the eddication of the goat. She was about the size of the goat whin she stood up, and 'twas pure joy to see Hircus waltsin' around the kitchen to the music of my fiddle. With the goat's head on her shoulder and her arms around his neck they would whirl slowly around in the dawdlin' circles of the mazy, as the poet says"—

"How perfectly lovely!" exclaimed Judy Callahan.

"After the lesson was over each night I used to give the goat all kinds of tasty things, like potato peelin's, cabbage stumps and such like, as a reward, and 'twas the habit o' keepin' the goat hungry all day that led to the loss o' my fortune. 'Twas three months o' strap and carrots before the goat could do a dacint heel and toe, work as hard as I might, and two weary months before he would nod his head and make a bow the same as if he was before an awjence."

"Hark to that now," said Dougherty to Judy Callahan in a whisper. "A goat makin' a bow!"

"As I said before," Doolan went on, "when the goat had learned to bow at a wink we made his belly suit. The thing that cost the most was the skirt, made of red silk and shaped like a parasol. It looked like a hollyhock turned upside down. Then we put a little green cap wid a red tassel on the goat's head and a pair o' white slippers on his feet. And whin we showed him his picture in the glass he grinned like a woman puttin' on her Sunday bonnet. The tears fill me eyes whin I think that only for that joker Reagan I might be ridin' in me own divvil wagon wid rubber wheels.

"The first public appearance of the goat as a bally dancer took place in a barn in the Bronx. We fixed up a stage wid planks and boxes, and 25 cents was charged at the door. The news got around, and long before the time to begin the show the barn was crowded to the doors. Half the roof was gone off the barn, but that hurt nothin', for the night was clear. I was so afraid that the goat wouldn't do his work that I gave him nothin' to eat for twelve hours before he came on the stage, and the poor beast was fair famished. Whin I walked out on the stage, hand in hand wid the goat, I thought the awjence would go crazy. They yelled wid sheer delight whin the goat made his bow, and every man in the barn was on his feet, and a hundred o' them had cabbage leaves and carrots in their pockets to give to the goat, like the ladies have bokays to give to the play actors. As the goat whirled around doin' a waltz he would stop now and then to pick a bit o' cabbage or turnip that some one threw on the stage. But 'twas what that rogue Reagan threw that the goat liked the best. They looked like little pieces o' bread covered wid sugar. The goat picked up so many o' the little chunks that the crowd yelled to put Reagan out because he was stoppin' the show, and I had hard work to get the goat dancin' ag'in. After that the goat seemed to get lighter and lighter upon his feet until he hardly touched the stage. There were times when he whirled around in the air widout touchin' the floor, and the crowd gaspin' wid astonishment at this wonderful beast. And while he whirled he seemed to be gettin' bigger and bigger till he was as round as a balloon the boys play wid. He would go up in the air, whirlin' like a pinwheel, for ten feet, and this light on the stage soft as a thistledown, and fly up ag'in till he spun up farther and farther, lookin' like a red umbrella on a big punkin, and he was gone through the hole in the roof, transhated intirely."

"And where did he go?" said the awe struck Mrs. Cassidy in a whisper.

"Some o' the little boys sittin' on the fence outside said he wint up in the direction of O'Rion, and others said 'twas toward Arcturus and Niptune he wint."

"And what was it that Reagan gave the goat?" said the materialistic Walsh, anxious for an explanation of the seeming miracle.

"'Twas yeast cakes that the rogue had covered wid sugar, and the goat ate fifteen o' them."

"HE WHIRLED ABOUND WIDOUT TOUCHIN' THE FLOOR."

Looking For Capacity.

"What are you writing, little boy?" asked the old gentleman.

"Christmas letters," responded the youngster. "One is to Santa Claus."

"But you have two."

"Oh, the other is to the fat lady in the museum, asking if she would loan me one of her stockings to hang up."

ROYAL FOLK WHO PLAY SANTA CLAUS

By GEORGE H. PICARD

[Copyright, 1905, by George H. Picard.]

ONE of the numerous advantages enjoyed by royal personages, an advantage, too, which has not been greatly exploited, is the power to give to any object dispensed as a Christmas gift, no matter how trivial it may be, a distinct and abiding value. It is related of one of the mediaeval pontiffs that on a certain occasion he was so grateful for a service rendered him by a young prince of the Borgia family that he begged him to name some suitable reward.

"Come, my child," he suggested insinuatingly. "Tell me what I can do to please you. Don't be afraid to put my liberality to a test. It's the blessed Christmas season, you know."

His youthful highness sighed deeply, but did not seem able to find the words to frame his request.

"Courage, my friend," persisted his holiness. "I am in the mood for giving. Ask confidently, and I should advise you to ask something more substantial than my blessing."

The young Borgia realized that the opportunity was golden. At that time the temporal power of the Roman pontiff was so great that kingdoms were at his disposal. The prince knew all that, but it did not tempt him.

"Your holiness," he faltered, prostrating himself, "I beg you to give me a lock of your hair."

At this unexpected request the pope was both startled and touched. It seemed incredible that a Borgia could be satisfied with such a sentimental requital, and yet the young fellow seemed to be in earnest.

"Why do you select such a worthless thing?" his holiness demanded.

"Oh, do not refuse me!" the prince expostulated. "Think of its value as a relic after your holiness is canonized!"

The pontiff smiled grimly. Then he put his right hand upon his head and sighed long and rather mournfully. He had some hair remaining, but scarcely enough to serve as a relic.

"As you will," he groaned, "but I had rather you had asked me for the kingdom of the Two Sicilies."

Some of the Christmas presents exchanged by latter day royalty are almost absurd in their practicality. For many years the gentle and well beloved Pius IX. was in the habit of exchanging Christmas gifts with the equally amiable Victoria of England. The pope invariably sent a package of specially prepared and exquisitely scented snuff, with an autograph letter extolling its virtues as a remedy for catarrh and kindred disorders. This standing gift was sometimes accompanied by a few jars of wine made from fruit taken from a particular vine

"TELL ME WHAT I CAN DO TO PLEASE YOU."

in the Vatican garden. It is not impossible that her majesty may have made a personal trial of the pope's remedy, but it is certain that she did not acquire the habit. That she appreciated the attention was made evident from the fact that sundry jars of a marmalade devised in the royal kitchen at Windsor found their way at Christmas time to the Vatican.

Some of this delectable confection made a holiday appearance in other European courts. The queen's German grandchildren were fond of it, and their royal grandmother saw to it that a goodly supply of the delicacy and its attendant supplement of a particular seed cake of her majesty's own composition reached Potsdam in time for the Christmas dinner. One of the queen's grandsons by marriage, the czar, used to send her the most beautiful malachite and jade vases ever seen in England, and in return he received invariably a six dozen case of very old and mellow Scotch whisky from a particular highland distillery, long patronized by the British royal family. There is no record to prove that Nicholas found the Scottish beverage more satisfying than his native vodka, but it is a fact that he kept on sending the precious vases as long as his thoughtful grandmother lived.

The kaiser's established Christmas remembrance to the elders of the English court is a case of Johannisberg, which is almost as unattainable as the elixir of life. For the youngsters "Uncle William" sends tons of the ingenious mechanical toys "made in Germany." The president of the French republic, not to be outdone in Christmas civility, gives presents of costly Sevres and Limoges wares to the reigning queens of Europe. In return he is often decorated with the ribbon of some coveted order. The president of the Swiss confederation is more practical in his holiday generosity. Last Christmas he sent to Queen Alexandra a choice selection of cheeses.

As a systematic dispenser of Christmas cheer it is probable that the German emperor heads the list of royal givers. With his customary orderliness and attention to detail he begins to plan his beneficent campaign long before the dawn of the holiday season. On a slip of paper which he keeps concealed in a private cabinet he notes down in his neat uncial script as they occur to him the names of the various persons whom he intends to remember and the amount he expects to expend on each of them.

One of his standard gifts is his own royal portrait. Last Christmas he varied the usual custom by presenting his prospective daughter-in-law, the Duchess Cecilia, with a marble bust of himself. There is absolutely no excuse whatever for any collection in the world, public or private, which has neglected to provide itself with a portrait of the German kaiser. It may be had for the asking, and a hint is sufficient. The kaiserin is a liberal and thoughtful Christmas benefactress. She makes it a point to give something of value to every child of royal lineage in Christendom, and that means much labor and discrimination. The children of royal lineage in the German empire alone are quite numerous enough to absorb a fortune, and it is reputed that the generous royal lady spends $50,000 every year in this admirable way.

The present sultan of Turkey, with all his traditional hatred of the giaour, has fallen into the habit of sending Christmas gifts to some of the Christian courts. These remembrances consist for the most part of jars of preserved rose leaves and Levantine sweetmeats prepared by his own confectioner. The aged emperor of Austria sends a liberal gift of priceless Tokay to his fellow sovereigns. The domestic old queen of Denmark, the "mother-in-law of Europe," who is an inveterate knitter of woolen stockings, dispenses her yearly accumulation at Christmastide. The genial king of the Belgians sends nothing but checks, and it is whispered that his bank account is considerably reduced at the holiday season. Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who is as prudent as she is thrifty, gives decorations and confers orders. This was also the economical Christmas practice adopted by Queen Victoria. The king of Spain sends presents only to his relatives, and the royal family of Portugal, rich as it is, is not much addicted to the gift habit. The queen sends a generous check to the Vatican and the king distributes a few decorations.

Fourth of July Christmases.

In other days the Catholic and Episcopal churches celebrated Christmas much as Americans now observe the glorious Fourth. Roman candles, skyrockets, firecrackers and a general rejoicing and noisy hilarity marked the day sacred to the birth of the Prince of Peace. The idea was that the occasion was a joyful one and men should vociferously attest their happiness. Echoes of these old celebrations are still heard in portions of the south which were settled by the cavaliers. Under the reformation, however, and especially under Puritanism, this form of observing Christmas was done away with. In the early days of New England Christmas was scarcely observed at all, and it is only in comparatively recent years that the present custom of giving and feasting was revived in sections where the Puritan had held sway.

Tragic Christmas Days.

Christmas, which is usually regarded as the happiest day of all the year, has frequently witnessed tragic events. Diocletian began one of his persecutions of the Christmas in 303 when on Christmas day he burned a church full of the followers of the Nazarene.

William the Conqueror is said to have slaughtered 100,000 men, women and children on Christmas day in the year 1068.

In 1170 Thomas a Becket preached a Christmas day sermon that caused his death four days later.

John Wyclif, the great reformer, died on Christmas day, 1384.

In 1663 Christmas day in London saw the great plague at its height. One thousand people were dying daily.

TORTURE AND HUMILIATION

For Fifteen Years Face and Body Mass of Itching Sores—Could Not Express Suffering—Doctors Did No Good.

CURED BY CUTICURA WHEN HOPE HAD GONE

"My head was one mass of scabs, my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows, and I had to wear my hat all the time. My body was covered with spots in size from a pinhead to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express the torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors, and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and I thought there was no hope for me. A friend told me to get Cuticura. I did, and in three days my head was as clear as ever. I applied Cuticura Ointment night and morning, also taking a hot bath with Cuticura Soap three times a week, and using the Ointment freely after the bath. After using one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely cured, without mark or blemish. I was so pleased I felt like running down the street to tell every one I met what Cuticura had done for me. (signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Wash'n St., Allegheny, Pa."

COMPLETE TREATMENT For Every Humour from Pimples to Eczema

Complete external and internal treatment for every humour, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, may now be had of all chemists. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humours, eczemas, rashes, and irritations, from infancy to age, when physicians and all else have failed.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, Sole Props.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and Firm, Healthy Flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with Firm, Healthy Flesh and Remove Wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrow.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking, after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

Sixteen To Nine Is Enough For Saskatchewan

Premier Scott Is Well Pleased With Election Result.

THE LANGEVIN MEMORANDUM

An Unfair and Distorted Use of the Document Made by Mr. Haultain—Otherwise Saskatchewan Liberals Should Have Made as Clean a Sweep as Alberta Liberals Did on November Ninth.

Prince Albert, Dec. 16.—Sixteen out of nineteen polls in Prince Albert county give Tyerman (Liberal) five majority, and his return is now conceded. The three missing polls may not be heard from for some time, as they are 600 miles north and accessible only by courier. There are 150 votes there.

Later reports from Prince Albert county say Donaldson is three ahead, with three northern polls yet to come. These will not be received before Tuesday or Wednesday next. A Conservative conspiracy to waylay these boxes was unearthed here Thursday night, and a detachment of Mounted Police were despatched at once to protect the deputy and ballot-boxes.

Saskatoon — Sutherland (Liberal) now has a majority of 150, with all polls heard from.

Moose Jaw—Sheppard (Liberal) leads by 59, with five polls missing.

Saltcoats—There are fourteen polls still to come in here, but McNutt has 293, which will be increased to 500.

Batoche—Bouchier will lose his deposit in this constituency. The vote at present stands: Grant, 693; Bouchier, 111. There are five polls still missing, and all are Liberal.

Battleford—Champagne should win by 200. He is 132 ahead, with seven polls to hear from.

Premier Scott Is Pleased.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 16.—Premier Scott, in discussing the result of the Saskatchewan election, said: "On the whole I see no reason for dissatisfaction with the outcome of the contest, although some excellent candidates have gone down under very narrow majorities. It was always conceded that Saskatchewan Liberals had a much more difficult fight to confront than had the Alberta Liberals, yet had it not been for the widespread and distorted use made of Archbishop Langevin's memorandum, we should have made almost as clean a sweep as did the Alberta Liberals on Nov. 9.

Sixteen to Nine Will Do.

"Sixteen to nine seats, nevertheless, will serve to uphold the Government and its policy very nicely. I am more proud than ever of my Ministers, as each of them faced difficult ridings. As you know, bets were being freely made until nearly the end that not a Minister except possibly myself could be elected. Mr. Lamont faced a three-cornered fight and has made a really excellent fight of it. Mr. Motherwell, who was going to lose his deposit, will have 200 majority to the good. But the star battle in the whole province was made by Mr. Calder in South Regina, when he wins in an enemy's stronghold with nearly 100 majority. We will have sixteen at least, and if our friends' calculations respecting the disputed ballots prove accurate we shall take Regina City and Moose Jaw City in addition."

Missionaries Drowned.

London, Dec. 16.—(C.A.P.)—A despatch from Georgetown, British Guiana, states that Rev. J. D. MacKay, Canadian missionary, with Rev. I. C. Cruickshank, of the Church of Scotland, were drowned through a boat swamping in the Essequibo River.

Many Mining Questions Are Being Dealt With

Hon. Mr. Cochrane's View On the Taxation Problem.

IRON MINING THE GREATEST

Minister Declares That Department of Lands and Mines Cannot Be Separated—Gillies Timber Limit—Hopes They Will Recognize the Protection Government Gives and Have Some Open in Spring.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The mining convention concluded yesterday afternoon with a speech from Hon. Frank Cochrane.

Chairman W. D. McPherson briefly reviewed the work of the convention.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines, said the unanimous resolutions would have great weight with the Government. As to the timber, one of the largest sources of the revenue of the province, it was necessary to protect it. He did not believe the miners were expected to cause fires. The Gillies Limit had been reserved because the Government considered it only fair to the Gillies people on account of the richness of the Cobalt district, which was not fully known until last spring, to give them time to remove the timber. Therefore, while the prospector was not yet allowed upon the limit, it was hoped that before next spring Gillies Brothers would recognize the protection the Government was trying to give them and do something towards opening up a portion at least of the limit.

Refining in Canada.

Mr. Cochrane said that all the refining of minerals should take place in Canada, but some kind of encouragement must be given towards carrying this out by the Government, and he hoped the day would soon come when Ontario's mineral resources would equal those of her agriculture.

The question of taxation as it affected the mining interests was a very important one that required close study. In British Columbia the taxes were upon the gross output, but this would involve considerable difficulty in Ontario, as there were thousands of acres tied up in leases or patents which were not benefiting the owner or any other person. "If I had the running of it," said Hon. Mr. Cochrane, "I would put on a land tax."

Only One Minister.

As to the separation of the Departments there were difficulties. The Premier and he had discussed it when the Department was organized, but it was thought if there were two heads there would be continual squabbling because they were so intimately united.

It might be feasible to have deputies over the two branches, but they could not evade the necessity of a guiding hand over both.

The Minister said he looked upon iron mining as the greatest of Ontario's mining industries. Within the next two years he expected it to be in a better condition than ever before. A company was now under contract to develop the Morse Mountain range, and would be turning out 2,000 tons a day within a year and a half. Once the people were awakened to the necessity of mining development it would make the Government's task of aiding the miners much more easy, because they would not think that one part of the province was living on the other.

Would Help Mining.

His desire and that of the Government was not to place obstacles in the way of the miners, but to put forward every possible inducement to assist in making it one of the greatest industries of the province. Such was the intention of the Government, and he hoped that if everything the miners hoped for was not accomplished this session they would not become disheartened, but keep pointing out improvements to the act. Doing this he promised that the interests of the miners would be his own so far as the province would allow him.

The resolution committee, with the chairman and secretary of the convention, were appointed to press the resolutions upon the Government and act as a consulting committee to the Government, with power to add to their members.

The delegates thanked the Minister personally, and formal votes of thanks were passed to Mr. Cochrane, Chairman McPherson, and Mr. Marks, chairman of the resolutions committee, after which the conference dispersed.

No Association.

At the morning session the idea of forming a provincial mining association was abandoned. Instead there will be associations at the chief centres to be affiliated with the Canadian Mining Institute. A number of resolutions were put through.

St. John Printers Strike.

St. John, N. B., Dec. 16.—The printers delivered their ultimatum on the eight-hour question yesterday. The three newspaper offices in this city have given in, both as to their newspaper and job printing departments, but all the other book and job printers in the city are holding firm. The men in consequence have declared a strike and will quit work in the offices in the morning. Four offices and about 20 men will be affected.

Change of C. P. R. Route.

Ottawa, Dec. 16.—An amended route map of the Grand Trunk Pacific has been sanctioned, whereby the line will parallel the C. P. R. tracks from Port Arthur to Fort William, and reach the lake by the Indian reserve south of the Kaministiquia River.

Strathcona Coming to Canada.

London, Dec. 16.—Lord Strathcona will leave for Canada to-day by the Caronia. He would not state on what business he goes, whether public or private. He is suffering from a weak knee, due to a wrench.

Machine Guns Being Used In The Revolution

Troops and Peasants In Bloody Collisions In Riga.

PRESIDENT OF THE ZEMSTVO

Dmitri Shipoff Issues a Plea to All Having the Welfare of Russia at Heart to Work For a Peaceful Election—Story of a Mistake That Cost Four Men Their Lives—The Female Assassin.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 14.—(Evening.)—Via Eydtkuhnen, Dec. 15.—It seems to be beyond question that bloody collisions have occurred between troops and the united peasantry and workmen in the streets of Riga, during which machine guns were used. The situation is most serious in the country, which is practically abandoned to the revolutionary bands, owing to the concentration of troops in the cities and towns.

Dmitri Shipoff's Plea.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 14, via Eydtkuhnen, Dec. 15.—The Emperor's day, Dec. 19, will be signalized by an important peasant manifesto and the publication of the election law.

Dmitri Shipoff, president of the Moscow zemstvo, is out with a strong appeal to all having the welfare of the country at heart without regard for party affiliation to unite in the restoration of order and thus insure peaceful elections and the convocation of the National Assembly, which is the only legal place in which to settle political differences. Under the leadership of the law and order party, an attempt is being made to organize a counter-peasants' party in opposition to the Moscow peasants' congress.

The post telegraph congress at Moscow is still holding out, insisting that the strikers can be victorious, although unless a new development enters into the situation their cause apparently is lost. The ranks of the strikers are being deserted and those returning to work are compelled to sign a declaration to the effect that they were enticed into the union under false pretences and agreeing not to meddle with politics in the future.

Runs On the Banks.

Nevertheless the strikers can cripple the postal service for an indefinite period, and without the striking operators it is impossible for the Government to secure a resumption of telegraphic communication. There are no signs of a break on the Siberian lines and business men everywhere are in despair at the outlook. Runs on savings banks are reported at many places in the provinces.

The desperate strikers here continue their attacks on mail wagons and the robbery of letter boxes. The provincial zemstvos are complaining that they are unable to collect taxes without the aid of the Federal Government, and they have been obliged to close the schools. Throughout the Volga and Don regions the peasants continue to cut down the forests.

General Was Sorry.

The arrival of Gen. Maximovitch, the successor of the late Gen. Sakharoff as the Emperor's representative at Saratoff, was signalized by an unfortunate incident. The peasants in the district of Balaschoff had been "rounded up" by the authorities, with the aid of Cossacks, in order to persuade them to return the wood and other property which they had stolen, when suddenly the commander of the Cossacks was shot and fell dead from his horse, whereupon the Cossacks fired on the crowd, killing four and wounding ten persons.

Gen. Maximovitch, who arrived on the scene immediately afterwards, was greatly distressed, and in the name of the Emperor promised to succor financially the families of the dead and wounded peasants.

Amelia Popoff, Assassin.

The assassin of Gen. Sakharoff has confessed her identity to the extent of admitting that her name is Amelia Popoff. She refuses, however, to furnish any other information to the authorities.

From Tver, Central Russia, comes the news that the estate of Ivan Petrunkevitch, president of the Moscow Agricultural Society, and a prominent member of the zemstvo, has been sacked and destroyed by the peasants.

The Novosti says that Szdt, one of the leaders of the Sebastopol mutineers, has been hanged.

Telephone Lines Open.

Moscow, Dec. 14., via Eydtkuhnen, Dec. 15.—The leaders of the post-telegraph strike declare they will never surrender until Interior Minister Durnovo and M. Sevastianoff, superintendent of posts and telegraphs, are dismissed and their demands satisfied. Over a thousand men have been dismissed from the postoffice service, which continues to be blocked. Not a single telegraph wire is working out of Moscow and the telephone lines, which are badly crippled, are the only means of communication.

TO MASSACRE THE TARTARS.

Russia Alleged to Be Distributing Arms to Armenians.

Constantinople Dec. 16.—The Turkish Ambassador at St. Petersburg has been instructed to draw Russia's attention to the serious situation at Tiflis, Caucasia, where it is alleged the Russian authorities are distributing arms to the Armenians and inciting them to massacre the Tartars.

The Armenians are alleged with the assistance of the troops to have invaded Mussulman residences, including those of Turkish subjects, slaughtering women and children, as well as men. The appeals of the Turkish Consul to the local authorities at Tiflis were unavailing.

Turkey Accepts.

Constantinople, Dec. 16.—Turkey Thursday night formally surrendered to the demands of the powers and accepted the scheme providing for the financial control of Macedonia.

STOICISM ON THE GALLOWS.

Indian Hanged At Brantford For Murder of Betsy Jacobs.

Brantford, Dec. 16.—Joseph Bennett, the Indian suffered the full penalty of the law by hanging yesterday morning at 8.15.

Bennett walked to the gallows with typical Indian stoicism. Thursday night he told the jail officials he was innocent.

The crime for which Bennett paid the life penalty was a most brutal one. On July 9 last, with her head badly bruised and the marks of a murderer's fingers on her throat, Betsy Jacobs, an Indian woman, about 50 years of age, living at one of the Oshweken reserves in Brant County, was found in her lonely cottage. She was a cripple. Bennett skipped out, and, after a thrilling chase lasting several days, was captured in a bush about fifty miles from the scene of the tragedy.

Hoch Will Hang.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—The supreme court has affirmed the verdict in the case of Johann Hoch, now under sentence of death for wife murder. Hoch will hang Feb. 22.

DESERONTO SHOCKED.

Clogging of Air Pipes Results in a Boiler Explosion—Two Men Hurt.

Deseronto, Dec. 16.—A terrific explosion occurred at the Deseronto Iron Works yesterday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock, in which James Foster and a man named Maracle were injured.

Foster was standing in the engine room door, not more than 6 feet from the hot and cold air blasts which were the cause of the explosion. The air which feeds from the cold air blast, through a connecting pipe to the hot blast, was suddenly choked off through some unknown reason. The gas from the hot blast taking fire, and not having the pressure of air in the connecting pipe, backed up into and through the cold air tanks to the engine-room, causing an explosion.

The engine-room and engine are a total wreck; the roof was, blown into a thousand pieces. The works are now closed down until the necessary repairs can be made, which will be an indefinite length of time.

WILL INVESTIGATE.

Ontario Government Will Search Affairs of York County Loan.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—The Government decided yesterday that the affairs of the York County Loan should come under the searchlight. The scope of the investigation and the persons who will conduct it have not been finally decided upon yet, but the information is expected to-day.

Hon. J. J. Foy has issued a statement to the public, in which he says the exercise of the statute, allowing investigation, should only be under extraordinary circumstances. Owing to the very large number of people affected in this case, it was advisable and might, he hopes, check much of the litigation now in view. He points out that the litigants may well afford to stay their hand.

The Government selected an auditor yesterday, but when communicated with the party refused to accept the post because of pressure of business.

Big Fire in Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 16.—A big fire is raging early this morning in a big warehouse in St. Paul street, near St. Sulpice, occupied by the Gilmore Hosiery Co. and other firms. The fire is making headway in spite of the entire fire department. The loss will be heavy.

QUALITY

Anecdotes Of The Hero Lord Nelson

REMINISCENCES OF THE DARLING HERO OF OLD ENGLAND.

His Immortal Message, "England Expects Every Man Will Do His Duty," and Its Final Evolution — Scotch Soldiers Consolation When Scotland Was Not Mentioned—The Sailor's Letter—Fatal Determination.

When Nelson visited the Royal Naval Hospital, at Yarmouth, after the battle of Copenhagen, he went round the wards, stopping at every bed, and spoke some cheering and soothing words to every man. At length he stopped opposite to a bed on which was lying a seaman who had lost his right arm close to the shoulder joint, when the following dialogue ensued:

Nelson—Well, Jack! What's the matter with you?

Seaman—Lost my right arm, your honor.

Nelson (looking down at his own empty sleeve)—Well, Jack, then you and I are spoiled for fishermen. Cheer up, my brave fellow!

Call of Duty.

Capt. Blackwood, while traveling from Portsmouth to London with despatches, called on Lord Nelson at Merton, where the hero was living in quiet retirement before going on his last voyage.

"I am sure you bring me news of the French and Spanish fleets!" exclaimed Nelson. "I think I shall yet have to beat them."

The captain informed him that the enemy's fleets were in Cadiz.

"Depend upon it, Blackwood," his lordship repeatedly said, "I shall yet give Villeneuve a drubbing."

Capt. Blackwood then left, and Nelson, after a short period of restlessness, offered his services to the Admiralty. They were at once accepted. When the great admiral arrived in London Lord Barham, First Lord of the Admiralty, gave him the Navy List and desired him to choose his officers.

"Choose yourself, my lord," was Nelson's reply. "The same spirit actuates the whole profession — you cannot choose wrong."

Home, Sweet Home.

When leaving his home at Merton Nelson seemed to have a presentment that he would never return. He thus expressed himself in his private journal:

"Friday night (Sept. 13), at half-past ten, I drove from dear, dear Merton, where I left all which I hold dear in this world, to go and serve my King and country. May the great God, whom I adore, enable me to fulfill the expectations of my country! And if it is His good pleasure that I should return, my thanks will never cease being offered up to the throne of His mercy. If it is His good providence to cut short my days upon earth I bow with the greatest submission, relying that He will protect those so dear to me whom I leave behind. His will be done. Amen! Amen!"

Valuable Quarters.

When Nelson was leaving London to board the Victory for the last time, a quantity of cabin furniture was ordered to be sent down to Portsmouth. His lordship had a farewell dinner party at his house, and while this gathering was in progress the upholsterer arrived with an account of the completion of the goods.

Nelson had him brought into the dining-room, where he conversed with him in a corner. The upholsterer stated that everything was finished and packed, and would go in the wagon from a certain inn at six o'clock.

"And you go to the inn, Mr A——, and see them off," asked the admiral.

"I shall, my lord," said the upholsterer; "I shall be there punctually at six."

"A quarter before six, Mr. A——," returned Lord Nelson; "be there a quarter before six. To that quarter of an hour I owe everything in life!"

The People's Homage.

No one can read without emotion the account by Southey of Nelson's departure from Portsmouth on his last voyage:

"Having despatched his business on shore, he endeavored to elude the populace by taking a by-way to the beach; but a crowd collected in his train, pressing forward to obtain a sight of his face. Many were in tears, and many knelt down before him and blessed him as he passed.

"England has had many heroes; but never one who so entirely possessed the love of his fellow-countrymen as Nelson. All men knew that his heart was as humane as it was fearless, and that there was not in his nature the slightest alloy of selfishness or cupidity; but that, with perfect and entire devotion, he served his country with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his strength; and, therefore, they loved him as truly and as fervently as he loved England.

"They pressed upon the parapet to gaze after him when his barge pushed off, and he was returning their cheers by waving his hat. The sentinels, who endeavored to prevent them from trespassing upon this ground, were wedged among the crowd, and an officer, who, not very prudently upon such an occasion, ordered them to drive the people down with their bayonets, was compelled speedily to retreat; for the people would not be debarred from gazing, till the last moment, upon the hero—the darling hero of England!"

Sailor's Letter.

When the last mail before the battle had been collected from the ships of the fleet, and the despatch-vessel was leaving with its precious freight for Old England, Nelson discovered that one of his coxswains, who had been very busy making-up the bags, had forgotten to include his own letter, which was still reposing in his pocket.

"Hoist the signal to bring her back," said Nelson, promptly. "Who knows that he may not fall in the action to-morrow?"

The despatch-vessel came back, and the sailor's letter went with the others.

Deeds, Not Words.

On one of the British liners, a short time before the opening of the battle, the commander thought he would make a rousing speech to his crew. All hands were ordered aft therefore, and the captain exclaimed:

"My lads, there's the enemy, no doubt about it. And now, my lads, if you don't take the enemy, my lads, why then—my lads—why then, my lads—the enemy will take you. Pipe down!"

After all, few speeches have been more to the point.

Timely Warning.

A midshipman named Flinn once rescued a man who had fallen overboard from the flagship and Nelson, who had witnessed the affair, was so delighted that he made the officer a lieutenant. The other middies cheered loudly in honor of the event. Putting up his hand for silence, Nelson, therefore, good-humoredly, exclaimed:

"Stop, young gentlemen! Mr. Flinn has done a gallant thing to-day, and he has done many gallant things before, for which he has got his reward; but, mind, I will have no more making lieutenants for servants falling overboard."

Officer's Sword.

A few months before his death Nelson was entertaining some officers of his fleet to dinner. They had left their swords on the quarter-deck before descending into the cabin, and Nelson examined these while the party were walking the deck after dinner. Picking up one belonging to Lieut. Lapenotiere, of the Pickle, Nelson found that the weapon stuck fast in the scabbard, and, on finally wrenching it out, saw the blade covered with rust.

"Whose sword is this?" he asked, turning to the company.

"It belongs to the commander of the Pickle, I believe, my lord," was the reply.

"A pickle-prong, indeed," was the admiral's rejoinder. Then, raising his voice, he said: "Is this your sword, Mr. Lapenotiere?"

"Yes, my lord."

"Oh, then kindly have it sent on board the Victory, and the armourer shall polish it up for you. I like, sir, to see an officer's sword as spotless as his honor."

Immortal Message.

On Nelson deciding to spur the ardor of his men with a message, his first order to Lieut. Pasco, signal officer of the Victory, was: "Say, 'Nelson confides that every man will do his duty.'" The lieutenant, after referring to the signal book, replied that the word "Nelson" was not shown in the vocabulary, and that it would have to be spelt out. "Would not 'England' do?" asked the officer.

Nelson assented. "Let it be 'England' then. 'England confides that every man will do his duty.'"

Further investigation, however, brought to light the fact that "confides" was also unknown in the book; and Lieut. Pasco suggested "expects," which was fortunately in the code.

To this Nelson readily agreed, and also to the further suggestion that "that" should be dropped, too. Thus the original message of "Nelson confides that every man will do his duty" was twisted into the better and world-famous one of "England expects every man will do his duty."

To give this message to the fleet eleven distinct hoists of flags had to be given, viz., one for each word except "duty," which had to be spelled out letter by letter, as it was not shown in the code. If the message had been given as originally suggested no less than twenty-four separate hoists of flags would have been necessary.

Scotland's Boast.

Nothing galls the natural pride of the true-blue Scot more than to have Scotland overlooked, and a rather amusing instance of this feeling occurred at Trafalgar.

Two Scotsmen, messmates and bosom cronies, happened to be stationed near each other when the celebrated signal was given from Nelson's flagship, "England expects every man will do his duty."

"Not a word aboot puir Scotland," dolefully remarked Donald.

"Man, Donald," said the other, turning to his friend, "Scotland kens weel enouch that nae son o' hers needs to be tell't tae dae his duty; that's just a hint tae the Englishers."

"Old Coll."

Admiral Collingwood, second in command at Trafalgar, had been curiously associated with Nelson almost throughout his naval career. He formerly commanded the Excellent, and when that ship joined the fleet just before the battle of St. Vincent in 1797, Nelson gleefully exclaimed, "See, here comes the Excellent, which is as good as two added to our number!"

At Trafalgar Collingwood led the lee column in the Royal Sovereign, and, owing to an alteration of course, got into action before Nelson. As he broke through the enemy's lines, pouring in terrible broadsides, Collingwood laughed and said, "What would Nelson give to be here!"

At the same instant Nelson, watching the brave doings of the Royal Sovereign, enthusiastically exclaimed, "See how that noble fellow, Collingwood, takes his ship into action! How I envy him!"

Dying Cheers.

Among the slain of the Royal Sovereign was William Chambers, the master, who had part of his side carried away while steering the ship towards the close of the battle. Admiral Collingwood, who was standing near, said: "He laid his head upon my shoulder, and said he was slain. I supported him till two men carried him off. He could say nothing to me but bless me."

Chambers just lived until the firing ceased, when with a feeble voice he exclaimed: "Oh, could I but read the Gazette of this glorious day!" Then he gave three feeble cheers, in which he was joined by another dying man, and both immediately expired.

Fatal Determination.

Nelson was dressed in full uniform, with all his stars and orders, and his officers, knowing that he would thus form a very conspicuous mark for the enemy's riflemen, pressed him to wear a cloak to cover the decorations.

"No," said his lordship, firmly; "whatever may be the consequences, the insignia of the honors I now wear I gained by the exertions of British seamen under my command in various parts of the world, and in the hour of danger I am proud to show them and the enemies of England that I will never part with them; if it please God that I am to fall, I will expire with these trophies around my heart."

Gold Mining In Australia.

Gold is being found far down in the earth in Australia. A beautiful piece of gold bearing quartz is on view at the mining department in Melbourne. It was found at a depth of 4,200 feet at Bendigo, the greatest depth on record at which gold has been obtained. The geological experts say that this discovery is interesting as establishing the fact that the conditions of gold deposition are as favorable at this depth as they are near the surface.

The Village Of "East Lynne"

Scene of Mrs. Henry Wood's Novel Is Being Sold—Village, Manor Farms, Pasture Lands and All — Obscure But Very Ancient Worchestershire Village Is "East Lynne" Which Figures Under the Name of Abberton.

East Lynne, that is to say the village which, under that name, is the scene of Mrs. Henry Wood's novel, "East Lynne," is being sold. The whole village is to go to the highest bidder and whoever buys in the estate will find himself possessor of an English parish complete. There is the village, manor farms, pasture lands and orchards.

On the map of England, East Lynne figures as an obscure but very ancient Worchestershire village under the name Abberton. It is Abberton, however, which contains the hall in which Lady Isabel had her youthful home, where she returned as the bride of Archibald Carlyle, whom she quitted in a fit of pique, only to return again, disguised as Madame Vine, to nurse her sick child and then to pass away after having confessed her folly and received her husband's forgiveness.

Few popular novels, perhaps, have contained more glaring literary faults than "East Lynne," but few have ever equaled it in popularity. Mrs. Henry Wood wrote "East Lynne" in 1861, when it first appeared in "Colburn's New Monthly." As soon as it was completed, it was issued in book form. It went through edition after edition in Great Britain, was pirated vigorously in America and translated into every known language, including Parsee and Hindustani. One of the librarians in Madrid, years after, told the author's son that the most popular book on the shelves was "East Lynne." For forty years it has, as a play, had a successful run on the stage. Numerous versions of it were produced between 1861 and 1890, but from none of them did the author profit a cent. "East Lynne" has made more than $1,000,00 for others, and only fame for its author.

The story is, from the modern point of view, defective in almost everything which makes a novel a work of art; but it cannot be said to lack incident or interest. Half of its popularity at the time of its publication was undoubtedly due to the reaction then setting in against inane and impossible goodness. It was a protest against the conventional hero, and on the stage it was one of the earliest of modern "problem" plays, before "problem" plays were recognized and labelled. It requires great good will to the author to believe that the heroine could return to her husband's house and remain there without the husband seeing though the transparent disguise of a pair of blue goggles. Modern criticism is apt to characterize Lady Isabel as a very silly woman and her husband as a very dense specimen of manhood.

While Mrs. Henry Wood was not skilful in character drawing, she is said to have had in mind a former owner of Abberton Hall when she drew Mr. Carlyle. This gentleman restored the old church and was generally admired in the neighborhood for his uniform kindness and generosity.

Abberton is the modern spelling of the Ebriton of the Domesday Book, and it goes back to Saxon times, when its owners were the abbots of Pershore. In the reign of Edward I, the name was changed to Albreton, and in 1524 all the manorial rights and patronage of the parish were granted to Thomas and Francis Sheldon by Henry VIII. Until late in the eighteenth century the Sheldons held the manor, but then the estate passed into the hands of F. Laslet, who represented the borough of Worcester in Parliament for some years.

The parish church of Abberton possesses many points of great historic interest. It is believed to have been a chapelry as early as the twelfth century and is dedicated to St. Edburga, the saintly daughter of the Saxon King, Edward the Elder. From early childhood Edburga manifested deep religious feelings, and these culminated in her assuming the veil of a nun in later years. It is told of her that when one day her kingly father offered her glittering jewels and gold in one hand and a book of the Gospels and a chalice in the other, she chose the latter. It was inevitable that such a pious woman should have miracles associated with her name, and many are reported to have been wrought in remote times around her shrine at Pershore.

The present church building is not the one in which Edburga worshipped. There have been two restorations, but some portions of the windows of the old church still remain, and there is a Norman font which is well preserved, although credibly reported to be 800 years old.

There are many magnificent tombs of the Sheldon family, both at Abberton Church and at Beoly. Those at Abberton date from 1659 and are under the western tower of the church. The register of the church is also full of curious antiquarian interest, for it goes back to 1661 and has been carefully kept by a succession of rectors.

The manor hall of Abberton is situated within easy distance of Birmingham, and the grounds march on the south side with the estate of the Duke of Orleans. It stands on an eminence surrounded by fine forest trees and commanding views of the Malvern Hills, the Lench Woods, the fertile and charming Vale of Evesham, and the Cotswold Hills. The hall is a commodious building, and the most interesting relic of its early days is a stone and brick Elizabethan chimney with the date 1619 carved on it.

Fievel Manor, which is also situated in the parish, was once the property of Guy de Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, who, however, lost it in one of the social and political upheavals of his time. At the dissolution of the monasteries all the lands fell into the hands of Henry VIII., who parted with them to the Sheldons, and it was in this way that that old family came into possession of the entire parish.

No Sanatoria "more judiciously . . and economically" managed.

CANADIAN OPINION

DR. R. W. BRUCE SMITH, Inspector of Public Charities, Province of Ontario. Official Report:

"I was specially pleased with the attention paid to conduct the institution carefully and economically. The patients I found cheerful, happy and evidently well looked after by those in charge. I found particular attention is paid to provide nourishing dietary, carefully prepared, and the quality of the food served was excellent. This hospital depends for its maintenance largely upon the voluntary contributions of the public."

FOREIGN OPINION

DR. H. L. RUSSELL, President of the Advisory Board of the Wisconsin State Sanatorium:

"We have just recently returned from our eastern trip, in which we had an opportunity of inspecting practically all the sanatoria in the east that are designed for the treatment of tuberculosis. I am very glad to be able to write you that the very favorable impressions that we received at Gravenhurst have continued with us after this round trip. We have found no place in our travels in which money seems to have been expended more judiciously and economically than in connection with the two institutions that are under the control of the National Sanitarium Association."

The Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives

Increases the Accommodation by Twenty-five Beds . . .

This means twenty-five extra beds to be furnished; twenty-five additional patients to be fed every day (three regular meals and three lunches is the bill of fare daily); twenty-five extra patients to be cared for by physicians and nurses, calling for increase of staff.

PATIENT UNDER EXAMINATION.

The entire cost of management is increased one-third.

But so pressing are the calls of those on the waiting list, and increasingly urgent the new applications received each day, that the trustees have decided upon the step indicated, confident that the Canadian people will see that these new beds are furnished and maintained.

$50.00 Furnishes a Bed Complete

Contributions may be sent to Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Kt., Chief Justice, Osgoode Hall, or W. J. Gage, Esq., 54 Front St. W., Toronto.

THE HOW AND WHY OF IT.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the parts of the fruit that do you good. Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes are pressed—the juices separated from the tough, woody fibre—and concentrated. Then—(and this is the secret of "Fruit-a-tives")—one more atom of bitter principle from the orange peels is forced into the concentrated fruit juices. By this process—one of the most remarkable achievements of the age—the juices are made stronger, and many times more active medicinally. Finest tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole evaporated and pressed into tablets. "Fruit-a-tives" are the greatest tonic, laxative and blood purifying medicine ever discovered.

Canadian Fire Engine Co.
Offered Competitive Tests By The Waterous Engine Company

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—We enclose for publication copies of exchange of correspondence between the Canadian Fire Engine Company, and ourselves, believing that it will provide interesting reading matter to the citizens of Peterborough, who no doubt will recall the indirect challenge made by the Canadian Fire Engine Company, through the Fire and Light Committee, to the Waterous Engine Works Company, to enter into a competitive test with the Fire Engine manufactured by their company.

If the knowledge will benefit the Canadian Fire Engine Company and if they do not already know it, let us say on behalf of the Waterous Engine Works Company that we refuse to enter into any competitive test, conducted under the direction of any Municipal Corporation, contemplating the purchase of a Fire Engine. Such tests usually end in trouble.

We however, in answer to the persistent calling for a test by this company, and believing, if properly conducted, it would determine the better engine, issued to them a direct challenge as set forth in our letter of Nov. 16th, addressed to Mr. G. G. Pritchard, President of the Company.

We would now refer you to the correspondence. To our letter of the 29th replying to Mr. Pritchard's of the 25th, to our very great surprise we received absolutely no response, he however, called at our office Dec. 7th, but made no arrangements for the acceptance of the challenge.

We conclude, Mr. Editor, that the non-acceptance of an absolutely fair challenge can only mean that the much boosted confidence of the Canadian Fire Engine Company, in their engine is purely mythical. We are,

Yours, very respectfully,
HUGH CAMERON & CO.

FIRE ENGINE TEST.

Waterous Company Makes a Proposition to Canadian Fire Engine Company.

From Montreal Gazette, Nov. 20th.

Montreal, November 16, 1905.

G. G. Pritchard, Esq., President Canadian Fire Engine Co., London, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—Although we have had no direct communication from your company, we have heard a great deal about your statements made to different corporations, expressing a desire to meet us in a competitive test at Halifax, Vancouver, Montreal and other places.

On our arrival here we learned you had a second size engine in No. 9 Station for the purpose of giving a public test.

As you seem very anxious to have a test with the Waterous engines, we have come to the conclusion that if the two engines were tested by McGill University, it would settle the question on their merits.

We therefore beg to make you the following proposition:

We hereby propose to you a competitive test of your a coond size Steam Fire Engine against our Waterous second size Steam Fire Engine, for the object and under the conditions hereinafter mentioned:

Objects.

Efficiency.
Design.
Workmanship.
Material.

Conditions.

Test to be made in the City of Montreal.

The two engines to be entirely in the hands of Professor Durley, of McGill University.

John J. Quinlan and his firemen to be at his disposal for the Waterous Engine.

Robert Watt and his firemen to be at his disposal for the Canadian Engine.

Each company to deposit five hundred dollars ($500) in the Bank of Montreal for the purpose of defraying all expenses, the balance of the one thousand dollars ($1,000) if any, to be returned to each company, share and share alike.

If within 10 days from this date you do not accept the above proposition we will consider that it is not your intention to make a competitive test of the engines.

By accepting above friendly proposition, and having same take place under the direction of Professor Durley, of McGill University, Montreal, we feel it would give universal satisfaction to the people of Canada. Believe us, gentlemen,

Yours respectfully,
HUGH CAMERON & CO.,
Waterous Selling Agents.

Montreal Office, 204 St. James street.
Toronto Office, 72 Queen street, west.

(Copy.)

London, Canada, Nov. 25, 1905.

Messrs. Hugh Cameron & Co.,
Waterous Selling Agents, Montreal.

Gentlemen, — Re your letter of the 16th, which you had published before I received the same.

I would say that any challenge which the Waterous Engine Works Co., of Brantford, wish to make, must come from the official head of that company, as I recognize you only as sales agents on commission.

If the president of the Waterous Engine Works Co., of Brantford, will communicate with me re competitive test I will be pleased to arrange details of same with him, as I consider each competitor should have something to say about terms of test.

Yours truly,
(Signed) G. G. PRITCHARD,
President.
The Canadian Fire Engine Co.

(Copy.)

Toronto, Nov. 29th, 11905.

G. G. Pritchard, Esq.,
Pres. Canadian Fire Engine Co.,
London, Ont.

Dear Sir, — Your registered letter, dated Saturday, 25th, but posted on Monday, 27th, received at our Montreal office Tuesday, and here this morning, Wednesday, 29th.

Your excuse, dated as it is, for not dealing with this matter at once, indicates to us that you are not so desirous of entering into this test, now that a fair and reasonable proposition is placed before you, one which you know cannot be otherwise than satisfactory.

You speak of your right to have something to say re terms of test. Let us say that the only provision of our proposal of the 16th at variance with the submitted conditions under which you have been clamouring for this test before municipal councils is that the engines be placed entirely in the hands of Prof. Durely of McGill University, Montreal, who will not tolerate any interference from the outside.

To make this test as thorough as possible, we now propose that each company put up a further $250, and endeavour to secure the services of the Professor of the School of Practical Science, Toronto, to act in conjunction with Prof. Durely. The result of such a test supervised by these gentlemen would settle conclusively the superior engine. Neither company will have anything to do with the conduction of the test other than to place their respective engineers and firemen at the disposal of the examiners.

You have called for tests in Halifax, Peterborough and Vancouver, and argued your engine superior because we refused to enter into such an expensive and unbusinesslike proposition as shipping engines all over the country.

If you have been sincere in your demand for a test, you now have a favourable opportunity to demonstrate your claims of superiority of your engine. Both engines are now at Montreal, and the official report of the test we have proposed will be submissive, not only to the beforementioned cities, but to every city in the Dominion of Canada.

If we do not receive an acceptance by Saturday, December 2, we will conclude that you never intended to enter into a test, lacking confidence in your engine, but simply talked competitive test because it appeared strong argument before municipal councils.

We are the authorized agents of the Waterous Engine Works Co., and your correspondence must be addressed to this office.

Yours very truly,
HUGH CAMERON & CO.

Against Change In Constitution County Council

A Correspondent Writes on the Subject—Sets Forth Reasons Why the Present System Should Not be Changed--Emphasizes Cumbersomeness and Expense of the Old System--Nothing Outside China More Absurd

CLAIM THAT COUNCILS ARE STILL TOO LARGE

A correspondent of the Globe submits the following considerations respecting the proposed reversion to the old system of constituting county councils:—

To the Editor of the Globe:—I am glad to observe that Conservatives as well as Liberals are taking commendable interest in the changes which it is rumored the Ontario Government intend to propose in regard to our County Councils, and more particularly to the return to the old system of composing these bodies of ex-officio Reeves representing the minor municipalities. This would be, it appears to me, taking the back track, and every hunter at least knows what that means.

Anything outside of China more wasteful and absurd than our old county Council system it would be difficult to find. To have some 55 Councillors, as the County of Simcoe used to have, meeting for several days three or four times a year to transact a small amount of business, most of it cut and tried by the County Clerk before their arrival, and which could have been quicker and more efficiently done by one-fifth their number, partook of a municipal farce, but it was no laughing matter paying the large expense entailed by so many budding orators.

A few years ago the Legislature wisely changed the law under which such an absurd state of things could exist, and I understand it is now gravely proposed to resurrect the old, defunct system, with this difference, however, that a ball will be attached to its leg (if it has any), to keep it from running into the old abuses! In other words, it is proposed to limit every municipality to a single Reeve, no deputies being allowed. But as of old every Reeve would be ex officio a member of the County Council, and this change alone would considerably increase the size and expense of these bodies as constituted under the present system.

Then, how long could the limit as to numbers be maintained? Large and wealthy municipalities would naturally insist on more representation than small and poor ones, and if the present Legislature is so reactionary as to hark back to the discarded principle that every municipality must have at least one Reeve in the County Council, the chances are that Deputy Reeves will sooner or later reappear, and all the old abuses flourish again before many moons are over.

I hope the Hon. Mr. Whitney, on mature consideration, will not take the back track in regard to this legislation. That would be a blunder, and some writer has described a blunder as worse than a crime. Further legislation on this subject should go forward, not backward. The principle of the existing law is sound. It has worked well so far as it goes. Our County Council business is done as well as formerly, and there has been a large reduction in the annual expenditure. Some claim the reduction for a series of years to be between $400,000 and $700,000 per annum! This fact alone should be fatal to any proposition to go back to the old system, and should go far to, if not completely, prove to our legislators that what is really wanted in the public interests is the extension, not the abolition, of the existing system.

The extent of our county business is limited, and most of it is really of a routine character. The present Councils are still too large for the small amount of work they have to do, and Councillors often seem at a loss how to fill up the time of their meetings. This sometimes leads to doubtful schemes being proposed, and the municipalities saddled with unnecessary expenses. What the best interests of Ontario really require is, in my humble judgment, not to go backward and restore the old extravagant and absurd system, but to go forward and extend the principle of the existing law by reducing the number of Councillors to seven or nine for each county.

With this reduction, the County Councils would still be quite large enough for all the real business they have to do, the annual expenditure would be still further reduced, and the work would be as efficiently done as at present, and much more so than it was by the parish parliaments of 30, 40 and 50 members under the old system.

Year's Report Was Presented

At the Entertainment of the Park Street Mission Band.

The report of the secretary of the Park Street Mission Band for the past year, presented at the annual meeting on Thursday night showed that the year had been a most successful one. The report follows:—

Once more we have come to the end of another year's work in the history of Park Street Band, and in looking back, we have great reason to thank God for his goodness to us.

Our monthly meetings, held on first Sunday in the month at four o'clock, have been both interesting and profitable, the members doing all in their power to make them so.

In January we had our re-organization of officers, the following being elected:—

President—Miss Mann.
1st Vice-President—Mr. C. Barrie.
2nd Vice-President—Mr. D. Lumas.
Treasurer—Miss M. Gillespie.
Organist—Miss G. Burton.
Assistant Organist—Miss E. Gillespie.
Secretary—Miss N Hudson.

Look Out Committee—Miss E. Eagleson, Mr. L. Bruce, Miss B. Gillespie, Mr. H. Reid, Miss S. Blackburn, Mr. F. Reid, Miss L. Burton.

In June the Peterborough Association held their annual convention at Indian River, and we were able to send a delegate, Mr. Roy Jackson, to represent our band.

During the year we have had only 8 meetings, the months of April, July August and September being omitted owing to the special evangelistic meetings in April and the absence of many of the members during the summer months.

We have had twelve new members added to our roll during the past year which makes a membership of 53, with an average attendance of 40.

This year we find we have not reached our last year's standard. Owing to removals we have lost a number of our members and our fees have not been paid so promptly, but we think before the New Year 1906, all back fees will be paid.

Amount of cash on hand, 1905	$11 41
Fees for year	3 31
Amount sent to Home Missions	5 50
Amount sent to Foreign Missions	5 50
Expenditures for year	16
Balance on Hand	9 06
	$30 23 $30 23

We feel very thankful for God's presence with us during the past year, and especially for our health, there being only one serious illness in the band, during the year, that of Mr. Fred. Reid, who has just recovered from an attack of typhoid fever. We are all pleased to see him amongst us once more.

Financially the report of the past 12 months has not been so favourable as last year. Still we know our Mission band is doing a good work, for it instils into the heart of each member a spirit and zeal for missionary work, which we hope will do much for the spreading of the Gospel.

And as the coming year we hopefully enter, we pray that each of us individually will be stirred with the power of of God to be more zealous in our work, and more earnest in prayer. And in closing we wish you one and all a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

N. HUDSON,
Secretary.

Dean Hole and the Oxford Snob.

Dean Hole, the distinguished English churchman, dearly loved a good joke. One day a somewhat snobbish Oxford friend of his, wishing to impress upon the dean the high social character of his familiar acquaintances, wrote him a letter beginning "My dear countess," and then scratching out "countess" substituted "Hole."

Whereupon the dean, not to be outdone, began his reply, "My dear queen," and then drew his pen through "queen" and substituted "Dick."

Goblets.

Goblets with stem and stand like those we use today were employed in Troy 900 B. C. Among the valuable objects found by Dr. Schliemann was a golden goblet. Vessels of this metal were commonly employed in the service of the temples.

Not a Matchmaker.

Cardinal Manning used to tell the following story of his friend, Bishop Bramstone, who seems to have been a wit as well as an eminent ecclesiastic:

One day a member of his flock approached him—whether in earnest or not does not appear — with the remark that he wanted a wife, and he added the usual modest conditions that she must be young, rich and pretty.

The bishop answered him upon the instant.

"You are mistaken," said he. "My name is Bramstone, not Brimstone. I do not make matches."

How Canada Was Saved.

In reviewing Capt. Mahan's book, "Sea power in its relations to the war of 1812," The London Post says: "We doubt whether his narrative brings out as fully as the facts justify that it was the patriotism and gallantry of the Canadian militia which saved Canada during that uphill game of the first twelve months."

Coming to Canada in 1909.

Prof. George Bryce of Winnipeg has received a letter from Prof. Macallum, of Toronto, who writes from Mosambique, Africa, on Sept. 17th. He and Prof. Coleman of Toronto were both at the meeting of the British Association this year in Cape Town and Johannesburg. They pressed the invitation of Winnipeg for 1907 very strongly on the General Committee, but the professor writes that the hands of the committee were securely tied by early given promises to British cities.

The final arrangement was therefore made: York, 1906; Leicester, 1907; Dublin, 1908; Winnipeg, 1909; Ceylon, 1910.

Prof. Macallum says: "Perhaps it is just as well, for all eyes will be turned to Canada in a couple of years, and compared, as it will be with any other British colonial possession as God's country, the success of the meeting may be enhanced by the postponement."

Belgium Shrimp Fishers.

Horses play an important part in shrimp fishing along the Belgian coast. A procession of weather beaten fishermen starts from the shore, each man mounted upon the back of a trained horse, dragging the triangular purse shaped net which scoops in the shrimp as it passes over the sands. These fishermen on horseback frequently make hauls of several hundredweight in a single trip.

Bank of Montreal Closes Another Year of Almost Unexampled Prosperity---The Report

The eighty-eighth annual general meeting of the Shareholders of the Bank of Montreal was held in the Board Room of the Institution at noon yesterday.

There were present: Hon. Sir George Drummond, K.C.M.G., Vice-President; Hon. Robert Mackay, Messrs. R. B. Angus, E. B. Greenshields, A. T. Paterson, R. G. Reid, Hon. J. K. Ward, Dr. W. Gardner, Messrs. G. F. C. Smith, F. S. Lyman, K.C.; Angus Hooper, George Durnford, Richard White, A. Piddington, Henry Dobell, John Turnbull, B. A. Boas, C. R. Black, Henry Morton, G. A. Greene, L. Sutherland, W. H. Evans, M. S. Foley, W. Stanway, M. O'Shaughnessey, W. D. Gillean, D. Morrice, A. G. Watson, G. H. Matthews, P. F. McCaffrey, J. Scott, W. B. Blackader, James Tasker, Percy R. Gault, and John Morrison.

On the motion of Mr. R. G. Reid, Sir George Drummond, Vice-President, was unanimously voted to the chair, in the absence of the President, the Right Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal.

On the motion of Mr. A. Piddington, seconded by Mr. Henry Dobell, it was voted: "That the following gentlemen be appointed to act as scrutineers: Messrs. F. S. Lyman, K.C., and G. F. C. Smith; and that Mr. James Aird be Secretary of the meeting."

The Director's Report.

The report of the Directors to the Shareholders at their eighty-eighth annual general meeting was then read by Mr. E. S. Clouston, General Manager, as follows:

The Directors have pleasure in presenting the Report showing the result of the Bank's Business for the year ended 31st October, 1905:

Balance of Profit and Loss Account, 31st October, 1904	$ 583,196 01
Profits for the year ended 31st October, 1905, after deducting charges of management, and making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts	1,638,659 40
	$2,221,855 41
Dividend 5 per cent., paid 1st June, 1905	$ 700,000 00
Dividend 5 per cent., payable 1st December, 1905	720,000 00
	$1,420,000 00
Balance of Profit and Loss carried forward	$ 801,855 41

Since the last annual meeting of the Shareholders, the Bank has acquired the assets and business of the People's Bank of Halifax, with twenty-six branches. The Bank has also established since the last annual meeting, Sub-Agencies at the following points, viz., Altona, Oakville and Logan Avenue (Winnipeg), in Manitoba; Enderby and Nicola in British Columbia, and Hochelaga (Montreal), and is about to establish Sub-Agencies at Fort Rouge (Winnipeg), and Ste. Anne de Bellevue.

The headquarters on James street are now completed and in occupation.

In response to the desire expressed by a number of our Shareholders, the Directors propose that the dividend should be paid quarterly, instead of half-yearly, viz., on the first day of March, June, September and December.

All the Offices of the Bank, including the Head Office, have been inspected during the past year.

Strathcona and Mount Royal,
President.

E. S. CLOUSTON,
General Manager.

Bank of Montreal,
Montreal, October 31st, 1905.

The General Manager.

The General Manager then spoke as follows:

I purpose confining my few remarks to the balance sheet submitted to you, and to one or two matters more closely connected with banking, leaving the general condition of business in the country to be dealt with by the Vice-President.

The principal features in the statement are the increase, since last year, of $2,000,000 in our circulation, an indication of the universal activity in business, and of $7,750,000 in deposits not bearing interest; but of this matter a considerable proportion was a temporary deposit made at the end of our fiscal year, and since withdrawn. Our deposits bearing interest show a satisfactory increase of $16,600,000. Our immediately available assets stand at $68,000,000, a greater amount than, as a rule, we consider necessary, but in view of the rather uncertain future of Continental finance, owing to the state of affairs in Russia and the somewhat gloom condition on this continent, it is well to be strong, and in any case we are in a good position to take advantage of any desirable business offering. Our loans and discounts have increased $7,000,000, accounted for partly by the increased demands of the commercial community, and partly by the absorption of the People's Bank of Halifax.

The low rate ruling for call money in England and the United States during our fiscal year affected our profits adversely, as we are obliged to carry a large portion of our reserves in those markets; but of late there has been a decided improvement, which may be maintained during the winter.

Owing to the magnificent crop and the general activity in business, an unusual strain was placed on the circulation, but at the highest point attained by all the banks, about $79,000,000, there was still a margin of $4,500,000; and with the addition of new banking capital and the increase of branches, it seems as if, for some time to come, the circulation provided will be sufficient for the needs of the country. The advantage of the Canadian system has been amply demonstrated during the late pressure for money. Notwithstanding the heavy demands to move the largest crop in our history, the interest rate to our people has remained normal. We have only to glance at the condition of affairs across the line to see what fluctuations in rates for money the public are subjected to under the system there in vogue.

In March last, the Bank of Yarmouth failed under circumstances reflecting much discredit upon those responsible for its condition, and for the first time since the incorporation of the Canadian Bankers' Association, that body had to exercise the power conferred upon it by Parliament in 1900, of assuming supervision of the affairs of a suspended bank.

The Curator chosen by the Canadian Bankers' Association was subsequently appointed by the court sole liquidator. The results have been highly satisfactory, particularly when viewed in the light of what has followed former failures of Canadian banks. The winding up of the defunct bank has been conducted with remarkable expedition and economy, and the rights and interests of the creditors so well protected that the liquidator has been able in nine months to pay all of their claims, with interest added thereto. That no loss to the depositors and other creditors of the bank of Yarmouth has resulted from this failure is, it must be admitted, largely due to the prompt and creditable recognition by its unfortunate shareholders of their liability for the utter insufficiency of assets to pay the debts of the bank in question.

An interesting event in financial circles was the offering here of a portion of the Japanese loan, the first time in the history of Canada of any foreign loan being issued locally, and, considering the short time at our disposal, the success was surprising.

In conclusion, I may say that the one word written large in the records of Canada this year is "Prosperity." Railways, manufacturing industries, merchants, farmers, all are prosperous. Immigration grows steadily; labour has full employment, and is well remunerated. Probably never before have we had a twelvemonth of such universal prosperity, and it is during a year like this that everyone should set his house in order. Collections should be pressed, and manufacturers should husband their resources, and strengthen themselves in every way; for they are to a great extent prosperous by the grace of their neighbour, and when adversity comes to other countries, the American bargain counter will be opened in Canada, and our manufacturers and their employees will surely suffer.

Vice President's Remarks.

The Vice-President, in moving the adoption of the Directors' report, said:

The position of the Bank is fully exhibited in the statements laid before you and the remarks of the General Manager. Following, however, the practice of many years standing, I venture to offer a few observations.

The remark has been made before, and is now repeated, that the profits of banking, and consequently the cost to the public of the use of money, are steadily increasing. This is due mainly, I think, to the accumulation of wealth in the country, the consequent increase of the number of banking companies and of their capital, and the resulting keenness of competition. Proof of this is to be found in the following figures:

1st. As to the accumulation of wealth. The deposits in all the chartered banks in the Dominion in 1870, were 49 millions of dollars, in round figures, omitting fractions of a million; in 1880 were 88 millions; in 1890, were 136 millions; in 1900, were 305 millions; in 1904, were 470 millions.

The Dominion Government Savings Bank held in the same year (1904), nearly 37 millions, making bank and Government deposits 532 millions.

2nd. As regards banking facilities. Five new banks have gone into operation since 1900, with an authorized capital of $9,000,000. Five have been absorbed in other banks, but their capital presumably remains under other control, and one bank, referred to by the General Manager, with a capital of $300,000, has failed. It may also be mentioned that charters have been obtained from Parliament during the last three years of eleven new banks, with a capital of $19,000,000.

As regards our own Bank, it has been the care of the Directors to advance with the times, and I give you a few figures to show the progress which it has made:

In 1863 the capital was $6,000,000; assets, $15,252,000.

In 1873 the capital was $11,296,831; assets $34,252,000.

In 1879 the capital was $11,999,000; assets, $36,221,000.

In 1887 the capital was $12,000,000; assets $42,000,000.

In 1890 the capital was $12,000,000; assets $46,166,000.

In 1905 the capital was $14,400,000; assets $158,470,000.

Our branches, which in 1863 numbered 29, are now 100.

General Trade of the Country.

A review in detail of the various trade and manufacturing industries may be summed up in the general report of almost unbroken prosperity. Probably never in Canada and the United States have crops of all kinds been better in quantity and quality.

In regard to one of our staple industries, the lumber trade, I am tempted to express the conviction that we are using up our resources in a most reckless fashion, certain to end disastrously, unless we take prompt steps to treat it as other crops, and replant on an adequate scale.

The increase of manufactories, thereby creating a home market for produce of every kind, is most marked. In this city and neighbourhood a great number of large factories are springing up, and whatever may be said of our tariff, it unquestionably has had the effect of inducing the manufacture in this country of goods previously imported, with all the advantages of increased employment and circulation of money in this country. A number of these manufactories are branches, or offshoots, of industrial organizations in the United States.

The value of the home market is not sufficiently appreciated if the statistics published by a recent writer be true, that "Western Canada produced two and a half times as much wheat, twenty-five times as much oats, and thirty-four times as much barley as Canada exported."

The failures in Canada are considerably smaller this year than last, being: 1904, $11,189,223; 1905, $9,511,472.

The feature of the year, however, is the splendid crop which has just been harvested in the Northwest Provinces and in Ontario. As regards the former, the most sanguine anticipations have been realized, and it seems beyond doubt that the following estimates of this season's crop in Manitoba and the Northwestern Provinces are conservative:

Wheat, 90 million bushels, worth on the spot, say, 65c; oats, 65 million bushels, worth on the spot, say, 25c; barley, 13 million bushels, worth on the spot, say, 30c; flax, 1-2 million bushels, worth on the spot, say, 80c; rye, 1-3 million bushels, worth on the spot, say, 35c. In all, 169 million bushels of grain.

Of course, a proportion of these crops will be consumed by the farmer, as no doubt will all the root crops—of which potatoes alone are estimated at 8,000,000 bushels—as well as hay, but of those I take no account.

At the prices set down, it is not difficult to reach an approximate sum of 75 millions of dollars or 15 million pounds sterling, to be distributed among a comparatively small population, and won from a soil which was considered barren, and surrendered to the wilderness, only a few years ago.

In addition to the foregoing, and not included in the above estimate, 70,000 cattle were disposed of during the year in the Northwest.

Incidentally, I may mention that I am informed by expert millers, that this year's wheat is so good in quality that 7 per cent. less of it is required to produce a given quantity of flour than an average.

It is asserted that the area so far brought under cultivation does not, from the most accurate information obtainable, much exceed 5 per cent., and certainly it is well under 10 per cent. of the area available, and waiting for occupants.

In this connection I may quote here a sentence from an able and well qualified Government officer, who has just completed a wide survey of the Territories. He says:

"The immense wealth so long stored in the virgin soil of the great western country will be gradually developed, and the fact that Canada is destined to rapidly become one of the greatest food producing nations in the world will soon become apparent to all in the volume of her exports."

The great extensions of the railway systems operating in this country, must not be passed over. The Canadian Pacific Company is spending vast sums in improvements and extensions. The Canadian Northern is pushing westward, while the Grand Trunk Pacific is preparing for an extension to the Pacific, and the Government of Canada has the necessary powers to duplicate the railway connection between Quebec and Winnipeg, and is now surveying the line.

With general political events we have nothing to do, except as regards their effect on our financial institutions. A note of thankfulness was heard when an end was put to the mighty war in the Farther East.

It was specially grateful to this community when a friendly understanding was reached between England and France, and we trust that the portentious cloud overhanging Russia may be dissipated by wise and liberal measures. Meanwhile, it remains an ominous factor, exciting the liveliest apprehensions among Russia's creditors, and the deepest interest in the whole civilized world.

I can only in conclusion, echo the General Manager's advice, that the abounding prosperity of our country should be prudently accepted and used.

I move: "That the report of the directors, now read, be adopted and printed for distribution among the shareholders."

The motion was accepted by Mr. A. T. Paterson, and after some appreciative remarks by Mr. John Morrison, it was unanimously adopted.

Amendments to By-Laws.

The Vice-President then remarked: I have now to ask you to consider amendments to the bylaws, which the directors deem advisable. The first is an amendment to bylaw No. 3, the alteration being to make the number of directors ten, instead of nine, as at present. Perhaps you are aware that up to the last session of Parliament the General Banking Act only permitted the election of nine directors to any bank. They were not to be fewer than a certain number, and not more than nine. That has now been changed, and practically the number of directors is unlimited, if the shareholders so desire. The proposal of the directors now going out, is that the number be made ten, instead of nine, and the reason will appear a little later in the proceedings. I would therefore move:

"That, whereas it is advisable to increase the present board of nine directors to ten; bylaw No. 3 is hereby amended by striking out the word 'nine,' as appearing in said bylaw, and inserting in its place the word 'ten.'

This was seconded by Mr. A. T. Paterson, and was unanimously agreed to.

The Vice-President—The next alteration is:

"That whereas it is advisable that power be given to the shareholders to elect an honorary president, bylaw No. 6 is hereby amended by adding to it the following words:

"The directors may also at their said first meeting, elect by ballot one of their number to be honorary president.'"

It is due to you to say that this has special reference to Lord Strathcona. He has occupied the post of president for eighteen years, and last year he expressed a desire to be relieved of it. The directors were unwilling to have his name severed from the bank which he had so long and usefully served. The creation of an honorary president was authorized in the amendment of the Banking Act, and under that authority this can now be done. I will, therefore, move that the resolution which I have just read be adopted.

This was seconded by Mr. A. T. Patterson, and was concurred in unanimously.

The Vice-President — It seems proper at this stage that the long and valued services of Lord Strathcona in connection with this bank, should be acknowledged by the shareholders, and I have the honour and pleasure of moving, seconded by Mr. E. B. Greenshields, that a cordial recognition in suitable terms, be sent to Lord Strathcona, expressing the appreciation in which the shareholders—and they include the directors—hold him and his services to the bank.

Mr. E. B. Greenshields — I have very much pleasure in seconding the resolution just proposed. We all feel that the bank has been honoured in the past by having Lord Strathcona as its president. When he first went to London, as Canadian Commissioner, he hoped to be frequently on this side of the Atlantic, and at our meetings; and it was with much regret that he found himself unable to be here as often as he had expected. Not only should his great services to the bank be noted, but we also wish to put on record as shareholders of the bank, and as citizens of Montreal, and the Dominion of Canada, our very high opinion of him as a man. We feel proud of having him as president of this bank, and it is with very great regret that we hear that the connection is to be to a certain extent severed. But we are all pleased that he is to remain with us as the Honorary President of the bank, and that his name will be associated with this institution. I know I express the feelings of every shareholder, when I say that we all have the gretest admiration for him in his public capacity as High Commissioner of Canada, and appreciate all that he has done for this country, but besides this, we would like to assure him that we have a very warm feeling of personal regard for himself.

Mr. John Morrison—I give my consent to the motion, for a more deserving gentleman it would be hard to find.

The motion was unanimously and cordially adopted.

Thanks are Tendered.

Mr. B. A. Boas then moved:

"That the thanks of the meeting be presented to the president, Vice-President and Directors, for their attention in the interests of the bank."

This was seconded by Mr. W. Stanway, and was carried unanimously.

Mr. E. B. Greenshields moved:

"That the thanks of this meeting be given to the General Manager, the Assistant General Manager, the Inspector, the Managers and other officers of the bank, for their services during the past year."

In making this motion, Mr. Greenshields remarked:

I wish to say that the opinion of the Directors is unanimous that in the General Manager, the Assistant General Manager, the Inspectors, the Managers, and the other officers of the bank, we have a thoroughly efficient and reliable staff to carry on the work. I had the pleasure last year of meeting a number of the managers, from Winnipeg to Victoria, and I also know many of those nearer Montreal. I am very much pleased always to see among them a fine "esprit de corps," that inspires the feeling that the Bank of Montreal is the institution to work for, and that ability and conscientious work will always be recognized and rewarded.

Hon. Robert Mackay seconded the motion, which was unanimously adopted.

Mr. C. R. Black suggested that it would be in the interests of the shareholders generally if the management would consider the mailing of cheques as other banks did, that that the dividend was to be quarterly, instead of the shareholders having to go to the bank.

The General Manager—I will take that into consideration, and see if it cannot be carried out.

I also beg to express my thanks on behalf of the staff for the very kind way in which the resolution of thanks to them has been passed.

The Vice-President—The suggestion of Mr. Black will be referred to the Board.

Mr. John Turnbull moved, seconded by Mr. George Durnford:

"That the ballot now open for the election of Directors, be kept open until two o'clock, unless 15 minutes elapse without a vote being cast, when it shall be closed, and until that time, and for that purpose only, this meeting be continued."

This was unanimously concurred in, and a very cordial vote of thanks was accorded the chairman, who acknowledged the same.

The Directors.

The ballot resulted in the election of the following directors:

R. B. ANGUS.
E. S. CLOUSTON,
HON. SIR GEORGE DRUMMOND, K.C.M.G.
EDWARD B. GREENSHIELDS.
SIR WILLIAM MACDONALD.
HON. ROBERT MACKAY,
ALEXANDER T. PATERSON,
ROBERT G. REID,
JAMES ROSS,
RIGHT HON. LORD STRATHCONA AND MOUNT ROYAL, G. C. M. G.

At a meeting of the new board on Tuesday, 5th of December, The Right Hon. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, G.C.M.G., was elected Honorary President, Hon. Sir George Drummond, K.C.M.G., President, and Mr. E. S. Clouston, Vice-President.

MR. HARRIMAN'S EVIDENCE.

Enlightens the New York Insurance Committee Concerning Mr. Ryan, Whose Motives He Doubted.

New York, Dec. 16.—Another chapter was added to the chronicles of a series of what Thomas F. Ryan called "strenuous" interviews between himself and E. H. Harriman. Ryan gave his version of the conversations to the Armstrong insurance investigating committee a few days ago, when he said that Harriman, at the time of the acquisition of the Hyde stock, demanded an equal share of the Hyde stock of the Equitable Life, and threatened to use his political influence against him if he did not surrender it. Yesterday Harriman recited to the committee his version of the affair

In substance, Harriman stated that, when Ryan bought the Hyde stock carrying control of the Equitable, he asked Harriman to co-operate with him in saving the property so that Harriman agreed to do so if it satisfied that Ryan was acting from pure and unselfish motives that Ryan did not satisfy him as to the purity of his motives, and that Harriman notified him that he would use his influence against him.

Testing Ryan's Motives.

The test which Harriman said he applied to determine Ryan's purity of motive was an offer to take one-half of the Hyde stock and to name two trustees of the society. Ryan refused to agree to that. He was not certain that he said anything about legislative action as a warning to Ryan, but declared that he had nothing to do with starting the present insurance investigation.

Charles Hughes, counsel for committee, informed Harriman that it has been charged that he got his political influence through his relations with former Governor B. B. Odell, Jr.

Mr. Harriman said: "Well, I should think Mr. Odell had political influence because of his relation with me."

Not Fighting Ryan.

Mr. Harriman declared to the committee that he did not confer with Mr. Odell about the advisability of the legislative action, and that he has not yet taken any action to thwart Ryan's plans.

Last spring, Harriman said, when the management of the Equitable Life was divided into two factions, the one headed by President W. Alexander and the other by James Hyde, an attempt was made by the Alexander faction to induce the Legislature to mutualize the society. Harriman said he asked members of the Legislature to watch out for any legislation favorable to the Alexander faction and to report to him if it appeared.

He was averse to disclosing the names of the men to whom he made this request, and only consented to do so, after repeated urging on the part of Senator W. W. Armstrong, chairman of the committee, and by Mr. Hughes and after he had been allowed to consult with his counsel. He then stated that it was Governor Higgins and Speaker Nixon. He added that no such legislation was introduced, and that he took no steps through Higgins and Nixon to prevent it.

Queer Policies.

In examining Actuary Moir of the Provident Society, who was the next witness, Mr. Hughes produced a letter from H. Clay Evans, formerly American Consul-General at London, England, in which Mr. Evans wrote to the committee that he had paid an annual premium of $202 for ten years on a straight life policy. At the end of ten years, he wrote, the Provident Society increased the rate 25 per cent. Hughes also read a complaint from an Illinois man, who similarly complained.

The witness said that the policies of this class issued by the Provident Society prior to 1899 were segregated as a class and compelled to pay higher rates of premiums because the rate of mortality on them was higher than was expected and because later policies gave assurance, subject to condition, that the rates on the latter ones, would not be increased. It was represented to the holders of these policies, witness said, that dividends on a surplus would be applied to reduction of premiums.

An Admission.

"So that is another instance," said Mr. Hughes, "of the fatuity of the attempt to give insurance rates so low that they cannot be maintained, and attempt to give by expectation of dividends on a surplus which will not come true in anything but extraordinary circumstances."

The witness said: "It is."

"Suppose you told such policyholders just what to expect, how much business do you think you would get?"

"I don't think we'd get very much," said the witness.

The actuary said he had not counted the number of different forms of policies issued by his society, but there are 200 or 300.

Edward M. Scott, president of the Provident Society, who testified that it is his practice at the end of the year when he wanted to make his report to the insurance department to induce the agents to return their advances as far as possible and then make new advances to them in the first part of the year.

Adjournment was taken until next Monday.

Senator Armstrong stated last night that just before finishing the investigation, about Dec. 30, the committee may go to Albany to examine the State Insurance Department, holding sittings at the capital.

Smoke Fills Hotel—Damage to Crawford Block $15,000.

Windsor, Dec. 16.—Fire started Thursday midnight in the second storey of the Crawford Block, over the store occupied by the Consumers' Paper Co. There was a loss of $15,000 to the Consumers' Paper Co., which is the heaviest loser, and to the Singer Sewing Machine Co. and the Thompson Electrical Co., the latter two stores being flooded with water.

When the fire started, smoke poured into the Crawford House from the storeroom of the paper company, which was formerly the dining-room of the hotel, and terrified guests of the hotel ran out in their night clothing into the freezing air.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Three Children Cremated in Fire at Scotstown, Que.

Scotstown, Que., Dec. 16.—A fire started here in a tenement house over an old tannery, burning three children to death belonging to Mr. Parent.

Mr. and Mrs. Parent and three children were saved and the others were apparently following when overcome with smoke and were lost. The cause of the fire is not yet known.

The ages of the children burned were 11, 8 and 5.

VENEZUELA CAVES.

Harmonious Relations With France Are Again Established.

New York, Dec. 16.—A Caracas despatch to The Herald, dated Thursday, says:

President Castro withdrew on Wednesday not only the objectionable phrase but his counter-protest, thus avoiding the necessity of answering the reply of France to the Venezuelan memorandum, which would have made a settlement impossible. This act is a confirmation of the announcement of the policy of President Castro in the line of a resumption of universal friendship.

GIRL'S FIANCEE ON STAND.

Howard D. Camp Wouldn't Answer Questions In Murder Trial.

St. John, N. B., Dec. 16.—Dr. T. A. Preston was yesterday morning committed for trial on the charge of murder, in the death of Edith Clarke after an operation for abortion.

Howard D. Camp, the girl's fiancee, who is a prisoner, was put on the stand in spite of the strenuous opposition of his counsel. He refused to answer any questions connecting him with the case.

St. John longshoremen struck last night and are still out.

Falling Plank Kills Italian.

Toronto, Dec. 16.—Within a quarter of an hour after being struck by a falling plank while working on the Trader's Bank building, Philip Riley an Italian, died in the Emergeny Hospital yesterday. Riley was a builders' laborer and was working on the second flat assisting the masons. A heavy timber sixteen feet long became dislodged from the floor above him and fell. He was struck immediately over the heart. He was 24 years old. He and his younger brother, also a laborer, have at different times sent large sums of money across to their parents in Italy.

Arrested For Burglary.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Dec. 16.—Waiving extradition, Edwin Banford, who was arrested here on a charge of burglary, was taken to Canada yesterday. Recently he made a visit to his old home at Oxford Mills, Ont., and while there, it is alleged he burglarized a store, taking furs valued at several hundred dollars, suitable for himself and his bride-elect.

Suspected of Poisoning Son-in-Law.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 16.—There were strange development yesterday in the Vancouver Jackson poisoning case. Jackson died of strychnine poisoning. The police record here shows that Mrs Jackson's family record is bad. Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Jackson's mother, who lived with them, was accused of attempting to poison her husband and two others. A son also has a penitentiary record. It is suspected that the mother-in-law is responsible for Jackson's death.

Reservists May Stay.

London, Dec. 16.—The Army Council has decided that until the Imperial garrison is entirely withdrawn from Canada permission may be granted reservists to reside there.

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the fragile, delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system, stops drains, and restores strength. During gestation it modifies morning sickness, gives elasticity to the overstrained parts concerned, makes the hour of baby's coming short and almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured. Insist upon the medicine dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

Mrs. James W. Blacher, of 629 Catherine st., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

For 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, you can get a free copy of that celebrated doctor book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, illustrated. Cloth-bound, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP IS THE MEDICINE YOU NEED.

It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrups, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cts.

Mrs. Henry Seabrook, Hepworth, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup in our family for the past three years and I consider it the best remedy known for the cure of colds. It has cured all my children and myself."

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-west Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior, Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration, Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district in which the land is situate, receive authority for some one to make entry for him

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

"THE PRINCE OF WALES IN PETERBOROUGH."

BY CYRIL A. MOORE.

Mr. Moore, who wrote the story published below, and which is the last of the series in this story competition, is a son of Mr. W. H. Moore, of this city. He is fourteen years of age and passed the Entrance a year ago from the Public Schools of this city, which he attended until he entered the Collegiate.

His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, the present King, visited Peterborough in September, 1860.

A sum of $2,400 was subscribed, and placed in the hands of a committee, who were appointed to use this money in decorating the town.

In a few days the town assumed an entirely different aspect, the most conspicuous of all being three beautiful arches erected by the committee. These were placed, one in Ashburnham, one on Hunter street, opposite St. John's church, and one on the corner of George and Hunter streets.

That in Ashburnham was of a Roman design. It was made up of evergreens, and covered over with many kinds and colours of flags. In the centre was the Prince of Wales' plume, under which was the word, "Welcome."

The arch opposite the church was Tudor in design. The words, "Welcome to Peterborough," were arranged on the east side. The remainder of the arch was made up of evergreens covered with flowers, and here and there a sheaf of wheat.

The third arch was decidedly the finest. It was in Gothic style. On the north side of it, that first approached by the Prince, were the words, "Welcome, thrice Welcome, to Peterborough." On the south side, over the main entrance, were most exquisitely formed, the words, "Victoria," "Albert;" over these were placed the Royal Shield, supported by beavers. The arch had a most imposing appearance when approached from the north. It was covered with flags, flowers and wreaths of many sizes and colours.

In the Court House green a pavilion was erected for the speakers. In front of it were seats for one thousand children, and the rising ground afforded ample standing room for 30,000 people, who were said to be present.

As soon as the Prince appeared on the platform, the one thousand children seated in front, joined in singing the National Anthem.

After the singing, addresses were read by William Laing, warden of the county, and by Augustus Sawers, mayor of the town, to which the Prince of Wales replied in the following words:

"Gentlemen, — I thank you sincerely for the addresses you have presented to me. In the Queen's name I acknowledge the expressions of your loyalty to her crown and person; and for myself, I am grateful to you for this welcome to your neighbourhood."

After the presentation of the addresses, the Governor-General, who had accompanied the Prince, intimated that as His Highness had little time to spare, it might be advisable to move rapidly through the town.

The Rifle Company marched directly to the present Grand Trunk station, to meet the Prince when he reached there.

In less than an hour after the time the Prince arrived in town, he entered the car for Port Hope, leaving many loyal hearts behind him.

In the evening there were fireworks, which were witnessed by a large crowd of people, who went home about ten o'clock, having intensely enjoyed the events of the day, which passed off without a single mishap to mar it.

How Local Option Will Help Business

A Dummer Resident Writes a Letter to The Examiner on This Question.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Hall's Glen, December 12, 1905.

Dear Sir,—Would you please kindly publish in your paper the following items on Local Option.

In the first place Local Option benefits business by saving the workman's wages, to be spent on goods which will be of great benefit to his family, as well as himself; besides bringing more trade to the merchants who handle the goods, and the manufacturers who make them, and the producers who sell the raw material. It may be said the hotelkeeper benefits those industries by his patronage; but twenty men with their families will contribute far more to that end than one hotelkeeper and his family; besides, twenty families will have increased comforts instead of one family. Local Option benefits hotelkeepers and their families and servants, because the death rate of bartenders and liquor-sellers and their servants is about double that of the average deathrate. Besides we are doing the liquor-sellers a great kindness by making it necessary for him to engage in some useful calling; and depending on his own earnings, instead of living on the earnings of others, which demoralize both him and his family. Can you find any liquor-sellers' families who inherit their property in the third generation; if there is any, their number is very small, indeed. Hotelkeeping is an honourable business, if conducted without selling liquor; but, in connection with a bar to sell liquor, the curse of God is on it.

Very many who favour the liquor traffic, admit the evil of bar-drinking and say the treating system causes about half of the drinking, and induces men to drink who otherwise would leave it alone. Young men would not be so apt to learn to drink; if, to do so they had to break the law by drinking in some dirty, dark, out-of-the-way place; or by sending away to some wholesale liquor-seller for a keg or case of liquor; as they are apt to now in a respectable liquor hotel in their own village or right at their very doors, where they can drink and still keep the law.

Some say taxes will be higher; but we have not got Local Option in Dummer Township yet; still my taxes have gone up $2.40 during the past year, on exactly the same property and buildings. In the great temperance crusade of Father Mathew in Ireland, the revenue on the sale of liquor as a result of it, fell some £30,000, but at the same time the revenue on other goods increased £60,000, leaving a clear gain of £30,000 owing to increased trade. Besides, poor rates would soon be lower if sobriety increased. Then the cost of administration of justice would be greatly lessened.

It is asserted that if the law passes it will not be enforced, and that just as much or more liquor will be drunk as before. If so why do brewers, distillers and wholesale liquorsellers, as well as retailers; so vigorously oppose the passing of the by-law, if it does not injuriously affect their trade. They know full well it would lessen their sales, therefore they fight against the by-law, tooth and nail.

It is urged, also, that accommodation will not be so good; but my experience has been that accommodation and meals are more satisfactory and just as cheap, where there is no license as where they have a licensed bar in cities and villages; besides it is quieter and more free from disturbance, when staying over night in temperance hotels.

It is contended that the by-law will take away man's liberty to drink what they like to; but is that any worse than to take away the liberty of every one else to sell liquors, if he wishes to, just to give that liberty to the holder of a license; or to take away the liberty of the man who drinks too much (by locking him up). And again, is it any worse to interfere with the rights of other men's employes than for liquor-sellers to prohibit their employees, such as bartenders, etc., from drinking all they want to; or breweries and distillers interfering with the right of their employees to use their own manufactures? Also, it is a poor recommend for their liquors, that many of them do not drink their own liquors themselves; or allow their employees to do so. I suppose it is because they well know the poisonous nature of the stuff they sell; which often contains deadly drugs, besides the alcohol. Sir Benjamin Richardson, one of the most celebrated medical doctors of modern times says that no poison kills so quickly as alcohol if enough is taken at once.

Local Option would greatly benefit the homes of the people; they would be better clothed, better fed, better educated, better trained, and make of all better citizens, who would be more interested in social and political reform.

As the Lord Mayor of Liverpool said recently in a public address, "To his mind there was no question, short of preaching the Gospel, which was so serious in this life, as that of inducing their fellowmen and women, and especially the young people to abstain from intoxicating liquors." Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, of England, characterizes the liquor traffic as the principal cause of crime.

All the churches, I suppose, look for a revival of religion, but it seems to be prevented from coming to us because of the churches' indifference about the liquor traffic. I believe the chief reason for the lack of progress in our church life and work, is that heretofore we have not done what is in our power to do, in removing this great evil of drink from our midst. Let every lover of his country, his church, his neighbour, and his home, array himself or herself on the side of righteousness and sobriety and of God; and against evil of every form as represented by the bar-room, at the ballot boxes on the first of January, by voting for the Local Option by-law.

Board of Health To Consider Ice

On Monday morning the Board of Health will meet at 9.30 in the City Clerk's office, when it is expected that the ice question will be definitely settled for this year. It appears that the reports on the quality of the water in the different places from which samples were taken have been received, and they show that it is much better than it was a short time ago, and the suggestion is made that in all probability, on the occasion when the former test was made, there was a temporary disturbance, and that the water was not generally as bad as it was at that particular time.

THE REAL CAUSE.

The Ancient Scalp-Fever Theory Exploded.

At one time dandruff was attributed to the result of a feverish condition of the scalp, which threw off the the dried cuticle in scales.

Professor Unna, Hamburg, Germany, noted authority on skin diseases, explodes this theory, and says that dandruff is a germ disease.

This germ is really responsible for the dandruff and for so many bald heads. It can be cured if it is gone about in the right way. The right way, of course, and the only way, is to kill the germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this, and permits the hair to grow luxuriantly, just as nature intended it should.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Prof. Milner Appreciated

The Omemee Mirror, reporting a recent recital in that village, says of the playing of Prof. Milner: The pipe organ playing of Prof. C. E. Milner was worthy of the reputation of the player, and what more need be said; the ease and precision with which he rendered the most difficult pieces, and the faultless harmonizing of the notes showed that he is a master of the technique of his instrument, and gave a hint of the grand things he could do with an instrument worthy of his genius.

How to Prevent Development Of Smallpox

The Health Act Makes Adequate Provision for Protecting the Public and Preventing Outbreak and Spread of This Dreadful Disease—Presence of the Disease in This County and Vicinity Calls for Exercise of Precautions.

LAW DEFINES DUTY OF BOARD OF HEALTH

With smallpox prevailing, or having prevailed in the northern part of the county, and as near as Lakefield, and in Toronto, the necessity of exercising the utmost precation is self-apparent. In these days of rapid travel, and intimate intercommunication, between even distant points, there is need to protect our citizens by using the powers of vaccination—a widely approved prophylactic—which the Health Act not only provides, but makes imperative upon local Boards of Health, and municipal authorities.

If the Board of Health would, as it should do, show its self interest upon the subject, they will steady the public mind, create confidence and discount in the beginning, rumours of outbreaks which are almost certain to arise, without any greater authority than gossip.

To show in what manner the law provides for protecting the public—and if properly enforced—making an outbreak of smallpox an impossibility it seems timely to refer to the action of Dr Hodgetts, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, who says:

In view of the prevalence of smallpox in certain districts during the past year, and the fact that cases have occurred in the province from time to time, attention is called to the law respecting vaccination and inoculation for small-pox, which is very imperfectly understood throughout the province.

Briefly, it requires that the parents shall present the child within three months after birth for vaccination to the officer appointed by the municipality, or to a registered medical practitioner, or to the hospital authorities.

It further provides that on the eighth day thereafter the child shall be again brought to the doctor so as to permit of the verification of the vaccination.

Section 9 of the Act requires the medical practitioner who performed the vaccination to give a certificate of the same to the parents if the vaccination was successful, and to send a duplicate to the clerk of the municipality.

Supply of Vaccine.

In regard to the appoint of vaccinators, trustees of hospitals are not only required to keep a supply of vaccine, but to be prepared to vaccinate the poor free of charge, and all others at a maximum fee of 50 cents.

So far as Dr. Hodgetts is aware, there is no hospital in the province that makes provision for complying with this clause.

The councils of cities, of towns, of townships and incorporated villages are required to contract with a medical practitioner for one year to vaccinate at the expense of the municipality, the poor; others at the maximum fee of 50 cents.

Section 5 of the Act requires local Boards of Health to make this provision if the council defaults.

Neglect on the part of parents to have children vaccinated, renders them liable to a fine not exceeding $5, which fine may be reimposed in case of continued neglect.

Duties of Trustees.

With reference to all schools: under section 16 it is lawful for the trustees of any Public, Separate or High School, to provide that no pupil shall attend without producing a certificate of successful vaccination. In the case of an outbreak of small-pox in the municipality, the Medical Health Officer may, when he deems it necessary, with the approval of the local Board of Health, require a certificate of vaccination from all students of High Schools, Collegiate Institutes and universities.

There are three classes of certificates that may be given by a medical practitioner: 1, of vaccination; 2, of unfitness for vaccination, which certificates postpones to a certain date the time when such shall be performed, and 3, insusceptibility to the vaccine virus.

In case of persons with small-pox, either residents or non-residents, the Public Health Act requires that the municipality shall make effective provision for the isolation and treatment of the party. This does not imply that the municipality shall bear the whole cost of the maintenance in the hospital; for the Act specifically provides that it shall be done at the cost of the person affected or those liable for his support. And only in the case of poverty is the municipality allowed to pay the expenses out of the general rates.

Mantels, Grates and Tile.

The Coughlin Monumental Works have added mantels, grates and tile to their business, and have already filled quite a number of orders. Parties requiring anything in this line for new or old residences are invited to call at our showrooms, 214 Hunter street, where several modern styles of mantels, etc., may be seen. The Insurance Case Created Much Interest

The Garrett-National Life Insurance Company Case Heard in Division Court Yesterday—Did Not Know He Was Insured in That Company—Judge Holds That There Was "Carelessness"—Mail Was Left Unopened in Trunk.

MUST PAY THE INSURANCE COMPANY

In the Division Court yesterday the case of Garrett vs. National Life Insurance Company was heard and considerable interest was taken in it. It will be remembered that this was a case in which Mr. W. Garrett gave a note, in his belief, to the Great West Life Company for an insurance premium. It developed, however, that it was in reality the National Life Company in which the policy was taken the agent to which the application was given, having changed his allegiance in the interval between that and a previous canvas, to the National Life. It was learned at the trial that the letters from the National Life Company notifying him that the note was due, had been thrown into a trunk, unopened, and the first time he knew that he was not insured in the Great West Life was when he went to that office to pay his premium. He discovered then that he had no policy in that Company.

The judge held that it was carelessness on his part to neglect to open the letters from the National Life, and ordered that, since, if the insured had died in the interval between the giving of the note and its maturity, the Company would have had to pay the insurance, the amount due for the insurance to date should be paid. Mr. Medd represented Mr. Garrett and Mr. Denniscoun was for the National Life Company.

Shareholders of York County Loan to Meet

Mayor Beer has decided to call a meeting of the shareholders in this city of the York County Loan and Savings Company for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Council Chamber, when the affairs in connection with the company will be discussed and a line of action decided upon.

Some of the shareholders in the city have written to the Mayor, asking that a meeting be called, and, in response to this request, he has decided to take the action indicated above.

There are in this city several hundred shareholders, and naturally they are somewhat exercised over the situation in which the York County Loan Company has placed them.

Shareholders in other towns have taken similar action, and the prospects are that the meeting will be very largely attended.

Merchants Strongly Endorse The Proposal To Improve The Fire Fighting Equipment

"Moved by Mr. H. LeBrun, seconded by Mr. D. Hall, that the report of the Special Committee appointed to confer with the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council be received, and adopted, and, as this fire protection bylaw is of such vital importance to merchants and the community in general, be it resolved that this Association use every active and legitimate effort between now and election day to have the measure carried by a large majority."

The above resolution was passed last night at the special meeting of the Retail Merchants Association, called to consider the report of the special committee composed of Messrs. R. Fair, President, and H. LeBrun, Vice-President, appointed to confer with teh Fire, Water and Light Committee in reference to the proposal to improve the fire protection of the city.

These gentlemen went into the matter in detail and gave a lucid explanation of the scheme as proposed by the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

The report was received and adopted unanimously, and a number of the merchants present spoke on the question, their opinion being that in the interests of the whole community, merchants as well as mechanics, the bylaw should be supported by the ratepayers. They pointed out that if a fire should occur which would wipe out any of the large stores, there would be a substantial loss of revenue to the city, since the merchants are heavy tax-payers.

The effect on the city would be equally disastrous if any of the factories should suffer a like fate, and it was strongly urged that the bylaw should receive the unanimous support of the ratepayers of the city.

Tentative Proposition Is Withdrawn

By Dominion Permanent Loan Company.

Owing to the imprudent attitude assumed by many of the shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company, the Dominion Permanent Loan Company has written the president of the York County Loan and Savings Company, desiring to withdraw from the tentative agreement made between them. Evidently the Dominion Permanent does not wish to have 70,000 shareholders to deal with. It is said that there is this number of shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company with an average holding of shares of $30. The following is the letter of the manager of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company:

Toronto, Dec. 14, 1905.

Joseph Phillips Esq.,
President, York County Loan and Savings Company,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I have been requested by the Board of Directors of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company to inform you that this company desires to withdraw from the tentative agreement made between the York County Loan and Savings Company and the Dominion Permanent Loan Company. While we believe that the ratification of some such agreement would be in the best interests of the York County shareholders, yet under the circumstances we believe it better to withdraw and leave them free to act as they deem best.

Yurs truly,
F. M. HOLLAND,
Manager.

Farmer Had a Narrow Escape

James Drain, an old resident and farmer of Percy Township, living a mile west of Dartford, had a narrow escape from being killed by a bull. He went out to put the bull in the stable for the night, when it suddenly turned on him, knocking him down and tramping on him. His daughter heard his cries for help and ran to his assistance. She set the dog on the bull and it chased after the dog. She then pulled her father through the fence. He had his left arm and four ribs broken, and his chest crushed, but he is likely to recover.

WHO ARE THESE GENTLEMEN?

To-day another group picture of prominent citizens in early days is published. To the older citizens the men pictured to-day will be well-known, although they are not all living in the city at the present time. One of the seven men has died since the picture was taken, but all the others, as far as is known, are living to-day, though they do not all reside here now. One of the men is at present in New York, where he occupies a high position in one of the financial institutions, a Canadian concern, it should be said. Another is engaged in an engineering profession, and si practising it in New Ontario. Two still live here, and are respected and influential citizens in the community. The other two, though not living here now were, at the time of their residence in this town, very well known, and should not be hard to identify. Now, get your thinking cap on.

Leg Broken by Falling Tree

Mr. George Moloney, of Douro Township, Had a Narrow Escape.

Mr. George Moloney, son of Mr. John Moloney of Douro township, sustained on Thursday a severe and painful accident. While chopping upon a farm upon concession one of the township a large tree accidentally descended upon his leg, breaking it near the ankle, and amputating three toes.

The unfortunate victim of the accident was removed to his home where the fracture was reduced by Dr. Douglass of Warsaw. He is now resting easily and doing as well as may be expected.

The result of the accident, severe as it is, may be regarded as fortunate when viewed in conjunction with the imminence of fatal results.

Valuable Team In Chemong Lake

On Thursday a team of horses, belonging to Mr. T. J. Jopling, of Bridgenorth, had a narrow escape from drowning. The team, driven by Mr. Sanford McManus, was being driven across Chemong Lake with a very heavy load, and when near the Ennismore shore the load and horses broke through the ice in crossing a weak spot. Mr. Fred. Jopling was with the driver, and although the water at this point was twenty feet deep, they succeeded in keeping the horses from going to the bottom. One of the men ran to the nearest house and secured help, and with the aid of ropes and straps the horses and sleigh were landed safely.

The team was a very valuable one, and had they gone to the bottom it would have been a serious loss to Mr. Jopling.

Minto Club To Hold "At Home"

The Minto Club will hold an "At Home" in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street on Friday, Dec. 22nd. Dancing will commence at 8.30 o'clock, and Webster's orchestra will be in attendance.

A New Departure In Peterboro' Journalism

To-day, for the first time in the history of journalism in Peterborough, The Examiner issues a coloured section, as part of its edition of 24 pages, which is also the largest regular edition of any Peterborough paper. This is not a special edition. It is the regular paper, published in an enlarged form to-day and a larger number issued, to accommodate the special advertising which offers itself at this Christmas time. In order that the advertisers might reap the benefit to be derived from publishing a larger paper with an increased circulation, the Christmas features are given to-day, a week early, to stimulate Christmas buying during the interval between this and Christmas.

The Examiner believes that the advertisers will appreciate its action in publishing this enlarged paper to-day, specially in their interests.

In addition to its regular news features, there are, as will be seen from the summary in another column, other special articles particularly appropriate to this season, and by reason of this fact it is a more valuable paper for the advertiser.

The colored section is an innovation in Peterborough, and it is likely that it will prove popular. On the fourth page of this section will be found Sam Loyd's puzzle pictures, one of the series which has created such widespread interest in the United States. The offer of a prize made there is extended to readers of this paper, who are asked to take advantage of it.

In view of the fact that this is the regular edition of the paper, The Examiner believes that it marks an advance which is gratifying, to find that in a regular edition 24 pages are required to accommodate the advertising which the patrons of the paper offer.

Summary Of News And Other Features

SECTION ONE.

In the Coloured Section of The Examiner to-day will be found many interesting features, including Comic Pages and a Puzzle Picture on Page Four.

SECTION TWO.

This is the main local news section of the paper. Some of the articles are, Local Shareholders in York County Loan to meet, Merchants to Support Fire Protection Proposal, the Smallpox Situation, Christmas Markets, Tax Sale of Lands, Young Ladies Gymnastic Demonstration, Isabella Valancy Crawford's Life by Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, Sporting News, a Number of Accidents, Injury in Collision, Lorimer Automatic 'Phones in France, Lecture by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, The Examiner's Series of Prominent Citizen's Pictures.

SECTION THREE.

This is devoted largely to the publication of the latest telegraphic news. The latest returns from the Saskatchewan elections and Mining Conference in Toronto being dealt with. The proposed change in the constitution of County Councils, and other articles, including the last story in the competition are to be found in this section.

SECTION FOUR.

This is essentially a Christmas section. On page one two interesting articles, "Yule Tide in Olden Times," by Laurence Hutton, is published, with a special article, "First Aids in Christmas Giving."

A series of the newest Christmas stories will be found on the other pages of this section, including "The Christmas Fakir," Christmas in the Val Di Rose," "Tommy Atkins' Christmas," "The Christmas Triumph," "A Dream Fulfilled," "On Christmas Eve," "Honeyboy and Honeybun," "Royal Folk Who Play Santa Claus," and others.

On every one of the twenty-four pages in to-day's edition something interesting will be found.

Lecture Upon "The Evolution Of the Boy"

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Gave an Interesting Discourse Last Night at St. Luke's School House—A Large Attendance Notwithstanding the Severity of the Weather—Lecture Embodied Both Pathetic and Humourous Features.

THE LECTURE WAS MUCH ENJOYED

The schoolhouse at St. Luke's was well filled last evening, notwithstanding the severity of the weather, by a large number from Peterborough and Ashburnham, to hear Rev. Mr. Langfeldt deliver his lecture upon "The Evolution of the Boy," or "The Cycle of a Life."

The frequent bursts of laughter indicated the truth and vividness of the reverend gentleman's description, although necessarily, the funny side would appear in the description where particular attention was given to the boy's attitude in his own home, with sisters and brothers, when his vanity moved him to wear boots several sizes too small, and when his variegated neckties were the amazement, not to say the admiration, of the young ladies.

But it must not be supposed that the lecture was without pathos. On the other hand, skillfully woven with a web of criticism and description was good advice, given by one who has been through the mill. Unlike Adam, who had no precedents to go by, having had no little boys to play with, and not having received punishment for doing wrong as a youth, which he had never had, the rector was able to describe, both by precedent and experience, the various emotions, not only of the parent, but of the child. Life is pretty much the same in all cases—the ebb and flow of the various virtues and minor vices of boy and girl kind go to make up one's existence, and the lecturer developed the boy side of a characteristic life in a most interesting and instructive manner.

The Misses English and Mulholland introduced the entertainment with delightful instrumental solos.

France to Adopt Lorimer System Of Telephones

The American Machine Telephone Company held their annual meeting in Brantford on Thursday afternoon. This is the company which controls the Lorimer invention, but which has no direct connection with the Canadian Telephone Company. Among the gentlemen in attendance were Messrs. W. G. Lorimer, Piqua, O., Dingman, of Stratford; Southam, of Hamilton, and Townsend, of New York.

The election of officers resulted in all the old officials being returned.

Among other things, it was stated that Mr. Nelli, who is in France, has practically completed arrangements with the French Government whereby the Lorimer automatic phone will be adopted for the national system. Mr. Lorimer returned from France but a short time ago.

Brock Street Rink Opening

On Monday Night It Will Open for Skating.

The Brock Street Rink will be opened for skating on Monday night, unless the weather man goes back on his promises. To-day there is a good bed of ice, and the first hockey practice of the season will take place to-night. The inquiries received at the office of the rink as to when the skating season will open indicate that the rink this season will be fully as popular as in any previous season, if not more so. The band will be in attendance on the opening night and frequently during the season.

With the improved accommodation for its patrons this rink should, and no doubt will, be one of the best patronised amusement resorts in the city.

Industries Are Coming This Way

The Secretary of the Board of Trade has recently communicated with the President of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association with a view of securing some new industry for Peterborough. It appears that the Association referred to is dissatisfied with the tariff, and about 126 of the manufacturers in the Association have decided to locate plants in Canada, for the purpose of supplying the Canadian trade.

Mr. Quartermain, the Secretary of the Board of Trade at once communicated with the President of the Association, setting forth the superior advantages offered by Peterborough to industrial concerns looking for locations, and there is a hope that at least some of the 126 odd dissatisfied manufacturers will come Peterborough's way.

THE CHRISTMAS TIDE.

The hoar frost which this morning swathed in its white twining every branch, limb and twig of every tree and shrub, making the entire landscape a picture of surpassing beauty, constituted in its perfect peacefulness a beautiful reminder of the near approach of Christmas day, which is only a week away. The air, the hearts of man, are full of the Christmas tide, the pulse of trade beats attuned to the spirit of the season, and the strivings and the rivalries, and necessarily embittered relations that the strenuous life creates, are for the moment laid by, and everybody welcomes and absorbs the spirit of the season of peace and good will. It is well that we have this annual surcease of strife and contention; it is well the marvellous Magnet of the Manger should draw every heart to a new drinking in of the spirit which the first Christmas day introduced to earth. Let us all bury our enmities and unite in honouring the Christmas season as it should be honoured with warm, grateful and well wishing hearts.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

In another place in this issue is published the report of the eighty-eighth annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Montreal, a report that will richly repay perusal for it furnishes a marvellous story of solidity, progress and prosperity, of a financial institution which has grown, flourished and stayed with Canada since the early years of the nineteenth century—a period covering three generations of man. The figures in the general statement read more like the budget figures of a prosperous government than that of a private corporation. The net profits for the year ending Oct. 31st, 1905, amounted to $1,600,000 odd, an annual profit exceeding the capital of many a flourishing bank. A dividend of $1,420,000, with a balance of over $800,000 carried to profit and loss, indicates the great magnitude of the Bank's operations and the care in management, which has accomplished such results. The Bank of Montreal deservedly enjoys a green old age, and is still growing. Last year about a dozen sub-agencies were opened. The comments of the Vice-President afford an idea of the great growth of the interests of the Bank of Montreal. In 1863 the capital was six millions and it continually strengthened decade by decade till at the last annual meeting it had advanced to the large sum of $14,400,000. With the prosperity of the bank the prosperity of the country has been parallel, and the former has been a mighty agency in contributing to this prosperity. The figures of the last annual statement warrants the Examiner in repeating what it has before said, that the Bank of Montreal is the most solid and substantial, as well as progressive and energetic financial institution on this continent, and one of the greatest banks in the world, occupying in the Western Hemisphere the same place occupied by the Bank of England in relation to European finances.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Winston Churchill, under-secretary for the Colonies, in the new British Liberal Government, acquires a sudden interest with Canadians, for from his official position he will have an intimate association with our affairs.

The Toronto Telegram says that the result in Saskatchewan means "the birth of a new national party in Canada." If the Haultain party doesn't last longer than the McLean party, there will be short life for even the Nesbitt party.

Hon. Mr. Rheaume, Ontario's Minister of Public Works, attended the Fish and Game Convention in Montreal, and reports that the main features of the Ontario Game Laws will be adopted by Quebec. This is practical testimony that the "Grits," put some good legislature upon the statute books.

THE PROBLEM OF THE COMMON SCHOOLS.

(Canada Presbyterian.)

The condition of our common schools in the province of Nova Scotia is assuming a really serious aspect, by reason of the growing scarcity of efficient teachers. With the exception of our high schools in the larger centres, a few men are to be found in the teaching profession; and a very large proportion of the female teachers throughout the province have had little or no experience in teaching, hold low grade licenses and possess the scantiest mental equipment. Many of our best teachers are leaving the province for Western Canada. This is not so bad as if they were leaving the country altogether, for our loss brings gain to another part of our Dominion. But this does not make our difficulty the less. Time was, not many years ago, when our university undergraduates went out through the country, during their vacation and took charge of schools. This was not perhaps the best system, but it had its advantages. It certainly secured a higher class of teaching in many of our country districts than they now enjoy. The lengthening of the college term, however, has cut off this class of teachers altogether.

There is no doubt that one cause, perhaps the main cause for the deterioration of the teaching profession is the miserably small salaries paid to our teachers. No work is more exacting than that of the teacher, and no profession calls for higher intellectual and moral qualifications. To no class of people in our land are higher interests committed, and none perhaps have such opportunities for moulding the future character of our nation; and yet in many of our school districts the salary offered is little more than sufficient to board and clothe the teacher. In some sections the trustees advertise for teachers, asking them to state salary, and then the school is given to the cheapest applicant, irrespective of qualification.

The matter came up for vigourous discussion at the Teachers' Educational convention, held in Truro last August, and it was generally felt that some remedy for the existing condition of things must be found, if our common schools are to be saved from hopeless inefficiency. The question is one with which the government, through its council of public instruction will have to deal with a firm hand ere long.

The School Board of the city of Halifax have already taken steps to improve the position of their teachers. A new scale of salaries has been arranged on the basis of the efficiency of teachers. The grade of license, college training, length of experience and character of work done are all taken into account in determining the salary. Examinations will be held to test efficiency; and teachers falling below a certain standard will be dismissed. This system will tend to secure the best class of teachers, and at the same time provide for them a salary proportionate to the value of their services.

TWO ELECTRICAL FORECASTS

(Montreal Herald.)

The fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has had for some time under construction in the Angus shops an electric motor car which is to be used on some of the company's lines in these eastern parts of the system is exceedingly interesting, in view not only of the extraordinary developments in connection with electricity that have been made in recent years, but of the prediction to which Mr. T. A. Edison, the famous inventor and electrician, has just given voice, as to what electrical power is to do for mankind within the next fifteen years.

In a recent interview Sir Thomas Shaughnessy stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway intends adopting electricity for some of its shorter branch lines, and casting his eye into the future he foresaw a day when electricity would take the engines from coast to coast. He pointed at the same time to the extraordinary advantages that Canada possesses in her unrivalled waterfalls, which could be used for the development of power all the way from the eastern to the western ocean.

Mr. Edison says that within the next fifteen years all the railways will be using nothing but electricity on their trunk lines, for the reason that not only will it give better results than steam as regards speed, but that it will prove far more economical. Before that day comes something has to be discovered and it is the man who will make the discovery that some of the greatest electrical workers and capitalists are looking for. It is the man who can extract the electric power from coal without burning it away under boilers —without transporting the mineral in bulk over hundreds of miles from the mines. Mr. Edison declares that he himself is not the person who will make this culminating discovery, will not be the man to tell the world too, what electricity really is, but he is confident that the man will be found somewhere in that industrial army now numbering several thousands, who are giving their days and often their nights to electrical research. The transmission of the current for hundreds of miles from the pit's mouth will be a simple matter, costing but a fraction of the haulage of coal. Electricity will then be so cheap that it will become the universal agent for productive work of all kinds from the preparation of food to the operation of air ships. If less practical men than Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. Edison had given utterance to these things people would have said they were nothing but dreams, and doubtless would have proceeded to ridicule them, but we have got beyond the stage of the doubter. Year by year, almost day by day, civilization is advancing in its control over nature's most hidden and mysterious power. Man, who first subdued the beasts to bear his burdens and harnessed the winds and waters to assist him in his conquest, man who wrought miracles with the aid of steam and finally snatched the great gift of electrical energy from nature's inexhaustible storehouse is we are told, on the eve of another triumph, the most wonderful and far-reaching of them all.

"Mechanic" Wants Better Protection

A Thoughtful Letter on Question of Fire Protection.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I am a working man, and as such I am interested in the proposal to provide some better fire protection for our city. I have been watching my evening paper to see what steps are being taken to set before the people the necessity for supporting this bylaw to raise the money to make these improvements. I must confess that until I had inquired into the question, I was not very favourably impressed with the proposal, but, Mr. Editor, I am a convert. I was talking the other day to a gentleman who knew more about this matter than I did, and I found, in discussing it with him, that I, with many others had taken a wrong view of the question, and I am now firmly convinced that it will be in the best interests of all parts of the city that the bylaw be passed.

One of the arguments which seems to me should be presented to the mechanics of the city is the fact that if one of the large industries was destroyed by fire, because of the lack of fire protection, the loss to the men employed in that industry would be heavy, compared to the small sum which would be required from each of them to provide the improvements which my inquiry has convinced me are necessary to the protection of the city.

I would like to see the bylaw carried, because I believe that it would place the mechanics in a more secure position. At the present time, if a fire breaks out in one of the big factories, what means have we at our disposal to prevent the whole factory from being destroyed? It seems to me that we have practically none, and I for one, would like to see the ratepayers appreciate the necessity of increased protection and support the by law.

Yours truly,
"MECHANIC."

Faith

You cannot be expected to have faith in Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, as a cure for Colds, Coughs and all diseases of the air passages, if you have not tried it. We have faith in it, and we guarantee it. If it doesn't cure you it costs you nothing. If it does it costs you 25c. That's fair. Try it to-day.

Shiloh has cured many thousands of the most obstinate cases, and we do not hesitate to say that it will cure any Cold, Cough, Throat or Lung trouble. If we did not believe this we would not guarantee it. Shiloh has had an unbroken record of success for thirty years. It has stood every possible test without failure. Further is found in the many testimonials of those who have tried Shiloh and been cured. Mrs. Archie Taylor, Asaph, Pa., writes:—

"I bought a bottle of Shiloh's Consumption Cure and found it very beneficial. I have two children, and they had a terrible cough. I gave them everything I could think of, but they got no better, until one evening my husband brought a bottle of Shiloh. We gave it to the children when they went to bed, and they slept all night. It cured them completely. I shall always keep it in the house." 6ag

Happy at Last

Her Husband no longer gets Intoxicated—Samaria Tasteless Remedy Cured Him.

This lady says: "For the first time since I have been married I can be happy and contented—my husband is cured of his bad habit of drinking. Several months ago you sent me a free sample of your remedy at my request, and without my husband's knowledge I gave it to him in his tea and food. I then got a full treatment and gave it regularly. It is wonderful, and I cannot sufficiently thank you for the blessed change it has brought to my home."

Guild Hockey League to Play For a Trophy

Messrs. C. G. Graham and F. A. Clarke to Donate Cup to League—Annual Meeting Was Held Last Night—A Most Successful Season Predicted—Seven Teams This Year are Practically Assured—A Lively Interest is Being Taken.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THIS SEASON

Things are looking pretty bright for the Guild Hockey League this season. The annual meeting was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, when the officers for the year were elected, and plans for the season discussed.

The prospects are that the teams in the guild this year will be George street, Charlotte street, St. John's, St. Luke's; All Saints', St. Andrew's and St. Paul's. The games this season will doubtless be much faster than they were last year, each of the teams having strengthened considerably.

The meeting last night was har-

MR. C. G. GRAHAM,
Re-elected President Guild Hockey League.

monious, and the utmost enthusiasm was manifested in the league. One of the factors which will result in universal interest is the fact that a trophy will be presented to the league by Messrs. F. A. Clarke and C. G. Graham for competition among the different teams in the league. The offer to donate this cup was submitted last night by the president of the league, Mr. C. G. Graham, on behalf of Mr. Clarke and himself, and it was accepted with thanks, a resolution expressing the appreciation of the league being passed by those present.

Those at the meeting last night were Messrs. C. G. Graham, St. John's, E. M. Best, George street, M. Rosenburg, St. Paul's, C. Stewart, Knox, E. R. Shurley and E. Dormer, St. Andrew's, Ira Moore, Charlotte street. All Saints' and St. Luke's were not represented, but it was stated that they would both enter teams in the league.

The election of officers was the first business transacted. It resulted as follows:

Hon. President, F. A. Clarke.
President, C. G. Graham.
Secretary-Treasurer, Ira Moore.
Executive Committee—Officers and one representative from each guild.

The principal business was the discussion of the terms with the rink company for games at the Brock street rink. A representative of the company was present at the meeting, and submitted a proposition to the league, which was thoroughly considered. Nothing definite was decided, however, and it was arranged that each representative should call a meeting of his guild and submit the proposal to them before a definite decision should be arrived at.

A meeting will be called later to receive the reports and to make an agreement in reference to the games. It was practically decided, however, that they should be played on the Brock street rink this season. The prospects for a successful season's operations are exceedingly bright.

Court Peterboros' Annual Meeting

The Canadian Foresters Elected Officers Last Night.

Last night the annual meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, C. O. F., was held, when the election of officers for the year took place. There was a good attendance of members, and the election passed off harmoniously.

The new officers were as follows:

MUSIC AND DRAMA

On December 28th, the "Serio-Comic Girl," a musical comedy, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House. This is one of the best shows of its class on the road, and will doubtless be greeted with a good house.

Kyle's Vaudeville is at the Grand on Friday, December 22nd, at popular price.

Crocker's Educated Horses, which appear Christmas Day, matinee and night, and two nights following, were billed this morning.

Street Railway Rink Opening

The street railway rink at Jackson Park was formally opened for the season last night, and a very large crowd spent the evening there. The conditions were such as to be in good condition, the atmosphere productive of pleasure, the ice was cold and exhilarating, and to crown all there was glorious moonlight. The rink, with its many coloured lights and throng of skaters, presented a striking appearance. The 57th band was present, and enlivened the proceedings with excellent music.

The accommodation, both in ice, rink area and dressing rooms, is very good, and the new rink promises to receive a large share of patronage this season. The car service last night was an excellent one and very liberally used.

Kindergarten Entertainment

Closing Exercises Will be Held on Wednesday.

Next Wednesday afternoon the three kindergarten departments in the city schools will hold their closing exercises, and the usual programme incidental to this event will be given. In the East Ward school the pupils under Miss Williams will render an interesting programme, which will include solos, choruses, trade songs, instrumental sketches, and will close with a cantata. Santa Claus will make his appearance and will dispense gifts from the Christmas tree. In the South Ward school Miss Davidson's pupils will entertain their friends with their usual Christmas programme, and, from experience gained in past years, there is little doubt that a thoroughly enjoyable afternoon is in prospect for those who attend.

In the Central school the kindergarten pupils in charge of Miss Warner, will hold their closing exercises, which will take the form of an entertainment, in which the clever young pupils will participate. The prospects are that these exercises in the various kindergarten departments will be largely attended by the parents of those taking part in the programmes.

57th Regt. Band at the Street Railway Rink, Jackson Park, to-night. Good ice. Brilliant illumination.

Sermons On "Heart Throbs"

At the Park street Baptist church to-morrow the Rev. A. H. Bruce will commence a series of sermons in the popular evening services for the people on "Heart Throbs." Those will be interspersed with an occasional platform meeting and song service which proved so helpful and attractive in November. No effort will be spared by choir, pastor or deacons to make the evening services a comfort and help to strangers.—Com.

The First Hockey Practice To-night

The first hockey practice of the season will be held to-night, when, at 8 o'clock, the seniors will have a workout at the Brock Street Rink. The lovers of the game will welcome this announcement, indicating, as it does, that it will only be a short time before the hockey season will be on in earnest.

HOCKEY

The Belleville juniors will be strong this year, notwithstanding that some good players have been compelled to drop out owing to the age limit. The team will be selected from the following players: Phillips, Pepper, Conley, Weller, Allen, Alfont, Campbell, Lobsinger, Smith, and Burke. Practice will be commenced on Monday night, and will be continued on alternate nights.—Globe.

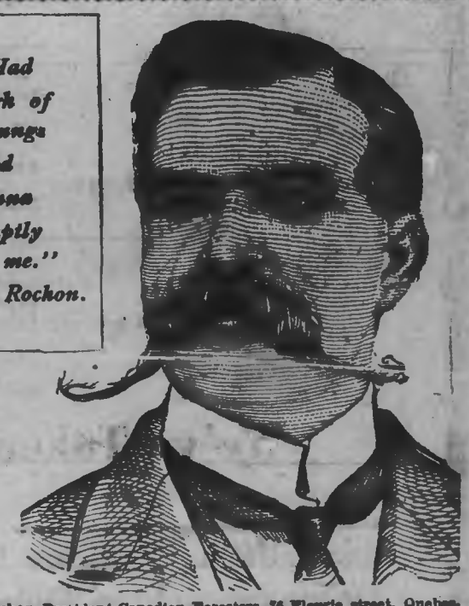
SEVERE CANADIAN WINTERS DEPRIVED OF THEIR DANGER.

Colds and Their After-Effects Conquered By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

"I Had Catarrh of the Lungs and Peruna Promptly Cured me."
—Alfred Rochon.



Hon. Alfred Rochon, President Canadian Foresters, 76 Fleurie street, Quebec, Canada, writes:

"I am pleased to add my testimonial to the many I see to the efficacy of Peruna. I suffered for some time with chronic catarrh of the lungs and really thought that I was not to get any relief, as I had used so many remedies and my condition remained about the same.

"Finally I decided on Peruna and that was a lucky day for me, for it proved to be the remedy which cured me. My lungs are perfectly sound now and I have not had the slightest trouble with them since, and at the slightest indication of a cold now I take a few doses and it will always ward off any bad effects."
—Alfred Rochon.

Catarrh of the lungs is, ordinarily, known as consumption. In these cases the catarrh has usually found its way into the lungs by the gradual extension of the disease from the throat through the bronchial tubes. Consumption is the natural termination of all cases of neglected chronic catarrh. Every one who is afflicted with chronic catarrh is liable to be attacked with consumption at any time. In the first stages of the disease Peruna is a sure cure.

NEGLECTED COLDS PROVE DISASTROUS.

A slight cough, which, without a vestige of doubt, would soon disappear with the use of Peruna, becomes chronic bronchitis, which requires a persistent use of Peruna for some time. There are a great many cases of consumption every year due directly to a cold.

A COUGH IS NATURE'S WARNING.

Peruna is for sale by all first class drug stores at $1 per bottle.

Send to The Peruna Medicine Company, Columbus, O., for Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled, "Chronic Catarrh."

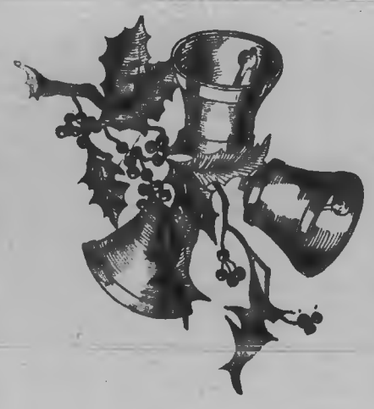
A Forethought of Christmas Cheer!



The largest and most complete stock of seasonable Goods and Christmas Novelties, have centered here from all distant points of the world. Few people realize that the richest and rarest novelties, unequaled in dainty tints, colourings and shades, are brought from England, Ireland, France, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium and Japan, to figure in this elaborate display of Xmas Holiday Gifts. The choicest goods are bound to be where the power of collection is greatest, and this store, with the combination of the strongest syndicate buying powers, is able to import on a vastly larger scale than any other store. No stores in this district compare with this in size and importance; few have such variations in grade of quality and shades as thoroughly anticipate every possible need of the home, street and evening wear, together with a BOWER OF BEAUTY IN NOVELTY GOODS, their brilliancy and usefulness as Xmas gifts, excelling all previous seasons. The whole science of storekeeping is to provide something enough different to be distinctive, that is something you can be sure of here.

We've Taken the Best Way we Know to Interest You in Christmas Buying MADE OUR PRICES LOW.

"Yes," remarks Mr. Edward Rousseau, of Bruce Mines, Ont., "I can prove that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cure when other medicine fails.

"You remember I was a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia for ten years or more. Well, I doctored and did everything I could think of for it, but I couldn't get relief till I began to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. Two boxes of them made me feel like a new man. Words cannot express the good they have done me. You don't wonder I am always ready to recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, do you?"

—"Bartimeus, a Man Jesus Met," will be the subject at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at 4 o'clock. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe will be the speaker. Mr. W. McIlroy will sing. The male choir will lead the song services.

Y.W.C.A. To-morrow.

—At the Y.W.C.A. gospel meeting to-morrow at 4.15, "Christmas Messages" will be the topic. It will be taken by different members of the Association. Miss Jobbitt will be the soloist.

Picture Framing.

—And after all, that picture, framed nicely, will just be the thing to give for Xmas. Have it framed at "The Framery," two doors west of P. O.

Mark Street Services.

—Owing to the deep interest taken in the Mark street church special services and new seekers each night, the meetings will be continued each week. To-morrow evening service will be evangelistic throughout.

Robert Tedford's Funeral.

—The funeral of the late Robt. Tedford, of Smith, took place this afternoon at 1 o'clock, from the family residence to the Lakefield cemetery. Rev. A. H. Brace conducted the service.

White and Gillespie's Raisins.

If you want your Christmas cake and plum pudding to be even better than your mother's make, be sure and buy the kind of raisins, currants and other specetems that White & Gillespie sell. They're not "doctored."

High Life Banquet.

—The High Life Club will hold their first annual banquet on Tuesday night at the National Hotel. A number of invitations have been issued, and the prospects are that the event will be one of more than ordinary interest to those who attend.

Executor of Estate.

Mrs. Harriet N. Dunning, of Burlington, Ont., who died on November 10th last, left a will appointing The Trusts and Guarantee Company, Limited, of Toronto, as executor of her estate. The will disposes of life insurance and other property.

St. Luke's Church.

—The Rector will preach to-morrow at both services. The subject for the morning service is, "The Invitation Engaged." At the evening service the rector will give an address on "the Second Coming of Christ, in the Light of Prophecy; the World When the Church is Gone; Coming Troubles."

Much Warmer To-day.

—Last night was again quite sharp, and the temperature went down to six below zero, but towards morning the weather moderated and the thermometer stood at six above. The effect of the sudden rise in temperature is seen in the beautiful display of hoar frost on every twig, etc., today.

To-Day's Market Took On Christmas Aspect

Poultry and Other Farm Produce, to Help the Careful Housewife Out for Christmas Cheer, Offered in Large Quantities at the Market To-day—Prices of the Principal Commodities.

The market this morning assumed a genuine Yule-tide aspect. All varieties of produce for the Christmas table were well represented in the offering, and were of a uniformly high quality.

The inside market was packed to the full limit of the space with purchasers and vendors. Commencing at an early hour the influx of farmers grew gradually more rapid till space, both inside and outside the market building was at a premium.

The inside market was packed with an almost solid mass of pushing, struggling humanity, and the scene, so far as strenuosity goes, would almost have an inter-collegiate football scrimmage "faded." Farmers wives and daughters with baskets, heavy laden with poultry, butter, eggs, and other similar commodities were kept extremely busy attending to the requests of customers. Chickens, geese and turkeys were piled in large heaps upon the tables.

The prices generally were good, and sales extremely brisk. Geese were most prominent in the poultry offerings and sold at $1 each. Turkeys disappeared rapidly at prices ranging from $1.25 to $1.50. Chickens were also much in evidence, selling rapidly at 55 and 60 cents per pair. Eggs were somewhat scarce and the prices asked were from 25 to 30 cents per doz. Butter was also varied in price. The supply was fairly large and sold at 22 to 25 cents per pound.

On the outer market sales appeared equally brisk. Beef was of course most prominent among the commodities, and it is estimated that 75 head of cattle were offered. This is about the same amount as last year. The prices asked in the majority of cases was 4 and 5 cents for fore and hind quarters respectively, though 4 1-2 and 5 1-2 cents were frequently asked. The supply of pork was somewhat smaller, the prices being 9 and 10 cents. Apples were quite plentiful, prices ranging according to variety. Choice Northern Spies were offered at $1.25 per bag, and Bellflowers at $1. Potatoes were $1 per bag. Considerable hay had been brought in. Prices were from $7 to $9. Wood was more plentiful than usual. Hardwood sold at $5 to $5.25 per cord, and soft at $3.75 to $4

The poultry purchasing prices bulletined by by H. P Kennedy to-day, were as follows:

Turkeys, 12 1-2 cents per lb.
Geese, 8 cents per lb.
Chickens, 8 cents per lb.

Every conceivable variety of commodity was included in the offering on the market to-day. The limit appeared, however, to have been almost reached when a man appeared with a collie dog, upon which a special Christmas sale price of $5 was placed.

Demonstration By Young Ladies Of Gym. Class

Charming Event Last Night at Y. W. C. A.—Miss Adams' Class in Physical Instruction Gave Their First Public Demonstration — All Available Space Taken by Visitors—Unique Event Was Much Enjoyed—Rapid Progress Made.

MUSICAL NUMBERS WERE INTERSPERSED

As unique as it was charming was the demonstration given by the gymnasium class of the Y.W.C.A. last night. It was the first affair of the kind given by the young ladies since the organization of the class, and the proficiency exhibited by the members was little short of marvellous, in view of their comparatively short period of training.

The demonstration was given in the gymnasium of the building along one end of which was an improvised spectators' gallery, all available seating space in which was fully occupied.

Because of the limited space available for this purpose, the curtailing of the number of tickets issued was rendered obligatory. That the exhibition surpassed by far in general excellence the anticipation of the audience was manifest from the unstinted expressions of admiration and pleasure heard on all sides. The programme of calisthenics, drills, musical promenades and games was charmingly interspersed with musical selections.

The programme opened with a promenade drill which was given with military precision of movement, combined with grace of action, the ensemble effect being most fascinating. Thirty-five young ladies of the class took part, and their appearance as they filed in, costumed in becoming gymnasium suits, was chic and dainty. The movements were of an intricate nature, and the fair participants acquitted themselves with utmost credit. Other features of the exhibition were exercises in breathing and calisthenics intended to develop various sets of muscles.

But it was upon the rack that some of the most wonder-inspiring feats of the evening were performed. Lest the mention of the word "rack" may cause the reader to shudder, and instinctively conjure up visions of the thumbscrew and the tortures of the Middle Ages, it may be necessary to explain that the apparatus alluded to is of a character differing widely from the aforementioned instruments of torture. It is, on the contrary, a most innocent looking device, but its arrangement permits of a vast variety of movements and exercises of a highly interesting nature.

At the conclusion of the exhibition of exercises and drills, came a number of games, including a species of "conventionalized" football, into the strenuosities of which the young ladies entered with nerve and spirit, and the result was most interesting as well as exciting.

The evening's enjoyment was very greatly enhanced by the musical portion of the programme which included two vocal selections by Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot. Her first number, "Bid Me to Love," by D'Auvergne Barnard, was a charming interpretation of the selection, given with exquisite effect of both expression and voice. In "Sing Me to Sleep," with violin obligato by Mr. Gilbert Markle, the blending was perfect, and in the rendering of its melodious cadences, left nothing to be desired. Mr. Gilbert Markle also contributed two violin solos, with brilliancy of technique and beautiful tone quality. The accompaniments of the evening and the music which formed such an essential feature of the drills and exercises, were rendered with sympathetic taste by Miss Stevens and Mrs. Wallace.

The progress made by the young ladies of the class was the subject of general comment among the spectators, and to Miss Adams, the physical directress of the Y.W.C.A., who took charge of the work only about two months ago, is due the full meed of praise. Previous to entering upon her duties here Miss Adams resided in Toronto. Combined with a thorough efficiency and a comprehensive knowledge of the requirements of her pupils, she has carried into the work untiring energy and enthusiasm of the infectious order, and the net result, as presented last night, may be said to be most gratifying. The classes meet once weekly, and have been attended by an increasingly large number of pupils. The classes are arranged to best suit the convenience of those who attend. The classes this afternoon gave a public demonstration of their work.

The beneficial influence of the physical instruction imparted can scarcely be over-estimated. A glance at the bright and happy countenances, irradiating with the ruddy glow of health, of the young ladies who are now under instruction would be sufficient to establish this fact beyond all peradventure.

Isabella Valancy Crawford.

BY MAUD MILLER WILSON.

Below is printed an article — somewhat condensed on account of demand on space — contributed to the Globe, last April, containing many interesting details of the life of Isabella Valancy Crawford, gathered by Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, and admirably presented. That Peterborough's poet is worthy of special attention is becoming daily more evident. The Globe to-day in a leading article says —"That her place in Canadian literature) is a high one is undoubted, and there is a growing conviction that she is entitled to the highest place of all."

In Dublin, on the 25th of December, of the year 1850, there was born to Sydney Scott and Stephen Dennis Crawford, M.D., a baby girl named for a maternal relative, Isabella Valancy.

Some eight years after this event Dr. Crawford decided to remove his numerous family to a new land, and there endeavour to repair his fortunes, and so it happened that this cultured couple came to Canada, establishing themselves in the village of Paisley, upon the Saugeen River.

The change from an old-world city to a new settlement in Upper Canada was as complete as it was in many respects uncongenial, though, perhaps, by no other circumstances was the town doctor so daunted as by finding that in exchange for medical attendance he was expected to take produce instead of money. With Irish adaptability, however, the family made the best of their altered environments, becoming happy in a short time in their new home, and elderly Paisley bodies dessert even yet upon pleasant evenings spent at the Crawfords' house, where guests were sure of a warm welcome, music and a game of whist.

The village was but just struggling out of the embrace of the forest, and it was here that the little Isabella, who had developed into a shy and studious child, blue-eyed and with a beautiful profile, beheld the practical results of those harbingers of civilization — the axe, the plough, and the hammer, whose work she afterwards depicted in "Malcolm's Katie."

Their children's education was conducted by both Dr. and Mrs. Crawford. The girls were carefully grounded in Latin, as well as in the English branches. They spoke French readily, and were conversant with the good literature of the day. Isabella, especially, being an omnivorous reader, fondest of history and of verse, and claiming Dante as her favourite poet.

Dr. Crawford, becoming discontented with his financial outlook in Paisley, and several of his family having died there, decided to leave Bruce, and in 1864 he, with his wife, and his three remaining children, removed to Lakefield.

The village of Lakefield is romantically situated upon the shores of those inland waters of the Midland district known as the Kawartha Lakes. These lakes are studded with islands, upon which, in summer, campers delighted to rusticate, not, as now, in cottages comfortable to the verge of luxury, but sleeping under canvas and spending the livelong summer day upon the water.

There, in the early morning, did the young girl paddle her canoe through the lily beds and witness the islands, shaking off their misty coverings, stand revealed, green and sparkling, as though fresh from the hand of God. There she has seen Mount Julian, dimly defined at first, rise out of his foggy wrappings and resume his sentinel watch over all Stony Lake. There she has heard the the plaintive call of the loon, and has startled the wild duck from his marshy nest amid the rice-beds, while in the solemn night she has heard those mysterious sounds which emanate from the heart of the forest, and has at length, amid scent of pine, been lulled to sleep by the rhythmic pulsing of Burleigh Falls.

Oh, yes, not one thing was lacking to make these holidays complete—a congenial friend, a canoe, smiling tracts of water inviting exploration, and the languorous summer air. What more could a young heart ask?

This was indeed her halcyon time; this was when she, her "camp-soul fit," and it is not difficult to guess from whence came the inspiration for the dainty lyric beginning:

"O Light Canoe, where dost thou glide?"

and was it not the camping at Stony Lake which inspired this gladsome declaration—

"I heard the sweet spring waters flow,
My heart and I; we did not know
But that the world was young."

One may perhaps be pardoned for lingering over these, the red letter days of a life whose timing was chiefly gray and sombre.

During the latter part of the Crawfords' eight years residence in Lakefield began that struggle with poverty, every detail of which they were to thresh out later. The father was elderly, the son a mere lad, the family were undeniably poor, and Isabella's attitude was as if daring any one to offer to help them. Sometimes she would decline to go to the merry-makings of the young people, but when she did attend, recalls a Lakefield contemporary, "she became the life of the party, electrifying us with her flashes of fun and repartee." In the hope that a larger field might yield him a larger practice, Dr. Crawford made a fresh venture, this time to the town of Peterborough, where he chose a house fronting the market square, but the back windows of which overlook the Otonabee River, down which in summer pass the drives of logs sent through to Lake Ontario from the timber stretches of the North.

This scene is portrayed in "Malcolm's Katie," which was written in the house just referred to, and which tale so well depicts agricultural and pioneer life in Canada. Indeed I know of no similar poem by any native Canadian which in after years shall become historically valuable as this portrayal of the settler's life in the early days of the Dominion.

In Malcolm's Katie" may be noticed a spontaneity of joy—a gladsome singing as a bird sings because life is fair and spring has come—but soon the disappointments of the author's hopes crushed out her disposition to indulge in blithesome song. In this tale Miss Crawford, who ever bore in mind the Highland extraction of her family — long years before their residence in Ireland—enlarges and expatiates upon the delineation of Scottish characteristics and mannerisms.

"Malcolm's Katie" contains also the lyric, which is probably the best known of her verse, beginning

"O Love builds on the azure sea," and containing the line

"O Love will build his lily walls."

Our and over again in her poetry occur references to the lily—and, as to the lovers of Matthew Arnold, the crocus is ever connected with his name, so to Isabella Crawford the lily was her beloved flower, as well as the fitting emblem of her stainless life.

She had previously composed desultory poems, but now realizing the financial straits of the family and her father's increasing age and infirmity, she unsparingly applied herself to literary work and to self-improvement.

A quarter of a century ago books were by no means so plentiful and so cheap as they now are, and old residents of Peterborough recall the frequency with which a pale-faced girl used to haunt the stationery tables, eagerly absorbing as much of the coveted information as the occasion permitted.

Unfortunately the family prospects grew no brighter, and after a few years Dr. Crawford died suddenly of heart affection, and upon the eldest daughter devolved the responsibility of maintaining her mother and sister, the son having gone to seek work in Algoma, where he still lives, the only representative of a family of twelve children.

Faithfully did Isabella work to overtake and compel prosperity, sending out, having returned, and re-sending forth, manuscript after manuscript. The best remembered of her prose sketches are: "Wenona—an Indian Tale," "The Lady in Gray," "Some Black Sheep," "The Heart of an Opal," and "A Little Bachelor."

She contributed short stories to Frank Leslie's and other American magazines, and much fugitive verse bearing her signature appeared in various papers—most, perhaps, in The Toronto Evening Telegram.

This at best was but a precarious means of earning a livelihood; the conditions under which the work was produced were not conducive to spontaneity of song—while the payment, for what was accepted, was small.

Entering into competition for a prize of six hundred dollars, Miss Crawford's story was declared to be the successful one, and we may readily fancy the joy of the trio at home when the news reached them—how, in anticipation, she the money was expended, and how the young author considered this recognition of her ability as the first rung in the ladder of fame—but, alas, after having gold but one hundred dollars of the promised sum, the firm failed, and instead of the five hundred dollars still due, the Crawfords received but a small percentage of that sum.

Not long after this misfortune, on a small roughcast house, half hidden behind lilac bushes, Emma Naomi, the idolized younger sister, succumbed to that heart affection to which the whole family seemed predisposed, as in a similar manner afterwards both Isabella and her mother died.

It was then that our brave lady drank the bitterest drops in her bitter cup, for, while a great woman for herself may endure the miseries and mortification of poverty, the situation becomes almost unbearable when she sees one dependent upon her, and tenderly beloved, ill and dying, without proper care and uncomforted by luxuries.

It must truly be admitted that the Crawfords' case was one difficult of adjustment. To many of the townspeople the very existence of this family, who lived so modestly among them, was unknown, while a few rendered kindnesses which fell like a benediction upon the stricken strangers. Possibly more might have been forthcoming but that Isabella, remaining loyal to the traditions of noblesse oblige, declined the favours which she might never hope to return, from neighbours of a less privileged class than that to which she herself belonged.

She worked unceasingly and in return demanded the reward of that labour and the acknowledgment that it was good. Recognition was spurned, while charity was spurned.

Since leaving Lakefield the family had enjoyed almost no social life. In Peterborough they doubtfully attended St. John's Anglican Church, and in fairness to that congregation it must be stated that their visits were not encouraged—indeed, in the winter season, callers at the Crawfords' door were frequently denied admission—not that the Irish mistress of the house was inhospitable—far from that—but that there was no fire in the parlour. A little music, reading, dog walks and an occasional evening spent in light sewing with a friend were almost the only diversions which Miss Crawford took from her task of study and writing, and re-polishing what she had written.

And that patient mother, what of her? From the first she had discerned her daughter's genius, and sadly she marvelled, as must have done the friends of Keats when the young surgeon-poet was ordered back to his gallipots, that the public remained blind to it. Never had author more responsive listener than Mrs. Crawford proved to be to her daughter, laughing over her wit, entering into her moods and fancies, and, like the Mother of old, hoarding up in her heart all the saying of her child.

During those years in Peterborough, Isabella's solace, as well as her hope of success, lay in the free exercise of her imagination, which refuge has always been the asylum of the Celt, and which ever constitutes him a richer being than his Saxon or Teutonic peer.

Possessing the dramatic faculty, this girl could cast off, as a discarded garment, her sordid surroundings, and soar away into the sanctuary of fancy, where, unfettered by care, she warmed and expanded in spirit, bringing back with her to earth beauties of thought which she wove into song.

She merged her personality, now in that of the ranchman who views all life from a cowboy's breezy standpoint; again she was the victim of Parisian rage, who, on the guillotine, expiates the crime of being well born. In her own heart she writhed under the indignities of the outraged Helot and gloried in the vengeance taken upon his tyrant, while in another mood she became the arrogant Spartan, who by his presumption dared the very gods.

"Malcolm's Katie" was followed by the two poems to which reference has been made, one of the west and one of the east, each perfect and finished as a cameo, comprising knowledge of so wide a range of life that one wonders if they are effects of poetic imagination of gleams of cosmic consciousness.

"Old Spookse's Pass" may aptly be termed the cowboy's Lookeloy Hall, as full is it of quaint philosophy and of speculative optimism. Who can read it without feeling that he, too, stands in those vast stretches of the west, and realizes the loneliness and freedom of the out-of-door life, and alone in the solemn starlight he sees the fringe of conventionality drop off, and, looking squarely at things as they are, he can be satisfied with naught but elemental truths.

A returned ranchman, who had read "Old Spookse's Pass," said: "You needn't tell me different: that girl has been out west. She could not have told that story so straight if she had not been there and seen the life." But Miss Crawford had no more visited the west than had the author of Laila Bookh seen the east; indeed, after landing in Canada the subject of this sketch was never out of Ontario, except for a couple of brief visits to American cities.

Upon the completion of these and other poems, after the death of Emma, Mrs. Crawford and Isabella decided upon selling their effects and removing from Peterborough to Toronto. There, after collecting her printed and unpublished verse (and among those are a number of distinct poems, which, though necessarily of a lower order of poetry, yet evidence the versatility of their author), Isabella, in 1884, effected their publication in book form, and anxiously awaited the result, which to her meant everything or nothing.

Though the English press repeatedly called attention to the merit of the work, yet British interest soon died out. While in Canada the little book fell flat, and its author, never recovering from this blow to her hopes and her pride, died less than three years after, at the age at which George Eliot produced her first novel, and at the threshold of that period at which a writer's opinions become valuable, for by then he has discarded the positiveness of youth and has learned the value of moderation, having gained at well a somewhat adequate sense of proportion. . . .

The three years between the publication of "Old Spookse's Pass" and the death of its writer were spent in Toronto, where Miss Crawford passed away on February 12, 1887.

They brought the body back and laid it beside her kin, in the cemetery at Peterborough, where the Otonabee, like a parent, embraces the peninsula upon which the Crawfords lie, and Ontario, which the dead girl loved, has since then had an added possession of historical interest in the grave of her who to-day stands first among the women poets of Canada.

Brooks Brothers Shoot Seveteen Bounty Wolves

Two Peterborough Men Made a Good Record in Parry Sound District—$15 Each for Seventeen Wolves is What They Expect to Receive--The Result of One Night's Work by George and Duke Brooks—A Thrilling Experience.

AN INTERESTING STORY OF CAPTURE

Special Wire to The Examiner

Ottawa, December 18. — Brooks brothers, of Peterborough, Ont., stand to make some money, if what a Parry Sound special says is true. It says George Brooks and "Duke" Brooks, both of Peterborough, have informed Sheriff Armstrong of a slaughter of wolves which may touch up Ontario finances. The Provincial Government allows $15 per head for every wolf killed. The men were working on Cole's construction camp of the James Bay Railway in the northern part of the Parry Sound district. Wolves were noticed to be prowling around and the Peterborough men got after them. Armed with rifles and taking a dog they sallied forth one moonlight night. Hidden in the limbs of a dead tree close to the haunts of the wolves, they waited. The dog's bark attracted them. One was laid low by a rifle shot but the dog's noise attracted others. The shooting was kept up from time to time. The two men left the tree at four in the morning, and counting over the carcases, found that they had despatched seventeen of the wolves, all big fellows. The men intend bringing the hides and pelts to the Sheriff of Parry Sound, next week and claiming the Government bounty on each.

Battery Stores To Be Returned

Orders From the Commanding Officer of 14th Battery.

Preparations are under progress for the establishment here of the new Field Battery, the 24th, and Capt. Ackerman, of the 14th Battery has issued the following orders from Col. McNachtan, commanding that Battery:—

Orders by Lt.-Col. Neil F. McNachtan, commanding the 14th Midland Field Battery.

In view of the establishment of the 24th Field Battery in Peterborough, it is most urgent that all stores, uniforms, etc., belonging to the battery be turned in at once to Sergt.-Major Brittain at the drill hall, or to Capt ain Ackerman.

Anyone having in their possession after this date, any battery property, will be liable to prosecution. By order,

W. C. ACKERMAN,
Captain and Adjutant.

Fifty Years An Orangeman, Was Late Robt. Weir

One of the Most Prominent Members of That Order Passed Away on Sunday Morning—Was a Member of Orange Order for Over Half Century—One of the Most Highly Respected Citizens—Brief History of His Life.

ACTIVE TEMPERANCE AND CHURCH WORKER

Yesterday morning at 10.15, death called away one of the oldest, and most highly respected citizens, of this city, in the person of Mr. Robert Weir, who for the past forty-five years had been a resident of Peterborough. The late Mr. Weir had been ill only about a month, prior to which time he was in almost perfect health. Since that time he has been suffering from kidney trouble, which was the cause of death.

The late Mr. Weir was for years one of the most prominent Orangemen and the city and county, and although he had reached the age of seventy-five years, was always present at all the functions under Orange auspices. His death removes one of the most highly respected citizens, a man whom everyone who knew honoured, and to the members of the Orange Order, especially, his loss will be almost irreparable.

The late Mr. Weir was born in the county of Monaghan, Ireland, and was a son of the late Lancott Weir. He came to Canada with his parents at the age of six years, and, with them, settled in Cobourg, where he lived until 1860, when he removed to Peterborough, and had lived here until his death.

In 1853, when he was 23 years of age, he was married to Miss Mary Ann Brooks, the eldest daughter of John Brooks, of Baltimore.

His association with the Orange Order dated from 1852, when he became a member, and for fifty-two years he has been a consistent and enthusiastic member of the Order. His worth was appreciated by his fellow-members as is attested to by the fact that he has filled all the important offices in the gift of his brethren in the district. He was District Master for seven years, and filled the office of County Master for a like period. His interest and adivity in the Orange Order has extended, however, beyond the bounds of his own county, and his face was a familiar one at Grand Lodge meetings, where he took an active part. attended no less than fifty Grand Lodge meetings. He was looked upon by his brethren at these meetings as an authority on constitutional matters. He had the honour of being elected twice to the office of Grand Master of the Royal Black Knights of Ontario East, and for a like period held the position of Grand Master of British North America of the Royal Black Knights.

The deceased also took an active part in temperance work, and at the time of his death was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance. In church work, he was also prominent, having been a member of the George street Methodist church, and was for twenty-five years superintendent of the Bible Christian Sunday school. The late Mr. Weir was for nine years a member of the School Board, and was a member of the council for some years.

Mr. Weir leaves to mourn his loss his widow and six sons: R. J. and Albert, of this city, Fred W., Alfred C., Sidney H., and Maxwell, of Toronto. One son, Simon, and two daughters, predeceased him. Two sisters, Mrs. Jas. Wellwood, of Cobourg, and Mrs. Hugh Linton, of Alnwick, also survive him.

The funeral which will take place to-morrow at 2.30 o'clock, from his late residence, 309 McDonel street, will be under Orange auspices. The services will be conducted by Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, of Omemee, Grand Chaplain, of the Royal Black Knights, and Rev. A. H. Brace of this city.

Special Meetings To Be Continued

The special services in Mark street Methodist church will be continued at least for three days this week, to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. To-night the pastor, Rev. J. G. Lewis, will conduct the service, and to-morrow night Rev. G. R. Clair, of Millbrook will be the special speaker.
